Notifications by High Court, Comptroller-General,

GAZETTE OF INDIA.

NOTICE.

The 18th March 1916.

On and after 8th April and until further notice, Parts I, IV, V and VI of the Gazette of India and the Weather and Crop Report will be published in Simla. Parts II and III will continue to be published in Calcutta. All notifications and other matter intended for publication in those Parts should be addressed to the Publisher at Simla and Calcutta, respectively.

Attention is invited to the following Circular Memorandum of the Government of India, Home Department, of August 1901:—

"It has been brought to the notice of this Department that matter for the Gazette of India is sometimes sent to the Press late on Friday evenings for publication in the next day's Gazette and that this involves considerable inconvenience to the Press and expense to Government. In the Circular Memorandum of this Department, No. 777—79, dated 9th February 1870, the Government of India directed that all notifications or other matter intended for insertion in the Gazette of India should be delivered at the Press not later than 2 P.M. on Friday, and that any papers sent thereafter must be certified to be extremely urgent in order to ensure their appearance in the next day's Gazette. The undersigned is directed to request that these orders may be more strictly observed in future, and that Departments will refrain from sending to the Press as extremely urgent any papers which can without harm or inconvenience be held over for the next Gazette.

J. P. HEWETT,
Secretary to the Government of India."

(ii) The Law of Pre-emption in British India.

(iii) Comparative Administrative Law, with special reference to the organization and legal position of the administrative authorities in British India.

The salary of the Professor will be paid in twelve equal monthly instalments, the first instalment to be paid on the first day of the month following that in which the first lecture is delivered.

Candidates for the Professorship are requested to forward their applications to the Registrar on or before the 1st May 1917, stating on which of the above-named three subjects they are prepared to lecture. Each candidate will forward with his application one hundred copies of a brief Synopsis of his proposed lectures; and, if he so pleases, the same number of copies of his Introductory Lecture.

The Professor will, not later than the month of August following his election, forward to the Registrar a complete copy (manuscript or typewritten) of the lectures which he proposes to deliver. The copy will be forthwith referred to a Committee of the Faculty of Law, consisting of not more than three members to be chosen by the Faculty, who will examine the same, and, before the expiry of two months from the date of the submission of the copy by the Professor to the Registrar, report to the Faculty whether the work is complete and ready for the Press. If, upon such report, the Faculty are satisfied that the work is complete, the Professor will commence to deliver his lectures within three months from the date of the resolution of the Faculty and shall complete the delivery thereof in another three months. The copy of the lectures delivered will remain in the custody of the Registrar and shall be sent to Press as soon as practicable after delivery thereof.

If the Professor fails to submit the copy of the lectures, or if the copy submitted be found, on examination, to be incomplete and not ready for the Press, the matter will be referred to the Faculty of Law, upon whose recommendation the Senate may either extend the time or cancel the appointment.

COMMISSIONER, AJMER-MERWARA.

Ajmer, the 23rd June 1916.

FORM B.

Notice under Section 6 of the Talukdars Loan Regulation (II of 1911).

Whereas Bhursingh, son of Indersingh Bhumia of Dhal, has applied for a loan under this Regulation, all persons having claims against the said Bhursingh or his immoveable property are called upon to submit a statement of the same in writing in Form C below, to the Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara, within 6 months from the date of the publication of this notice.

Every claim against the applicant or his immoveable property (other than a claim on the part of the Government) not submitted to the Commissioner in compliance with this notice, shall, save in the cases provided for by Sections 6 and 13 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, be deemed for all purposes and on all occasions to have been duly discharged, unless in any suit or proceeding instituted by the claimant or by any person claiming under him in respect of any such claim, it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that he was unable to comply with the directions contained in this notice.

Every claim so admitted by the Court shall, notwithstanding any law, contract, decree or award to the contrary, cease to carry interest after the expiry of 6 months from the date of the publication of this notice.

2. With effect from the date of the publication of this notice, the consequences prescribed in Sections 7, 8, 16, 17 and 18, of the Regulation, a copy of which is published herewith, shall also ensue.

Copy of Sections 7, 8, 16, 17 and 18.

7. With effect from the date of the publication of a notice under Section 6, Sub-Section (1) the following consequences shall ensue, namely

(a) the applicant shall be incompetent to transfer or create any charge on, or interest in, his property or any part thereof, or to enter into a contract which may involve him in any pecuniary liability; and

(b) all suits and proceedings in any Civil Court in respect of any claim against the applicant shall be stayed, and no fresh suit or proceeding shall be instituted in respect of any such claim in any Civil Court.

8. Nothing in Section 7, clause (a), shall—

(a) apply to debts due for liabilities incurred to Government,

(b) apply to debts or liabilities which are incurred for necessaries for the maintenance of the applicant or his family, or for the due observance of funeral and other ceremonies to the extent approved by the Commissioner, or

(c) affect the capacity of the applicant to enter into a contract of marriage, provided that he shall not incur in connection with such contract of marriage any pecuniary liability except such as the Commissioner, having regard to the personal law to which he is subject, and his rank and circumstances, may, in writing, declare to be reasonable.

16 (1) No suit shall be brought in any Civil Courts against any Talukdar upon any promise made after he has repaid a loan under this Regulation, to pay any debt contracted during the period between the grant and the repayment of such loan, or upon any ratification made after such loan has been repaid of any promise or contract made during such period, whether there is or is not any new consideration for such promise or ratification.

(2) Nothing in Sub-Section (1) shall apply to the debts or liabilities specified in Section 8.

17 (1). If any Talukdar to whom a loan has been granted under this Regulation—

(a) infringes any condition imposed under Section 13, Sub-Section (1) clause (b), or

(b) attempts to do any act, which, under Section 7, clause (a), he is incompetent to do, the Chief Commissioner may by order in writing declare such Talukdar to be disqualified from managing his own property, and such Talukdar shall be deemed to be a landholder who is disqualified to manage his own property within the meaning of the Ajmer Government Wards Regulations, 1888, and the Court of Wards shall thereupon assume the superintendence of the property of such Talukdar.

(2) The Court of Wards shall withdraw its superintendence from any property of which it was assumed superintendence under Sub-Section (1) as soon as all instalments of the loan have been repaid to Government with the interest thereon.

18. In each of the folloing cases, namely :

(a) when a loan made under Section 13 has been repaid to Government with the interest thereon, or

(b) when the amount so lent with interest has been recovered by the management of the property under Section 17, or

(c) when an order rejecting an application has been passed under Section 13, the Commissioner shall notify, in the Gazette of India and in such other manner as the Chief Commissioner may by special or general order, direct, that the Talukdar has ceased to be subject to the disabilities mentioned in Section 7, with effect from the date of the publication of such notification.

DATED AJMER,
The 23rd June 1916.

C. C. WATSON, I. C. S.
Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara.

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 28th June 1916.

No. 5134-W.-II.—In pursuance of section 2 of the Defence of India (Criminal Law Amendment) Act, 1915 (III of 1915), as subsequently amended, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following rules :—

1. These rules may be called the Defence of India (Wool) Rules, 1916.

Short title.

2. In these rules "Collector" includes any officer appointed by the Local Government by notification in the local official gazette to discharge in any local area the functions of a Collector under these rules.

Definition.

3. No person shall despatch or cause to be despatched by railway any wool from any railway station in British India on the following railways or portions thereof, viz :—

Prohibition of despatch of wool by rail from certain areas except under license.

the Great Indian Peninsular Railway south of Poona,

the Bengal-Nagpur Railway south of Berhampore,

the Bezwada Extension of the Nizam's Guaranteed State Railway,

the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway,
the South Indian Railway,
the Barsi Light Railway,
the Dhond-Baramati Railway,

and all railways worked by the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway or the South Indian Railway, except in accordance with the terms of a license issued by the Collector of the district in which the station is situated.

Penalty for breach of rule 3.

4. Any person who commits or attempts to commit, or abets or attempts to abet the commission of any act prohibited by these rules shall be punishable with imprisonment of either description which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 27th June, 1916.

An Ordinance to prohibit or control trading by hostile foreigners and hostile firms and for other purposes.

WHEREAS an emergency has arisen which makes it necessary to take powers further to prohibit or control trading by hostile foreigners and hostile firms and for other purposes;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by section 72 of the Government of India Act, 1915, the Governor General is pleased to, make and promulgate the following Ordinance:— 5 & 6 Geo. V, Ch. 61.

ORDINANCE No. V OF 1916.

1. This Ordinance may be called the Enemy Trading Ordinance, 1916.

Short title.

Definitions.

2. In this Ordinance—

"Company" means any company, firm or association, or body of individuals whether incorporated or not;

"Hostile foreigner" means a subject of a State for the time being at war with His Majesty, and includes any company constituted according to the laws of such State, and the ruler or government of any such State; and

"Hostile firm" means any of the following, namely:—

(a) any hostile foreigner who has, or at any date subsequent to the 3rd day of August, 1914 had, an office, agency or place of business in British India;

(b) any company of which any member or officer is a hostile foreigner, or of which a hostile foreigner was a member or officer on the 3rd day of August, 1914, and which has or has had since that date an office, agency or place of business in British India;

(c) any person, or company who or which has, at any time since the 3rd day of August, 1914, carried on business in British India, and whose business is, or was, in the opinion of the Governor General in Council, either by reason of its nature or of the persons who carry or carried it on, or for any other cause whatsoever, carried on either under the control whether direct or indirect of any hostile foreigner, or carried on wholly or mainly for the benefit of hostile foreigners generally, or any class of hostile foreigners or any individual hostile foreigner.

Power to appoint Inspectors.

3. (1) The Governor General in Council may, by general or special order, appoint Inspectors for the purpose of determining whether any business is or was carried on by a hostile firm within the meaning of this Ordinance.

(2) The Inspector may summon before him any person whom he believes to be capable of giving information concerning the trade, dealings, affairs or property of such business, and of the antecedents and nationality of those by whom it is or was carried on or controlled.

(3) The Inspector may examine such person on oath concerning the same, and may reduce his answers to writing, and require him to sign them.

(4) The Inspector may require such person to produce any documents in his custody or power in any way relating to such business or to the persons by whom it is or was carried on or controlled.

(5) If any person so summoned refuses to come before the Inspector at the time appointed, the Inspector may cause him to be apprehended and brought before him for examination.

(6) If any person refuses to answer any question or to produce any document, which under this section the Inspector is empowered to ask or require production of, such person shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

Power to prohibit or restrict, or wind up, hostile firms.

4. (1) The Governor General in Council may make an order either—

(a) prohibiting any hostile firm from carrying on business except for the purposes and subject to the conditions, if any, specified in the order; or

(b) requiring the business of such firm to be wound up; and may in any case, where he has made an order prohibiting or limiting the carrying on of the business, at any time, if he thinks it expedient, substitute for that order an order requiring the business to be wound up.

(2) Every order made under sub-section (1) shall be published by notification in the Gazette of India.

(3) If any person contravenes the provisions of any order made under this section, he shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to one year, and shall also be liable to fine.

(4) An order made under this section shall continue in force, notwithstanding the termination of the present war, until determined by order of the Governor General in Council.

Winding up order.

5. (1) Where the Governor General in Council makes an order under this Ordinance requiring a business to be wound up, the order shall, on notification in the Gazette of India, have effect as if it were a winding up order made by a Court under the Indian Companies Act, 1913, and the provisions of that Act relating to winding up by the Court and the rules made thereunder subject to such exceptions, restrictions, extensions, modifications and adaptations as the Governor General in Council may, by general or special order, prescribe, or such other rules as may be prescribed by him, shall apply to the winding up of the business: VII of 19

Provided that, for the purposes of any winding up order under this Ordinance, all powers exercisable by the Court under the said Act shall be exercisable by the Governor General in Council or by such other authority as he may appoint either generally or specially in that behalf:

Provided also that the assets of the business and any money resulting from the realization of any part thereof shall be dealt with in accordance with such rules as the Governor General in Council may make in that behalf.

(2) Where an order has been made under this Ordinance directing the winding up of the business of a hostile firm, the hostile firm shall not, nor shall any other person, commence or initiate, whilst that order remains in force, any other proceedings of a like nature or calculated in any way to interfere with the carrying out of such order.

Contracts or transfers against the public interest.

6. Where it appears to the Governor General in Council that a contract entered into before or during the war, or a transfer of property, moveable or immoveable, made during the war, with or by a hostile foreigner or a hostile firm is injurious to the public interest, or was made with the object of evading any provision of the law, the Governor General in Council may by order cancel or determine such contract, either unconditionally or upon such conditions as he thinks fit, or declare such transfer to be void either in whole or in part, or may impose such conditions on the transferee as he thinks fit.

Power of the Governor General in Council to vest property in Custodian under the Enemy Trading Act, 1915.

7. (1) The Governor General in Council in any case where it appears to him to be expedient to do so may by order vest in any Custodian appointed under the Enemy Trading Act, 1915, any property, moveable or immoveable, belonging to or managed or held whether in trust or otherwise, for, or on behalf of, a hostile foreigner, a hostile firm, or any person or company residing in, or carrying on business in the dominions of, a State at war with His Majesty, or the right to transfer that property, and may by any such order or any subsequent order confer on the Custodian such powers of selling, managing and otherwise dealing with the property as to the Governor General in Council may seem proper.

(2) A vesting order under this section shall, notwithstanding the provisions of any other law to the contrary, be sufficient to vest in the Custodian any property or the right to transfer any property as provided by the order without the necessity of any further document.

(3) Where, in the exercise of the powers conferred on him by the Governor General in Council, the Custodian proposes to sell any shares or stock forming part of the capital of any company or any securities issued by the company in respect of which a vesting order under this Ordinance has been made, the company may, with the consent of the Governor General in Council, purchase the shares, stock or securities, notwithstanding anything to the contrary in any law or in any regulation of the company, and any shares, stock or securities so purchased may, from time to time, be re-issued by the company.

(4) The transfer by the Custodian of any property shall be conclusive evidence in favour of the transferee and of the Custodian that the requirements of this section have been complied with.

(5) All property vested in the Custodian under this section and the proceeds of the sale of, or money arising from, any such property, shall be dealt with by him in accordance with such directions as he may receive from the Governor General in Council; and no such property or money shall be liable to be attached or otherwise taken in execution.

Validity of vesting orders.

8. Where a vesting order has been made under this Ordinance as respects any property belonging to, or held or managed for, or on behalf of, a person who appeared to the Governor General in Council to be a person to whom the provisions of section 7 were applicable, the order shall not, nor shall any proceedings thereunder or in consequence thereof, be invalidated or affected by reason only of such person having, prior to the date of the order, died or ceased to be a person to whom the said provisions were applicable, or subsequently dying or ceasing to be such a person or by reason of its being subsequently ascertained that he was not such a person, as the case may be.

Registration of transfer without production of certificates, etc.

9. Where the Custodian executes a transfer of any shares, stock or securities which he is empowered to transfer by a vesting order made under this Ordinance, the company in whose books the shares, stock or securities are registered shall, upon the receipt of the transfer so executed by the Custodian, and upon being required by him so to do, register the shares, stock or securities in the name of the Custodian or other transferee, notwithstanding any regulation or stipulation of the company, and notwithstanding that the Custodian is not in possession of the certificate, scrip or other document of title relating to the shares, stock or securities transferred; but such registration shall be without prejudice to any lien or charge in favour of the company or to any other lien or charge of which the Custodian has express notice.

Power to make rules.

10. (1) The Governor General in Council may make rules for all or any of the following purposes, namely:—

(a) providing for the distribution or disposal of any assets, or any money resulting from the realization of any part thereof, of any business in respect of which a winding up order has been made under this Ordinance;

(b) prescribing that hostile foreigners and hostile firms or any class of hostile foreigners or hostile firms shall, when required by the Custodian, furnish to him such particulars as he may require of all or any moveable or immoveable property in their possession, or under their control whether direct or indirect;

(c) requiring persons in British India to furnish to the Custodian such particulars as he may require of all or any class of debts or other property due by them to any person to whom the provisions of section 7 are or may be applicable;

(d) prescribing the remuneration payable to the Custodian in respect of his duties under this Ordinance, the fund from which it shall be paid, and the method of collecting the same; and

(e) generally for carrying out the purposes of this Ordinance.

(2) In making any rule under this section, the Governor General in Council may direct that a breach of it shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to a term not exceeding six months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

Certain licenses under the Hostile Foreigners (Trading) Order to be deemed to be orders issued under section 4 (1) (a).

11. Every license for the time being in force granted under the Hostile Foreigners (Trading) Order permitting the licensee to trade or carry on business subject to conditions or restrictions shall be deemed to be an order made under section 4 (1) (a) of this Ordinance, and this Ordinance shall have effect accordingly.

Power to deal with non-trading companies.

12. (1) The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare that the powers conferred by section 7 in regard to the property, moveable or immoveable, of the persons referred to therein shall extend to the property, moveable or immoveable, in British India, of any company specified in such notification of which any member is a hostile foreigner or of which a hostile foreigner was a member or officer on the 3rd day of August, 1914, notwithstanding that such company is not a company trading in British India.

(2) On the publication of a notification under sub-section (1), the company shall be deemed to be a person referred to in section 7 of this Ordinance, and this Ordinance shall have effect accordingly.

Validation of past action.

13. Any act done after the 3rd day of August, 1914 by, or under the orders of, any officer of Government in respect of the property, moveable or immoveable, of any hostile foreigner or hostile firm which, if this Ordinance had been in force, could have been validly done in the exercise of the powers conferred thereby, or which could have been conferred thereunder, is hereby validated.

PUBLIC.

The 30th June, 1916.

No. 534.—The following rules regarding the submission of petitions to the Government of India are published for general information in supersession of the rules published with the Home Department notification No. 147, dated the 19th January 1905, as amended by subsequent notifications.

RULES REGARDING THE SUBMISSION OF PETITIONS TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

GENERAL EXPLANATIONS.

1. In these rules the words "local Government" include a local Administration and the Commander-in-Chief in India, and also, except as regards petitioners under rule 11 (8) whose salary was more than Rs. 30 a month, the head of a department directly under the Government of India, and Army, Divisional and Independent Brigade Commanders.

2. These rules do not apply to non-pensionable subordinate, clerical and menial establishments employed in the construction and working of State Railways, to whom Circular no. VI-Railway, Public Works Department, dated the 1st June 1888, applies.

3. These rules apply, so far as may be, to all memorials, letters and applications, etc., addressed to the Governor-General in Council.

4. These rules apply also to petitions by persons no longer in military employ who have served in the Army or the Royal Indian Marine, or have been attached to regiments or batteries or the staff or departments of the Army in any capacity.

SECTION I.

As to the submission of petitions to the Government of India by private persons or public bodies.

1. Every petition to the Government of India should be forwarded through the local Government having jurisdiction in respect of the subject-matter of the petition. In cases where no local Government is in a position to deal with the subject-matter of the petition, it should be forwarded through the local Government within whose jurisdiction the petitioner is or has last been residing or employed.

The Railway Board is regarded as the local Government in respect of memorials from persons subordinate to it.

2. A petition may be either in manuscript or in print, but must, with all accompanying documents, be properly authenticated by the signature of the petitioner, or, when the petitioners are numerous, by the signatures of one or more of them, and it must conclude with a specific prayer.

3. Every petition should be accompanied by a letter addressed to the local Government requesting its transmission to the Government of India, and, when any order of a local Government is appealed against, by a copy of such order, as well as of any orders passed in the case by subordinate authorities.

4. Communications on matters connected with any bills before the Imperial Legislative Council may be addressed either in the form of a petition to the Governor-General in Council or in a letter to the Secretary in the Legislative Department, and must in either case be sent to the Secretary in the Legislative Department. Ordinarily such communications will not be answered. Except in the case of the High Court at Fort William, such communications from courts, officials or public bodies should be sent through the local Government.

SECTION II.

As to the submission of petitions by officers in civil employ.*

5. Every officer in civil employ wishing to petition the Government of India should do so separately.

6. Every petition from an officer in civil employ should be submitted through the head of the office or department to which the petitioner belongs or belonged, and should be forwarded by him through the usual official channel.

7. No officer in civil employ may submit a petition in respect of any matter connected with his official position unless he has some personal interest in the matter.

8. No notice will be taken of a petition relating to any matter connected with the official prospects or position of an officer in civil employ unless it is submitted by the officer himself.

SECTION III.

As to the transmission or withholding of petitions by local Governments.

9. Every petition to the Government of India should be forwarded by the local Government concerned with a concise statement of the material facts and (unless there are special reasons for not doing so) an expression of opinion.

If the petition is an appeal against an order of dismissal from Government service, the papers submitted by the local Government should show whether the charge against the petitioner was reduced to writing; whether his defence was taken and reduced to writing; and whether the decision was in writing. Where service or character books are maintained these also should be submitted.

10. When the petition is not in English, the local Government should transmit a translation with it.

11. Local Governments are vested with discretionary power to withhold petitions addressed to the Government of India in the following cases:—

(1) When a petition is illegible or unintelligible.

(2) When a petition contains language which, in the opinion of the local Government, is disloyal, disrespectful or improper.

(3) When a previous petition has been disposed of by the Secretary of State for India or the Governor General in Council, and the petition discloses no new facts or circumstances which afford grounds for a reconsideration of the case.

(4) When a petition is a mere application for relief, pecuniary or other, which is presented by a person manifestly possessing no claim or advancing a claim of an obviously unsubstantial character, or is so belated that its consideration is clearly impossible.

* NOTE (1)—The term "civil employ" includes employment by a local authority.

NOTE (2)—For the purposes of the rules in this section a petitioner is considered to be an "officer in civil employ" if he has been previously in civil employ and if his petition relates to any matter connected with his position while in such employ or the circumstances in which he left it.

(5) When a petition is an application for employment from a person not in the service of Government: or is a request for exemption from the provisions of any law or rule prescribing the qualifications to be possessed by persons in the service of Government or by persons engaging in any profession or employment.

(6) When a petition is an appeal against the discharge of a person appointed in India on probation, if his discharge was ordered before the termination of his probation.

(7) When a petition is an appeal from a judicial decision with which the executive has no legal power of interference.

NOTE.—In the following cases, namely :—

(a) when a petition is an appeal from a judicial decision in a case in which the Government has reserved any discretion of interference, or

(b) when a petition is an appeal from a judicial decision in a suit to which the Government was a party, or

(c) when a petition is practically a prayer for mercy or pardon, or contains such a prayer, the petition must be transmitted to the Government of India, unless it falls under clause (15) of this rule, or unless it is a petition of the kind referred to in clause (c) and the case is one of which the local Government is competent to dispose on its own responsibility under the orders contained in the Home Department letter no. 1126—1137, dated the 10th September 1915.

(8) When a petition is an appeal against the appellate order of a local Government upholding a decision directing the dismissal, removal, reduction or other punishment of a Government servant or an employee of a local authority whose salary was less than Rs. 250 a month.

NOTE 1.—If the appellate order of the local Government modifies the order appealed against to the disadvantage of the appellant such appellate order should, for the purposes of this rule, be regarded as an original order of the local Government and the appeal should be transmitted.

NOTE 2.—The local Government should for the purposes of this rule be considered to have upheld a decision if it modifies the order appealed against to the advantage of the appellant.

NOTE 3.—The words "appellate order" include any order passed on revision.

(9) When a petition is an appeal against the order of a local Government refusing to grant or to recommend a special pension or any pecuniary or other concession not claimable under any law or rule, or a compassionate pension, unless in the last case the petition is from an officer dismissed or removed from Government service, who under these rules has a right of appeal against the substantive order of dismissal or removal.

(10) When a petition is an appeal against a decision which by any law or rule having the force of law is declared to be final.

(11) When a petition is addressed by an officer still in the public service and has reference to his prospective claim for pension, except as provided in article 915 of the Civil Service Regulations.

(12) When a petition is an appeal against the non-exercise by the local Government of a discretion vested in it by law or rule.

(13) When a petition is an application in a case for which the law provides a different or specific remedy, or in regard to which the time limited by law for making the application has been exceeded.

(14) When a petition is an appeal against an order or decision of the local Government, and is made more than six months after the communication of such order or decision to the petitioner without satisfactory explanation of the delay.

(15) When a petition relates to a subject on which the local Government is competent to pass orders and no previous application for redress has been made to the local Government.

(16) When a petition makes a proposal regarding legislation which the local Government is not prepared to support.

12. If a petition is withheld, the petitioner should be informed of the fact and the reason for it.

13. A list of petitions withheld under rule 11, with the reasons for withholding them, shall be forwarded quarterly to the Government of India in the proper department.

No. 536.—The following rules for the submission, receipt and transmission of memorials and other papers of the same class to His Majesty the King, Emperor of India, or to the Right Honourable the Secretary of State for India are published for general information in supersession of the rules published with the Home Department notification no. 148, dated the 19th January 1905, as amended by subsequent notifications.

RULES REGARDING THE SUBMISSION OF MEMORIALS AND OTHER PAPERS OF THE SAME CLASS TO HIS MAJESTY THE KING, EMPEROR OF INDIA, OR TO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.

N.B.—These rules do not in any way affect or supersede orders issued on the same subject by the military authorities for the guidance of the army.

I.—No memorial will be received or attended to unless forwarded as hereinafter prescribed.

II.—Every memorial to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State for India should contain all material statements and arguments relied upon by the memorialist and be complete in itself; and it should be accompanied by a letter requesting its transmission to the authority to which it is addressed.

III.—Every memorial to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State for India should be presented through the local Government having jurisdiction in respect of the subject-matter of the memorial. In cases where no local Government is in a position to deal with the subject-matter of the memorial, it should be presented through the local Government within whose jurisdiction the memorialist is or has last been residing or employed or, if there is no local Government answering to these descriptions, then through the Government of India.

The Railway Board is regarded as the local Government in respect of memorials from persons subordinate to it.

IV.—Every memorial to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State for India presented through the Government of Madras, Bombay or Bengal should be forwarded direct by the local Government, with a full statement of facts and an expression of opinion, except in the case of a memorial which—

(a) relates to—

(i) any rule or standing order of the Government of India, or

(ii) any Legislative Proceedings of the Governor-General in Council or an Act to which the Governor-General has assented; or

(iii) a case which has been previously under the consideration of the Government of India, whether on appeal or otherwise; or

(b) if granted, would cause expenditure for which the Imperial and not the local Government would be primarily responsible.

Every such memorial should be forwarded with a covering letter containing a full statement of facts and an expression of opinion to the Government of India in the proper department for transmission to the Secretary of State* for India.

V.—Every memorial to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State for India presented through a local Government, other than the Government of Madras, Bombay or Bengal, should be forwarded by the local Government, with a full statement of facts and an expression of opinion, to the Government of India in the proper department for transmission to the authority addressed †

VI.—Every memorial to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State for India from a person who has been employed in the army should, if it relates to a military subject, be forwarded through the Army, Divisional or Independent Brigade Commander under whose jurisdiction the memorialist has served. The Army, Divisional or Independent Brigade Commander will forward it with a full statement of facts and an expression of his opinion to the Government of India in the Army Department for transmission to the authority addressed.‡

VII.—A memorial may be transmitted either in manuscript or in print, but must, with all accompanying documents, be properly authenticated by the signature of the memorialist on each sheet, and must conclude with a specific prayer.

VIII.—Memorials, together with their accompanying documents, should be in English.§ If the accompanying documents must necessarily be forwarded in the vernacular, an English translation should be appended, which should be attested by the signature of the memorialist.

N. B.—It will be well for the transmitting office to examine such translations, and if they are found to be incorrect or faulty, to notice the fact in sending on the memorial.

IX.—It is not necessary that memorials should be forwarded in duplicate or triplicate. The originals will invariably be transmitted to England, a copy being made and retained by the Government of India, if necessary, for record.

X.—As a general rule, the transmission to England of a memorial duly forwarded through the proper channel should not be delayed by the transmitting Government in India beyond a month after the receipt of the memorial.

XI.—The Governments in India are vested with discretionary power to withhold the transmission of memorials addressed to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State for India in the following cases :—

(1) When a memorial is illegible or unintelligible.

(2) When a memorial contains disrespectful or improper language.

* "In the case of memorials and petitions against, or regarding, Acts passed by the Legislative Council of the Governor General, the Legislative Department is to be considered to be the department having cognizance of the subject-matter of the memorial. Such memorials will be transmitted to His Majesty's Secretary of State through that department; and to it should be referred all memorials of the kind now described, which may reach any other department of the Government of India. The Legislative Department will, when necessary, consult the executive department concerned before disposing of, or transmitting, such memorials."—Home Department No. 22 Public 996—1001, dated the 24th May 1878.

Memorials involving questions relating to pensions, gratuities, allowances, and the like, should be forwarded through the Government of India.—Home Department notification no. 5153, dated 10th September 1901.

† Appeals by private persons from the orders of Lieutenant-Governors or Chief Commissioners lie, in the first instance, to the Governor General in Council. An appeal to the Secretary of State will lie only in the event of an appeal to the Governor General in Council having been rejected.

‡ Appeals by individuals from the orders of the Army, Divisional or Independent Brigade Commanders lie in the first instance to the Governor General in Council and thereafter to the Secretary of State.

§ "As it frequently happens that the disposal of vernacular petitions presented to the Government of India is delayed owing to their being unaccompanied by English translations, and as local Governments and Administrations have greater facilities for translating the vernacular in use under their different provinces than the Government of India have, I am directed to request that, in order to avoid inconvenience and delay, all vernacular petitions transmitted by a local Government and Administration to the Government of India may invariably be accompanied by an English translation.

2. It should, however, be clearly understood that it is not the intention of the Governor General in Council that any petition presented for transmission to the Government of India or the Secretary of State should be refused by reason of its being in the vernacular or because it is unaccompanied by a translation. The great majority of the population do not know English and cannot obtain the services of an English petition-writer; and it is most undesirable that in a country like India the free right of petition should be curtailed. But as the languages of India are many and diverse, it is desirable that any vernacular petition or memorial forwarded to supreme authority by or through a local Government should be accompanied by an English translation."—Home Department No. 54—5066-95 (Public), dated the 21st November 1895.

(3) When a second memorial is presented after a decision has already been given by the authority to which it is addressed, and when no new facts or circumstances are adduced which afford grounds for a reconsideration of the case. A memorial addressed to His Majesty by a person whose appeal to the Secretary of State for India has already been rejected, shall be held to be a second memorial to the same authority, and shall not be transmitted.

(4) When a memorial is a mere application for relief, pecuniary or other, which is presented by a person manifestly possessing no claim or advancing a claim of an obviously unsubstantial character, or is so belated that its consideration is clearly impossible.

(5) When a memorial is an application for employment under one of the Governments in India from a person not in the service of the Government or is a request for exemption from the provisions of any law or rule prescribing the qualifications to be possessed by persons in the service of Government or by persons engaging in any profession or employment.

(6) When a memorial is an appeal against the discharge of a person appointed in India on probation, if his discharge was ordered before the termination of his probation.

(7) When a memorial is a mere appeal from a judicial decision.

NOTE.—If the memorial is practically an appeal for mercy or pardon or contains such an appeal, it must be transmitted, unless it falls under Rule XII, or unless the case is one of which the local Government or the Government of India are competent to dispose on their own responsibility under the orders contained in the Home Department letter no. 1126-37, dated the 10th September, 1915.

(8) * When a memorial is an appeal against the appellate order of a local Government upholding a decision directing the dismissal, removal, reduction or other punishment of a Government servant or an employee of a local authority whose salary was less than Rs. 250 a month ; or when it is an appeal against the order of the Government of India upholding on appeal a decision directing the dismissal, removal, reduction or other punishment of a Government servant or an employee of a local authority whose salary was less than Rs. 500 a month.

NOTE 1.—If the appellate order of the local Government or the Government of India modifies the order appealed against to the disadvantage of the appellant such appellate order should, for the purposes of this rule, be regarded as an original order of the local Government or the Government of India and the appeal should be transmitted.

NOTE 2.—The local Government or the Government of India should, for the purposes of this rule, be considered to have upheld a decision if it modifies the order appealed against to the advantage of the appellant.

NOTE 3.—The words "appellate order" include any order passed on revision.

* "The Governor General in Council considers that the discretionary power of withholding petitions under Clause 8, Rule XIII of the rules for the submission, receipt, and transmission of memorials and other papers of the same class addressed to His Majesty the King Emperor of India, or to the Right Honourable the Secretary of State for India, by private persons or by officers of all civil Departments, should be used with caution, and only after full consideration of the facts in each case. Having regard to the constitution and character of the Indian subordinate services, dismissal of Government officials often involves serious distress, if not actual ruin, to them, and it is right that, under such circumstances, every opportunity should be allowed to them of making themselves heard. Further, when, as sometimes happens, their representations reach the Secretary of State through non-official channels, it is convenient that he should be in a position at once to deal with them instead of being obliged, as may now be the case, to refer for information to this country. Such petitions, therefore, should not be withheld when there is any reasonable prospect of difference of opinion as to the order passed on them by the Government of India, or when they contain anything to which the attention of the Secretary of State is likely to be especially directed."—Home Department Resolution no. 1438 (Public), dated the 24th September 1880.

New numbered Clause 8, Rule XI.

NOTE 4.—For the purposes of the latter part of this rule, an order of the Government of India upholding a decision of the Railway Board should be regarded as an original order of the Government of India, and the appeal should be transmitted.

(9) When a memorial is an appeal against a decision, which by any law or rule having the force of law, is declared to be final.

(10) When a memorial is addressed by an officer still in the public service and has reference to his prospective claim to pension.

(11) When a memorial is a mere appeal against the non-exercise by one of the Governments in India of a discretion vested in such Government by law or rule.

(12) When a memorial is an appeal against the action of a private individual or of a body of private individuals regarding the private relations of the memorialist and such individual or body.

(13) When a memorial is an appeal against the order of a local Government or of the Government of India refusing to grant or to recommend a special pension or any pecuniary or other concession not claimable under any law or rule, or a compassionate pension, unless in the last case the memorial is from an officer dismissed or removed from Government service, who under these rules has a right of appeal against the substantive order of dismissal or removal.

(14) When a memorial makes a proposal regarding legislation which a local Government or the Government of India are not prepared to support.

(15) When a memorial is an appeal preferred more than six months after the date on which the memorialist was informed of the orders against which he appeals, provided that a local Government or the Government of India may, at their discretion, extend the period to twelve months, if the delay will facilitate a settlement of the dispute or other good cause is shown.

Provided that, subject to what is said in clauses (1), (2), (3) and (15), no appeal to the Secretary of State by an officer appointed by him, irrespective of the rate of pay drawn, shall be withheld when the appeal involves a question of the interpretation of the terms of the officer's engagement.

XII.—The Government of India may withhold the transmission of a memorial to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State for India unless the memorialist has previously memorialised the Government of India and the local Government concerned on the same subject; and the Government of Madras, Bombay or Bengal may withhold the transmission of a memorial which under rule IV they are authorized to forward direct, unless the memorialist has previously memorialized the local Government concerned on the same subject: provided that, when the memorial is one for pardon which no authority in India has power to grant, it should be addressed to His Majesty and forwarded to the Secretary of State for India.

XIII.—When a memorial is withheld, the memorialist should be informed of the fact and of the reason for it.

XIV.—A list of memorials withheld under the discretionary power conferred by rules XI and XII, with the reasons for withholding them, will be forwarded quarterly to the Government of India in the case of memorials withheld by local Governments, and by the Government of India in the department concerned to the Secretary of State for India.

The 1st July, 1916.

No. 5134-W.-II.—In pursuance of section 2 of the Defence of India (Criminal Law Amendment) Act, 1915 (III of 1915), as subsequently amended, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following rules :—

1. These rules may be called the Defence of India (Wool) Rules, 1916.

Short title.

2. In these rules "Collector" includes any officer appointed by the Local Government by notification in the local official gazette to discharge in any local area the functions of a Collector under these rules.

Definition.

3. No person shall despatch or cause to be despatched by railway any wool from any railway station in British India on the following railways or portions thereof, viz :—

Prohibition of despatch of wool by rail from certain areas except under license.

the Great Indian Peninsula Railway south of Poona,

the Bengal Nagpur Railway south of Berhampore,

the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway,

the South Indian Railway,

the Barsi Light Railway,

the Dhond-Baramati Railway,

and all railways worked by the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway or the South Indian Railway, except in accordance with the terms of a license issued by the Collector of the District in which the station is situated.

4. Any person who commits or attempts to commit, or abets or attempts to abet the commission of any act prohibited by these rules shall be punishable with imprisonment of either description which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

Penalty for breach of rule 3.

EXPLOSIVES.

The 1st July, 1916.

No. 5005-23.—In accordance with the provisions of Section 18 of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884 (IV of 1884), and of the Notification of the Government of India in the Home Department No. 1964, dated the 2nd September 1887, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to publish, for general information, the following amendments which His Excellency in Council, in exercise of the powers conferred by Section 5 of the said Act, proposes to make in the Indian Explosives Rules, 1914, published with the Notification in this Department No. 4013-33, dated the 6th June 1914.

The draft will be taken into consideration by the Governor-General in Council on the expiration of two months from the date of publication of this Notification in the Gazette of India.

Draft amendments.

I. To the entry against rule 97 in the list of contents prefixed to the said rules the words "and Chinese crackers" shall be added.

II. For rule 97 of the said rules the following shall be substituted, namely :—

"97. Nothing in rules 80 to 89 shall apply to ammunition (Division 1) and in the case of the transport by rail of Chinese crackers (Division 2 of class 7—Fireworks) the provisions of rule 89 may be relaxed during the period from July to March inclusive under an order of the District Traffic Officer when the number or size of consignments offering is such that, in his judgment, serious delay would be caused by the observance of the rule: provided that in both instances, all due precautions shall be taken to prevent explosion."

Saving as to the conveyance of ammunition and Chinese crackers.

III. For clause (d) of rule 134 of the said rules the following shall be substituted, namely:—

(d) sporting gun-powder packed in double packages as provided in Schedule IV, so long as the gun-powder is contained in tin canisters containing not more than 5 lbs. each and packed in a stout wooden case with an outer covering of tin or zinc completely spark-proof, or in metal-lined cases of a pattern approved by the Chief Inspector of Explosives. But no outer case shall contain more than 25 lbs. of gun-powder, and the total consignment by one train shall not exceed 80 lbs."

IV. In column 1 of form H, in form I and in the first column of the table of distances appended to the said rules, below the entry "Government building" the words "wireless station" shall be inserted.

POST AND TELEGRAPH ESTABLISHMENTS.

The 1st July, 1916.

No. 5047-124.—Sir William Maxwell, K.C.I.E., M.V.O., I.C.S., was permitted to return to duty and to resume charge of the office of Director General of Posts and Telegraphs, on the forenoon of the 30th May 1916. The unexpired portion of his furlough is cancelled from that date.

2. The following reversions in the grades of Postmasters-General are ordered with effect from the 30th May 1916:—

Mr. C. H. Harrison, I.C.S., to revert as Postmaster-General, 1st grade, Punjab and North-West Frontier.

This Proclamation may be cited as the Prohibition of Import (No. 6) Proclamation, 1916.

Given at Our Court at Buckingham Palace, this First day of June, in the year of our Lord One thousand nine hundred and sixteen, and in the Seventh year of Our Reign.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

No. 5218-W.-II.—In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 3 of the Import and Export of Goods Ordinance, 1916, (IV of 1916), the Governor General in Council is pleased to prohibit the import into India of the cigars manufactured by the "La Perla del Oriente" Cigar Factory in Manila.

COMMERCE AND TRADE.

The 1st July, 1916.

No. 5221-W.-II.—Whereas by clause 4 (1) of the Hostile Foreigners (Trading) Order, dated the 14th November 1914, hostile foreigners and hostile firms are prohibited from carrying on or engaging in any trade or business in British India except under a general or special license issued by or under the authority of the Governor General in Council:

And whereas it is desirable that a general license under clause 4 of the said Order should be granted to a class of persons and firms who fall within the definitions of "hostile foreigner" and "hostile firm" in the said Order:

Now, therefore, the Governor General in Council hereby authorizes Asiatic subjects of the Ottoman Empire and companies, firms or associations or bodies of individuals, whether incorporated or not, of which all the members are such subjects, to carry on trade or engage in business in British India, subject to the following restrictions and conditions, namely :—

(1) This license shall not apply to any hostile foreigner whom, or hostile firm which, the Governor General in Council may from time to time by notification in the Gazette of India except from its provisions;

(2) This license shall not affect any individual license which has been, or may hereafter be, issued by the Governor General in Council under the said Order. Any such licenses shall be subject to all the conditions and restrictions specified in the individual license;

(3) This license does not apply to any hostile foreigner who, or hostile firm which, has applied for and been refused a license under the said Order.

2. The general license published with this Department's Notification No. 1631-W., dated the 13th February 1915, is hereby revoked, provided that the revocation of the said license shall not affect the validity of anything done in pursuance of it, and that references in any document to the said license shall hereafter, unless a contrary intention appears therein, be construed as references to this license.

INDIAN ORDER OF MERIT.

No. 735.—The Governor-General in Council is pleased to sanction the following admissions to the Military Division of the Indian Order of Merit for gallantry during the campaign in the Gallipoli Peninsula :—

To the 2nd Class of the Order.

Jemadar Nandlal Gurung, 1st Battalion, 6th Gurkha Rifles, for gallantry and devotion to duty on several occasions, especially on the 21st August 1915 when he recklessly exposed himself to encourage his men to advance over a plain under a heavy shrapnel and rifle fire. On one occasion he insisted in remaining on duty although badly shaken by the burst of a high explosive shell.

Jemadar (now Subadar) Narbahadur Rai, 2nd Battalion, 10th Gurkha Rifles, for gallantry and devotion to duty on the 21st August 1915 when by his example he encouraged his men to advance under a heavy shrapnel and machine gun fire until their objective was reached. Again on the 9th November 1915, he got out of his trench to encourage his men to fix iron loopholes, being wounded in the attempt.

No. 3760 Lance-Naik Hazara Singh, 14th King George's Own Ferozepore Sikhs, for conspicuous gallantry on the 9th August 1915, in taking messages to and from the firing line, and in taking ammunition to the firing line, under a heavy fire, the only route being commanded by a Turkish machine gun. He was also brought to notice for gallantry on other occasions, particularly on the 19th August 1915, when he helped a wounded man to safety and then returned to his work of pulling down a Turkish barricade, for which he volunteered.

No. 562 Lance-Naik Naharsing Gurung, 1st Battalion, 6th Gurkha Rifles, for great bravery on the 10th November 1915. A bomb fell short in a wood just outside a bombing post and was on the point of exploding when Lance-Naik Naharsing Gurung dashed forward and threw the bomb over the parados where it exploded. His action saved the lives of four men.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 29th June 1916, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. Widespread rain persisted through the week in Burma and northeast India, and a depression which formed over Bihar on the 23rd carried rainfall into the United Provinces East, Central India East and the north of the Central Provinces. At the beginning of the week rain fell also in the hills surrounding the Punjab owing to the diversion of the Arabian Sea monsoon to the Western Himalayas. There were occasional showers in the interior of the Peninsula; but the Arabian Sea current on the whole was decidedly weaker than usual, especially at the close of the week when even the rainfall on the west coast of the Peninsula was only light and local.

2. Burma.—Nearly general rain fell every day in Lower Burma.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rainfall was nearly general in Bengal on all days except the 24th, in Orissa on the 23rd, 24th, 27th and 28th, in Chota Nagpur and Bihar on the 22nd, 23rd and 24th, and in Assam on the 22nd and 25th.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—There was nearly general rain in Central India East on the 24th and 25th, and in the east of the United Provinces on the 22nd, 23rd and 24th.

Northwest India.—Rainfall was nearly general in Kashmir on the 22nd, and local rain occurred in the east and north of the Punjab on the same day.

The Peninsula.—Nearly general rain occurred in Malabar and the Konkan from the 22nd to the 25th and on the 28th, in Hyderabad South on the 26th and in Mysore on the 24th and 27th.

3. The chief amounts of rainfall were as follows:—

June 22nd. Tavoy 7·10", Moulmein 8·00", Rangoon 4·85", Bassein 4·21", Akyab 4·17", Tezpur 1·36", Gauhati 1·84", Cherrapunji 2·87", Cox's Bazar 3·38", Barisal 1·95", Saugor Island 2·75", Darjiling 1·40", Purnea 1·08", Gorakhpur 0·98", Allahabad 6·93", Sutna 1·37", Ratnagiri 1·65", Mangalore 1·75", Mercara 1·86" and Calicut 1·36".

" 23rd. GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 24th June 1916.

Burma.—The rainfall during the week was heavy and well distributed in Lower groundnut is progressing. Ploughing for millets has commenced. The cultivation of ... ing crops is favourable. The health of livestock is satisfactory. The price of unhusked rice in Rangoon has risen further to rupees 116 per hundred baskets and is above normal. The market for white rice is steady.

Assam.—Rainfall has been generally sufficient and seasonable. More rain is still wanted in the Sylhet, Khasi and Jaintia hills, and the Darrang and Nowgong districts. Preparation of lands for winter rice and sowing of paddy seed beds are proceeding. Transplantation of seedlings has commenced in places. Plucking and manufacture of tea and planting of sugarcane are in progress. Harvesting of autumn rice is going on with fair outturn. Prospects of tea, jute and sugarcane are fair. The price of common rice is practically stationary. Cattle disease is reported from ten districts.

Bengal.—During the week under report excessive rain fell in some of the Northern and Eastern Bengal districts. The fall was, however, normal in the rest of the Province. Weeding of the autumn paddy and jute continues. Ploughings for the winter rice and sowings of rice seed beds are proceeding briskly. Transplanting has also commenced in places. The harvesting of jute is reported to have commenced in one or two districts of Eastern Bengal. Standing crops are fairly satisfactory except jute in the western districts where the sowings have been generally late. Cattle disease is reported from seven districts. The average price of common rice for the Province has had a slight tendency to rise as compared with that of the previous week.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—

Bankura District.—The state of affairs in affected areas is generally unchanged. The rainfall was general. Cultivation of land for autumn and winter crops is progressing. The condition of the people on the works is generally good and relief measures are adequate. Loans are being freely advanced. Private charitable funds are giving relief. Prices are stationary. The price of rice is 8 seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief works was 12,785 and in receipt of gratuitous relief 24,090, total 36,875. The increase in numbers on works is due to return to normal conditions from the drop in preceding week, which drop was due to heavy rain, making relief works impossible in places and increasing the demand for agricultural labour. The number of persons relieved on private works was 3,892.

Tippera District.—Rain fell during the week in the Brahmanbaria sub-division but the weather was very dry. The harvesting of aus paddy sown in March is proceeding but the outturn is not good. The public health is good. The price of rice is 7 seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief works was 3,071 and on gratuitous relief 6,480, total 9,551. The increase in the numbers gratuitously relieved is due to the increase of distress which will be relieved on the reaping of autumn rice crop in July.

Bihar and Orissa.—During the week under report generally light to moderate rain fell in all the districts of the province. The rainfall has been beneficial to agricultural operations. Sowing of autumn crops is in progress. Standing crops are doing well. The average price of common rice has risen slightly as compared with that of the preceding week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from twelve districts. The attendance of persons on test works in Manbhum was 2,361 and in Singhbhum 6,930. Gratuitous relief was given to 2,667 persons in Manbhum. The condition of standing crops in the Feudatory States of Orissa is good.

United Provinces.—The rainfall during the week was general and beneficial throughout the Provinces. More rain is needed in the Central Doab while elsewhere a break is desirable. Operations for autumn crops are in full swing. Standing crops are doing well. The condition of agricultural stock is good. Very little cattle disease is reported. Fodder and water are everywhere sufficient. Prices are almost stationary in every district.

Punjab.—Fairly heavy rain fell in the submontane districts and light in parts of the southeast and west. The central tract remained dry. Rain was beneficial for sowings and for standing crops but more is badly wanted everywhere. Sowings of cotton, fodder and other autumn crops continue and are generally normal except in parts of the southeast, where they are restricted. The condition of standing extra spring and autumn crops is average to good on irrigated areas and generally below average on unirrigated areas. Extra spring crops are being harvested in the southeast with yield generally normal. Cattle are generally healthy but are weak in some districts owing to scarcity of fodder and overwork. Water for drinking and irrigation is generally sufficient. Prices are generally stationary and in the case of wheat range between normal and warning rates and in other cases between warning and scarcity rates. Price of wheat :—Rawalpindi 13, Ambala and Lahore 12, Ferozepore 12½ and Lyallpur 13 seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—Slight rain has fallen in Bannu and Dera Ismail Khan. More rain is badly wanted. The condition of standing crops is average on irrigated areas and poor on unirrigated areas in Dera Ismail Khan and below average in part of the Peshawar district The condition of autumn crops and extra spring crops is average in Laki. Harvesting of spring crops is proceeding with average outturn in Bannu and Peshawar. Sowings of rice and bajra are proceeding in Bannu. The condition of cattle is generally good. Foot and mouth disease has appeared amongst cattle in certain villages of Bannu but no deaths are reported. Fodder and water are sufficient except in Dera Ismail Khan where water is scarce in certain villages. The Paharpur canal is running. The public health is good. Prices are high but stationary.

Jammu.—During the week fairly good rain fell in some parts. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 8 to 12 and maize 10 to 18 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is average on the whole. No cattle disease is reported. Fodder is rather insufficient.

Kashmir.—The rainfall during the week was fair. Standing crops are in fair condition but require more water. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are sufficient. Prices are high.

Rajputana.—The weather was cloudy. The rainfall was heavy in Tonk and Jhalawar, moderate in Kishengarh and Karauli, and slight elsewhere. Bikaner had 150 cents in week ending 17th June. Sowings continue but are restricted owing to insufficient rainfall. The condition of cattle is unsatisfactory owing to severe fodder scarcity. Cattle disease is reported from Dungarpur, Banswara, Kotah and a few villages in Mewar. Prices are generally high and stationary. Number of persons on test works in Kishengarh was 3,885 and in Karauli 1,586.

The weekly report on scarcity in Merwara is as follows :—A slight increase in distress among the agriculturists and labourers is reported and is probably due to the break in the rains, and people are resorting to works. There is no wandering or marked emaciation amongst the applicants for relief and the physical condition of workers is satisfactory. Relief measures are sufficient. Advances are being given to cultivators. The public health is fair. Prices are 10 seers per rupee. The number of persons on test works was 3,500 and on gratuitous relief 1,900—total 5,400.

Central India.—During the week the rainfall was general, the principal falls being over six inches in Bundelkhand ; over five inches in Mehidpur, Dhar and Jhabua ; over four inches in Sarangpur, Gadgucha, Ringnod and Sailana ; over three inches in Alirajpur ; over two inches in Jobat ; insufficient in Malwa and in a few tahsils in Gwalior and sufficient elsewhere. Autumn crops are being sown. Agricultural stock is in good condition. The supply of fodder is sufficient. Prices are normal in Baghelkhand, slightly fluctuating in Indore city and the Nimar district and steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather during the week was cloudy. Hoshangabad, Nimar and Balaghat had light showers not exceeding 77 cents. Elsewhere moderate to heavy rain was received ranging from 1 inch in Drug to 6 inches in Betul. Ploughing of fields still continues in places. Sowing of autumn crops is proceeding. There is no deficiency of fodder or water anywhere and cattle are in good condition. Variations in prices are insignificant.

Feudatory States.—Nine states received light to moderate rain. Preparation of land and sowing of autumn crops continue.

Bombay.—Rain fell during the week throughout the Presidency proper. More rain is needed especially in Kathiawar, Gujarat and the Deccan. The sowing of autumn crops continues but is retarded in places for want of rain. Fodder supply is deficient in parts of Sind, Kaira, Kathiawar, Cutch and Baroda. Agricultural stock is generally sufficient. Cattle are in good condition except in parts of Sind, Ahmedabad and Kaira. Drinking water is inadequate in parts of Larkana and Baroda. Irrigation water is deficient in parts of Thar and Parkar, Gujarat and Baroda. Prices of food grains have risen slightly in Gujarat but have fallen in the Karnatak and are generally steady elsewhere.

Kathiawar Famine Report :—Absence of rain is causing anxiety. The public health is good and there is no wandering or emaciation. Loans are being given for wells and fodder for cattle. Kitchens have been opened in Songadh and Paliad by private charity and grass is being distributed free at Babra, Paliad and Songadh. Gratuitous relief was given to 298 persons.

Hyderabad.—Rain fell during the week throughout the dominions. The average fall was 1 inch 67 cents. Lands for autumn and early rice crops are being prepared and sown. Cattle disease prevails in eleven talukas. Prices of grain are high and almost steady. Highest price of jwar in districts is 10 seers per rupee in Warangal and Karimnagar and the lowest 24 seers per rupee in Adilabad.

Mysore.—The rainfall during the week was good in the Hassan, Kadur and Shimoga districts and light elsewhere. Prices of food grains are steady except that price of ragi has fallen in Hassan. Markets are well-supplied. Ploughing and sowing of paddy and ragi are in progress. Sugarcane and paddy are being harvested with outturn fair to good. Standing crops are in good condition. Prospects of the season are good. The condition of cattle is generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—The rainfall was 16 inches 85 cents. Ploughing for rice and sowing of seed continue. Prices of food grains are rising. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall during the week was very heavy in Malabar, South Canara and Cochin; heavy in the Nilgiris, good in Madras, Travancore and the Circars except in the Vizagapatam Littoral where it was fair, and also in Sandur and light or nil elsewhere. Standing crops are in fair to good condition generally but are withering or require more rain in parts of two districts. Harvesting of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops is proceeding with outturn fair to normal generally. Sowings of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops are proceeding or concluding normally. The condition of cattle is generally good. The water supply is sufficient in Kistna, Guntur, Cuddapah, Coimbatore, West coast, and the Nilgiris, and insufficient in parts of other districts. Pasture is generally insufficient but fodder is generally available. Prices show a slight tendency to fall.

OPERATIONS IN THE VICINITY OF ADEN.

2. On the outbreak of war with Turkey, on 31st October 1914, reports indicated that the Turks were in some strength in the Shaikh Sa'id peninsula and that they were preparing to despatch troops to act against the Aden Protectorate. Consequently on November 3rd orders were issued to Brigadier-General H. V. Cox, C B., C.S.I., Commanding 29th Indian Infantry Brigade, then on the voyage to Suez, to capture Shaikh Sa'id and destroy the Turkish works, armaments and wells at that place. Three battalions from the 29th Indian Infantry Brigade and the 23rd Sikh Pioneers were detailed for this operation, in which H. M. S. "Duke of Edinburgh" co-operated.

Aden. Shaikh Sa'id.

On November 10th, the transport conveying the force arrived off the coast of the Shaikh Sa'id peninsula, but adverse weather conditions prevented a landing at the point first selected. While the transports were moving to an alternative landing place, H. M. S. "Duke of Edinburgh" engaged the Turkish defences with satisfactory results.

Covered by the fire of the naval guns, a landing was effected, all opposition encountered was overcome and the enemy were driven inland, abandoning their field guns. On November 11th, Turbah Fort and other Turkish works in the vicinity were destroyed by the troops and a naval demolition party, and the force, having effected its object, re-embarked.

In forwarding his report on these operations, General Cox brings to notice the valuable assistance received by him in the disembarkation and re-embarkation of his force from Captain H. Blackett, R.N., H.M S. "Duke of Edinburgh", and all under his command.

For some time after the operations described above, the Turks did not show signs of advancing with a view to attacking Aden; but their presence on the northern boundary of the Protectorate rendered it desirable to strengthen somewhat the garrison of Aden.

Shaikh Sa'id was again occupied by the enemy, and on the night of June 14th-15th, 1915 he endeavoured to effect a landing on the north coast of the Island of Perim. This attack was successfully driven off by the detachment, 23rd Sikh Pioneers, which formed the garrison of the island, under the command of Captain A. G. C. Hutchinson.

3. During May 1915 the enemy was reported to be becoming more active and during the latter half of June, reports indicated a possible Turkish advance on Lahaj from Mawiyah. On definite information being received that such an advance was about to be made, Major-General D G. L. Shaw, Commanding Aden Brigade, ordered the Aden Moveable Column, under Lieutenant-Colonel H. F. A. Pearson, 23rd Sikh Pioneers, to move out to Shaikh 'Othman on the evening of the 3rd July.

Lahaj.

Early the following morning the advance was continued to Lahaj, to which place the Aden Troop had previously been despatched. The intense heat, sand and shortage of water rendered the march and the subsequent operations most trying, but nevertheless the advanced guard reached their objective, and engaged the Turks just beyond Lahaj on the evening of the 4th July.

But the desertion of the hired camels and the severe climatic conditions so delayed and distressed the main body as to necessitate a withdrawal from Lahaj to Khor Maksar on July 5th.

In recording this, Major-General Shaw pays a tribute to the devotion to duty of the men of the Royal Artillery, who effected the withdrawal of their guns under the most trying conditions.

4. On the withdrawal of the Aden Moveable Column to the Khor Maksar line the Turks occupied Shaikh 'Othman, and it was decided to increase temporarily the Aden garrison.

Shaikh 'Othman.

On July 20th, the 28th (Frontier Force) Brigade, with a battery Royal Horse Artillery and a detachment of Sappers and Miners, afterwards reinforced by another battery and the Aden Troop, the whole under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel A. M. S. Elsmie, 56th

Punjabi Rifles (Frontier Force) moved out of Aden to attack the enemy next morning. The Turks, completely surprised, were expelled from Shaikh 'Othman. Their casualties were some 50-60, in addition to several hundred prisoners, mostly Arabs.

On August 24th, a small column under the command of Major W. J. Ottley, 23rd Sikh Pioneers, engaged the garrison of the Turkish post of Fiyush and forced the enemy to retire on Lahaj.

Again on August 28th a similar successful reconnaissance was made towards Waht.

In September, reports indicated that the Turks were preparing to retire from Lahaj; a column under Lieutenant-Colonel A. M. S. Elsmie, 56th Punjabi Rifles (Frontier Force), was therefore directed to ascertain the situation at Waht. On September 25th, this column surprised the enemy, estimated at 700 Turks with 8 guns and 1,000 Arabs, and seized and occupied Waht.

Major-General Sir G. J. Younghusband, K.C.I.E., C.B., who was commanding the Aden Brigade during a portion of the period when these operations took place, brings to notice the great assistance he received on all occasions both by sea and land from Captain Hall Thompson, R.N., H.M.S. "Philomel".

5. In October, and again in December, our cavalry have had small affairs with hostile reconnoitring parties, in which the latter were driven off with loss, and in December, friendly Arabs, supported by a small infantry detachment, drove off a hostile Turkish and Arab force which was advancing on 'Imad.

Owing to the Turks despatching troops to coerce the tribes in the East of the Aden Protectorate, a demonstration in support of these tribes was made by the Aden Moveable Column on January 12th, 1916 in the direction of Subar. The column located a Turkish force near Subar and engaged it, inflicting considerable losses on it. As a result of this action the Turkish pressure on the Arab tribes is reported to have been relieved.

Operations in the Gulf of 'Oman.

6. Arab unrest, which had been growing in 'Oman for some time past, culminated on the night of 10th-11th January 1915 in an attack by some 3,000 Arab rebels against our outpost line covering Masqat and Matrah. In the early morning of the 11th January, the whole available British force under the command of Colonel S. M. Edwardes, D.S.O., 102nd King Edward's Own Grenadiers, took the offensive and defeated and drove back the rebels who fled into the interior having suffered losses estimated at over 300 killed and wounded.

Masqat.

Colonel Edwardes brings to notice the very valuable assistance rendered by Lieutenant-Colonel R. A. E. Benn, Political Agent, Masqat.

7. On the night of 16th-17th April 1915, a raid against the British post at Jask by disaffected tribesmen was successfully repulsed by the garrison under the command of Major W. H. Lane, 95th Russell's Infantry.

Jask.

8. On the night of 2nd-3rd May, 1915, a body of tribesmen made a determined attack on the British post at Chahbar commanded by Lieutenant C. M. Maltby, 95th Russell's Infantry. The attack was driven off with loss.

Chahbar.

Sistan.

9. Owing to the activities of certain Germans and other enemy subjects in Persia during the latter half of 1915, it was found necessary to strengthen our outposts on the borders of Sistan.

Sistan.

The troops under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel J. M. Wikeley, 28th Light Cavalry have successfully carried out their orders and co-operated effectively with the Russian forces.

Operations in Baluchistan.

10. On May 28th, 1915, reports were received that the Khan of Kalat's treasury at Khozdar, 110 miles south of Kalat, had been looted. Owing to the insubordinate attitude of Sardar Khan Muhammad, premier chief of Jhalawan, who was responsible for this outrage, it was thought that the trouble might spread. Military assistance was asked for by the Agent to the Governor-General and, with the approval of His Excellency the Viceroy, I accordingly authorized the despatch of a small column consisting of the 106th Hazara Pioneers and a section of Sappers and Miners, under the command* of Lieutenant-Colonel A. Le G. Jacob, C.I.E., D.S.O., 106th Hazara Pioneers, to deal with the situation.

Baluchistan.

*Owing to Lieutenant-Colonel Jacob falling sick, the command was taken over by Major G. L. Carter, 106th Hazara Pioneers.

The column reached Kalat on June 4th and subsequently visited certain neighbouring places. The presence of the troops rapidly restored order and prevented any spread of the disturbance; the rebel chief was declared outlaw by a jirgah of Kalat sirdars and fled. The column arrived back at Quetta on July 19th.

In reporting these operations Lieutenant-General Sir M. H. S. Grover, K.C.B., K.C.I.E., Commanding 4th Quetta Division, states that the troops made some very good marches at a trying season of the year.

NORTH-WEST FRONTIER.

The Tochi Valley and Derajat.

11. During October and November 1914, various reports were received that attempts were being made to stir up fanaticism along the frontier.

The Tochi Valley.

At the end of November 1914, certain influential mullahs in independent territory led a Khostwal lashkar of some 2,000 men to the neighbourhood of Miranshah in the Tochi Valley.

On November 29th, a portion of the North Waziristan Militia under Major G. B. Scott, attacked the enemy and, in a skilfully fought action, inflicted a severe defeat on the tribesmen, who fled in a demoralised condition.

Meanwhile, on the news of the gathering being received, I had arranged for the despatch of suitable reinforcements to Bannu and Thal and had directed the General Officer Commanding, Derajat Brigade, to reinforce Tank at his discretion.

Major-General H. O'Donnell, C.B., D.S.O., Commanding the Bannu Brigade, whose services I have already brought to notice, had proceeded up the Tochi Valley with the Moveable Column and had reached Miranshah on December 3rd. At the request of the Chief Commissioner, North-West Frontier Province, the column did not proceed beyond Miranshah.

The prompt and vigorous action of the North Waziristan Militia checked what might have been a serious rising.

Further reports of hostile gatherings, which threatened the Tochi posts, necessitated the retention of additional troops on this border during December and part of January, but a march carried out by the 4th Brigade along the Bannu border, south-west of Bannu, at the end of December 1914 had a quieting effect.

On January 7th, 1915, operations were carried out by the Bannu Moveable Column and a portion of the North Waziristan Militia with a view to defeating a large Khostwal lashkar that had crossed into British territory and attacked Spina Khaisora post.

Of the British forces, only the North Waziristan Militia were actually engaged with the enemy, but the operations were successful, the enemy losing some 50—60 men killed and being driven in confusion over the frontier. In his report on the above action Major-General O'Donnell states that great credit is due to the North Waziristan Militia for the dash and spirit they displayed in the action against great odds and after a long march.

For his most conspicuous bravery in this action, in attempting at the cost of his life to rescue one of his men, Captain E. Jotham, 51st Sikhs (Frontier Force), was awarded the Victoria Cross.

Although some further gatherings were reported, I was able, on January 11th, to order the withdrawal of most of the extra troops that had been sent to this portion of the frontier, leaving sufficient to ensure its safeguarding.

Early in March 1915, reports of hostile gatherings intended to attack the Tochi posts, and the alleged presence of a Mahsud lashkar, again compelled me to order troops to concentrate on the Derajat, Bannu and Kohat borders.

On March 26th, 1915, the Bannu Moveable Column, together with a portion of the North Waziristan Militia, the whole under the command of Brigadier-General V. B. Fane, C.B., whose services I have already brought to notice, moved out from Miranshah and attacked a large Khostwal lashkar, estimated at 7,000 to 8,000 men, which was threatening that place.

The attack was entirely successful. The enemy's losses were estimated at 200 killed and 300 wounded and they retreated rapidly across the frontier.

Our success was largely due to the skilful manner in which a column under Major G. B. Scott, Commandant, North Waziristan Militia, by means of a night march gained a position in rear of the enemy in time to combine with the frontal attack.

Brigadier-General Fane brings to notice the name of Mr. J. A. O. Fitzpatrick, I.C.S., Political Agent, Tochi, who assisted him with sound advice and good information.

12. With the exception of raiding, this portion of the frontier remained quiet until October 1915, when unrest among the Mahsuds necessitated precautions being taken in the Derajat Brigade area.

The Derajat.

A militia piquet was attacked on November 12th and on the 18th a detachment of the 45th Rattray's Sikhs on piquetting duty near Khajuri Kach in the Gomal was fired upon by some 80—100 Mahsuds. The enemy was driven off and fled and the convoy proceeded to its destination in safety. Brigadier-General F. J. Fowler, C.B., D.S.O., Commanding the Derajat Brigade, states that the detachment behaved very well indeed and maintained the high reputation of their regiment.

The successful operations mentioned above, combined with pressure brought to bear upon the Mahsuds by the civil authorities, has prevented any tribal outbreaks on a considerable scale, but raiding has been constant, which has necessitated constant vigilance and action on the part of the troops.

Mohmands, Swat and Buner.

13. Towards the end of 1914 information was received of anti-British preaching by certain mullahs in the Mohmand country, but, with the exception of a raid in the neighbourhood of Shabkadar in January 1915, which was easily driven off, no serious acts of aggression were committed.

Mohmands, April 1915.

On April 13th, 1915, however, reports were received that the Mohmands were collecting with a view to raiding Shabkadar. The garrison of the Fort was strengthened and the Khaibar Moveable Column, under the command of Major-General C. F. G. Young, was ordered to proceed there forthwith. At the same time I issued orders for certain troops to be held in readiness to reinforce the 1st Peshawar Division and took other measures necessary to deal with the situation.

Reconnaissances on April 16th and 17th located no hostile gatherings, but on April 18th the tribesmen attempted to advance, and were met by the troops under Major-General Young near Hafiz Kor. In the action which ensued the hostile lashkar rapidly increased to some 2,400 men, but its advance was repulsed with loss and it was forced back into the hills. Darkness prevented any pursuit.

Major-General C. J. Blomfield, C.B., D.S O., Commanding 1st Peshawar Division, was present throughout the action and comments on the keenness and excellent spirit of the troops.

In reporting these operations Major-General Blomfield records his gratitude for the benefit he received from the experience, knowledge and helpfulness of the Hon'ble Sir George Roos-Keppel, K.C.S.I., K.C.I.E., Chief Commissioner, North-West Frontier Province.

Quiet on the frontier then enabled the troops to be withdrawn from the vicinity of the border, although the attitude of the mullahs in Mohmand country, Buner and Bajaur necessitated constant watchfulness.

14. During May the Swatis had been engaged in inter-tribal quarrels, but on June 18th the situation in Upper Swat, where the advance of a lashkar to the Adinzai tract threatened the safety of the Chitral road and Chakdara post, necessitated the concentration at Chakdara of the Malakand Moveable Column, which was under the command of Brigadier-General W. G. L. Beynon, C.B., D.S.O.

Swat.

The rapid concentration of the troops had an excellent effect and prevented any outbreak.

A quiet reigned in July, during which month the Ramzan fast was observed, I arranged for the Chitral reliefs to be carried out. These were successfully completed on August 4th, but in view of a certain amount of unrest which was reported from Buner, I ordered the returning column to remain at Chakdara with the Malakand Moveable Column, where its presence was of great value during subsequent operations.

15. Gatherings in Buner during July had been reported, but the tribesmen remained quiet until August 15th, when information was received that a certain mullah, known as the Haji Sahib of Turangzai, was in the Ambela Pass with several thousand men, preparing to invade British territory. His gathering included a number of the Hindustani Fanatics, a sect inhabiting the Buner border country.

Buner.

A small column from Mardan was at once moved to Rustam on the Buner border.

On August 17th, a hostile gathering of some three to four thousand tribesmen debouched from the Ambela Pass and moved towards Rustam, while a further force was reported to be in the neighbouring hills to the north-west.

Brigadier-General S. F. Crooker at once attacked the Ambela Pass gathering and routed it with loss. The 91st Battery, Royal Field Artillery, which came up during the course of the action after a forced march, did great execution.

Major-General F. Campbell, C.B., D.S.O., Commanding, 1st Peshawar Division, now concentrated a Brigade, under the Command of Brigadier-General N. G. Woodyatt, at Rustam.

Between August 21st and 31st this brigade took the offensive against the tribesmen whenever they appeared and during this period Brigadier-General Woodyatt was engaged with the enemy on three occasions, on all of which he was successful in driving them back into the hills with loss and destroying the villages in which they had harboured.

Swat.

16. While these operations were in progress, information was received that on August 20th a tribal gathering of some fifteen to twenty thousand men under the Sandaki mullah was advancing down the left bank of the Swat river to invade Lower Swat. To meet this, Brigadier-General Beynon, Commanding the Malakand Moveable Column at Chakdara, moved his column to the left bank of the river and occupied the Landakai ridge, which was well situated to arrest the hostile advance.

Our outposts were heavily attacked on the night of 28th-29th August, but the enemy were driven off with loss. The next morning the column moved out and destroyed a fort and shelled several villages, which were occupied by the enemy. As a result of these operations the tribesmen dispersed, and made no further attempts at offensive action for some time.

Mohmands, September and October 1915.

17. Meanwhile, during August, there had been some talk of jihad on the Mohmand border, where various religious leaders had been active, and large tribal gatherings led by these fanatical mullahs were reported to have collected on August 28th.

Two brigades under Brigadier-General L. C. Dunsterville and Brigadier-General C. Christian, with a mounted column under Brigadier-General S. F. Crocker and Divisional Artillery, were therefore ordered up to the neighbourhood of Shabkadar between August 30th, and September 2nd, while a Mobile Column under Lieutenant-Colonel A. B. Longden, 38th Dogras, was formed at Mardan and subsequently moved to Abazai.

At the same time I issued orders for reinforcements to be ready for despatch to this border at short notice, if required.

On September 3rd large bodies of tribesmen were observed moving in the foothills and preparing sangars in the vicinity of Hafiz Kor, but no steps were taken to prevent them collecting as it was desired to entice them out into the plain. By the evening of September 4th it was calculated that the hostile force had reached its maximum strength (it was then about ten thousand) and Major-General F. Campbell, C.B., D.S.O., Commanding 1st Peshawar Division, decided to attack.

The action was fought on the following day; the enemy resisted stoutly and displayed great bravery, tenaciously holding on to their sangars, but were defeated with heavy loss and driven from their position. An opportunity occurred for cavalry action and a successful charge was made against the tribesmen.

Between September 20th and 24th further hostile gatherings were reported on this border and the mullahs made great efforts to stir up their followers to invade British territory. No lashkar, however, crossed the border until early in October, when lashkars, numbering some 9,000 men, again collected in the neighbourhood of Hafiz Kor. Major-General Campbell, who had strengthened his force by another brigade under Brigadier-General N. G. Woodyatt, took the offensive against this gathering on October 8th from Shabkadar.

The enemy offered strong opposition, especially on our right flank, where the Mobile Column from Abazai was co-operating, but were defeated and forced back into the hills. A detachment of the Khaibar Rifles from Fort Michni took part in the fight.

In this operation armoured cars were used for the first time in action in India and proved of great value.

Swat, October 1915.

18. Although further gatherings were reported in Swat, there was no actual outbreak until October, when the tribesmen again became active. Their lashkars rapidly increased, and on October 26th some 3,000 Bajauris advanced towards Chakdara, with a view to arousing the tribes of Dir and Swat to attack the fort at that place.

Lieutenant-Colonel C. C. Luard, 1st Battalion, Durham Light Infantry, temporarily commanding the Malakand Moveable Column, at once decided to attack; and moving out from Chakdara Camp on October 27th, he engaged, routed, and pursued the enemy, who were severely handled and lost a standard. As the result of this action there has been no further gathering on this border.

General.

19. In reporting these operations on the Swat, Buner, and Mohmand borders, Major-General Campbell states that he cannot speak too highly of the endurance and conduct of the troops, both British and Indian. The temperature, which is always extremely trying in the Peshawar Valley during the hot weather, was nearly ten degrees above normal; but, in spite of these severe climatic conditions, the troops showed a fine spirit and great cheerfulness and were eager and ready at all times to march and fight. The working of the administrative services was also entirely satisfactory, in spite of the many difficulties that had to be contended with.

Mechanical transport was used for the first time on the Indian frontier and proved to be invaluable; as, without it, the maintenance of the forces in the field could not have been effectively accomplished.

Major-General Campbell cordially acknowledges the ready assistance afforded to him by the Hon'ble Sir George Roos-Keppel, K.C.S.I., K.C.I.E., Chief Commissioner, North-West Frontier Province, who kept him informed, frequently by personal interview, of the changes in the political situation and other matters, enabling him to make the necessary dispositions in time to meet each situation as it arose. Sir George Roos-Keppel was present throughout the action at Hafiz Kor on September 5th.

General Campbell also gratefully acknowledges the valuable assistance given to military commanders throughout the operations by the following Political Officers in their respective areas:—

H. N. Bolton, Esq., I.C.S., Deputy Commissioner, Peshawar.

Major W. J. Keen, I.A., Political Agent, Dir, Swat and Chitral.

Captain J. A. Brett, I.A., Assistant Commissioner, Mardan.

Captain R. E. H. Griffith, I.A., Assistant Political Agent, Mohmand.

In conclusion, General Campbell records his thanks to R. C. Boyle, Esq., Commandant, Frontier Constabulary, and E. C. Handyside, Esq., District Officer, Frontier Constabulary, who, with their officers and corps, at all times closely and usefully associated themselves with the military throughout the operations.

I wish to bring Major-General Campbell's own services to notice.

Black Mountain.

Black Mountain.

20. In January 1915, unrest among the Chagarzais on the British border at the Black Mountain necessitated the temporary reinforcement of Oghi post by regular troops.

Quiet prevailed until August, when emissaries from Buner endeavoured to stir up the Black Mountain tribes in the cause of jihad.

As a precautionary measure a small column, consisting mainly of a detachment of the troops, whose services had been lent to the Government of India by the Nepal Durbar, was ordered to Oghi, and the neighbouring posts, where they remained throughout September. Conditions became normal again in October.

BURMA.

Operations in the Kachin Hills, January and February 1915.

Kachins.

21. Unrest, which had been brewing for some time among the Kachins, came to a head in December 1914 and January 1915, when punitive operations were undertaken.

The columns originally consisted of Burma Military Police, but as the disturbance appeared more general and likely to spread, regular troops were ordered up to Myitkyina.

Lieutenant-Colonel C. T. Swan, 64th Pioneers, was placed in command of all operations north of Myitkyina, and Lieutenant-Colonel A. W. H. Lee, 1st-7th Gurkha Rifles, Burma Military Police, was detailed to command all troops and control all operations in the Kamaing and Mogaung Jurisdictions. In February, Major-General H. Raitt, C.B., Commanding Burma Division, proceeded to Myitkyina to direct operations.

In the Kamaing and Mogaung Jurisdictions, and the adjoining unadministered territory, six columns operated during January and February. The slight opposition encountered was in all cases successfully overcome, the rebel stockades captured, and the implicated villages destroyed.

In the country north of Myitkyina two columns were employed during the latter end of January and throughout February, and these were equally successful in punishing the recalcitrant tribesmen.

The country in which these operations were carried out is of a particularly dense and difficult nature. Major-General Raitt especially commends a night march carried out by a detachment of the 64th Pioneers over intricate country, followed by a successful attack on a rebel village.

In reporting these operations, Major-General Raitt brings to notice Mr. W. Scott, Assistant Superintendent, Kachin Hills, and Major W. B. T. Abbey, I.A., whose local knowledge was of the greatest value; and adds that his special thanks are due to Lieutenant-Colonel S. L. Aplin, I.A., Commissioner, Mandalay Division, whose unfailing tact secured the requisite co-operation between the civil and military officers employed.

MADRAS.

Madras.

22. The German cruiser "Emden" appeared in the Bay of Bengal in September 1914, and on the night of 22nd-23rd September, this vessel opened fire on the port of Madras. The troops in garrison promptly turned out and engaged the "Emden," the guns causing her to cease fire at once and to sheer off. She made no further attempts on the coasts of India.

In reporting this incident, the Officer Commanding, Madras, states that he was afforded great assistance by the Madras Artillery Volunteers, under the command of Major H. H. G. Mitchell. There were also in Madras the Madras Volunteer Guards, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel F. D. Bird, I.S.O., V.D., the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway Rifles, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel P. G. Porteous, V.D., and "G" Troop, Southern Provinces Mounted Rifles, commanded by Lieutenant W. J. U. Turnbull. These units, together with His Excellency the Governor's Bodyguard, are reported to have been most prompt in getting to their posts.

He also comments on the good work of Commander W. B. Huddlestone, R.I.M.

PREVENTIVE MEASURES.

23. In August 1915, owing to the activity of Germans in the Far East, certain preventive measures were instituted to safeguard the Indian coasts and to prevent the smuggling into the country of arms and ammunition. These measures were arranged by the General Officers Commanding, Karachi, Presidency and Rangoon Brigades; His Excellency the Naval Commander-in-Chief, China Station, subsequently taking over control of those in the Bay of Bengal.

Navy.

24. I desire to take this opportunity of placing on record my sense of obligation to His Excellency Vice-Admiral Sir R. H. Peirse, K.C.B., M.V.O., Naval Commander-in-Chief, East Indies Station, as also to His Excellency Vice-Admiral Sir T. H. M. Jerram, K.C.B., and Vice-Admiral W. L. Grant, C.B., Naval Commanders-in-Chief, China Station.

To these officers and to all under their command I am greatly indebted for the very cordial co-operation that I have at all times received from them.

Local Governments and Civil Departments.

25. Throughout the period dealt with in this despatch all Local Governments have met my requests promptly and in such a manner as to facilitate greatly the maintenance of the forces in the field. I have also received the greatest assistance from all departments of the Government of India, and I am especially indebted to the officers of the Foreign and Political, Financial and Home Departments, who have spared no pains to give me all the help in their power.

In the many and varied situations, with which I have been called upon to deal, the Marine, Railway, Police, Telegraph, Postal and Port Trust authorities, also Shipping Companies and Chambers of Commerce, have afforded me and those under my command their whole-hearted assistance and have greatly contributed to the bringing to a successful conclusion the various operations.

The Railway Board, and under them the North-Western Railway, carried out the troop movements necessary for the frontier operations efficiently and quickly.

To the Survey of India my thanks are especially due for the never failing supply of maps and topographical information.

Volunteers.

26. The Volunteer forces in this country have cordially responded to all calls upon them and commercial firms have patriotically assisted in releasing many of their men for employment in the Indian Army Reserve of Officers. To all the above I desire to express my grateful thanks for the assistance rendered.

27. In conclusion, I attach a list of officers and men, whose names I desire to bring to notice for gallantry or good service in connection with the operations dealt with above.

Recommendations.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

(Sd.) BEAUCHAMP DUFF, General,

Commander-in-Chief, India.

JUDICIAL.

Simla, the 6th July, 1916.

No. 627.—WHEREAS it is expedient to prescribe conditions subject to which motor vehicles from Native States may be brought temporarily into British India, and there used and driven:

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by section 14 of the Indian Motor Vehicles Act, 1914 (VIII of 1914), the Governor General in Council is pleased to make the following rules :—

1. These rules may be called the Motor Vehicles (Native States) Rules, 1916.

2. In these rules "Magistrate" means the District Magistrate or in a Presidency Town, or Rangoon, the Commissioner of Police.

3. No motor vehicle owned by a person ordinarily resident in a Native State, which is not duly registered under the said Act, shall be used or driven by any person in British India unless such motor vehicle bears such mark of identification as may be prescribed by the Political Officer for the territory in which the owner thereof ordinarily resides.

4. (1) Where any such motor vehicle is kept in British India for a period exceeding 10 days at any one time, no person shall use or drive the same unless authorised to do so under a permit issued in this behalf by the Magistrate.

(2) The owner or person in charge may apply to the Magistrate for a permit under these rules and shall furnish him with a description of the motor vehicle and such other particulars as may be required by the said Magistrate.

(3) The Magistrate may thereupon issue to the applicant, in such form and for such period as the said Magistrate may deem expedient, a permit to use the said vehicle in British India.

(4) Any Magistrate empowered under these rules may, from time to time, extend the period of any such permit, or, for reasons to be recorded, cancel the same.

5. Nothing in these rules shall affect any of the provisions of the Motor Vehicles International Circulation Rules, 1915, or apply to any motor vehicle covered by an International Travelling Pass.

6. Nothing in these rules shall apply to Rulers of Native States or to motor vehicles owned by them.

S. R. HIGNELL,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

POLICE.

The 3rd July, 1916.

No. 604.—The services of Major B. A. Corbett, 13th Rajputs, are placed at the disposal of the Government of Burma for employment with the Burma Military Police, with effect from the date on which he assumes charge of his duties.

POLITICAL.

The 1st July, 1916.

ORDER.

No. 2068.—Whereas the Governor General in Council for reasons of state within the preamble to Bengal Regulation 3 of 1818 judges it necessary to attach the estates or lands of Kunwar Mahendra Partab Singh, formerly a resident of Hathras, in the district of Aligarh, and being the son of the late Raja Ghansham Singh Bahadur and adopted son of the late Raja Har Narayan Singh :

Now therefore under section 9 of the aforesaid Regulation the Governor General in Council is pleased to declare that the estates or lands described in the schedule hereto annexed have been so attached and to direct that the same shall be held and managed as provided by section 10 of the said Regulation.

The 4th July, 1916.

No. 1265-I.-B.—In exercise of the powers conferred by the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1902, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to apply to the Railway Lands in Rajputana specified in the notification of the Government of India in the Foreign Department No. 261-I-B., dated the 10th February, 1913, the Indian Companies Act, 1913 (VII of 1913), in so far as the same may be applicable thereto and subject to any amendments to which the Act is for the time being subject in British India.

Provided, first, that in the Act as so applied references to a Local Government shall be read as referring to the Agent to the Governor General in Rajputana, references to a High Court as referring to the Court of the Agent to the Governor General in Rajputana, and, except where the context otherwise requires, references to British India or to a province or to the territories under or subject to a Local Government, as referring to the said Railway Lands.

Provided, secondly, that for the purposes of facilitating the application of the said Act, any Court in the said Railway Lands may construe the provisions thereof and any notifications, orders, rules, forms or bye-laws thereunder, with such alterations, not affecting the substance, as may be necessary or proper to adapt them to the matter before the Court.

Provided, thirdly, that subject to the provisions of this notification, the Agent to the Governor General in Rajputana may direct by what officer any authority or power under the said Act shall be exercisable.

ORGANISATION.

No. 746.—The following despatch by His Excellency General Sir Beauchamp Duff, G.C.B., G.C.S.I., K.C.V.O., C.I.E., A.-D.-C., Commander-in-Chief in India, on the minor military operations undertaken on the North-West Frontier of India and elsewhere in the Indian Empire, including Aden, from the outbreak of the present war to the 9th March 1916, is published for general information :—

Army Headquarters, India,

Delhi, 9th March 1916.

FROM

THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, INDIA,

To

THE SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA,

ARMY DEPARTMENT.

SIR,

I have the honour to submit the following despatch which deals with the minor military operations, undertaken since the outbreak of the present war, on the North-West Frontier and elsewhere in the Indian Empire, including Aden.

They are described in the following order :—

Aden.

Gulf of 'Oman.

Sistan.

Baluchistan.

North-West Frontier—

(a) The Tochi Valley and Derajat,

(c) Black Mountain.

Burma.

Madras.

Preventive measures.

OPERATIONS IN THE VICINITY OF ADEN.

2. On the outbreak of war with Turkey, on 31st October 1914, reports indicated that the Turks were in some strength in the Shaikh Sa'id peninsula and that they were preparing to despatch troops to act against the Aden Protectorate. Consequently on November 3rd orders were issued to Brigadier-General H. V. Cox, C.B., C.S.I., Commanding 29th Indian Infantry Brigade, then on the voyage to Suez, to capture Shaikh Sa'id and destroy the Turkish works, armaments and wells at that place. Three battalions from the 29th Indian Infantry Brigade and the 23rd Sikh Pioneers were detailed for this operation, in which H. M. S. "Duke of Edinburgh" co-operated.

Aden. Shaikh Sa'id.

On November 10th, the transports conveying the force arrived off the coast of the Shaikh Sa'id peninsula, but adverse weather conditions prevented a landing at the point first selected. While the transports were moving to an alternative landing place, H. M. S. "Duke of Edinburgh" engaged the Turkish defences with satisfactory results.

Covered by the fire of the naval guns, a landing was effected, all opposition encountered was overcome and the enemy were driven inland, abandoning their field guns. On November 11th, Turbah Fort and other Turkish works in the vicinity were destroyed by the troops and a naval demolition party, and the force, having effected its object, re-embarked.

In forwarding his report on these operations, General Cox brings to notice the valuable assistance received by him in the disembarkation and re-embarkation of his force from Captain H. Blackett, R.N., H.M.S. "Duke of Edinburgh", and all under his command.

For some time after the operations described above, the Turks did not show signs of advancing with a view to attacking Aden; but their presence on the northern boundary of the Protectorate rendered it desirable to strengthen somewhat the garrison of Aden.

Shaikh Sa'id was again occupied by the enemy, and on the night of June 14th-15th 1915 he endeavoured to effect a landing on the north coast of the Island of Perim. This attack was successfully driven off by the detachment, 23rd Sikh Pioneers, which formed the garrison of the island, under the command of Captain A. G. C. Hutchinson.

3. During May 1915 the enemy was reported to be becoming more active and during the latter half of June, reports indicated a possible Turkish advance on Lahaj from Mawiyah. On definite information being received that such an advance was about to be made, Major-General D. G. L. Shaw, Commanding Aden Brigade, ordered the Aden Moveable Column, under Lieutenant-Colonel H. F. A. Pearson, 23rd Sikh Pioneers, to move out to Shaikh 'Othman on the evening of the 3rd July.

Lahaj.

Early the following morning the advance was continued to Lahaj, to which place the Aden Troop had previously been despatched. The intense heat, sand and shortage of water rendered the march and the subsequent operations most trying, but nevertheless the advanced guard reached their objective, and engaged the Turks just beyond Lahaj on the evening of the 4th July.

But the desertion of the hired camels and the severe climatic conditions so delayed and distressed the main body as to necessitate a withdrawal from Lahaj to Khor Maksar on July 5th.

In recording this, Major-General Shaw pays a tribute to the devotion to duty of the men of the Royal Artillery, who effected the withdrawal of their guns under the most trying conditions.

4. On the withdrawal of the Aden Moveable Column to the Khor Maksar line the Turks occupied Shaikh 'Othman, and it was decided to increase temporarily the Aden garrison.

Shaikh 'Othman.

On July 20th, the 28th (Frontier Force) Brigade, with a battery Royal Horse Artillery and a detachment of Sappers and Miners, afterwards reinforced by another battery and the Aden Troop, the whole under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel A. M. S. Elsmie, 56th

Punjabi Rifles (Frontier Force) moved out of Aden to attack the enemy next morning. The Turks, completely surprised, were expelled from Shaikh 'Othman. Their casualties were some 50-60, in addition to several hundred prisoners, mostly Arabs.

On August 24th, a small column under the command of Major W. J. Ottley, 23rd Sikh Pioneers, engaged the garrison of the Turkish post of Fiyush and forced the enemy to retire on Lahaj.

Again on August 28th a similar successful reconnaissance was made towards Waht.

In September, reports indicated that the Turks were preparing to retire from Lahaj; a column under Lieutenant-Colonel A. M. S. Elsmie, 56th Punjabi Rifles (Frontier Force), was therefore directed to ascertain the situation at Waht. On September 25th, this column surprised the enemy, estimated at 700 Turks with 8 guns and 1,000 Arabs, and seized and occupied Waht.

Major-General Sir G. J. Younghusband, K.C.I.E., C.B., who was commanding the Aden Brigade during a portion of the period when these operations took place, brings to notice the great assistance he received on all occasions both by sea and land from Captain Hall Thompson, R.N., H.M.S. "Philomel".

5. In October, and again in December, our cavalry have had small affairs with hostile reconnoitring parties, in which the latter were driven off with loss, and in December, friendly Arabs, supported by a small infantry detachment, drove off a hostile Turkish and Arab force which was advancing on 'Imad.

Owing to the Turks despatching troops to coerce the tribes in the East of the Aden Protectorate, a demonstration in support of these tribes was made by the Aden Moveable Column on January 12th, 1916, in the direction of Subar. The column located a Turkish force near Subar and engaged it, inflicting considerable losses on it. As a result of this action the Turkish pressure on the Arab tribes is reported to have been relieved.

Operations in the Gulf of 'Oman.

6. Arab unrest, which had been growing in 'Oman for some time past, culminated on the night of 10th-11th January 1915 in an attack by some 3,000 Arab rebels against our outpost line covering Masqat and Matrah. In the early morning of the 11th January, the whole available British force under the command of Colonel S. M. Edwardes, D.S.O., 102nd King Edward's Own Grenadiers, took the offensive and defeated and drove back the rebels who fled into the interior having suffered losses estimated at over 300 killed and wounded.

Masqat.

Colonel Edwardes brings to notice the very valuable assistance rendered by Lieutenant-Colonel R. A. E. Benn, Political Agent, Masqat.

7. On the night of 16th-17th April 1915, a raid against the British post at Jask by disaffected tribesmen was successfully repulsed by the garrison under the command of Major W. H. Lane, 95th Russell's Infantry.

Jask.

8. On the night of 2nd-3rd May, 1915, a body of tribesmen made a determined attack on the British post at Chahbar commanded by Lieutenant C. M. Maltby, 95th Russell's Infantry. The attack was driven off with loss.

Chahbar.

Sistan.

9. Owing to the activities of certain Germans and other enemy subjects in Persia during the latter half of 1915, it was found necessary to strengthen our outposts on the borders of Sistan.

Sistan.

The troops under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel J. M. Wikeley, 28th Light Cavalry, have successfully carried out their orders and co-operated effectively with the Russian forces.

Operations in Baluchistan.

10. On May 28th, 1915, reports were received that the Khan of Kalat's treasury at Khozdar, 110 miles south of Kalat, had been looted. Owing to the insubordinate attitude of Sardar Khan Muhammad, premier chief of Jhalawan, who was responsible for this outrage, it was thought that the trouble might spread. Military assistance was asked for by the Agent to the Governor-General and, with the approval of His Excellency the Viceroy, I accordingly authorized the despatch of a small column consisting of the 106th Hazara Pioneers and a section of Sappers and Miners, under the command* of Lieutenant-Colonel A. LeG. Jacob, C.I.E., D.S.O., 106th Hazara Pioneers, to deal with the situation.

Baluchistan.

*Owing to Lieutenant-Colonel Jacob falling sick, the command was taken over by Major G. L. Carter, 106th Hazara Pioneers.

The column reached Kalat on June 4th and subsequently visited certain neighbouring places. The presence of the troops rapidly restored order and prevented any spread of the disturbance; the rebel chief was declared outlaw by a jirgah of Kalat sirdars and fled. The column arrived back at Quetta on July 19th.

In reporting these operations Lieutenant-General Sir M. H. S. Grover, K.C.B., K.C.I.E., Commanding 4th Quetta Division, states that the troops made some very good marches at a trying season of the year.

NORTH-WEST FRONTIER.

The Tochi Valley and Derajat.

The Tochi Valley.

11. During October and November 1914, various reports were received that attempts were being made to stir up fanaticism along the frontier.

At the end of November 1914, certain influential mullahs in independent territory led a Khostwal lashkar of some 2,000 men to the neighbourhood of Miranshah in the Tochi Valley.

On November 29th, a portion of the North Waziristan Militia under Major G. B. Scott, attacked the enemy and, in a skilfully fought action, inflicted a severe defeat on the tribesmen, who fled in a demoralised condition.

Meanwhile, on the news of the gathering being received, I had arranged for the despatch of suitable reinforcements to Bannu and Thal and had directed the General Officer Commanding, Derajat Brigade, to reinforce Tank at his discretion.

Major-General H. O'Donnell, C.B., D.S.O., Commanding the Bannu Brigade, whose services I have already brought to notice, had proceeded up the Tochi Valley with the Moveable Column and had reached Miranshah on December 3rd. At the request of the Chief Commissioner, North-West Frontier Province, the column did not proceed beyond Miranshah.

The prompt and vigorous action of the North Waziristan Militia checked what might have been a serious rising.

Further reports of hostile gatherings, which threatened the Tochi posts, necessitated the retention of additional troops on this border during December and part of January, but a march carried out by the 4th Brigade along the Bannu border, south-west of Bannu, at the end of December 1914 had a quieting effect.

On January 7th, 1915, operations were carried out by the Bannu Moveable Column and a portion of the North Waziristan Militia with a view to defeating a large Khostwal lashkar that had crossed into British territory and attacked Spina Khaisora post.

Of the British forces, only the North Waziristan Militia were actually engaged with the enemy, but the operations were successful, the enemy losing some 50—60 men killed and being driven in confusion over the frontier. In his report on the above action Major-General O'Donnell states that great credit is due to the North Waziristan Militia for the dash and spirit they displayed in the action against great odds and after a long march.

For his most conspicuous bravery in this action, in attempting at the cost of his life to rescue one of his men, Captain E. Jotham, 51st Sikhs (Frontier Force), was awarded the Victoria Cross.

Although some further gatherings were reported, I was able, on January 11th, to order the withdrawal of most of the extra troops that had been sent to this portion of the frontier, leaving sufficient to ensure its safeguarding.

Early in March 1915, reports of hostile gatherings intended to attack the Tochi posts, and the alleged presence of a Mahsud lashkar, again compelled me to order troops to concentrate on the Derajat, Bannu and Kohat borders.

On March 26th, 1915, the Bannu Moveable Column, together with a portion of the North Waziristan Militia, the whole under the command of Brigadier-General V. B. Fane, C.B., whose services I have already brought to notice, moved out from Miranshah and attacked a large Khostwal lashkar, estimated at 7,000 to 8,000 men, which was threatening that place.

The attack was entirely successful. The enemy's losses were estimated at 200 killed and 300 wounded and they retreated rapidly across the frontier.

Our success was largely due to the skilful manner in which a column under Major G. B. Scott, Commandant, North Waziristan Militia, by means of a night march gained a position in rear of the enemy in time to combine with the frontal attack.

Brigadier-General Fane brings to notice the name of Mr. J. A. O. Fitzpatrick, I.C.S., Political Agent, Tochi, who assisted him with sound advice and good information.

12. With the exception of raiding, this portion of the frontier remained quiet until October 1915, when unrest among the Mahsuds necessitated precautions being taken in the Derajat Brigade area.

The Derajat.

A militia piquet was attacked on November 12th and on the 18th a detachment of the 45th Rattray's Sikhs on piquetting duty near Khajuri Kach in the Gomal was fired upon by some 80—100 Mahsuds. The enemy was driven off and fled and the convoy proceeded to its destination in safety. Brigadier-General F. J. Fowler, C.B, D.S.O., Commanding the Derajat Brigade, states that the detachment behaved very well indeed and maintained the high reputation of their regiment.

The successful operations mentioned above, combined with pressure brought to bear upon the Mahsuds by the civil authorities, has prevented any tribal outbreaks on a considerable scale, but raiding has been constant, which has necessitated constant vigilance and action on the part of the troops.

Mohmands, Swat and Buner.

13. Towards the end of 1914 information was received of anti-British preaching by certain mullahs in the Mohmand country, but, with the exception of a raid in the neighbourhood of Shabkadar in January 1915, which was easily driven off, no serious acts of aggression were committed.

Mohmands, April 1915.

On April 13th, 1915, however, reports were received that the Mohmands were collecting with a view to raiding Shabkadar. The garrison of the Fort was strengthened and the Khaibar Moveable Column, under the command of Major-General C. F. G. Young, was ordered to proceed there forthwith. At the same time I issued orders for certain troops to be held in readiness to reinforce the 1st Peshawar Division and took other measures necessary to deal with the situation.

Reconnaissances on April 16th and 17th located no hostile gatherings, but on April 18th the tribesmen attempted to advance, and were met by the troops under Major-General Young near Hafiz Kor. In the action which ensued the hostile lashkar rapidly increased to some 2,400 men, but its advance was repulsed with loss and it was forced back into the hills. Darkness prevented any pursuit.

Major-General C. J. Blomfield, C.B., D.S.O., Commanding 1st Peshawar Division, was present throughout the action and comments on the keenness and excellent spirit of the troops.

In reporting these operations Major-General Blomfield records his gratitude for the benefit he received from the experience, knowledge and helpfulness of the Hon'ble Sir George Roos-Keppel, K.C.S.I., K.C.I.E., Chief Commissioner, North-West Frontier Province.

Quiet on the frontier then enabled the troops to be withdrawn from the vicinity of the border, although the attitude of the mullahs in Mohmand country, Buner and Bajaur necessitated constant watchfulness.

14. During May the Swatis had been engaged in inter-tribal quarrels, but on June 18th the situation in Upper Swat, where the advance of a lashkar to the Adinzai tract threatened the safety of the Chitral road and Chakdara post, necessitated the concentration at Chakdara of the Malakand Moveable Column, which was under the command of Brigadier-General W. G. L. Beynon, C.B., D.S.O.

Swat.

The rapid concentration of the troops had an excellent effect and prevented any outbreak.

As quiet reigned in July, during which month the Ramzan fast was observed, I arranged for the Chitral reliefs to be carried out. These were successfully completed on August 4th, but in view of a certain amount of unrest which was reported from Buner, I ordered the returning column to remain at Chakdara with the Malakand Moveable Column, where its presence was of great value during subsequent operations.

15. Gatherings in Buner during July had been reported, but the tribesmen remained quiet until August 15th, when information was received that a certain mullah, known as the Haji Sahib of Turangzai, was in the Ambela Pass with several thousand men, preparing to invade British territory. His gathering included a number of the Hindustani Fanatics, a sect inhabiting the Buner border country.

Buner.

A small column from Mardan was at once moved to Rustam on the Buner border.

On August 17th, a hostile gathering of some three to four thousand tribesmen debouched from the Ambela Pass and moved towards Rustam, while a further force was reported to be in the neighbouring hills to the north-west.

Brigadier-General S. F. Crocker at once attacked the Ambela Pass gathering and routed it with loss. The 91st Battery, Royal Field Artillery, which came up during the course of the action after a forced march, did great execution.

Major-General F. Campbell, C.B., D.S.O., Commanding, 1st Peshawar Division, now concentrated a Brigade, under the Command of Brigadier-General N. G. Woodyatt, at Rustam.

Between August 21st and 31st this brigade took the offensive against the tribesmen whenever they appeared and during this period Brigadier-General Woodyatt was engaged with the enemy on three occasions, on all of which he was successful in driving them back into the hills with loss and destroying the villages in which they had harboured.

Swat.

16. While these operations were in progress, information was received that on August 20th a tribal gathering of some fifteen to twenty thousand men under the Sandaki mullah was advancing down the left bank of the Swat river to invade Lower Swat. To meet this, Brigadier-General Beynon, Commanding the Malakand Moveable Column at Chakdara, moved his column to the left bank of the river and occupied the Landakai ridge, which was well situated to arrest the hostile advance.

Our outposts were heavily attacked on the night of 28th-29th August, but the enemy were driven off with loss. The next morning the column moved out and destroyed a fort and shelled several villages, which were occupied by the enemy. As a result of these operations the tribesmen dispersed, and made no further attempts at offensive action for some time.

Mohmands, September and October 1915.

17. Meanwhile, during August, there had been some talk of jihad on the Mohmand border, where various religious leaders had been active, and large tribal gatherings led by these fanatical mullahs were reported to have collected on August 28th.

Two brigades under Brigadier-General L. C. Dunsterville and Brigadier-General C. Christian, with a mounted column under Brigadier-General S. F. Crocker and Divisional Artillery, were therefore ordered up to the neighbourhood of Shabkadar between August 30th, and September 2nd, while a Mobile Column under Lieutenant-Colonel A. B. Longden, 38th Dogras, was formed at Mardan and subsequently moved to Abazai.

At the same time I issued orders for reinforcements to be ready for despatch to this border at short notice, if required.

On September 3rd large bodies of tribesmen were observed moving in the foothills and preparing sangars in the vicinity of Hafiz Kor, but no steps were taken to prevent them collecting as it was desired to entice them out into the plain. By the evening of September 4th it was calculated that the hostile force had reached its maximum strength (it was then about ten thousand) and Major-General F. Campbell, C.B., D.S.O., Commanding 1st Peshawar Division, decided to attack.

The action was fought on the following day; the enemy resisted stoutly and displayed great bravery, tenaciously holding on to their sangars, but were defeated with heavy loss and driven from their position. An opportunity occurred for cavalry action and a successful charge was made against the tribesmen.

Between September 20th and 24th further hostile gatherings were reported on this border and the mullahs made great efforts to stir up their followers to invade British territory. No lashkar, however, crossed the border until early in October, when lashkars, numbering some 9,000 men, again collected in the neighbourhood of Hafiz Kor. Major-General Campbell, who had strengthened his force by another brigade under Brigadier-General N. G. Woodyatt, took the offensive against this gathering on October 8th from Shabkadar.

The enemy offered strong opposition, especially on our right flank, where the Mobile Column from Abazai was co-operating, but were defeated and forced back into the hills. A detachment of the Khaibar Rifles from Fort Michni took part in the fight.

In this operation armoured cars were used for the first time in action in India and proved of great value.

Swat, October 1915.

18. Although further gatherings were reported in Swat, there was no actual outbreak until October, when the tribesmen again became active. Their lashkars rapidly increased, and on October 26th some 3,000 Bajauris advanced towards Chakdara, with a view to arousing the tribes of Dir and Swat to attack the fort at that place.

Lieutenant-Colonel C. C. Luard, 1st Battalion, Durham Light Infantry, temporarily commanding the Malakand Movable Column, at once decided to attack; and moving out from Chakdara Camp on October 27th, he engaged, routed, and pursued the enemy, who were severely handled and lost a standard. As the result of this action there has been no further gathering on this border.

General. 19. In reporting these operations on the Swat, Buner, and Mohmand borders, Major-General Campbell states that he cannot speak too highly of the endurance and conduct of the troops, both British and Indian. The temperature, which is always extremely trying in the Peshawar Valley during the hot weather, was nearly ten degrees above normal; but, in spite of these severe climatic conditions, the troops showed a fine spirit and great cheerfulness and were eager and ready at all times to march and fight. The working of the administrative services was also entirely satisfactory, in spite of the many difficulties that had to be contended with.

Mechanical transport was used for the first time on the Indian frontier and proved to be invaluable; as, without it, the maintenance of the forces in the field could not have been effectively accomplished.

Major-General Campbell cordially acknowledges the ready assistance afforded to him by the Hon'ble Sir George Roos-Keppel, K.C.S.I., K.C.I.E., Chief Commissioner, North-West Frontier Province, who kept him informed, frequently by personal interview, of the changes in the political situation and other matters, enabling him to make the necessary dispositions in time to meet each situation as it arose. Sir George Roos-Keppel was present throughout the action at Hafiz Kor on September 5th.

General Campbell also gratefully acknowledges the valuable assistance given to military commanders throughout the operations by the following Political Officers in their respective areas :—

H. N. Bolton, Esq., I.C.S., Deputy Commissioner, Peshawar.

Major W. J. Keen, I.A., Political Agent, Dir, Swat and Chitral.

Captain [illegible]. A. Brett, I.A., Assistant Commissioner, Mardan.

Captain R. E. H. Griffith, I.A., Assistant Political Agent, Mohmand.

In conclusion, General Campbell records his thanks to R. C. Boyle, Esq., Commandant, Frontier Constabulary, and E. C. Handyside, Esq., District Officer, Frontier Constabulary, who, with their officers and corps, at all times closely and usefully associated themselves with the military throughout the operations.

I wish to bring Major-General Campbell's own services to notice.

Black Mountain.

Black Mountain 20. In January 1915, unrest among the Chagarzais on the British border at the Black Mountain necessitated the temporary reinforcement of Oghi post by regular troops.

Quiet prevailed until August, when emissaries from Buner endeavoured to stir up the Black Mountain tribes in the cause of jihad.

As a precautionary measure a small column, consisting mainly of a detachment of the troops, whose services had been lent to the Government of India by the Nepal Durbar, was ordered to Oghi, and the neighbouring posts, where they remained throughout September. Conditions became normal again in October.

BURMA.

Operations in the Kachin Hills, January and February 1915.

Kachins. 21. Unrest, which had been brewing for some time among the Kachins, came to a head in December 1914 and January 1915, when punitive operations were undertaken.

The columns originally consisted of Burma Military Police, but as the disturbance appeared more general and likely to spread, regular troops were ordered up to Myitkyina.

Lieutenant-Colonel C. T. Swan, 64th Pioneers, was placed in command of all operations north of Myitkyina, and Lieutenant-Colonel A. W. H. Lee, 1st-7th Gurkha Rifles, Burma Military Police, was detailed to command all troops and control all operations in the Kamaing and Mogaung Jurisdictions. In February, Major-General H. Raitt, C.B., Commanding Burma Division, proceeded to Myitkyina to direct operations.

In the Kamaing and Mogaung Jurisdictions, and the adjoining unadministered territory, six columns operated during January and February. The slight opposition encountered was in all cases successfully overcome, the rebel stockades captured, and the implicated villages destroyed.

In the country north of Myitkyina two columns were employed during the latter end of January and throughout February, and these were equally successful in punishing the recalcitrant tribesmen.

The country in which these operations were carried out is of a particularly dense and difficult nature. Major-General Raitt especially commends a night march carried out by a detachment of the 64th Pioneers over intricate country, followed by a successful attack on a rebel village.

In reporting these operations, Major-General Raitt brings to notice Mr. W. Scott, Assistant Superintendent, Kachin Hills, and Major W. B. T. Abbey, I.A., whose local knowledge was of the greatest value; and adds that his special thanks are due to Lieutenant-Colonel S. L. Aplin, I.A., Commissioner, Mandalay Division, whose unfailing tact secured the requisite co-operation between the civil and military officers employed.

MADRAS.

Madras.

22. The German cruiser "Emden" appeared in the Bay of Bengal in September 1914, and on the night of 22nd-23rd September, this vessel opened fire on the port of Madras. The troops in garrison promptly turned out and engaged the "Emden", the guns causing her to cease fire at once and to sheer off. She made no further attempts on the coasts of India.

In reporting this incident, the Officer Commanding, Madras, states that he was afforded great assistance by the Madras Artillery Volunteers, under the command of Major H. H. G. Mitchell. There were also in Madras the Madras Volunteer Guards, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel F. D. Bird, I.S.O., V.D., the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway Rifles, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel P. G. Porteous, V.D., and "G" Troop, Southern Provinces Mounted Rifles, commanded by Lieutenant W. J. U. Turnbull. These units, together with His Excellency the Governor's Bodyguard, are reported to have been most prompt in getting to their posts.

He also comments on the good work of Commander W. B. Huddlestone, R.I.M.

PREVENTIVE MEASURES.

23. In August 1915, owing to the activity of Germans in the Far East, certain preventive measures were instituted to safeguard the Indian coasts and to prevent the smuggling into the country of arms and ammunition. These measures were arranged by the General Officers Commanding, Karachi, Presidency and Rangoon Brigades; His Excellency the Naval Commander-in-Chief, China Station, subsequently taking over control of those in the Bay of Bengal.

Navy.

24. I desire to take this opportunity of placing on record my sense of obligation to His Excellency Vice-Admiral Sir R. H. Peirse, K.C.B., M.V.O., Naval Commander-in-Chief, East Indies Station, as also to His Excellency Vice-Admiral Sir T. H. M. Jerram, K.C.B., and Vice-Admiral W. L. Grant, C.B., Naval Commanders-in-Chief, China Station.

To these officers and to all under their command I am greatly indebted for the very cordial co-operation that I have at all times received from them.

Local Governments and Civil Departments.

25. Throughout the period dealt with in this despatch all Local Governments have met my requests promptly and in such a manner as to facilitate greatly the maintenance of the forces in the field. I have also received the greatest assistance from all departments of the Government of India, and I am especially indebted to the officers of the Foreign and Political, Financial and Home Departments, who have spared no pains to give me all the help in their power.

In the many and varied situations, with which I have been called upon to deal, the Marine, Railway, Police, Telegraph, Postal and Port Trust authorities, also Shipping Companies and Chambers of Commerce, have afforded me and those under my command their wholehearted assistance and have greatly contributed to the bringing to a successful conclusion the various operations.

The Railway Board, and under them the North-Western Railway, carried out the troop movements necessary for the frontier operations efficiently and quickly.

To the Survey of India my thanks are especially due for the never failing supply of maps and topographical information.

Volunteers.

26. The Volunteer forces in this country have cordially responded to all calls upon them and commercial firms have patriotically assisted in releasing many of their men for employment in the Indian Army Reserve of Officers. To all the above I desire to express my grateful thanks for the assistance rendered.

Recommendations.

27. In conclusion, I attach a list of officers and men, whose names I desire to bring to notice for gallantry or good service in connection with the operations dealt with above.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

(Sd.) BEAUCHAMP DUFF, General,

Commander-in-Chief, India.

LONDON GAZETTE.

No. 758.—The following is published for general information :—

Third Supplement dated the 29th May 1916, to the "London Gazette" of the 26th May 1916, pages 5311 to 5316.

War Office,
London, S.W.,
29th May, 1916.

The following despatch has been received by the Secretary of State for War from General Sir Douglas Haig, G.C.B., Commanding-in-Chief, the British Forces in France :—

General Headquarters,
19th May, 1916.

MY LORD,

1. I have the honour to report the operations of the British Forces serving in France and Belgium since 19th December, 1915, on which date, in accordance with the orders of His Majesty's Government, I assumed the Chief Command,

During this period, the only offensive effort made by the enemy on a great scale was directed against our French Allies near Verdun. The fighting in that area has been prolonged and severe. The results have been worthy of the high traditions of the French Army and of great service to the cause of the Allies. The efforts made by the enemy have cost him heavy losses both in men and in prestige, and he has made these sacrifices without gaining any advantage to counterbalance them.

During this struggle my troops have been in readiness to co-operate as they might be needed, but the only assistance asked for by our Allies was of an indirect nature—viz., the relief of the French troops on a portion of their defensive front. This relief I was glad to be able to afford.

Its execution on a considerable front, everywhere in close touch with the enemy, was a somewhat delicate operation, but it was carried out with complete success, thanks to the cordial co-operation and goodwill of all ranks concerned and to the lack of enterprise shown by the enemy during the relief.

2. On the British front no action on a great scale, such as that at Verdun, has been fought during the past five months, nevertheless our troops have been far from idle or inactive. Although the struggle, in a general sense, has not been intense, it has been everywhere continuous, and there have been many sharp local actions.

The maintenance and repair of our defences alone, especially in winter, entails constant heavy work. Bad weather and the enemy combine to flood and destroy trenches, dug-outs and communications; all such damages must be repaired promptly, under fire, and almost entirely by night.

Artillery and snipers are practically never silent, patrols are out in front of the lines every night, and heavy bombardments by the artillery of one or both sides take place daily in various parts of the line. Below ground there is continual mining and counter-mining, which, by the ever-present threat of sudden explosion and the uncertainty as to when and where it will take place, causes perhaps a more constant strain than any other form of warfare. In the air there is seldom a day, however bad the weather, when aircraft are not busy reconnoitring, photographing, and observing fire. All this is taking place constantly at any hour of the day or night, and in any part of the line.

3. In short, although there has been no great incident of historic importance to record on the British front during the period under review, a steady and continuous fight has gone on, day and night, above ground and below it. The comparative monotony of this struggle has been relieved at short intervals by sharp local actions, some of which, although individually almost insignificant in a war on such an immense scale, would have been thought worthy of a separate despatch under different conditions, while their cumulative effect, though difficult to appraise at its true value now, will doubtless prove hereafter to have been considerable.

One form of minor activity deserves special mention, namely, the raids or "cutting out parties" which are made at least twice or three times a week against the enemy's line. They consist of a brief attack, with some special object, on a section of the opposing trenches, usually carried out at night by a small body of men. The character of these operations—the preparation of a road through our own and the enemy's wire—the crossing of the open ground unseen—the penetration of the enemy's trenches—the hand-to-hand fighting in the darkness and the uncertainty as to the strength of the opposing force—give peculiar scope to the gallantry, dash and quickness of decision of the troops engaged; and much skill and daring are frequently displayed in these operations.

The initiative in these minor operations was taken, and on the whole has been held, by us; but the Germans have recently attempted some bold and well-conceived raids against our lines, many of which have been driven back, although some have succeeded in penetrating, as has been reported by me from time to time.

4. Of the numerous local actions alluded to, the total number, omitting the more minor raids, amounts to over 60 since December 19th, of which the most important have been :—

The operations at The Bluff, the Hohenzollern Redoubt, and at St. Eloi; the mining operations and crater fighting in the Loos salient and on the Vimy Ridge; and the hostile gas attacks north of Ypres in December, and opposite Hulluch and Messines in April.

The most recent local operations worthy of mention are the capture of some 500 yards of our trenches by the Germans at the Kink, on the 11th May, and the capture by us of 250 yards of their trenches near Cabaret Rouge, on the night of the 15th-16th May.

5. As an illustration of the nature of these local operations, it will suffice to describe two or three of the most important.

Ypres Salient and The Bluff, 8th February to 2nd March, 1916.

During the period 8th to 19th February the enemy displayed increased activity in the Ypres salient, and carried out a series of infantry attacks, preceded, as a rule, by intense bombardment, and by the explosion of mines. These attacks may, no doubt, be regarded as a subsidiary operation, designed partly to secure local points of vantage, but probably also to distract attention from the impending operations near Verdun, which began on the 21st February.

After several days' heavy shelling over the whole of our line in this area, the first attack took place on 12th February at the extreme left of our line to the north of Ypres. A bombing attack was launched by the Germans in the early morning, and they succeeded in capturing our trenches. Our counter-attack, however, which was immediately organised, enabled us to clear our trenches of the enemy, and to pursue him to his own. After a period of further bombardment on both sides, the German fire again increased in intensity against our trenches and the French line beyond them; and in the evening a second attempt was made to rush our extreme left—this time entirely without success. Smaller attempts against other trenches in the neighbourhood were made at the same time, but were immediately repulsed by rifle and machine-gun fire. Throughout the operations our position in this part of the line remained intact, except that two isolated trenches of no tactical importance were captured by the enemy a day or two later; they were subsequently obliterated by our artillery fire. Throughout this fighting the French on our immediate left rendered us the prompt and valuable assistance which we have at all times received from them.

Another series of German attacks was launched about the same time in the neighbourhood of Hooge to the east of Ypres. The enemy had pushed out several saps in front of his trenches, and connected them up into a firing line some 150 yards from our lines. During the whole of the 13th February he heavily bombarded our front-line trenches in this neighbourhood, and completely destroyed them. On the following afternoon an intense bombardment of our line began, and the enemy exploded a series of mines in front of our trenches, simultaneously launching infantry attacks against Hooge and the northern and southern ends of Sanctuary Wood. Each of these attacks was repulsed by artillery, machine-gun and rifle fire.

Further to the South, however, the enemy was more successful. On the northern bank of the Ypres-Comines Canal there is a narrow ridge, 30 to 40 feet high, covered with trees—probably the heap formed by excavation when the canal was dug—which forms a feature of the flat-wooded country at the southern bend of the Ypres salient. It runs outward through our territory almost into the German area, so that our trenches pass over the eastern point of it, which is known as The Bluff. Here also our trenches were almost obliterated by the bombardment on the afternoon of the 14th, following which a sudden rush of hostile infantry was successful in capturing these and other front-line trenches immediately north of The Bluff—some 600 yards in all. Two of these trenches were at once regained, but the others were held by the enemy, in the face of several counter-attacks. On the night of the 15th-16th we made an unsuccessful counter-attack, with the object of regaining the lost trenches. An advance was begun across the open on the north side of the canal, combined with grenade attacks along the communication trenches immediately north of The Bluff. The night was very dark, and heavy rain had turned the ground into a quagmire, so that progress was difficult for the attacking force, which was unable to consolidate its position in the face of heavy machine-gun and rifle fire. After the failure of this attack it was decided to adopt slower and more methodical methods of re-capturing the lost trenches, and nothing of special importance occurred in the Ypres salient during the rest of the month, although both sides displayed rather more than the usual activity.

The re-capture of The Bluff took place after the enemy had held it for seventeen days. After several days preliminary bombardment by our artillery, the assault was carried out at 4-29 A.M. on the 2nd March. Measures taken to deceive the enemy were successful, and our infantry effected a complete surprise, finding the enemy with their bayonets unfixed, and many of them without rifles or equipment. About 50 Germans took refuge in a crater at the eastern end of The Bluff, and these put up a brief resistance before taking refuge in the tunnels they had constructed, in which they were captured at leisure. Otherwise our right hand attacking party, whose objective was The Bluff, met with little opposition.

The front line of the centre attack, reaching its assigned objective without much opposition, swept on past it and seized the German Third Line at the eastern side of the salient. This line was not suitable to hold permanently, but it proved useful as a temporary covering position while the captured trenches in rear were being consolidated, and at nightfall the covering party was withdrawn unmolested. The later waves of our centre attack met and captured, after some fighting, several Germans coming out of their dug-outs.

The left attacking party, at the first attempt, failed to reach the German trenches, but those who had penetrated to the German line on the right realised the situation and brought a Lewis gun to bear on the enemy's line of resistance, completely enfilading his trenches, and thus enabling the left company to reach its goal.

Thus our objective, which included a party of the German line, as well as the whole of the front lost by us on the 14th February, was captured, and is still held by us. Several counter-attacks were destroyed by our fire. The enemy's trenches were found full of dead as a result of our bombardment, and five officers and 251 other ranks were captured.

The support of the Heavy and Field Artillery, and a number of trench mortars, contributed largely to the success of the operation.

St. Eloi.

6. On the 27th March our troops made an attack with the object of straightening out the line at St. Eloi, and cutting away the small German salient which encroached on the semi-circle of our line in the Ypres salient to a depth of about 100 yards over a front of some 600 yards. The operation was begun by the firing of six very large mines; the charge was so heavy that the explosion was felt in towns several miles behind the lines, and large numbers of the enemy were killed. Half a minute after the explosion our infantry attack was launched aiming at the German Second Line. The right attack met with little opposition, and captured its assigned objective; but the left attack was not so successful, and a gap was left in possession of the Germans, through which they entered one of the craters. The following days were spent by both sides in heavy bombardment and in unsuccessful attacks, intended on our part to capture the remaining trenches, and on the part of the Germans to drive us from the positions we had occupied. In the very early morning of April 3rd we succeeded in recapturing the crater and the trenches still held by the enemy, thereby securing the whole of our original objective. We had, moreover, captured five officers and 195 men in the first attack on March 27th, and five officers and 80 men in the attack on April 3rd. The work of consolidating our new position, however, proved extremely difficult, owing to the wet soil, heavy shelling and mine explosions; though pumps were brought up and efforts at draining were instituted, the result achieved was comparatively small. By dint of much heavy work the Brigade holding these trenches succeeded in reducing the water in the trenches by 2 feet by the morning of the 5th. This state of affairs could not, even so, be regarded as satisfactory; and during the 5th the enemy's bombardment increased in intensity, and the new trenches practically ceased to exist. On the morning of the 6th the enemy attacked with one battalion supported by another; he penetrated our new line, and gained the two westernmost craters. It is difficult to follow in detail the fighting of the next three weeks, which consisted in repeated attacks by both sides on more or less isolated mine craters, the trench lines having been destroyed by shell fire. Great efforts were made to maintain communication with the garrisons of these advanced posts, and with considerable success. But there were periods of uncertainty, and some misconception as to the state of affairs arose. On the 11th it was reported to me that we had recaptured all that remained of the position won by us on the 27th March and 3rd April. This report, probably due to old craters having been mistaken for new ones, was subsequently found to be incorrect. The new craters, being exposed to the enemy's view and to the full weight of his artillery fire, have proved untenable, and at the present time our troops are occupying trenches roughly in the general line which was held by them before the 27th.

German Gas Attacks, 27th-30th April.

7. On the night of the 29th-30th April the enemy carried out a gas attack on a considerable scale near Wulverghem, on a front of 3,500 yards. The operation was opened by heavy rifle and machine-gun fire under cover of which the gas was released. Immediately afterwards a heavy "barrage", or curtain of artillery fire, was placed on three parts of this area, and eight infantry attacks were launched. Of these attacks only two penetrated our trenches; one was immediately repelled, while the other was driven out by a counter-attack after about 40 minutes' occupation. The enemy's object would appear to have been the destruction of mine shafts, as a charge of guncotton was found unexploded in a disused shaft, to which the enemy had penetrated. But if this was his object he was completely unsuccessful.

Similar attacks were made by the Germans in front of Vermelles, to the south of La Bassee, on the 27th and 29th April, the discharge of a highly concentrated gas being accompanied by bombardment with lachrymatory and other shells and the explosion of a mine. On the first occasion two minor infantry attacks penetrated our trenches, but were driven out almost immediately; on the second occasion a small attack was repulsed, but the more serious advance which appears to have been intended was probably rendered impossible by the fact that a part of the enemy's gas broke back over his own lines, to the visible confusion of his troops, who were massing for the attack.

9. The activity described above has its counterpart in rear of our lines in the training which is carried out continuously. During the periods of relief all formations, and especially the newly created ones, are instructed and practised in all classes of the present and other phases of warfare. A large number of schools also exist for the instruction of individuals especially in the use and theory of the less familiar weapons, such as bombs and grenades.

There are schools for young staff officers and regimental officers, for candidates for commissions, etc. In short, every effort is made to take advantage of the closer contact with actual warfare, and to put the finishing touches, often after actual experience in the trenches, to the training received at home.

10. During the period under review the forces under my command have been considerably augmented by the arrival of new formations from home, and the transfer of others released from service in the Near East. This increase has made possible the relief of a French Army, to which I have already referred, at the time of the Battle of Verdun. Among the newly arrived forces is the "Anzac" Corps. With them the Canadians, and a portion of the South African Overseas Force which has also arrived, the Dominions now furnish a valuable part of the Imperial Forces in France.

Since the date of the last Despatch, but before I assumed command, the Indian Army Corps left this country for service in the East. They had given a year's valuable and gallant service under conditions of warfare which they had not dreamt of, and in a climate peculiarly difficult for them to endure. I regret their departure, but I do not doubt that they will continue to render gallant and effective service elsewhere, as they have already done in this country.

11. I take this opportunity to bring to notice the admirable work which the Royal Flying Corps has continued to perform, in spite of much unfavourable weather, in carrying out reconnaissance duties, in taking photographs—an important aid to reconnaissance which has been brought to a high pitch of perfection—and in assisting the work of our Artillery by registering targets and locating hostile batteries. In the performance of this work they have flown in weather when no hostile aeroplane ventured out, and they have not hesitated to fly low, under fire of the enemy's guns, when their duties made it necessary to do so. They have also carried out a series of bombing raids on hostile aerodromes and points of military importance. A feature of the period under review has been the increased activity of the enemy's aircraft, in suitable weather. But the enemy's activity has been mainly on his own side of the line, and has aimed chiefly at interrupting the work carried out by our machines. In order to carry on the work in spite of this opposition, which was for a time rendered more effective by the appearance in December of a new and more powerful type of enemy machine, it has been necessary to provide an escort to accompany our reconnaissance aeroplanes, and fighting in the air, which was formerly exceptional, has now become an everyday occurrence.

The observers, no less than the pilots, have done excellent service, and many fine feats have been performed by both. Developments on the technical side of the Air Service have been no less remarkable and satisfactory than the progress made on the purely military side. Much inventive genius has been displayed; and our equipment for photography, wireless telegraphy, bomb-dropping and offensive action generally has been immensely improved, while great skill has been shown in keeping the flying machines themselves in good flying condition.

12. The continuance of siege warfare has entailed for the Royal Engineers work of a particularly arduous and important kind extending from the front trenches to the Base Ports.

In the performance of this work the Officers, Non-commissioned Officers and men of the Field Companies and other units of the Corps have continued to exhibit a very high standard of skill, courage, and devotion to duty.

13. The work of the Tunnelling Companies calls for special mention. Increased mining activity on the part of the enemy has invariably been answered with enterprise combined with untiring energy on the part of our miners, who in carrying out duties always full of danger have shown that they possess in the highest degree the qualities of courage, perseverance, and self-sacrifice. Their importance in the present phase of warfare is very great.

14. The excellent work done by the Corps of Military Police is worthy of mention. This Corps is inspired by a high sense of duty, and in the performance of its share in the maintenance of discipline it has shown both zeal and discretion.

15. All branches of the Medical Services deserve the highest commendation for the successful work done by them, both at the Front and on the Lines of Communication. The sick rate has been consistently low; there has been no serious epidemic, and entric fever, the bane of armies in the past, has almost completely disappeared owing to preventive measures energetically carried out.

The results of exposure incidental to trench warfare during the winter months were to a very great extent kept in check by careful application of the precautions recommended and taught by regimental Medical Officers.

The wounded have been promptly and efficiently dealt with, and their evacuation to the Base has been rapidly accomplished.

The close co-operation which has existed between the officers of the Regular Medical Service of the Army and those members of the civil medical profession, who have patriotically given their valuable services to the Army, has largely contributed to the prevention of disease and to the successful treatment and comfort of the sick and wounded.

As part of the Medical Services, the Canadian Army Medical Corps has displayed marked efficiency and devotion to duty.

16. The Commission of Graves Registration and Enquiries has, since it first undertook this work eighteen months ago, registered and marked over 50,000 graves. Without its labours many would have remained unidentified. It has answered several thousand enquiries from relatives and supplied them with photographs. Flowers and shrubs have been planted in most of the cemeteries which are sufficiently far removed from the firing line, and all cemeteries which it is possible to work in during the daytime are now being looked after by non-commissioned officers and men of this unit.

17. The valuable nature of the work performed by the officers of the Central Laboratory and the Chemical Advisers with the Armies in investigations into the nature of the gasses and other new substances used in hostile attacks, and in devising and perfecting means of protecting our troops against them, is deserving of recognition. The efforts of these officers materially contributed to the failure of the Germans in their attack of 19th December, 1915, as well as in the various gas attacks since made.

18. The stream of additional personnel and material arriving from England, and the move of complete formations to and from the East during the period under review, have thrown a great deal of work on our Base Ports and on the Advanced Base. The staff and personnel at these stations have coped most ably with the work of forwarding and equipping the various units passing through their hands, and I desire to bring their good work to notice.

19. The large increases made to our forces have necessitated a great expansion in the resources of our Lines of Communication, and I have been greatly struck by the forethought shown by the Administrative Services in anticipating the requirements of the Armies in the Field and in the provision made to satisfy these requirements.

The Base Ports have been developed to the utmost possible extent, advanced Depôts have been provided, and communications have been improved to ensure punctual distribution to the troops.

Labour has been organised in order to develop local resources, especially in the matter of timber for defences and hutting, and stone for road maintenance, whereby considerable reductions have been made possible in the shipments from over sea.

Economy has attended the good methods adopted, and the greatest credit is due to all concerned for the results obtained.

20. I desire to acknowledge here the valuable assistance rendered by the naval transport officers on the Lines of Communication. They have worked with and for the Army most untiringly, efficiently, and with the utmost harmony.

I also desire to acknowledge the indebtedness of the Army to the Royal Navy for their unceasing and uniformly successful care in securing the safety of our transport service on the seas.

21. I wish to acknowledge the work done in the reproduction of maps by the Ordnance Survey Department. Over 90 per cent. of the maps used in this country are reproduced and printed in England by the Ordnance Survey, and the satisfactory supply is largely due to the foresight and initiative displayed by this Department. I can now count on obtaining an issue of as many as 10,000 copies of any map within one week of sending it home for reproduction.

22. I have forwarded under a separate letter the names of the Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and Men whom I wish to bring to notice for gallant and distinguished service.

23. I cannot close this Despatch without some reference to the work of my predecessor in Command, Field-Marshal Viscount French. The Field-Marshal, starting the war with our small Expeditionary Force, faced an enemy far superior in numbers and fully prepared for this great campaign. During the long and anxious time needed for the improvisation of the comparatively large force now serving in this country, he overcame all difficulties, and before laying down his responsibilities he had the satisfaction of seeing the balance of advantage swing steadily in our favour. Those who have served under him appreciate the greatness of his achievement.

I have the honour to be,

Your Lordship's most obedient Servant,

D. HAIG, General,

Commander-in-Chief, The British Forces in France.

Second Supplement, dated the 31st May 1916, to the "London Gazette" of the 30th May 1916, pages 5405, 5406, 5407, 5408 and 5409.

War Office,

31st May 1916.

His Majesty the KING has been graciously pleased to approve of the appointment of the undermentioned Officers to be Companions of the Distinguished Service Order, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty in the field :—

Captain John Rawson Wynter, 52nd Sikhs (attd. 59th Scinde Rif.), Ind. Army.

For conspicuous gallantry. Though shot through the shoulder, he continued to lead an attack on an enemy redoubt, entered it, and held his position for some time against bomb attacks from both flanks. He then covered a flank with marked ability during the retirement, although again hit twice.

His Majesty the KING has been graciously pleased to confer the Military Cross on the undermentioned Officers, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty in the field :—

* * * * * * * *

Capt. Frank Harley James, 104th Wellesley's Rif., Ind. Army (comdg. Vol. Maxim Gun Sec.)

For conspicuous gallantry. He fought his guns in the firing line under very heavy fire, and, although one gun was knocked out and there were many casualties, he held his ground when the infantry temporarily fell back. On another occasion he did fine and gallant work.

* * * * * * * *

Capt. Henry Francis Freke Marsh, 1st Bn., 2nd Gurkha Rif., Ind. Army.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Although wounded, he continued to command his company throughout the afternoon and evening, refusing to be carried back to safety. His cheerfulness and bravery inspired great confidence in his men.

* * * * * * * *

Lieut. Henry Finnis, 53rd Sikhs, Ind. Army.

For conspicuous gallantry when repeatedly carrying messages under heavy rifle and machine-gun fire, both by day and night. He also rendered great assistance in organising the defences of the firing line.

* * * * * * * *

2nd Lt. Philip Francis Beard Bayly, Ind. Army Res. of Off. (attd. 2nd Rajput Light Infy.).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in command of a machine gun section. Though severely wounded, he continued in action, and later took up a second position to check a counter-attack, carrying a tripod himself though suffering from his wound.

* * * * * * * *

For conspicuous gallantry when leading an attack on the enemy trenches and maintaining his small party till dark within 200 yards of the enemy's position. He also made gallant attempts to rescue a wounded officer.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 1st July 1916.

Burma.— Heavy to moderate rainfall was reported in the wet zone but scanty in the dry zone districts. Ploughing, sowing and transplanting are progressing normally in rice growing districts. In the dry zone sowing of jowar, sesamum, cotton and groundnut are proceeding. District reports indicate, that standing crops are generally doing well. The health of cattle is good. The price of unhusked rice at Rangoon has fallen to Rs. 114 per hundred baskets which is slightly above normal. The market for white rice is easier.

Assam.—The weather is seasonable. The rainfall has been general and favourable to standing crops but more rain is wanted in Nowgong and in parts of Sylhet. Preparation of lands for winter rice and sowing of paddy seed beds are proceeding. Plucking and manufacture of tea and transplantation of rice seedlings and harvesting of autumn rice and planting of sugarcane are in progress Prospects of tea, jute and sugarcane and the outturn of autumn rice are fair. Flood has been reported from the Lakhimpur district. Price of common rice has risen slightly. Cattle disease is reported in all districts except in Manipur.

Bengal.—During the week under report heavy rain fell throughout in nearly all the eastern Bengal districts ; in the rest of the Province however the rainfall was only moderate. Ploughing of fields for winter rice and transplantation of paddy seedlings are proceeding. Weeding of jute fields is still in progress in some districts of western Bengal. Harvesting of autumn paddy and jute has commenced in several places in eastern Bengal. Cattle disease is reported from eleven districts. The average price of common rice for the Provinceshas risen by about 0·8 per cent as compared with that of the previous week.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows :—

Bankura District.—The state of affairs in the affected areas is generally unchanged. Transplantation and sowing are progressing well. Prospects of standing crops are fair. The condition of people on works is generally good and relief measures are adequate. Loans to weavers are being advanced. The distribution of agricultural loans is almost completed. Prices are stationary. The price of rice is 8 seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief works was 11,406 and in receipt of gratuitous relief 23,492, total 34,898. The decrease in the numbers is due to commencement of agricultural operations. The number of persons relieved on private works was 2,957.

Tippera District.—The rainfall during the week improved the prospect of standing crops Harvesting of the autumn rice crop is proceeding. The public health is good. There is no emaciation. The price of rice is 7 seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief works was 2,162 and on gratuitous relief 8,484, total 10,626. The decrease in numbers on works is due to the gradual closing down of works in the Brahmanbaria sub-division and the increase in numbers in receipt of gratuitous relief is due to closing of relief operations at the Sadar sub-division on account of the rain.

Bihar and Orissa.—The rainfall was general over the province and was mostly light to moderate. Sowing of autumn crops is in progress. Transplantation of winter paddy has commenced in some districts. Standing crops are doing well. The average price of common rice has fallen slightly as compared with that of the previous week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from eleven districts. The attendance of persons on test works in Manbhum was 3,222 and in Singhbhum 14,708 and gratuitous relief was given to 3,383 persons in Manbhum. The condition of standing crops in the Feudatory States of Orissa is good.

United Provinces.—During the week the rainfall was general throughout the Province though very slight in most western districts where more rain is now wanted. Preparation of land for and the sowing of autumn crops continue. Locusts appeared in ten districts and in the Rampur State but caused damage nowhere except in Kheri. Agricultural stock is in good condition and cattle disease is still uncommon. Standing crops are doing well. Fodder is sufficient everywhere except in parts of Agra and Mainpuri. Prices are generally stationary with a slight tendency to rise in some important centres.

Punjab.—Light rain has fallen in parts of almost all the reporting districts. The rain though beneficial was still insufficient for sowings and more rain is badly wanted everywhere. Sowings of cotton, fodder and other autumn crops continue and are generally normal except in parts of the south-east where they are restricted. The condition of the standing extra spring and autumn crops is average to good on irrigated areas and generally below average on unirrigated areas. Crops have slightly been damaged by locusts and strong winds in parts of the south-east. Extra spring crops are being harvested with yield generally normal. Cattle are generally healthy but are suffering seriously in the south-east owing to the scarcity of fodder and overwork. Water for drinking and irrigation is generally sufficient but shortage of canal water is reported from parts of the south-east. Prices are generally stationary and in case of wheat range between normal and warning rates and in other cases between warning and scarcity rates. Prices of wheat are :—Rawalpindi 11, Lahore 11¾, Ambala and Ferozepore 12 and Lyallpur 12½ seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—There was slight rainfall at Dera Ismail Khan and Tank. The weather is dry and hot elsewhere. More rain is urgently required. The condition of standing crops on irrigated areas is average in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan and poor on unirrigated areas. Harvesting of spring crops is finished with outturn average in Bannu. The condition of cattle is generally good. Land is being prepared in Bannu for the sowing of maize. Fodder and water are sufficient except in certain villages of Dera Ismail Khan. The Paharpur canal is running. Foot and mouth disease appeared amongst cattle in certain villages of the Bannu tahsil but there were no deaths. The public health is good. Prices are high and stationary in Bannu. The prices of wheat and barley are falling in Peshawar and those of gram and wheat are falling in Dera Ismail Khan.

Jammu.—Slight rain fell in some parts. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 8 to 12 and maize 10 to 18 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is average on the whole. Autumn sowings are in progress in some tahsils and finished in others. There is no cattle disease. Fodder is rather insufficient.

Kashmir.—No rain fell during the week. Agricultural operations for autumn sowings are in progress. Standing crops are in fair condition. Rain is badly needed. Cattle are generally healthy. Fodder is sufficient and water insufficient. Prices are normal.

Rajputana.—The weather was hot and clear with occasional clouds. Slight rain fell in parts of Bharatpur, Alwar, Tonk and Jaisalmer ; nil elsewhere. In the previous week the maximum recorded in Bikaner was 115 cents. Rain is urgently needed as sowings are retarded and germinated crops are withering. Fodder is scarce. The condition of cattle is unsatisfactory. Cattle disease is reported from Dungarpur, Banswara, Kotah and from a few villages in Mewar. Prices are generally high and stationary. The number of persons on test works in Kishengarh was 2,892 and in Karauli 1,241.

The weekly report on scarcity in Merwara is as follows :—Distress is increasing owing to the continued break in the rains and people are resorting to works. There is no wandering or emaciation among applicants for relief. Workers' physical condition is satisfactory and relief measures are adequate. Cash advances are being given to cultivators. Fodder and water supply are sufficient at present. The public health is fair. There is no epidemic and medical assistance is available on works. Prices are 10 seers per rupee. The number of persons on test works was 5,000 and in receipt of gratuitous relief 2,900, total 7,900 .

Central India.—The rainfall has been good in Gwalior, general in Baghelkhand, partial in Bhopal and the southern States and nil elsewhere ; the principal falls being over 6 inches in Susner, over 5 inches in Ujjain and Kachrod, over two inches in Dhar and sufficient everywhere except in Gwalior where more rain is needed in many places. Autumn crops are being sown everywhere. The sugarcane crop is good in Gwalior. Agricultural stock is good everywhere except in the Sunel pargana in Indore and in parts of the southern States where there is cattle disease. The fodder supply is sufficient everywhere except in Gwalior where the recent rainfall partially removed the scarcity of water but fodder is generally scarce. Prices are normal in Baghelkhand, fluctuating in parts of the Indore State, rising in Bhopal and the southern States and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been cloudy and warm. Raipur and Bilaspur received 4 and 5 inches of rain respectively during the week. Eleven other districts also received rain but nowhere exceeding 1¼ inches. Preparation of land and sowing of autumn crops continue. Germination is so far successful and the young plants are healthy. Fodder and water are sufficient. Agricultural stock is in good condition. There are no marked fluctuations in prices of food grains.

Feudatory States.—Light to heavy rain was received in the States Ploughing of fields and sowing are proceeding.

Bombay.—The rain during the week was partial and insufficient. Sowing of autumn crops continues only in favoured tracts. Elsewhere it is generally retarded. Germinated seedlings are generally thriving. The fodder supply is deficient in parts of Sind, Kaira, Kathiawar, Cutch and Baroda. Agricultural stock is generally sufficient. Cattle are in good condition, except in parts of Sind, Ahmedabad and Kaira. Drinking water is inadequate in parts of Larkana and Baroda. Irrigation water is deficient in parts of Thar and Parkar, Gujarat, Baroda and Kathiawar. Prices of food grains have risen slightly in Gujarat but are generally steady elsewhere.

The weekly report on the scarcity in Kathiawar is as follows:—Absence of rain is causing anxiety and distress is increasing in Gohilwad. The public health is good and there is no wandering or emaciation. Loans are being given for wells and fodder for cattle. Kitchens are being maintained in Dubra, Songadh and Paliad by private charity. Gratuitous relief was given to 295 persons in Kathiawar.

Hyderabad.—The rainfall in the Mahbubnagar, Nalgonda and Warangal districts was fair and it was light to nil in other parts of the Dominions, the average being 53 cents. Autumn sowings are being actively carried on and germination is satisfactory. Early rice lands are being prepared and sown. There is cattle disease in 13 taluqs. The variations in the prices of grains are insignificant. The highest price in districts is juar 10 seers per rupee in Warangal and Karimnagar and the lowest 24 seers per rupee in Bir and Adilabad.

Mysore.—The rainfall during the week was good in the Hassan, Kadur and Shimoga districts and fair to light elsewhere Prices of food grains are steady. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are in good condition. Ploughing and sowing of ragi and paddy are in progress. Paddy and ragi have been harvested with outturn fair to good. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—The rainfall was 2 inches 57 cents. Ploughing for rice and sowings of seed continue Prices of food grains are high. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was very heavy in South Canara, heavy in Malabar, good in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Guntur, Kurnool, Banganapalle, Bellary, Chingleput, Madras, Cochin and the Nilgiris; fair in Godavari, Kistna, Anantapur, Cuddapah, Nellore, Chittoor and Travancore and light or nil elsewhere. Standing crops are in fair to good condition generally but withering or require more rain in parts of three districts. Harvesting of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops are proceeding with outturn fair to normal generally. Sowings of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops are proceeding or concluding normally. The condition of cattle is generally good. The water-supply is sufficient in Godavari, Kistna, Guntur, Cuddapah, Coimbatore, west coast and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Pasture is generally insufficient but fodder is generally available. Prices are fairly steady.

LAND REVENUE.

Simla, the 6th July, 1916.

The following correspondence with His Majesty's Secretary of State for India is published for general information.

R. A. MANT,
Secretary to the Government of India.

No. 91-Rev., dated India Office, London, the 21st October 1910.

From—His Majesty's Secretary of State for India,

To—The Government of India.

I have considered in Council the letter of Your Excellency's Government, No. 14 (Land Revenue), dated the 30th June 1910, relative to the recommendation in paragraph 252 of the Report of the Royal Commission on Decentralization that "the general principles of assessment, such for instance as the proportion of the net profits on the land which the Government shall be entitled to take, and the period of settlements, should be embodied in Provincial legislation, instead of being left to executive order, as is the case outside Bombay."

2. I accept the conclusion, at which you have arrived after careful consideration of the subject, that it is not expedient for the present to take action on this proposal.

I have, etc.,

LAND REVENUE.

To

THE RIGHT HONOURABLE VISCOUNT MORLEY OF BLACKBURN, O.M.,

His Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

MY LORD,

In reporting for Your Lordship's information the action which we propose to take on the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Decentralization, which concern the Department of Revenue and Agriculture, we stated that there were two questions of considerable importance and complexity, in regard to which we proposed to address you separately, as we were not prepared to accept the Commission's proposals. One of these questions is the recommendation in paragraph 252 of the Commission's report that "the general principles of assessment, such, for instance, as the proportion of the net profits on the land which the Government shall be entitled to take, and the period of settlements, should be embodied in Provincial legislation instead of being left to executive order, as is now the case outside Bombay." We are strongly opposed to this proposal on grounds both of general principle and of practical policy, and it will be necessary for us to lay our views before Your Lordship at some length.

Despatch No. 12, dated 30th June 1910.

2. In the discussion of this question, we are hampered by the fact that the Commission have given no reasons for putting forward their proposal, which, as we shall show, involves an entirely new departure in our revenue policy. Nor does it appear from the record of the evidence taken by the Commission that the proposal was recommended to them by any of the witnesses whom they examined, or that they made any attempt to elicit opinions on the subject. We are thus under the disadvantage of not knowing the precise considerations which influenced the Commission in making the recommendation or what objects they had in view.

3. We desire to point out, in the first place, that the terms, in which the Commission's recommendation is couched, give a misleading impression of the effect of the revenue law of Bombay. It is not the case that the Bombay Land Revenue Code prescribes either the proportion of the net profits on the land which the Government is entitled to take as land revenue, or the period of settlements in that province. As Your Lordship is doubtless aware, the revenue system of Bombay differs from that of most other provinces, in that assessments of the land revenue are based upon general considerations of the value of land and the profits of agriculture, and no standard has been laid down either by law or rule as the maximum share of the profits or assets which Government is entitled to take. Thus section 100 of the Bombay Land Revenue Code merely lays down that, subject to rules or orders made by the Governor in Council, the officer in charge of a survey shall have authority to fix the assessment for land revenue at his discretion, while it is provided in section 107 that in revising assessments of land revenue, regard shall be had to the value of land, and in the case of land used for the purposes of agriculture, to the profits of agriculture. Nor is the period for which settlements shall be current prescribed in the Bombay Land Revenue Code. Section 102 merely empowers the Governor in Council to declare assessments fixed for a term of years not exceeding thirty in the case of lands used for the purposes of agriculture alone, and not exceeding ninety-nine in the case of other lands. The Bombay Land Revenue Code does not, therefore, provide for the matters mentioned by the Commission, and their incorporation in provincial legislation would be as serious an innovation in Bombay as in other provinces, where these questions are at present regulated entirely by executive order.

4. The principle on which the settlement of the land revenue in British India is based is that by the ancient custom of the country, the State is entitled to a certain but undefined share of the gross produce of all cultivated land. That share is usually commuted into a cash payment, and theoretically the money value of the share could be revised annually. But by executive orders, the State has imposed various limitations on its own rights. For practical purposes, the gross produce has been discarded as a standard throughout the greater part of the country. Assessments based on a share of the gross produce place an undue tax on energy and industry, and are repugnant to modern ideas. It has, therefore, been necessary to find some other standard by which to guide our settlement officers. In most provinces, it has accordingly been laid down by rule that not more than half the money value of the net produce, or not more than half the net assets, is to be taken in the form of assessment. In all provinces, moreover, it has been decided that general revisions of the land revenue assessment should be made only at considerable intervals, which are fixed with reference to the stage of development of different tracts, and are now usually twenty or thirty years. Thus the matters, for which the Commission wish to provide by legislation, are not the fundamental principles underlying the assessment of the land revenue in this country, but are limitations which the State has thought fit to place upon its own discretion in the matter, and rules which it has laid down from time to time for the guidance of its officers. Such rules must necessarily vary at different places and at different times, and they are subject to various exceptions and reservations. They require therefore a more elastic expression than the precise forms of law allow, and an attempt to embody in the law anything beyond the somewhat vague generalities contained in the Bombay Land Revenue Code would inevitably lead to grave difficulties.

5. In connection with this aspect of the case, we desire, in the first place, to call attention to the observations made by the Secretary of State in 1885, when discussing certain proposed modifications of settlement policy. Lord Kimberley remarked* that he entertained a strong opinion as to the danger of pledging Government for ever to a particular line of action in regard to assessments of the land revenue. He pointed out the great difference between the Government's making a public declaration beforehand of what its future action should be, and its laying down from time to time the principles which should regulate its action. He expressed his strong conviction that no hard-and-fast rules on the subject of the methods of the land revenue assessment should be laid down, and that all the benefits anticipated from the modifications of settlement policy then under consideration would accrue in due course, if the new rules were promulgated simply by administrative order. "When the people see that these rules are really acted on," he remarked, "this will give more confidence than any prior declaration." We entirely agree in the policy enunciated by Lord Kimberley, which has been amply justified by experience. The only case in which it has been departed from, and then only to a minor extent, is in the Bombay Land Revenue Code, which was passed in 1879 before Lord Kimberley's despatch was written. Thus section 106 of the Code limits the number of occasions on which a general classification of the soil may be made with a view to the revision of the assessment. The principle underlying this provision has our complete approval, and it is well understood and acted on in Madras. But in Madras, in pursuance of the policy laid down in 1885, the Government have decided that no formal pledge should be given as in Bombay, and we have no doubt as to the soundness of the decision not to limit by law the opportunities for a reclassification of soils, which may occasionally be necessary in the interests of the tax-payer rather than of the State. Again section 107 of the Bombay Code deals with the exemption of improvements effected by the landholder from enhancement of assessment. The exemption is perpetual both in Madras and Bombay, but while in Bombay the pledge has been embodied in the law, in Madras it has been promulgated merely by administrative order. It is, therefore, instructive to note that the Irrigation Commission reported that in Madras the policy of Government in this matter was generally understood and widely appreciated, while they found that, in Bombay, there was a remarkable ignorance of the express provision of the law on the subject, and that full advantage had not been taken of the concession by those whom it was intended to benefit. There can, in our opinion, be little doubt that legislation regarding the methods or principles of assessment would be regarded with indifference by the majority of the landholding classes. General principles cannot be brought home to the agricultural population merely by being embodied in legislative enactments, and we do not believe that any such action would make those principles better understood or give the cultivators increased confidence in the policy of Government.

*Irrigation Commission's Report, Volume I, paragraph 179.

6. At present our assessments are usually below the theoretical maximum, and whatever general complaints may be made against them, it is not usual for individual assessments to be contested in any numbers. If they are appealed against, the appeals are settled without much expense to the people by revenue officers who are acquainted with the methods followed, and have, as a rule, local knowledge to guide them. If the proposals of the Commission were accepted, there would almost inevitably be an increase of litigation, and there would be considerable risk of an attempt to bring all assessments of land revenue under the Civil Courts; a result which, from all points of view, would be open to grave objection. The factors affecting revenue assessments must be studied by officers moving about amongst the people, and examining their crops and rural economy on the spot. They cannot be reduced to a matter of evidence taken in a court before a judge, and any attempt so to present them could lead only to complication and to ruinous expense. It is true that in most provinces, the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts in all matters affecting assessments is expressly barred by the Land Revenue Acts, and at present the provisions of the different Acts, as to the amount of assessment to be imposed, are couched in such general terms as to leave no room for such interference. But if it were enacted, for instance, as in rule 7 of the Punjab Assessment instructions, that the assessment of an estate must not exceed half the value of the net assets, we doubt whether a provision, such as that in section 158 (2) (ix) of the Punjab Land Revenue Act, would suffice to prevent the intervention of the Courts. It would possibly be open to any landholder to file a suit in the Civil Court for the reduction of the assessment imposed at resettlement, on the ground that it exceeded the half net assets, and so had not been made in accordance with the Act. It is not unlikely that in the absence of special legislation on the subject, such suits would be admitted, and that the whole of the assessment proceedings would be reopened in the Courts.

Sections 48-58 of the Punjab Land Revenue Act, Sections 58-64 of the United Provinces Land Revenue Act and Sections 46-48 of the Central Provinces Land Revenue Act.

7. Even if these fears are groundless, there can be no doubt that if we take up for the whole of India the general question of legislating as to the principles of assessment, the question will at once be raised of subjecting assessments to revision in the Civil Courts. The late Mr. Romesh Chunder Dutt, who was a member of the Royal Commission, for many years strongly advocated the imposition of judicial checks on enhancements of the land revenue. In his letter of the 6th April 1900 to Lord Curzon regarding land settlements in

Bombay he urged that the cultivator should be permitted to appeal to a civil tribunal against the action of the Revenue-officer, who, he claimed, was virtually a party to the assessment proceedings. "The cultivators of India," he wrote, "the poorest, the most ignorant, and the most helpless class of the Indian population, are debarred (except in Bengal), from seeking redress against the assessment of Revenue-officers; and the assessment becomes necessarily unfair and excessive because it is unchecked by an appeal to an independent tribunal." The National Congress has made the same recommendation more than once, and has passed resolutions praying that "judicial and legislative restrictions on over-assessments be imposed in those parts of India where Government may still deem it undesirable to extend the Permanent Settlement."

8. We need not here detail the objections to allowing the Civil Courts to exercise any jurisdiction over land revenue assessments in India. They have been very fully set out in the proceedings connected with the Bombay Revenue Jurisdiction Act of 1876, which was rendered necessary owing to the action of the High Court of Bombay in reducing an assessment of Rs. 4 made by a Survey officer under section 25 of the Bombay Survey Act, I of 1865. The embarrassment caused by the High Court's decision was described in the ispeech made by Sir Barrow Ellis on the 7th August 1873 in the Imperial Legslative Council when he asked for leave to introduce the Bill; and in a lengthy speech made by the Hon'ble Mr. Hobhouse on the 13th October 1875, when the further report of the Select Committee was presented, the unfitness of the Civil Courts to control the land revenue system of the country was set forth with the most convincing clearness and force. In criticising in 1901 the letter of Mr. Dutt which we have mentioned, the Govern-

Paras. 13 and 14 of the memorandum attached to the Government of India's Resolution No. 1, dated 16th January 1902.

medt of Bombay, while referring the Government of India to the proceedings of the Legislative Council when the Bombay Revenue Jurisdiction Act was being considered, swept aside Mr. Dutt's suggestion regarding the imposition of judicial checks on enhancements as wholly unpractical. We have no doubt that other Local Governments would take the same view as the Government of Bombay, but the only one that referred to the question, in dealing with Mr. Dutt's series of letters regarding Land Revenue policy, was the Government of the United Provinces. In paragraph 10 of its letter No 4256, dated the 22nd December 1900, to the Government of India, Sir Antony MacDonnell's Government wrote: "The rule under which the Government takes only one half of the assets is a rule which Government has imposed on itself, and it cannot allow any agency which it creates or maintains to judge between itself and the revenue-payer. * * * It is on the Government that the responsibility must rest of determining how the rule should be applied in cases of a class or an individual. It would be an unfortunate day for the country if the Government were to divest itself of this responsibility, and place upon the Civil Courts the responsibility which it has hitherto exercised itself, and which it alone can exercise with due regard to the public interests, and yet with the leniency which the circumstances of time or place may call for." We entirely agree in this view. It may be said that we are labouring an unnecessary point, that Government would never surrender to the Civil Courts its jurisdiction over land revenue assessments, and that interference by the Courts would be prevented by special legislation. But we must look ahead to what is likely to be the result of action taken in pursuance of the apparently harmless suggestion of the Royal Commission, and we have no doubt that the result would be to revive the demand for judicial and legislative restrictions on enhancements, and to place all our Local Governments in opposition to that section of advanced Indian opinion which believes that such restrictions are practicable and would be advantageous. If we legislated on the lines advocated by the Commission, it would at once be contended, not only that even the Bombay law does not comply with the recommendations of the Commission and that more definite provisions are required, but also that it must be left to the Civil Courts to decide whether the provisions of the law are observed. An entirely unnecessary conflict would thus be excited, and it would be most undesirable, at the present juncture, when the reformed Councils have just started work, to raise so complicated and contentious a question.

Annexure to the Government of India's Resolution No. 1, dated 16th January 1902.

9. Not only do we consider the Royal Commission's proposal unnecessary and inadvisable, but we are also entirely opposed to it on its merits. There can of course be no objection to laying down by law that a Settlement Officer shall fix assessments at his discretion, subject to the control of his superior officers, or that he shall have regard to the value of land and the profits of agriculture, though there seems to be no advantage in doing so; but we consider that it would be harmful to the best interests of the country to go further, and to prescribe by law the proportion of the net profits to which Government is entitled, and that such legislation would certainly not be beneficial to the agricultural classes. During the whole of our rule, we have been lowering the proportion of the profits which the Government thinks it right to take, and we have in other respects done much to reduce the burden of taxation on the land. It will be less easy to continue this policy of moderation if the methods of assessment are stereotyped by legislation. The standards of assessment commonly in force are half the net produce, or half the net profits of cultivation or half the rental assets, but such standards are very indefinite, and it would be no security to the landholder if legislative sanction were given to them, unless the law at the same time prescribed precisely how they should be calculated,—a matter of great difficulty and liable to much contention. Experience has shown that theoretical standards must be applied with caution, and in actual assessment proceedings they are rarely worked up to. We are confident that, even when the half net assets are calculated on a cash rental basis, and can therefore be more definitely ascertained than in other cases, it would be possible seriously to overassess a district by a strict application of the standard, especially if the cash rents were unrestricted by law. We have little doubt that the effect of stereotyping the standard by legislative enactment would inevitably be to make the methods of assessment more strict. There is a natural tendency, especially in times of financial pressure, to regard with jealousy assessments below the standard as an unnecessary sacrifice of the dues of the State. If the standard were laid down by law, we have little doubt that this tendency would be stimulated. Any standard which might be adopted for general application would be too high for individual cases. In a few cases, it might possibly be proved in the Civil Courts or otherwise that the assessment had exceeded the standard, but in the far more numerous cases in which the assessment falls below the prescribed proportion, the fixing of the standard by law would make it increasingly difficult to enforce moderation. Moderation in assessments depends on the spirit in which Settlement Officers approach their work. It cannot be inculcated by law. On the contrary, if the law set up a definite legal standard, pressure would be put upon the Settlement Officers to work up to that standard, and the general considerations in favour of moderation would tend to be outweighed more than at present by arguments based on the legal rights of the State and the interests of the general tax-payer.

10. For these reasons, we must express our dissent from the proposal of the Royal Commission. No reasons have been adduced in favour of the serious change of policy proposed; there is no indication that the necessity for change was pressed upon the Commission from any quarter; and there is good reason to believe that the Commission were not fully cognisant of the provisions of the Bombay Revenue Law, which they hold up as a model to other Local Governments. We are not convinced that the change is required, nor do we believe that it would be in the best interests of the agricultural community. At the same time, we have no doubt that legislation on the lines suggested would give rise to a controversy which there are strong reasons for avoiding at the present time. We have not thought it necessary to consult Local Governments, in the midst of their other pre-occupations, on a matter as to which we are confident that they would feel as strongly as we do, and we trust that Your Lordship will agree with us that no action should for the present be taken on this proposal of the Royal Commission.

We have the honour to be,

MY LORD,

Your Lordship's most obedient, humble servants,

(Signed) MINTO.

All notifications and other matter intended for publication in those Parts should be addressed to the Publisher at Simla and Calcutta, respectively.

Attention is invited to the following Circular Memorandum of the Government of India, Home Department, of August 1901:—

"It has been brought to the notice of this Department that matter for the Gazette of India is sometimes sent to the Press late on Friday evenings for publication in the next day's Gazette and that this involves considerable inconvenience to the Press and expense to Government. In the Circular Memorandum of this Department, No. 777—79, dated 9th February 1870, the Government of India directed that all notifications or other matter intended for insertion in the Gazette of India should be delivered at the Press not later than 2 P.M. on Friday, and that any papers sent thereafter must be certified to be extremely urgent in order to ensure their appearance in the next day's Gazette. The undersigned is directed to request that these orders may be more strictly observed in future, and that Departments will refrain from sending to the Press as extremely urgent any papers which can without harm or inconvenience be held over for the next Gazette.

J. P. HEWETT,
Secretary to the Government of India."

NOTICES.

THE PATENT OFFICE, 1, COUNCIL HOUSE STREET, CALCUTTA.

Public room, open 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Saturdays, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

1. All communications relating to applications for patents and for registration of designs under the Indian Patents and Designs Act (II of 1911), or in continuation of applications under the Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888) should be addressed to the Controller of Patents and Designs, 1, Council House Street, Calcutta. Documents sent by post should be carefully packed.

2. Directions for the guidance of inventors and others are given in the Patent Office Handbook (price one rupee) which contains the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, the Indian Patents and Designs Rules, 1912, the Indian Patents and Designs (Temporary Rules) Act, 1915, the Indian Patents and Designs (Temporary) Rules, 1915, together with current regulations and instructions. These should be consulted before an application is made to the Controller.

3. Advice. The Patent Office cannot undertake (1) to give opinions on the interpretation of Patent Law, or on the advisability of protecting inventions and designs or on their infringement; (2) to make searches in respect of information available in the public room; (3) to recommend any particular agent; or (4) to assist in the disposal of inventions. Applicants are warned that the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, is in force in British India only, and patents granted under it do not extend to the United Kingdom or any of the British possessions. The International Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property does not include India. For information regarding patents in countries other than India applications should be made to the patent offices in the countries concerned.

4. Fees are payable in cash and must be received in the Patent Office within the time allowed by the Acts. When cheques are offered in payment of fees, it must be clearly understood that the office cannot hold itself responsible for any delay that may occur in the collection of cash on the cheques; any cheque not payable in Calcutta is subject to commission. In cases where it is not possible to have the fees handed in at the Patent Office, it is preferable to send them by money-order or postal order payable at Calcutta to the Controller of Patents and Designs, and to advise him that they have been so sent. Stamps will not be received in payment of fees.

5. Trade and property marks and names are not registered and medicines are not patented under the Indian Patents and Designs Act. There is no provision of Law in British India for their registration. Neither does this Act deal with pictures, photographs, etc., for which copyright is obtainable under the Indian Copyright Act, 1914.

6. Printed Specifications of applications, which have been accepted, are published within about three weeks after acceptance has been notified in the Gazette of India. These specifications can be purchased at the Patent Office at a uniform price of 8 annas per copy; and may be seen free of charge, together with other publications of the Patent Office, at the following places:—

NOTICE.

Calcutta, the 5th July 1916.

The Directors have the made following changes in the Bank's European Establishment :—

Mr. G. A. Tayler to act as Sub-Agent at the Serajgunge Pay Office.
Mr. V. Sherman to act as Sub-Agent at the Chandpur Pay Office.

By order of the Directors,

N. H. Y. WARREN,
Secretary and Treasurer.

UNDER-SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Revenue Department, Land Acquisition Branch.

No. 5266.

Dated the 5th July 1916.

Agreement made this 5th day of June 1916 between the Gaibandha Central Banking Union Limited a Co-operative Society incorporated under the Co-operative Societies Act, 1912 (II of 1912), and having its registered office at Gaibandha in the Sub-division of Gaibandha in the district of Rangpur (hereinafter called the Company) of the one part and the Secretary of State for India in Council (hereinafter called the Secretary of State) of the other part.

Whereas for the purpose of the construction of an office building and the necessary quarters for officers, and out-houses, the Company has applied to the Government of Bengal, for the acquisition under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, of the piece or parcel of land containing 13 cottahs and 14 chittaks or thereabout situate in the village of Govindapur, more popularly known as Gaibandha, in the Sub-division of Gaibandha, in the district of Rangpur, and more particularly described in the Schedule and delineated in the plan* hereunto annexed.

And whereas the said Government of Bengal, being satisfied by an enquiry held under section 40 of the said Act that the proposed acquisition is needed for the aforesaid purpose and that the said work is likely to prove useful to the public, has consented to acquire on behalf of the Company the piece or parcel of land hereinbefore described.

And whereas the said Government of Bengal has required the Company under the provisions of section 41 of the abovementioned Act to enter into the agreement with the Secretary of State, hereinafter contained. Now this indenture witnesseth that it is hereby agreed and declared as follows :—

1. On demand the Company shall and will pay to the said Government of Bengal all and every compensation in respect of the land which will be acquired for the Company tendered, paid or awarded or to be tendered, paid or awarded by the Collector under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, or by the Court to which a reference under part III of the said Act, may be made or by the

The Court or Courts to which an appeal from the award of the said Court may be preferred and all costs, charges, and expenses of the proceedings in the aforesaid Courts or otherwise incidental to the proposed acquisition or payable in respect thereof under the provisions of the said Act.

2. On demand made by the said Collector, the obligations of the Company under the last preceding clause not being thereby limited, the Company shall and will deposit with the said Collector, such sum or sums of money as in his discretion the said Collector may in anticipation estimate to be necessary for the purposes mentioned in the last preceding clause.

3. On payment by the Company of all demands under the foregoing first clause, or, in the discretion of the said Government of Bengal (on deposit by the Company of all estimated amounts as provided in the second clause), but not before possession shall have been taken under the provisions of the abovementioned Act, the Secretary of State shall make over possession of the said land to the Company and shall execute and do all such acts and deeds as may be necessary and proper for effectually vesting the same in the Company.

4. The said land shall be held by the Company for the purposes of such office building, necessary quarters for officers and out-houses as are hereinbefore mentioned and without the sanction in writing of the said Government of Bengal first had and obtained for no other purpose whatsoever.

5. The said office building, necessary quarters for officers and out-houses shall be completed (and fully equipped in all respects ready for use) within 2 (two) years from the date on which possession of the said land shall have been given to the Company.

6. Should the said office building, necessary quarters for officers and out-houses not be completed (and fully equipped in all respects ready for use) within the period stated in the last preceding clause or within such further period as in its discretion may be prescribed or allowed by the said Government of Bengal or should the said land at any time thereafter cease for a period of twelve consecutive months, to be held and used or cease to be required for the purpose or purposes provided for in the foregoing fourth clause then and in any such case, the said Government may summarily re-enter upon and take possession of the said land and thereupon the interest of the Company in the said land shall absolutely cease and determine.

7. On taking such possession the said Government may sell or otherwise deal with the said land as it may think proper. Should the said Government sell the said land, the said Government after deducting the expenses incurred in connection with the said taking of possession and with such sale shall pay the proceeds to the Company. Should the said Government on taking possession, decide not to sell the land, it shall repay to the Company all sums received from the Company in respect of all and every compensation as provided in the foregoing first clause (less the statutory allowance of 15 per cent), but will not repay any sums paid and received on account of costs, charges, and expenses.

8. The office shall be open to the reasonable use of all the bonâ fide members of the Company during the office hours of the Company and at all hours to those who have business to transact with the Company as regards admission of members into the Company, applications for loans, deposit and withdrawal of money and also to those making enquiries relating thereto.

Provided that the Company may make rules fixing and regulating its hours of business, a copy of which shall be affixed to a conspicuous place on the premises but any rules framed by the Company in restriction of the general right of admission shall be inoperative against the public unless assented to in writing by the Secretary of State or his accredited agents, the Government of Bengal:

Provided also that nothing herein contained shall be construed to confer on the public the right to make use of the premises for individual profit or gain except with the permission of the Company first had and obtained.

9. Should any dispute or difference arise touching or concerning the subject matter of this agreement or any covenant clause or thing herein contained the same shall be referred to the said Government of Bengal and the opinion and decision of the said Government upon such dispute or difference shall be final and conclusive and binding on the parties hereto.

THE HON'BLE THE CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF BRITISH BALUCHISTAN.

NOTIFICATION.

Quetta, the 13th June 1916.

No. 1967-R.—In exercise of the powers conferred on him by section 2, sub-section (11), clause (c), of the Excise Regulation, 1915 (I of 1915), the Chief Commissioner is pleased to declare that all drugs, synthetic or other, having a like physiological effect to that of cocaine are included in the definition of "intoxicating drugs" contained in that section.

No. 1968-R.—In exercise of the powers conferred on him by section 16, sub-section (4) of the Excise Regulation, 1915 (I of 1915), the Chief Commissioner is pleased to prohibit throughout British Baluchistan the possession of the leaves of the coca plant (Erythroxylum coca), and cocaine and every other preparation and derivative of the said plant, and all drugs, synthetic or other, having a like physiological effect to that of cocaine, and every preparation or admixture of any of these articles:

Provided that this prohibition shall not extend to the possession of the aforesaid drugs by—

(1) Licensed vendors to the extent of one ounce in the aggregate of the drugs, or such larger quantity as may in special cases be sanctioned by the Excise Commissioner;

(2) Officers of Government when the drugs (a) have come into their possession in the course of their official duties, or (b) are required by them in the exercise of their official duties, and do not exceed in amount the quantity which the head of their department by general or special order may allow them to possess;

(3) Medical practitioners as explained below, including medical and veterinary officers of Government when engaged in private practice, possessing the drugs in the exercise of their profession to the extent of half an ounce in the aggregate of the drugs, or such larger quantity as may in special cases be sanctioned by the Excise Commissioner;

(4) Medical officers of Mission Hospitals for use in their hospitals, to the extent of one ounce in the aggregate of the drugs or such larger quantity as may in special cases be sanctioned by the Excise Commissioner;

(5) Private individuals to the extent of such quantity as they may have purchased on the prescription of a qualified medical practitioner. Prescriptions which permit repetitions must, however, be signed or countersigned by a commissioned medical officer or a practitioner of equivalent professional status.

Explanation.—A "medical practitioner" means a graduate in medicine of a recognised University in India, Europe or America, a medical or veterinary practitioner eligible for registration on the medical or veterinary registers of Great Britain, a duly qualified dentist entitled to be entered in the Dentists' Section of the medical register of Great Britain, and any person in private practice not included in the above list whom the Chief Commissioner may for this purpose direct to be admitted to the privileges of a medical practitioner—

Provided also:—

(i) That the Chief Commissioner may exclude from the operation of the first proviso any person belonging to the class described in clause (3) thereof who in his opinion has abused the privilege conferred thereby. The person thus excluded shall forthwith hand over to the Collector, for disposal as confiscated articles, the stock of the drugs of which he may be in possession, and

(ii) that the persons belonging to the classes described in clauses (3) and (4) of the first proviso shall maintain correct accounts of all transactions relating to the drugs, and that the Collector may in his discretion require the production of these accounts for inspection and the submission to him of periodical statements showing the receipts and issues of the drugs.

No. 1969-R.—In exercise of the powers conferred by sections 9(b), 27 and 62 (2) (d) and (h), and with reference to section 11, of the Excise Regulation, 1915 (I of 1915), the Chief Commissioner is pleased to make the following rules to regulate the import into, export from, and transport within and through, British Baluchistan of the leaves of the coca plant (Erythroxylum coca), and cocaine and every other preparation and derivative of the said plant, and all drugs, synthetic or other, having a like physiological effect to that of cocaine, and every preparation or admixture of any of these articles:—

IMPORT.

1. The aforesaid drugs shall not be imported except under a pass issued by the Excise Commissioner, the import being permitted only by means other than that of the post, and in the case of imports by sea only through Bombay or Karachi. A separate pass shall be required for each importation.

2. Such passes shall, on applications duly made in form C-1 annexed, be issued only to—

(i) licensed vendors of these drugs;

(ii) medical officers of Mission hospitals;

(iii) medical practitioners exempted from the general prohibition of the possession of these drugs.

3. Every import pass shall be in form C-2 annexed issued in triplicate and shall specify the quantity of the drugs which the importer is authorised to possess. One copy shall be given to the person in charge of the consignment or to the person intending to import the drugs; one copy shall be forwarded direct to the Collector of Customs at the Port through which the drugs are to be imported, or to the Collector of the exporting district, as the case may be; and the third copy shall be retained in the office of the Excise Commissioner.

4. The importer shall obtain the drugs either by direct importation from a foreign country through Bombay or Karachi with the special permission of the Excise Commissioner or by purchase in India from a druggist or chemist who has been authorised to make sales for export out of the Province in which such druggist or chemist carries on business, and he shall not have in possession or import any drug obtained otherwise or in a quantity exceeding that which he is entitled to possess.

5. Before the drugs covered by an import pass are removed from the district of export, or, in the case of imports by sea, from the Custom-House at Bombay or Karachi, the pass shall, within one month from the date of its issue, be presented by the importer or a recognised agent before the Collector of the exporting district or the Collector of Customs, as the case may be, and endorsed by such officer or other proper authority with an export pass on the lower half of form C-2. The pass thus endorsed shall then cover the transport to place of destination of the drugs mentioned therein within the period stated in the endorsement.

6. The importer shall not open the package containing the drugs or break bulk in any manner until the package shall have reached the destination specified in the pass.

7. The importer shall report to the Collector of the district concerned the arrival at their destination of the drugs so imported, and shall, if so required by the Collector or other officer authorised by him in this behalf, produce the drugs, together with the pass on which they have been imported.

EXPORT.

8. The aforesaid drugs shall not be exported to India except under a pass granted by the Excise Commissioner, the export being permitted only means other than that of the post.

The export of the aforesaid drugs out of India is ordinarily inadmissible, but the Excise Commissioner may in his discretion, and for adequate reasons, grant special export passes provided that no such pass shall be granted to cover export through the post.

9. Export passes which shall also cover the transport to their place of destination of the drugs mentioned therein shall be issued only to—

(i) Licensed vendors of these drugs;

(ii) Medical officers of Mission hospitals when they carry the drugs with them or consign them to another medical officer of a Mission hospital authorised to possess the drugs;

(iii) Medical practitioners exempted from the general prohibition of the possession of these drugs, when they carry the drugs with them.

10. Before such a pass is issued the exporter shall produce a permit or no-objection certificate that the export which is desired has been permitted :—

(i) In the case of exports to another province in India by the proper authority of the Province;

(ii) In the case of exports to a Native State by the Political Officer accredited to the State.

In the case of exports to a foreign country (vide rule 8) the exporter shall prove to the satisfaction of the Excise Commissioner that the authorities in such foreign country will raise no objection to the proposed export.

11. Every export pass shall be in form C-3 annexed, issued in triplicate. One copy shall be given to the person in charge of the consignment or to the person intending to export the drugs; one copy shall be forwarded direct to the Collector of the district or Political Officer of the Native State to which the drugs are to be exported, or in the case of exports to a foreign country to the authority concerned; and the third copy shall be retained in the office of the Excise Commissioner.

12. The exporter shall not export the drugs in a quantity exceeding that provided in the pass and the bulk of the consignment shall not be broken in transit.

13. A licensed vendor shall consign the drugs either to—

(a) An official of the Province or Native State to which the drugs are to be exported duly authorised to import such drugs; or to

(b) A chemist or druggist who is authorised to make sales in the Province of Native State to which the drugs are to be exported; or to

(c) A medical officer of a Mission hospital or a medical practitioner exempted from the general prohibition of the possession of these drugs, to the extent which he is authorised to possess; or to

(d) A private person on the prescription of a duly qualified medical practitioner and to the extent specified in such prescription.

14. The exporter shall report in the case of exports to another Province in India to the Collector of the district concerned and in other cases to the officer, if any, to whom he may be required to report, the arrival at their destination of the drugs so exported, and if so required by the Collector or other proper officer or any other officer duly authorised in this behalf, produce the drugs together with the export pass.

TRANSPORT.

15. The aforesaid drugs may be transported within British Baluchistan by means other than that of the post; by—

(1) A licensed vendor of these drugs;

(2) a medical officer of a Mission hospital;

(3) a medical practitioner exempted from the general prohibition of the possession of these drugs; under a transport pass obtained from the Collector of the district from which removal is desired; and

(4) by a private person taking with him such quantity as he is permitted to possess under the prescription of a qualified medical practitioner.

16. Every transport pass shall be in form C-4 annexed, issued in triplicate and shall specify the quantity of the drugs which the person transporting is authorised to possess. One copy shall be given to the person in charge of the consignment or to the person intending to transport the drugs; one copy shall be forwarded to the Collector of the district into which transport is allowed; and the third copy retained in the office of the Collector granting the pass.

17. The bulk of the consignment covered by a transport pass shall not be broken in transit.

18. The person transporting these drugs, or causing them to be transported, shall report to the Collector of the district into which removal is authorised under the transport pass the arrival at their destination of the drugs so transported, and shall, if so required by the Collector or other officer authorised by him in this behalf, produce such drugs together with the transport pass.

19. No transport to a Native State through British Baluchistan shall be allowed unless the transport is by means other than that of the post and the consignment is covered by a permit issued by the Political Officer accredited to the State.

20. No transport to a foreign country through British Baluchistan shall be allowed without the express permission of the Excise Commissioner.

No. 1970-R.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 62, sub-section (2), clauses (e) and (h), of the Excise Regulation, 1915 (1 of 1915), the Chief Commissioner is pleased to make the following rules regulating the sale of the leaves of the coca plant (Erythroxylum coca), and cocaine and every other preparation and derivative of the said plant, and all drugs, synthetic or other, having a like physiological effect to that of cocaine, and every preparation or admixture of any of these articles :—

1. Licenses authorising the sale of these drugs may be granted by the Collector to approved druggists only, that is to say, to persons who deal in European medicines and drugs, as a means of livelihood, and have been, with the approval of the district medical authority, considered fit to sell cocaine or cocaine substitutes or both.

2. Such licenses shall ordinarily be granted for one year commencing on the 1st April, but shall in any case determine on the 31st March following their issue. The licensee shall, however, on requisition at any time by the Collector, or by any officer duly authorised by the Collector, deliver up his license for amendment or for the issue of a fresh license.

3. No fee shall be payable for such licenses.

4. Licenses for the sale of these drugs shall be granted in form C-5 annexed.

5. The licensee shall not sell or keep the drugs in any place except in the premises described in the license.

6. No license for the sale of these drugs shall authorise the licensee to possess more than one ounce in the aggregate of such drugs, or such less quantity as may be fixed by the Collector according to the standing of the firm, or in special cases such larger quantity as may be sanctioned by the Excise Commissioner.

7. A person holding a license for the sale of these drugs shall make sales only to the persons specified in the first proviso to notification No. 1968-R., dated the 13th June 1916, and only within the limits of possession prescribed in that proviso for each purchaser.

8. Any license may be cancelled by the Collector for breach of any of its conditions or under the provisions of the law or rules relating to the license, and at the determination or expiration for any cause of his license the licensee shall hand over to the Collector any stock of the drug of which he is not able legally to dispose forthwith; but if the license determines for any cause other than the fault of the licensee, the licensee shall be given all reasonable facilities for disposing of the surplus stock by sale to other licensees or other exempted persons.

9. Any quantity of these drugs which is handed over to the Collector under rule 8 above shall be dealt with in accordance with the rules which may from time to time be prescribed for the disposal of confiscated articles.

FORM C-5.

The——————named above and hereinafter called the licensee is hereby authorised by the Collector of——————to possess and sell cocaine or its substitutes or any preparation or admixture of the same (hereinafter alluded to as "the drugs") from the date of this license to the 31st day of March 191 , subject to the following conditions :—

1. The licensee shall be bound by the provisions of the Excise Regulation, 1915 (I of 1915), and any general or special rules or orders made, or which may from time to time be made thereunder.

2. This license is not transferable.

3. The licensee shall be responsible for the acts and omissions of every person employed by him in carrying on his business and of all his servants, as if the said acts and omissions were his own.

4. The licensee shall not at any time have in his possession more than*—— —— ozs. in the aggregate of the drugs.

* Amount should be entered here by Collector. One ounce is equivalent to 437·5 grains avoirdupois.

5. The licensee shall obtain the drugs either by direct importation from a foreign country through Bombay or Karachi with the special permission of the Excise Commissioner, or from another licensed vendor, and shall not receive or have in his possession any such drug obtained otherwise.

6. (a) The licensee shall sell the drugs not more than once in accordance with any prescription and, if any sale on the prescription has already taken place, not at all, provided that recurring prescriptions duly signed or countersigned by a commissioned medical officer or a practitioner of equivalent professional status are exempt from this restriction.

(b) The licensee shall retain every prescription or, in the case of a recurring prescription, a copy of such prescription.

(c) The date of each sale of the drugs, and the amount sold on such date, shall be recorded by the licensee on the original prescription, or if the original prescription is returned to the purchaser, both on the original prescription and on the copy retained in the licensee's possession.

7. The licensee shall maintain correct accounts of all transactions, such accounts to show in respect of each receipt the source of supply and the quantity received, and in respect of each issue the quantity issued, the name and address of the person to whom it is issued, and in the case of issues to persons other than those licensed to sell or to possess the drugs, the name of the medical practitioner on whose prescription it is issued. Separate account shall be kept for each kind of drug.

8. The licensee shall file in support of his accounts of receipts the customs receipt for duty paid, or invoices for supplies obtained otherwise than by import by sea. In support of his accounts of issues, he shall file the receipts of the persons to whom the issues are made, or the original or copies of the prescriptions on which they are made.

9. The licensee shall submit to the Collector on the 1st day of every quarter correct quarterly statements showing the quantity of the drugs received by him during the quarter, the quantity sold by him and the quantity remaining in his possession.

10. On the demand of any officer specially or generally authorised by the Collector the licensee shall at once produce and submit for inspection his license and his stock of the drugs and the books and papers referring to his transactions in the drugs under the license.

ACCOUNTS AND FINANCE PUBLIC DEBT.

No. 901-F.

Simla, the 8th June 1916.

FOUR PER CENT CONVERSION LOAN.

His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor General in Council has resolved to borrow funds for the public service in the following manner :

The loan will be for a sum of six hundred lakhs of rupees, but the Governor General in Council will accept applications in excess of this amount up to a further six hundred lakhs, or twelve hundred lakhs of rupees in all, exclusive of such supplementary applications as may be received through the Post Office under clauses 17 and 18 below. The loan, which will be known as the Four Per Cent Conversion Loan of 1916-17, will be issued at par and will bear interest at 4 per cent per annum. If not previously redeemed, it will be repaid at par on the 1st October 1936, but the Governor General in Council reserves the right to redeem it, or any part of it which he may from time to time select for redemption, at any time on or after the 1st October 1931 on giving not less than three calendar months' notice in the Gazette of India.

2. The loan may be held either as registered stock in respect of which stock certificates will be issued to the holders, or in promissory notes negotiable by endorsement in the form appended to this Notification (Annexure 1). Interest will be paid half-yearly on the 1st day of April and the 1st day of October.

The Government have under consideration the issue of bearer-bonds, i.e., notes negotiable by delivery. When this measure is carried out, the fullest facilities will be given for conversion, if so desired, of promissory notes (or registered stock) into bearer-bonds and vice versâ.

Applications.

3. Applications for the whole or any part of the loan may be presented on any day from Wednesday, the 14th June, to Wednesday, the 28th June, inclusive, between the hours* of 11 and 3 (except on Saturdays when they will be received up to 2 P.M.). Applications must be for sums of Rs. 100 or multiples of that sum. Applications may be presented to :

(1) The Controller of Currency at Calcutta, or any of the following Accountants General and Comptrollers :—

Accountant General, Bombay; Accountant General, Madras; Accountant General, Punjab; Accountant General, United Provinces; Accountant General, Bihar and Orissa; Accountant General, Burma; Comptroller, Assam; and Comptroller, Central Provinces.

(2) The Secretary and Treasurer of the Bank of Bengal, Madras, or Bombay, at their head offices, or the Agent in charge of any branch of these Banks in India.

(3) The officers in charge of Government treasuries at district head-quarters.

Applications for amounts exceeding Rs. 5,000 may however be presented to the Controller of Currency, the Accountants General, Madras and Bombay, or at the head offices of the Banks of Bengal, Madras and Bombay until the hour* of 12 noon on Saturday, the 1st July.

4. Each application must be addressed, in the form appended to this Notification (Annexure 2), to one of the persons mentioned above, and enclosed in a cover, superscribed 'Application for Four Per Cent Conversion Loan of 1916-17.' If the applicant is not resident in India, he must name an agent resident in India to whom an allotment-certificate may be issued.

Deposits.

5. Each application must be accompanied by a deposit of not less than 5 per cent of the amount applied for. The deposit must be in one of the following forms :—

(a) A receipt for the amount from the head office of the Bank of Bengal, Madras, or Bombay, or one of their Branches in India, or from an officer in charge of any Government treasury at head-quarters of districts or at sub-divisions or tahsils, or

(b) A cheque drawn in favour of the officer to whom the application is addressed on a Bank at the place at which the application is presented, or

(c) Whole currency notes attached to the application.

6. Deposits will be credited in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the application, and will bear interest for the purpose of clause 12 below from the date on which the application is presented. If any of the instalments due on an allotment-certificate are not paid on the prescribed dates, the deposit credited in respect of it will be forfeited.

Commission to bankers and brokers.

7. A commission of one-eighth per cent will be allowed to recognised bankers or brokers on allotments made in respect of cash applications for this issue bearing their stamp, but no commission will be allowed in respect of applications for the loan received through the Post Office under clause 17 of this Notification or in respect of applications for conversion.

Method of Allotment.

8. In the event of the applications exceeding the maximum limit of Rs. 1,200 lakhs mentioned in clause 1 of this Notification, that sum will be divided among applicants according to priority of application, subject to the acceptance in full of small applications not exceeding Rs. 5,000, and to proportionate distribution, as far as may be convenient, among applicants whose applications are presented on the first day on which the loan is over-subscribed.

* The hours will be reckoned according to the time ordinarily observed for public business at each centre.

Allotment-certificates.

9. To each applicant (or to his agent) whose application is accepted in whole or in part, such number of allotment-certificates as may be necessary to make up the aggregate amount allotted to him will be issued as soon as possible after the 1st July, and an alphabetical list of the names of those to whom such allotment-certificates are issued will be posted for general information at the head offices of the Banks of Bengal, Madras and Bombay, and will also be communicated to the principal newspapers.

The allotment-certificates will be issued by the Controller of Currency in the case of all applications presented to him or to the head office of the Bank of Bengal or its branches in Calcutta, and in other cases by the Accountant General or Comptroller concerned—including the Accountant General, Bengal, and the Comptroller, India Treasuries, in the case of applications presented at treasuries or branches of Presidency Banks within their accounts circle. In the case of applications made through a Presidency Bank or one of its branches the allotment-certificates will be issued through such Bank or branch.

10. If the allotment made on any application is not more than Rs. 5,000, then the whole of the allotment-certificates (after credit of the deposit under clause 6) will be payable on the 3rd August. Otherwise, the whole amount of each allotment-certificate will be divided into four instalments as follows:

Instalment I.—As near as convenient to 20 per cent., but not less than 20 per cent., payable on the 13th July.

Instalment II.—As near as convenient to 25 per cent., but not less than 25 per cent., payable on the 3rd August.

Instalment III.—As near as convenient to 25 per cent., but not less than 25 per cent., payable on the 22nd August.

Instalment IV.—The balance payable on the 7th September.

But the whole or any part of any accepted application may be paid at any time after receipt of the allotment-certificate.

The words "as near as convenient" refer to the necessity for making each instalment an exact multiple of Rs. 100.

11. Payment of any allotment certificate may be made in the head office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay, or in any branch of these Banks in India, or into any Government treasury at district headquarters which may be named in the application in respect of which the allotment-certificate was issued. Receipts for such payments will be given by the Banks of Bengal, Madras and Bombay, or their branches, or by the officers in charge of the Government treasuries at which payment is made, by enfacement upon the relative certificate.

12. When any allotment-certificate is fully paid up, the holder will, on presenting it duly receipted at the place where it was paid, obtain from the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, either (a) a stock certificate, or (b) promissory notes of such values as he may desire (each note being in even hundreds and not less than Rs. 100), bearing interest from the 1st October 1916; he will also receive interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum up to the 30th September 1916, commencing from the date of presentation of the application in respect of the deposit made under clause 5, and from the actual dates of payment in respect of subsequent instalments.

Conversion of Securities of the existing 3½ and 3 per cent. rupee loans of the Government of India.

13. The holder of a fully paid-up allotment-certificate will further receive, on its presentation as above, a negotiable warrant in the form appended to this Notification (Annexure 3) specifying the amount paid on the allotment-certificate and entitling the holder of the warrant to the privilege of converting 3½ per cent or 3 per cent rupee securities of the Government of India into securities of the Four per cent. Conversion loan of 1916-17 to the extent, and under the conditions, defined below, provided that application for such conversion is made by the holder of the warrant not later than the 16th January 1917.

(1) The amount of securities in the loan of 1915-17 obtained by such conversion may be any exact multiple of Rs. 100 not exceeding the sum specified in the warrant as having been paid on the allotment certificate.

Examples:—(a) A has subscribed Rs. 10,000 to the new loan. He will receive a conversion warrant for Rs. 10,000. This will enable him, if he chooses, to tender for conversion as much 3½ per cent paper or 3 per cent paper as [at the rates of conversion specified in sub-clause (2) below] will produce a further Rs. 10,000 in the new loan or any smaller amount.

(b) B, though not himself a subscriber to the new loan, purchases a conversion warrant for Rs. 10,000. He will have the same privileges as A.

(2) The applicant will be entitled to receive securities of the loan of 1916-17 at the rate of Rs. 96 of the loan of 1916-17 for each Rs. 100 of 3½ per cent securities tendered, and at the rate of Rs. 82-8-0 of the loan of 1916-17 for each Rs. 100 of 3 per cent securities tendered.

Examples.—(a) A possesses 3½ per cent paper of the face value of Rs. 17,600. This, if he possesses sufficient conversion rights, can be converted into Rs. $17,600 \times \frac{96}{100}$ of the new loan, i.e., Rs. 16,896, subject to rounding into even hundreds.

(b) B possesses Rs. 9,300 of 3 per cent paper. This, if he possesses sufficient conversion rights, can be converted into Rs. $9,300 \times \frac{82\frac{1}{2}}{100}$ of the new loan, i.e., Rs. 7,672-8-0, subject to rounding into even hundreds.

(3) If the amount of securities tendered for conversion in respect of a particular warrant represents, at the foregoing rates of conversion, an amount of securities in the loan of 1916-17 which is not an exact multiple of Rs. 100, the applicant shall also pay in cash the balance required to make up the next higher multiple of Rs. 100.

Examples.—(a) In the case mentioned in example (a) of sub-clause (2) above A will have to pay a further sum of Rs. 4 in cash if he wishes to secure conversion of the whole amount of securities tendered. He will then receive Rs. 16,900 in the new loan provided that he possesses conversion rights for that or some larger amount.

(b) Similarly, B in example (b) of sub-clause (2) above will have to pay Rs. 27-8-0 in cash and will receive Rs 7,700 in the new loan provided that he possesses conversion rights for that or some larger amount.

(4) If the amount of securities in the loan of 1916-17 represented by the securities tendered for conversion, together with the cash payment as above, if any, is identical with the sum specified in the warrant, the conversion rights conferred by the warrant will have been exercised to the fullest extent, and no further cash payment will be required or permissible.

Examples :—(a) A holds a conversion warrant for Rs. 10,000. He tenders for conversion Rs. 10,100 of 3½ per cent paper, representing Rs. 9,984 in the new loan. He will pay Rs. 16 in cash and receive Rs. 10,000 of the new loan, his conversion rights being thus fully exercised.

(b) B holds a conversion warrant for Rs. 10,000. He tenders for conversion Rs. 12,100 of 3 per cent paper, representing Rs. 9,982-8-0 in the new loan. He will pay Rs. 17-8-0 in cash and receive Rs. 10,000 of the new loan, his conversion rights being thus fully exercised.

(5) If the amount of securities in the loan of 1916-17 represented by the securities tendered for conversion, together with the cash payment as above, if any, is less than the sum specified in the warrant, the applicant has the following options :—

(i) He may refrain from making any further cash payment, in which case he will receive the amount of securities in the loan of 1916-17 which is represented, at the prescribed rates of conversion, by the securities tendered for conversion and the cash payment, if any.

(ii) He may make such further cash payment as will enable him to receive, in securities of the loan of 1916-17, a total amount equal to the face value of the securities tendered for conversion, each Rs. 100 paid in cash being treated for this purpose as entitling the applicant to a further Rs. 100 in the loan of 1916-17.

Examples :—(a) A holds a conversion warrant for Rs. 10,000. He tenders for conversion Rs. 7,000 of 3½ per cent paper, representing Rs. 6,720 in the new loan. Under sub-clause (3) above, he will in any case pay Rs. 80 in cash, thus becoming entitled to Rs. 6,800 in the new loan. He may then refrain from making any further cash payment. In that case his conversion rights to the extent of Rs. 3,200 will lapse, unless he has previously subdivided his warrant, under clause 14 below, into separate warrants for Rs. 6,800 and Rs. 3,200, in which case he can sell the remaining warrant or otherwise dispose of it.

(b) Or, in the same case, A may pay a further Rs. 200 in cash, thus becoming entitled to receive Rs. 7,000 in the new loan, i.e., paper of the same face value in the new loan as that which he has surrendered. His remaining conversion rights amounting to Rs. 3,000 will lapse, unless conserved by previous subdivision of the warrant.

(c) B holds a conversion warrant for Rs. 8,000. He tenders for conversion Rs. 8,000 of 3 per cent paper representing Rs. 6,600 in the new loan. He may refrain from making any supplementary cash payment, in which case his remaining conversion rights amounting to Rs. 1,400 will lapse, unless conserved by previous subdivision of the warrant.

(d) Or, in the same case, B may pay a further Rs. 1,400 in cash, thus becoming entitled to receive Rs. 8,000 in the new loan, i.e., paper of the same face value as that which he has surrendered. In this particular instance his conversion rights will then have been fully exercised.

(6) The same warrant may not be used partly for the conversion of securities of a 3½ per cent rupee loan and partly for the conversion of securities of the 3 per cent rupee loan.

Example :—A holds a conversion warrant for Rs. 12,000. He possesses Rs. 4,000 of 3½ per cent paper representing Rs. 3,840 in the new loan, and Rs. 6,000 of 3 per cent paper representing Rs. 4,950 in the new loan. He may not tender both denominations of paper for conversion under the one warrant. He may, however, subdivide his warrant into three warrants of Rs. 3,900, Rs. 5,000 and Rs. 3,100 respectively, utilising the first two to convert his holdings of paper and conserving his remaining conversion rights (with a view to sale or other mode of disposal) by means of the third warrant. Or, again, if he intends to take advantage of the option defined in sub-clause (5) (ii) above, he may subdivide his original warrant into three warrants of Rs. 4,000, Rs. 6,000 and Rs. 2,000, respectively, using the first two for conversion purposes and selling or otherwise disposing of the third.

(7) The same warrant may not be employed for more than one transaction. But a number of separate warrants may be used collectively, instead of a single warrant for the same aggregate amount.

Examples :—(a) A holds a conversion warrant for Rs. 9,000. He first converts Rs. 3,000 of 3½ per cent paper. Subsequently he desires to convert a further Rs. 2,000 of 3½ per cent paper. This cannot be done as, at the time of the first conversion transaction, his first warrant will have been resumed and any remaining conversion rights will have lapsed. His proper course is to proceed by subdivision of the warrant from the outset.

(b) B holds paper which, at the prescribed rate of conversion, represents Rs. 1,92,000 in the new loan. He also holds conversion rights for Rs. 1,50,000. By purchasing another warrant for Rs. 42,000, or several warrants aggregating that amount, and presenting all his warrants, he can secure the conversion of his entire holding.

14. A warrant will, on application by the holder, be subdivided by the Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, Calcutta, the Bank of Madras, or the Bank of Bombay, into two or more warrants (each for a sum which is an exact multiple of Rs. 100) entitling him to obtain the same aggregate amount of the new loan by conversion, on payment of a fee of 4 annas in respect of each of the warrants issued in exchange.

Note.—The original issue of warrants and also their subdivision will be carried out by the Public Debt Offices, Banks of Madras and Bombay, in cases in which the holder of the loan has asked that interest on his securities should be payable at a treasury in those Presidencies, and by the Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, Calcutta, in other cases. Should the holder of a warrant, for the purpose of exercising the rights attached to it, desire to present it at an office other than the office of issue, it must first be enfaced by the office of issue on the office at which it is intended to present it. No charge will be made for such enfacement.

15. The holder of a warrant desiring to exercise any of the rights attaching to it should, either in person or through a duly-authorised representative, present, at any time after the 15th October 1916 and not later than the 16th January 1917, the warrant and an application for conversion, duly filled in and signed, as well as the securities which he desires to convert (and also any cash payment authorised under the terms of clause 13 above) at

(i) The Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, Calcutta, the Bank of Madras or the Bank of Bombay ;

(ii) A Government treasury at district headquarters for transmission to one of the above ; or

(iii) Any branch of the Banks of Bengal, Madras or Bombay.

The securities so presented should be duly receipted on the reverse as follows, or in a form as near thereto as circumstances admit :—

Received in lieu hereof $\frac{\text{a stock certificate}}{\text{promissory note(s)}}$ of the Four per cent Conversion loan of 1916-17 payable to for Rs. with interest payable at .

Signature of the holder or duly-authorised representative of (give the name of holder).

16. Interest on securities tendered for conversion will be paid in cash up to the 30th September 1916. Securities of the Four per cent Conversion loan of 1916-17 issued in exchange will bear interest with effect from the 1st October 1916. No interest will be paid separately in respect of the cash payments made under clause 13 above.

Applications through the Post Office.

17. Applications for the loan will also be received at all post offices authorised to transact Post Office Savings Bank business during the hours fixed for such business, from the 14th June to the 25th September, from any person whether previously a depositor in the Post Office Savings Bank or not, subject to the following conditions. Applications made under this clause will be accepted in full irrespective of the limit of Rs. 1,200 lakhs mentioned in clauses 1 and 8.

(1) Applications must be delivered personally or by messenger at a post office where a receipt will be given for them.

(2) They must be made in the special printed form appended to this Notification (Annexure 4), copies of which will be obtainable at the post offices.

(3) Each application must be for not less than Rs. 100 and not more than Rs. 5,000 and must be for a sum which is a multiple of Rs. 100.

NOTE.—The total amount which may be applied for by each applicant is limited to Rs. 5,000 but applications up to this amount will be permitted irrespective of any holdings of securities which the applicant may have previously obtained through the Post Office.

(4) Amounts applied for through the Post Office will not be payable in instalments, but must be deposited in full with the application. Payment in respect of such applications may be made in either of the following ways or partly in each :—

(a) By transfer from any balance in cash standing at the credit of the applicant's savings bank account if he has one.

(b) By a special payment ; such payment may be made in coin or currency notes, or—at head post offices or at sub-post offices in Presidency Towns—by a cheque on a recognised bank.

18. (a) An applicant for the loan through the Post Office will receive a negotiable conversion warrant together with forms of application for conversion attached, enabling him to exercise the rights specified in clause 13 above.

Any securities in the 3½ per cent. or 3 per cent. rupee loans held by the Accountant General, Posts and Telegraphs, on the applicant's behalf, or purchased by him through the Post Office and held in his own custody, will be converted up to the limit admissible, on his presenting at any post office authorised to transact savings bank business, at any time after the 15th October 1916 and not later than the 16th January 1917, the warrant and the form of application (duly filled up), together with (a) the securities in his own custody, if any, endorsed to the Accountant General, Posts and Telegraphs, and (b) the cash payment (if any) required by clause 13.

(b) A conversion warrant issued through the Post Office may be sub-divided on application by the holder to the Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, Calcutta, the Bank of Madras, or the Bank of Bombay, in the manner stated in clauses 13 and 14.

(c) A transferee of a conversion warrant issued through the Post Office will be entitled to the same privileges as the original holder, including the right to employ the agency of the Post Office for the conversion of securities held by the Accountant General, Posts and Telegraphs on his behalf or purchased by him through the Post Office and held in his own custody.

(d) If the securities thus converted do not make up the full amount allowed by the conversion warrant, the holder will receive from the Post Office a fresh warrant for the difference, unless the unutilised amount is less than Rs. 500, in which case the warrant for the difference will only be issued on special application being made.

(e) In the case of 3½ per cent. or 3 per cent. rupee securities not purchased through the Post Office by the holder of the warrant (or its transferee), the procedure indicated in clause 15 should be followed to effect their conversion.

(f) Conversion of 3½ per cent. or 3 per cent. rupee securities purchased through the Post Office and deposited with the Accountant General, Posts and Telegraphs will also be effected by the Accountant General, Posts and Telegraphs on presentation as prescribed in (a) above of warrants issued without the intervention of the Post Office.

By order of the Governor-General in Council,

J. B. BRUNYATE,

Secretary to the Government of India.

ANNEXURE 1.

FORM OF PROMISSORY NOTE (see clause 2).

Fort William, the 1916.

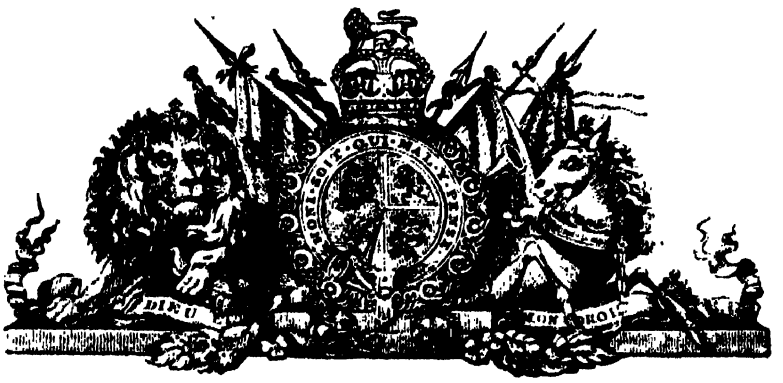
Promissory note Government Rs. at four per cent.



No.....

Conversion loan of 1916-17.

The Governor General of India in Council hereby promises on behalf of the Secretary of State for India in Council to pay to or order at the General Treasury at Fort William on the 1st day of October 1936 or on such earlier date as may, not less than three calendar months prior to its occurrence, be notified in the Gazette of India, but which the Governor General in Council undertakes shall not be before the 1st day of October 1931,

RUPEES ONE HUNDRED,

And to pay at the General Treasury above mentioned interest on such sum from the 1st day of October 1916 to the date on which the same shall become payable as aforesaid, at the rate of four per cent per annum, such interest to be paid by equal half-yearly payments on the 1st day of April and the 1st day of October in every year.

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 14th July, 1916.

No. 34.—The following Statute is published for general information :—

THE ARMY (ANNUAL) ACT, 1916.

[6 GEO. 5, CH. 5.]

AN ACT TO PROVIDE, DURING TWELVE MONTHS, FOR THE DISCIPLINE AND REGULATION OF THE ARMY. [19TH APRIL 1916.]

WHEREAS the raising or keeping of a standing army within the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland in time of peace, unless it be with the consent of Parliament, is against law :

And whereas it is adjudged necessary by His Majesty and this present Parliament that a body of forces should be continued for the safety of the United Kingdom and the defence of the possessions of His Majesty's Crown, and that the whole number of such forces should consist of four million including those to be employed at the depôts in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the training of recruits for service at home and abroad, but exclusive of the numbers actually serving within His Majesty's Indian possessions :

And whereas it is also judged necessary for the safety of the United Kingdom, and the defence of the possessions of this realm, that a body of Royal Marine forces should be employed in His Majesty's fleet and naval service, under the direction of the Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom, or the Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral aforesaid :

And whereas the said marine forces may frequently be quartered or be on shore, or sent to do duty or be on board transport ships or vessels, merchant ships or vessels, or other ships or vessels or they may be under other circumstances in which they will not be subject to the laws relating to the government of His Majesty's forces by sea :

And whereas no man can be forejudged of life or limb, or subjected in time of peace to any kind of punishment within this realm, by martial law, or in any other manner than by the judgment of his peers and according to the known and established laws of this realm ; yet, nevertheless, it being requisite, for the retaining all the before-mentioned forces, and other persons subject to military law, in their duty, that an exact discipline be observed, and that persons belonging to the said forces who mutiny or stir up sedition, or desert His Majesty's service, or are guilty of crimes and offences to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, be brought to a more exemplary and speedy punishment than the usual forms of the law will allow :

44 & 45 Vict. c. 58. And whereas the Army Act will expire in the year one thousand nine hundred and sixteen on the following days :—

(a) In the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, on the thirtieth day of April ; and

(b) Elsewhere, whether within or without His Majesty's dominions, on the thirty-first day of July :

Be it therefore enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :—

Short title. 1. This Act may be cited as the Army (Annual) Act, 1916.

Army Act to be in force for specified times. 2.—(1) The Army Act shall be and remain in force during the periods hereinafter mentioned, and no longer, unless otherwise provided by Parliament (that is to say) :—

(a) Within the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, from the thirtieth day of April one thousand nine hundred and sixteen to the thirtieth day of April one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, both inclusive ; and

(b) Elsewhere, whether within or without His Majesty's dominions, from the thirty-first day of July one thousand nine hundred and sixteen to the thirty-first day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, both inclusive.

(2) The Army Act, while in force, shall apply to persons subject to military law, whether within or without His Majesty's dominions.

(3) A person subject to military law shall not be exempted from the provisions of the Army Act by reason only that the number of the forces for the time being in the service of His Majesty, exclusive of the marine forces, is either greater or less than the number hereinbefore mentioned.

Prices in respect of billeting. 3. There shall be paid to the keeper of a victualling house for the accommodation provided by him in pursuance of the Army Act the prices specified in the Schedule to this Act.

AMENDMENTS OF THE ARMY ACT.

Amendment of ss. 163 (1) (d) and 190 (27) of Army Act. 4. In paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and sixty-three of the Army Act which relates to evidence, the words "or the Governor of any presidency in India" shall be omitted, and in paragraph (27) of section one hundred and ninety of the Army Act the words "as respects any presidency in India, means the Governor in Council of the presidency and " shall be omitted.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 8th July 1916.

Burma.—Light rain was general throughout the province. Agricultural operations for winter rice continue normally in the rice growing areas. Sowing for upland crops is progressing. Standing crops are favourable. Cattle are generally healthy. The price of unhusked rice in Rangoon has fallen further to Rs. 111 per hundred baskets which is below normal. The market for white rice is weak.

Assam.—The weather is seasonable and favourable to standing crops. Moderate to heavy rain has fallen in all Districts; more rain is wanted in Sylhet. Floods are reported from Goalpara, Darrang and Kamrup and have subsided in Lakhimpur. They have somewhat damaged autumn rice crops in the first two districts. Preparation of lands for winter rice and sowing of paddy seed beds are proceeding. Plucking and manufacturing of tea, transplantation of winter rice seedlings, harvesting of autumn rice and the planting of sugarcane are in progress. Cutting of jute has commenced in Goalpara and the Garo Hills. Prospects of tea are fair to good and of jute and sugarcane fair. The price of common rice has risen slightly. Cattle disease is reported from all districts except the Garo Hills and Manipur.

Bengal.—During the week under report moderate rain fell throughout the Province. In some of the northern districts the fall was heavy. Ploughing for winter rice and transplanting of seedlings are proceeding. The weeding of jute and autumn rice is almost finished. Harvesting of autumn rice and jute continues in the eastern Bengal districts. Some damage to low land crops by the sudden rise of water is reported from Jessore, Pabna and Faridpur. Cattle disease is reported from ten districts. The average price of common rice for the Province has risen by about 0·5 per cent as compared with that of the previous week.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows :—

Bankura District.—The state of affairs in the affected areas is generally unchanged. The rainfall was general but insufficient. Agricultural operations are continuing. Relief measures are adequate. The condition of the people on relief works is generally good. Private charitable funds are giving relief. Loans to weavers are being advanced. Prices are stationary. The price of rice is eight seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief works was 9,098 and in receipt of gratuitous relief 22,624, total 31,722. The decrease in numbers is due to the continuance of agricultural operations. The number of persons relieved on private works was 2,310.

Tippera District.—Rain fell during the week but more rain is wanted. Harvesting of autumn rice crop is progressing and cutting of jute has begun. There is no emaciation. The public health is good. Distress has slightly increased in the Sadar subdivision owing to the partial failure of the early autumn rice crop for want of seasonable rain. Loans are being advanced. The price of rice is 7½ seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief works was 1,489 and in receipt of gratuitous relief 9,155, total 10,644. The decrease in numbers on works is due to the gradual closing down of works in the Brahmanbaria sub-division owing to earth work being impossible, and agricultural employment being available.

Bihar and Orissa.—Light to moderate rain fell in all the districts of the Province. Sowing of autumn crops continues. Transplantation of winter paddy is going on in some districts. Standing crops are generally doing well. The average price of common rice has remained almost stationary as compared with that of the preceding week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from thirteen districts. The attendance of persons on test works in Singhbhum was 13,152. The condition of standing crops in the Feudatory States of Orissa is good.

United Provinces.—General rain has again fallen throughout the province including most of the central Doab districts where it was specially needed. Operations in connection with autumn crops are in progress and are nearing completion in some districts. Weeding and transplantation of rice have commenced. Standing crops are for the most part doing well. Locusts have again visited six districts but caused very slight damage. Very little cattle disease exists and the condition of agricultural stock is satisfactory. Fodder is generally sufficient. Prices in most districts are stationary but a slight upward tendency is apparent in places.

Punjab.—Light or moderate rain has fallen in almost all the reporting districts; though insufficient, it was beneficial for standing crops and for sowings; more rain is wanted everywhere. Sowings of cotton, fodder and other autumn crops continue and are generally normal except in parts of the south-east where they are restricted. The condition of standing extra spring and autumn crops is average to good on irrigated areas and generally below average to average on unirrigated areas. Extra spring crops are being harvested. The yield is generally normal. Cattle are generally healthy but are suffering seriously in the south-east owing to the scarcity of fodder and overwork. Water for drinking and irrigation is generally sufficient but shortage of canal water is reported from parts of the southeast. Prices are generally stationary but have risen slightly in some districts. In the case of wheat they range between normal and warning rates and in other cases between warning and scarcity rates. Prices of wheat are:—Rawalpindi 10½, Ambala, Ferozepore, Lahore and Lyallpur 12 seers per rupee.

North West Frontier Province.—Slight rain has fallen in Peshawar, Mardan and Nowshera. The weather is moderate but more rain is badly required. The condition of standing crops on irrigated areas is average and is poor on unirrigated areas. Harvesting of extra spring crops is proceeding with outturn average in Bannu. Soils are being prepared for the cultivation of maize in Bannu. The condition of cattle is generally good. Fodder and water are sufficient except in Dera Ismail Khan where water is scarce in certain villages. The Paharpur canal is running. The public health is good. Prices are high. The prices of wheat, barley and gram are rising while that of maize is stationary.

Jammu.—The rainfall was fairly good in some parts. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 8 to 12 and maize from 10 to 18 seers per rupee The condition of standing crops is average on the whole. Autumn sowings are in progress in some tehsils and have been finished in others. There is no cattle disease. Fodder is rather insufficient.

Kashmir.—The rainfall was good except in the Anantnag district where it is insufficient. Standing crops are in fair condition. Cattle are generally healthy. Water is inadequate. Fodder is sufficient.

Rajputana.—The weather was generally hot and cloudy. The rainfall in cents was Shahpura 95, Bundi 140, Jhalawar 81, Bharatpur 84, Karauli 125 and it was slight and scattered elsewhere; Bikaner recorded 105 cents in one place in the previous week. More rain is urgently needed. Germinated crops are withering. Sowings have started at places where rain has fallen. The Agricultural situation so far is not favourable Fodder is scarce. The condition of cattle is not satisfactory. Cattle mortality due to starvation and other causes is reported from Dungarpur and Karauli. Cattle disease is reported from Banswara, Kotah and from a few villages in Mewar Prices are high and rising. The number of persons on test works in Kishengarh was 2477 and in Karauli 1545.

[The weekly report on scarcity in Merwara is as follows:—There is no change in the degree of distress. There is no wandering or emaciation among applicants for relief. The physical condition of the people on works is satisfactory. Relief measures are sufficient. Cash advances are being distributed among cultivators. The fodder supply is sufficient. The public health is fair. There is no epidemic and medical assistance is available on works. Prices are 10 seers per rupee. The number of persons on test works was 4,700 and in receipt of gratuitous relief 3,300—total 8000.

Central India.—The rainfall was partial in Gwalior and general elsewhere. The principal falls were over three inches in Indore city, over two inches in Bundelkhand, over one inch in Mehidpur, Dhar, Manpur, Barwani and Alirajpur; it was insufficient in Jobat, the Southern States; and sufficient elsewhere except in Gwalior where more rain is generally needed. Sowing of autumn crops is in progress almost everywhere except in Gwalior where it has not been commenced in some places for want of rain. Sugarcane crops are good in Gwalior. Standing crops are good in Bhopal and the Southern States except Jobat where they are withering. The probable outturn is good in Bhopal and the Southern States. Agricultural stock is good everywhere except where there is cattle disease. The fodder supply is insufficient in Jobat; it is sufficient elsewhere except Gwalior where fodder is generally scarce. Prices are normal in Baghelkhand, slightly fluctuating in Indore, rising in the Southern States and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been cloudy and warm; Buldana and Yeotmal each received ten inches of rain, while moderate to heavy rain fell in the remaining districts. Sowing of autumn crops is in full swing and germination is satisfactory. Fodder and water are ample. Cattle are in good condition. The prices of wheat and gram show a slight tendency to rise.

Feudatory States.—The rainfall was general in the States. Sowing is well forward and germination is satisfactory.

Bombay.—Good rain fell during the week in the Presidency proper except in Gujarat where it was partial and still seriously in defect. Autumn sowings are generally continuous. Transplantation has commenced and germinated seedlings are generally thriving. The fodder supply is deficient in parts of Sind, Kathiawar, Cutch, Palanpur and Baroda.

Agricultural stock is generally sufficient. Cattle are in good condition except in parts of Sind, Ahmedabad, Kaira and Kathiawar. Drinking water is inadequate in parts of Larkana and Baroda. Water for irrigation is deficient in parts of Thar and Parkar, Gujarat, Baroda and Kathiawar. Prices of food grains are generally steady.

The weekly report on the scarcity in Kathiawar is as follows:—The public health is good. There is no wandering or emaciation. Loans are being given for wells and fodder for cattle. Kitchens are being maintained in Babra, Songadh and Paliad by private charity. Gratuitous relief was given to 681 persons.

Hyderabad.—The rainfall was general, the highest falls were:—6 inches 49 cents Deodrug, 5 inches 6 cents Aurnagabad and Andol; the average was 1 inch 85 cents. Autumn crops are being sown. Standing crops are in fair to good condition. Lands for early rape crops are being prepared and sown. Germination of the crops is satisfactory. Cattle disease is reported from sixteen talukas. Prices of grains are high and steady. Coarse rice is selling at 9 seers per rupee and white Jawari at 14 seers per rupee in Hyderabad city. The highest price in districts is Jawar 10 seers per rupee in Karimnagar and the lowest 24 seers per rupee in Adilabad.

Mysore.—The rainfall was good in Bangalore, Kolar and Tumkur and fair to light elsewhere. The price of ragi has risen in the civil military station of Bangalore. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are generally in good condition. Ploughing and sowing of ragi and paddy are in progress. The harvested paddy outturn is fair. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—The rainfall was two inches forty-five cents. Ploughing for rice continues. Transplanting of rice has commenced. Prices of food grains are high. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was very heavy in South Canara, heavy in Vizagapatam, Kistna, Malabar and Cochin, good in Ganjam, Godavari, Guntur, Kurnool, Cuddapah, the Carnatic except in Nellore, Chittor, North Arcot, Salem, Travancore and the Nilgiris, fair in Banganapalle, Nellore, Trichinopoly and Tanjore and light or nil elsewhere. Standing crops are in fair to good condition generally but are withering in parts of one district and require more rain in parts of two others. Harvesting of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops are proceeding in parts with outturn fair to normal generally. Sowings of paddy and dry crops are proceeding or are concluding normally. Condition of cattle is generally good. Water supply is sufficient in Godavari, Kistna, Guntur, Cuddapah, Coimbatore, the west coast and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Pasture is generally insufficient but fodder is generally available. Prices are steady.

All notifications and other matter intended for publication in those Parts should be addressed to the Publisher at Simla and Calcutta, respectively.

Attention is invited to the following Circular Memorandum of the Government of India, Home Department, of August 1901:—

"It has been brought to the notice of this Department that matter for the Gazette of India is sometimes sent to the Press late on Friday evenings for publication in the next day's Gazette and that this involves considerable inconvenience to the Press and expense to Government. In the Circular Memorandum of this Department, No. 777—79, dated 9th February 1870, the Government of India directed that all notifications or other matter intended for insertion in the Gazette of India should be delivered at the Press not later than 2 P.M. on Friday, and that any papers sent thereafter must be certified to be extremely urgent in order to ensure their appearance in the next day's Gazette. The undersigned is directed to request that these orders may be more strictly observed in future, and that Departments will refrain from sending to the Press as extremely urgent any papers which can without harm or inconvenience be held over for the next Gazette.

J. P. HEWETT,
Secretary to the Government of India."

NOTICES.

THE PATENT OFFICE, 1, COUNCIL HOUSE STREET, CALCUTTA.

Public room, open 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Saturdays, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

1. All communications relating to applications for patents and for registration of designs under the Indian Patents and Designs Act (II of 1911), or in continuation of applications under the Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888) should be addressed to the Controller of Patents and Designs, 1, Council House Street, Calcutta. Documents sent by post should be carefully packed.

2. Directions for the guidance of inventors and others are given in the Patent Office Handbook (price one rupee) which contains the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, the Indian Patents and Designs Rules, 1912, the Indian Patents and Designs (Temporary Rules) Act, 1915, the Indian Patents and Designs (Temporary) Rules, 1915, together with current regulations and instructions. These should be consulted before an application is made to the Controller.

3. Advice. The Patent Office cannot undertake (1) to give opinions on the interpretation of Patent Law, or on the advisability of protecting inventions and designs or on their infringement; (2) to make searches in respect of information available in the public room; (3) to recommend any particular agent; or (4) to assist in the disposal of inventions. Applicants are warned that the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, is in force in British India only, and patents granted under it do not extend to the United Kingdom or any of the British possessions. The International Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property does not include India. For information regarding patents in countries other than India applications should be made to the patent offices in the countries concerned.

4. Fees are payable in cash and must be received in the Patent Office within the time allowed by the Acts. When cheques are offered in payment of fees, it must be clearly understood that the office cannot hold itself responsible for any delay that may occur in the collection of cash on the cheques; any cheque not payable in Calcutta is subject to commission. In cases where it is not possible to have the fees handed in at the Patent Office, it is preferable to send them by money-order or postal order payable at Calcutta to the Controller of Patents and Designs, and to advise him that they have been so sent. Stamps will not be received in payment of fees.

5. Trade and property marks and names are not registered and medicines are not patented under the Indian Patents and Designs Act. There is no provision of Law in British India for their registration. Neither does this Act deal with pictures, photographs, etc., for which copyright is obtainable under the Indian Copyright Act, 1914.

6. Printed Specifications of applications, which have been accepted, are published within about three weeks after acceptance has been notified in the Gazette of India. These specifications can be purchased at the Patent Office at a uniform price of 8 annas per copy; and may be seen free of charge, together with other publications of the Patent Office, at the following places:—

FOREIGN AND POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Simla, the 17th July, 1916.

No. 1406-I.B.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 36 of the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1886 (VI of 1886), as subsequently amended, the Governor General in Council is pleased to make the following rules for the guidance of Registrars of Births and Deaths in the Hyderabad State :—

1. In these rules, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "The Act" means the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1886, as amended by the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration (Amendment) Act, 1911 :

(2) "Schedule" means a schedule to these rules :

(3) "Registrar-General" and "Registrar" mean respectively a Registrar-General of Births, Deaths and Marriages, and a Registrar of Births and Deaths appointed under the Act : and

(4) "Sign", used with reference to a person who is unable to write his name, includes mark and thumb-impression.

2. Notices of births and deaths shall be in the forms set forth in Schedule A and Schedule B, respectively.

3 Every such notice shall be signed by the person giving it, shall specify the capacity in which the person claims to be authorized to give it and, if such person does not attend personally before the Registrar, shall be attested by one of the following persons :—

(1) A Magistrate of any class including an Honorary Magistrate under either the British or the Nizam's Government.

(2) A servant of the British or of the Nizam's Government whose emoluments are not less than Rs. 50 per mensem.

(3) A pensioner of the British or of the Nizam's Government whose pension is not less than Rs. 25 per mensem.

(4) Any person authorized to solemnize a marriage under section 5 of the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872 (XV of 1872).

(5) A Medical officer of the British or of the Nizam's service or a private medical practitioner holding a University diploma.

Failing any of these, the evidence of any two respectable persons may be accepted by the Registrar.

Provided that the Registrar may dispense with evidence of identity when the informant falls under any of the following classes :—

(1) A Gazetted officer of the British or of the Nizam's Government.

(2) A Medical Officer in the British or Nizam's service or a private medical practitioner holding a University diploma.

(3) Any person authorized to solemnize a marriage under section 5 of the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872 (XV of 1872).

(4) Any person known to the Registrar personally.

The notice shall be filed separately and preserved permanently by the Registrar.

4. Every such notice shall ordinarily be presented to the Registrar for the local area in which the birth or death occurred within three months of the date of the birth or death to which it refers, as the case may be:

Provided that the Registrar may, of his own authority, for any reason which he considers sufficient, accept notice of a birth or death at any time within six months from the date of its occurrence, and with the special sanction in writing of the Registrar-General after that time.

5. Registers of births and deaths shall be kept in the forms set forth in Schedule C and Schedule D, respectively.

6. When a Registrar refuses to register a birth or death he shall record the reasons for his decision in a register maintained in the form given in Schedule E. An appeal against an order of a Registrar refusing to register a birth or death on any other ground than that referred to in proviso (a) to section 19 of the Act shall lie to the Registrar-General, who may in his discretion either confirm the order of the Registrar or direct him to register the birth or death.

7. If, at the time of registration of a birth, the child has not been named, the informant or the parents of the child may forward subsequently to the Registrar in duplicate a statement giving the name, signed by the minister or other person responsible for the naming of the child. The Registrar shall attach one copy of the statement to the entry of the birth in the register maintained by him and forward the second copy to the Registrar-General to be filed with the copy of the entry maintained in his office.

8. When a birth or death has occurred during a journey, or when the person giving notice of a birth or death was compelled by duty, or urgent necessity, or unavoidable accident, to leave the local area in which such birth or death occurred so soon after its occurrence that he was unable to give the prescribed notice to the Registrar for that local area, any Registrar may receive notice of such birth or death, and register the same as if it were a birth or death which had occurred within the local area for which he has been appointed.

9. The provisions of rule 4, as to the time within which notice of a birth or death must be given, shall apply to every notice of a birth or death given under the circumstances described in the last foregoing rule.

10. In every case of a birth or death admitted to registration under rule 8, the Registrar to whom the notice of the birth or death is given shall record in his register the reason why the notice was not given to the Registrar of the local area within which the birth or death occurred, and shall within one week from the date of the registration of the birth or death forward to the Registrar-General, and to the Registrar of the local area within which the birth or death occurred, a copy of the entry in the register relating to the birth or death.

Every Registrar shall paste into a book kept by him for the purpose all copies of entries received by him under this rule, and the book containing the copies shall be, at all reasonable times, open to inspection by any person desiring to inspect it.

11. The Registrar for any local area including a port may register any birth or death which has occurred on the high seas on board any ship arriving at such port:

Provided that notice of the birth or death is given to such Registrar within sixty days after the arrival of the ship.

In the notice of such birth or death, and in the entry thereof in the register, there shall be specified, in lieu of the name of the place at which, the name of the ship on which the event occurred, and the name of the commander of the ship, and the approximate latitude and longitude of the ship's position at the time of the birth or death.

12. Every certificate of registration of a birth or death given by a Registrar under section 23 of the Act shall be in the form set forth in Schedule F.

13. At the foot of every copy of an entry given under section 9 or section 25 of the Act there shall be written a certificate, dated and subscribed by the Registrar-General or officer authorized under section 9, or by the Registrar, as the case may be, that the copy is a true copy of the entry.

14. Every Registrar shall keep, in the form set forth in Schedule G, a register of all certificates of registration and copies of entries given by him.

Every Registrar-General shall keep a register in a similar form of all copies given by him of entries in the certified copies of the registers sent to his office.

15. The copies of entries of birth and deaths which Registrars are required by section 24 of the Act to send to the Registrar-General shall be certified in the form set forth in Schedule H, and shall be sent at intervals of three months, on or as nearly as possible after the 1st January, April, July and October in each year.

Should no entries be made in a register during the preceding three months, a certificate to this effect shall be sent to the Registrar-General.

16. The indexes which are required by section 7 of the Act to be made of the certified copies of registers of births, deaths and marriages sent to the office of the Registrar-General shall be in the forms set forth in Schedule I, Schedule J, and Schedule K, respectively.

Every entry in an index shall be made alphabetically with reference to the initial letter of the name of the person indicated by the entry.

In the index of certified copies of entries of marriages, the names of both the husband and the wife must be indexed.

In the case of a person of European descent, the initial letter will be the first letter of the surname ; and in the case of any other person, the first letter of his name, and not that of his rank, title or class.

17. A Registrar may, of his own motion, correct, in manner prescribed in section 28 of the Act, any error in form made in an entry of a birth or death in a register of births or register of deaths kept by him under the Act.

In every case in which an entry is corrected under this rule, intimation thereof shall (if practicable), be communicated, within one week from the date of the correction being made, to the person who gave the notice of the birth or death.

18. When an error in substance in any entry of a birth or death in a register of births or register of deaths is asserted to have been made, the Registrar may correct the error, in manner prescribed in section 28 of the Act, on application made in writing, and signed in the presence of two witnesses attesting the signature, by any person authorized under section 20 or 21, as the case may be, to give notice of the birth or death to which the entry relates :

Provided that the Registrar is satisfied that the application is well founded and that he places on record a memorandum of the evidence on which his opinion is based.

An appeal against an order of a Registrar under this rule refusing to correct an asserted error in an entry in a register shall lie to the Registrar-General, who may, in his discretion, either confirm the order of the Registrar, or direct him to correct the error.

19. Without the special sanction in writing of the Registrar-General, an application for the correction of an entry in a register of births or register of deaths shall not be entertained after the expiration of one year from the date on which the notice of the birth or death was given.

20. The sums specified in Schedule L shall be the fees payable under the sections of the Act there referred to :

Provided that soldiers and non-commissioned officers of His Majesty's regular forces, all seamen, and such persons in indigent circumstances as satisfy the Registrar-General of their inability to meet the fees, shall be exempted from the payment of any fees, when the same are payable to a Registrar-General or a Government servant who is not a Minister of Religion.

21. Every Registrar-General and every Registrar who is a Government servant and not a Minister of Religion shall keep a register in the form set forth in Schedule M of all fees realised under these rules, and shall forward such fees at the end of each month to the nearest treasury to be credited to Government. The Treasury Officer shall give each Registrar a certificate of the amount so credited and the Registrar shall send a copy of the certificate to the Registrar-General. Registrars who are not Government servants or who are Ministers of Religion may retain for their own use any fees which they may realize under these rules.

COMMERCE AND TRADE.

The 22nd July, 1916.

No. 6200-W.-II.—In exercise of the powers 1916. conferred by section 5 of the Enemy Trading Ordinance, 1916, (hereinafter called the Ordinance), the Governor General in Council is pleased to make the following Order, namely :—

1. This Order may be called the Enemy Trading (Winding up) Order, 1916.

Short title.

2. The provisions of the Indian Companies 1913. Act, 1913, in regard to the winding up of a company by the Court (hereinafter called the applied provisions) shall apply to the winding up of hostile firms under section 5 of the Ordinance, subject to the exceptions, restrictions, extensions and modifications hereinafter contained in this Order.

Application of provisions of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, relating to winding up by the Court.

3. (1) The following expressions shall, unless the context or subject-matter otherwise requires, be substituted in the applied provisions for the expressions hereinafter particularly mentioned, that is to say—

Construction of the applied provisions

'Hostile firm' for 'Company';

'Government,' that is to say, 'The Governor General in Council, or when the powers of the Governor General in Council have been delegated to a Local Government that Local Government' for 'Court';

'Liquidator of hostile firms' for 'Official Liquidator'; and in cases where the hostile firm is not an incorporated company, Partner' for 'Director', 'Secretary', 'Secretary or Chief Officer', 'Member' or 'Shareholder';

'Principal place of business' for 'Registered office.'

(2) For the purpose of facilitating the application of the said provisions such provisions may be construed with such alteration not affecting the substance as may be necessary or proper to adapt them to the matter under disposal.

(3) The Government, in any case of doubt as to the construction of any expression in the applied provisions, may by order declare the proper construction of any such expression in respect of the particular matter in question.

4. In any case where the Governor General in Council has made an order under section 4 of the Ordinance, he may direct that all proceedings in the winding up be transferred to a Local Government, and he may at any time direct that such proceedings be transferred to any other Local Government, and thereupon in such case such Local Government shall exercise all powers conferred upon the Governor General in Council under the applied provisions.

Power to delegate powers to Local Governments in winding up proceedings.

5. A winding up order made under section 4 of the Ordinance shall be deemed to commence from the date of the notification in the Gazette of India directing such winding up :

Date of commencement of winding up order.

Provided that, where a hostile firm is being liquidated under a license granted under the Hostile Foreigners (Trading) Order, the Government may by the winding up or any subsequent order provide for the adoption of all or any proceedings in such liquidation for the purposes of such winding up.

6. If, in the opinion of the liquidator of hostile firms, any hostile firm in respect of which a winding up order has been made under section 4 of the Ordinance is insolvent, such liquidator shall forthwith report the fact, together with the grounds of his opinion, to Government, and the Governor General in Council shall pass such special order in respect of such firm as appears to him to be necessary in the circumstances of the case.

Insolvent hostile firms.

7. The following sections of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, shall not apply to winding up proceedings under section 5 of the Ordinance, namely, sections 183, sub-sections (1) and (2), 184, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 192, 196, 197, 199, 200, 201 and 202, and any reference in any of the applied provisions to contributories.

Exclusion of provisions of certain parts of the Indian Companies Act, 1913. VII of 1913

8. The powers of the Court under section 195 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, may be exercised by any person, not being the liquidator of hostile firms, whom the Governor General in Council may empower in this behalf.

Delegation of powers under section 195 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913. VII of 1913

9. All orders made by Government under the applied provisions or this Order may be enforced in the same manner in which orders of any Court exercising jurisdiction under the Indian Companies Act, 1913, may be enforced. VII of 1913

Enforcement of orders.

10. Where any part of the property of a hostile firm consists of land, of any tenure burdened with onerous covenants, or shares or stocks in companies of unprofitable contracts or of any other property that is unsaleable, or not readily saleable by reason of its binding the possessor thereof to the performance of any onerous act or to the payment of any sum of money, the liquidator of hostile firms may, notwithstanding that he may have endeavoured to sell or have taken possession of the property or exercised any act of ownership in relation thereto, at any time within twelve months after the date of the order to wind up or after he first became aware of such onerous property, whichever date shall be latest, disclaim the property.

Disclaimer of onerous property.

11. The disclaimer shall operate to determine as from the date thereof the rights, interests and liabilities of the hostile firm in or in respect of the property disclaimed, and shall also discharge the liquidator of hostile firms from all personal liability, if any, in respect of the property disclaimed, as from the date when the property vested in him, but shall not, except so far as is necessary for the purpose of releasing the hostile firm and the liquidator of hostile firms from liability, affect the rights or liabilities of any other person.

Disclaimer of leaseholds.

12. The liquidator of hostile firms shall not be entitled to disclaim any leasehold interest without leave of the Local Government, and the Local Government may before granting such leave require such notice to be given to persons interested, and impose such terms as the condition of granting leave as the Local Government may think just

Power to call on liquidator to disclaim.

13. The liquidator of hostile firms shall not be entitled to disclaim any property in pursuance of rule 12 in any case where an application in writing has been made to him by any person interested in the property requiring him to decide whether he will disclaim, and the liquidator of hostile firms has for a period of twenty-eight days after the receipt of the application, or such extended period as may be allowed by the Government, declined or neglected to give notice that he disclaims the property; and in the case of a contract, if such liquidator after such application as aforesaid does not within the said period or extended period disclaim the contract, he shall be deemed to have adopted it.

Exclusion of claims of hostile foreigners.

14. In a winding up under the Ordinance, the claims of creditors who are not hostile foreigners are to be paid if there are sufficient assets, irrespective of the claims of hostile foreigners, and no provision is to be made for these latter by way of dividend or otherwise.

Proof of debts.

15. Subject as aforesaid, every creditor shall prove his debt, unless the Local Government in any particular winding up shall give directions that any creditors or class of creditors shall be admitted without proof.

Mode of proof.

16. A debt may be proved in any winding up by delivering or sending through the post to the liquidator of hostile firms an affidavit verifying the debt.

Verification of proof.

17. An affidavit proving a debt may be made by the creditor himself or by some person authorised by, or on behalf of, the creditor. If made by a person so authorised, it shall state his authority and means of knowledge.

Contents of proof.

18 An affidavit proving a debt shall contain or refer to a statement of account showing the particulars of the debt, and shall specify the vouchers, if any, by which the same can be substantiated The liquidator of hostile firms, to whom the proof is sent, may at any time call for the production of the vouchers.

Statement of security.

19. An affidavit proving a debt shall state whether the creditor is or is not a secured creditor.

Costs of proof.

20. A creditor shall bear the cost of proving his debt, unless Government otherwise orders.

Discounts.

21. A creditor proving his debt shall deduct therefrom all trade discounts, but he shall not be compelled to deduct any discount not exceeding 5 per cent on the net amount of his claim which he may have agreed to allow for payment in cash.

Periodical payments.

22. When any rent or other payment falls due at stated periods, and the order to wind up is made at any time other than one of those periods, the persons entitled to the rent or payment may prove for a proportionate part thereof up to the date of the winding up order as if the rent or payment grew due from day to day :

Provided that where the liquidator of hostile firms remains in occupation of premises let to a hostile firm which is being wound up, nothing herein contained shall prejudice or affect the right of the landlord to claim payment by the hostile firm of rent during the period of occupation by the hostile firm or the liquidator as the case may be.

Interest.

23. On any debt or sum certain, payable at a certain time or otherwise whereon interest is not reserved or agreed for, and which is overdue at the date of the winding up order, the creditor may prove for interest at a rate not exceeding 4 per cent per annum up to that date from the time when the debt or sum was payable, if the debt or sum is payable by virtue of a written instrument at a certain time, and if payable otherwise, then from the time when a demand in writing has been made giving notice that interest will be claimed from the date of demand until the time of payment.

Notice to creditors to prove.

24. Unless otherwise ordered by the Local Government, the liquidator of hostile firms in any winding up may, from time to time, fix a certain day which shall be not less than twenty-one days from the date of notice on or before which the creditors of the hostile firm are to prove their debts or claims, or to be excluded from the benefit of any distribution made before such debts are proved, and the liquidator of hostile firms shall give notice in writing of the day so fixed by advertisement in such newspaper as he shall consider convenient.

Examination of proof.

25. The liquidator of hostile firms shall examine every proof of debt lodged with him, and the grounds of the debt, and in writing admit or reject in whole or in part, or require further evidence in support of it.

Appeal by creditor.

26. If a creditor is dissatisfied with the decision of the liquidator of hostile firms in respect of a proof, the Government may, on the application of the creditor, reverse or vary the decision.

Dividends to creditors.

27. (1) Not more than two months before declaring a dividend, the liquidator of hostile firms shall give notice of his intention to do so by advertisement in such newspapers as he thinks fit. Such notice shall specify the latest date up to which proofs can be lodged, which shall not be less than twenty-one days from the date of such notice.

(2) Where any creditor after the date mentioned in the notice of intention to declare a dividend as the latest date up to which proofs may be lodged, appeals against the decision of the liquidator of hostile firms rejecting a proof, notice of appeal shall, subject to the power of the Local Government to extend the time in special cases, be given within seven days from the date of the notice of decision against which the appeal is made, and the liquidator of hostile firms may in such cases make provision for the dividend upon such proof and the probable costs of such appeal in the event of the proof being admitted. Where no notice of appeal has been given within the time specified in this rule, the liquidator of hostile firms shall exclude all proofs which have been rejected from participation in the dividend.

(3) Immediately after the expiration of the time fixed by this rule for appealing against the decision of the liquidator of hostile firms, he shall proceed to declare the dividend, and shall send a notice of dividend to each creditor whose proof has been admitted.

28. All moneys received by a liquidator of hostile firms shall be paid into such Bank as the Government may direct to the credit of an account entitled "The Hostile Firms Liquidation Account", and all payments out of such account shall be made in such manner as the Government may direct.

Payments into and out of a Bank.

29. The assets of a hostile firm in a winding up under the Ordinance shall be liable to the following payments, which shall be made in the following order of priority, namely :—

Payments out of assets.

Firstly.—Such fees as the Governor General in Council may approve in respect of the services of the liquidator of hostile firms.

Next.—The actual expenses incurred in realising or getting in the assets.

Next.—The necessary disbursements of the liquidator of hostile firms other than the actual expenses of realisation heretofore provided for.

Next.—The costs of any person employed under the general or special sanction of Government, or in accordance with these rules by the liquidator of hostile firms.

Next.—The dividend payable to creditors who are not hostile foreigners and whose proofs have been admitted.

30. Any surplus remaining after making the payments in the last preceding clause mentioned shall be held by the Custodian to be dealt with by him as the Governor General in Council may direct.

Disposal of surplus.

31. Nothing in the foregoing general order shall be construed to override or conflict with any special order which the Governor General in Council may make in regard to the winding up of any hostile firm.

General order not to override special order.

32. The General Clauses Act, 1897, shall apply for the purposes of the interpretation of these rules in like manner as it applies for the purposes of the interpretation of an Act of the Governor General in Council.

Interpretation of the order.

No. 3055-W-II.—In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 12 of the Enemy Trading Act, 1915 (XIV of 1915), the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that the provisions of Section 4 of the said Act shall apply to the following payments, namely :—

Payments of debts, whether trade or otherwise, due to enemies the payment of which is prohibited by the Trading with the Enemy Proclamation No. 2, dated the 9th September 1914, as amended and extended by subsequent Proclamations.

No. 6165-158-W.-II.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 3 of the Import and Export of Goods Ordinance, 1916 (IV of 1916), and in supersession of the Notification in the Department of Commerce and Industry, No. 9175-W., dated the 19th June 1915, as subsequently amended, the Governor General in Council is pleased to prohibit the bringing by sea or by land into British India, whether by the parcels post or otherwise, of all goods from Belgium, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland and Switzerland unless certificates of origin in the form prescribed in the annexed schedule are presented to the Customs-Collector at the port of import in respect of such goods :

Provided that

(i) a single certificate may be used to cover any number of parcels of goods shipped to the same consignee on the same vessel at the same time for the same port :

(ii) nothing in this notification shall apply to

(a) goods imported for the use of Government Departments ;

(b) goods imported under a general or special licence granted by the Governor General in pursuance of the Trading with the Enemy Proclamation No. 2, as amended and extended by subsequent Proclamations, except so far as a certificate of origin may be required by the conditions of the licence itself ;

(c) goods imported from an allied country by way of a neutral country on a through bill of lading or by through postal parcel ;

(d) goods transhipped for consignment to other parts of the British Empire where the system of certificates of origin is in force, or carried forward in the same bottom to foreign ports ;

(e) bona fide personal and household effects of persons entering the country ;

(f) imports of alabaster, articles of carved coral and shells, bulbs, carbide of calcium, codliver oil, coral (raw), curbstone, cyanide of calcium, flax, flax seed, foodstuffs (other than sugar and spirits), fresh flowers, granite, granite setts for paving, ice, iron ore, marble, pavement slates, paving slates, paving stones, quicksilver, Sienna-earth, slatestone, strawboard, sulphur, tar, timber of any kind (including pit-props, and wood hoops for making casks), mechanical wood pulp (excluding cellulose) ;

(g) goods of Belgian origin re-exported from the United Kingdom :

(iii) the Customs-Collector may, in his discretion, and if he sees no reason for suspecting that the goods have emanated from an enemy territory, allow delivery of any goods imported from the above mentioned countries, even if unaccompanied by certificates of origin on condition that the importer executes a bond to the amount of three times the value of the goods for the due production of the prescribed documents within a period to be specified in the bond, or furnishes a deposit to the like amount which shall be liable to forfeiture if the said documents are not produced within such period as the Customs-Collector may direct :

(iv) the Customs-Collector, in his discretion, may

(a) detain goods in respect of which a certificate of origin has been duly furnished, pending the production of such further evidence of origin as he may consider satisfactory ; or

(b) release such goods on condition that the importer executes a bond to the amount of three times the value of the goods for the due production of the prescribed documents within a period to be specified in the bond, or furnishes a deposit to the like amount which shall be liable to forfeiture if the said documents are not produced within such period as the Customs-Collector may direct.

SCHEDULE.

FORM OF CERTIFICATE OF ORIGIN.

I, , hereby certify that Mr. (Producer, Manufacturer, Merchant, Trader, etc.), residing at in this town has declared before me that the merchandise designated below, which is to be shipped from this town to , consigned to (a) (Merchant, Manufacturer, etc.) in India, has not been produced or manufactured in enemy territory, and that he has produced to my satisfaction invoices or other trustworthy documents in proof thereof.

Number and description of cases.	Marks and numbers.	Weight or quantity.	Total value (b).	Contents.	Name of producer or manufacturer (c).

(a) If desired, the word "order" may be inserted here instead of the name of the purchaser in India.

(b) This column may be left blank, if desired.

(c) This column may be left blank at the request of the declarant; but the name of the producer or manufacturer must be inserted in a separate document issued at the same time by the Consular Officer, which will only be inspected by the Customs Authorities at the port of importation. The separate document may be either a letter from the Consular Officer concerned or a copy of the certificate itself furnishing the necessary particulars.

In the case of the following articles, however, the particulars in question need not necessarily be furnished either in the certificate or in the separate document; in such cases the words "he has produced to my satisfaction invoices or other trustworthy documents in proof thereof" in the text of the certificate may be replaced by the words "I am satisfied that such is the case":—

(i) All articles in respect of which certificates of origin, though not required under this notification, are issued at the special request of the exporter.

(ii)

Argols.	Old clothes and wearing apparel.
Berries.	Olive meal (ground).
Bones.	Old rags.
Charcoal.	Old rails.
Codliver oil.	Old ropes, lines, etc.
Dried flowers.	Personal effects.
Eiderdown.	Returned empties (including casks).
Empty yarn and electric cable spools.	Roots.
Essential oils of native fruits.	Ships' stores.
Fish oils.	Spelter.
Grease.	Squills.
Hides.	Steel, zinc and other metal scraps.
Leaves.	Sumac.
Lichen, moss and other wild growths.	Waste clippings of textile materials.
Medicinal herbs.	Wax (bees-wax, etc.).
Metal foundry residues.

(d) The Consular authority will stamp all certificates in a prominent place with the words:—

"The present certificate must not be regarded as an absolute guarantee of the origin of the goods which remain liable to seizure if they should prove on examination by the competent British Authorities to be of enemy origin."

(e) In the case of goods partially produced or manufactured in enemy territory, certificates will only be granted and accepted, when not more than 25 per cent. of the value of the finished article is due to enemy labour or material. The percentage of value derived from such enemy production or manufacture shall be stated in the certificate. The percentage should be calculated, not upon the sale price of the finished goods in India, but upon the value delivered at the place of manufacture, excluding cost of packing and carriage to India.

(f) In the case of Belgian goods the certificate should state that the goods have been produced or manufactured in Belgium, or that less than 25 per cent of their value is due to enemy (other than Belgian) labour or material and that the certifying officer is satisfied as to the truth of the declaration.

Goods manufactured in Holland which owe less than 25 per cent. of their value to enemy (other than Belgian) labour or material but include also a Belgian element which raises the proportion to more than 25 per cent, are considered for the purpose of this certificate as goods of Belgian origin.

This certificate is valid only for a period of not more than from the date hereof and for not more than (the number of cases, bales, bundles, etc. specified in column 1).

(Signature of person declaring). (Signature of Consular Authority issuing Certificate, and date.)

No. 6167-158-W.-II.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 3 of the Import and Export of Goods Ordinance, 1916 (IV of 1916), and in supersession of the Notification in the Department of Commerce and Industry, No. 7050-W., dated the 22nd May 1915, as subsequently amended, the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that no goods shall be taken either by sea or by land out of British India to China, Siam, Persia, Morocco, Liberia, Portuguese East Africa, or any place in Europe or on the Mediterranean Sea, with the exception of the United Kingdom, Russia, Italy and France, unless declarations of ultimate destination in the form prescribed in the annexed schedule and signed by the actual exporter or by some responsible representative of the actual exporter (or, in the case of a limited company, by a Director, Secretary, Manager or other responsible officer) having a personal and first-hand knowledge of the inquiries made and of the facts stated in the declaration are presented to the Customs-Collector at the port of export in respect of such goods:

Provided that

(i) in spite of the fact that such declaration of ultimate destination has been duly furnished, the Customs-Collector may, in his discretion, require that the exporter shall enter into a bond for such sum not exceeding three times the value of the goods as the Customs-Collector may think fit, to produce evidence within such time as the Customs-Collector may direct, that the goods have not reached a person who is an enemy, or treated as an enemy, or a country which is an enemy country or treated as an enemy country:

(ii) a single declaration may be used to cover any number of consignments by the same exporter from the same port by the same ship at the same time:

(iii) nothing in this notification shall apply to goods exported under a general or special licence granted by the Governor General in pursuance of the trading with the Enemy Proclamation No. 2, as amended and extended by subsequent Proclamations.

SCHEDULE.

Secretary to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 20th July 1916, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. The rainfall of the week was abundant and well distributed; nearly every part of the country had rain, and over a large portion of northwest India and of the Madras Presidency the amounts recorded were considerably above the average.

An unusually heavy fall of rain of nearly four inches occurred at Bikaner on the 14th, and at Lahore the week's rainfall amounted to fourteen inches, of which seven and a half were received on the 13th. A shallow depression over Gujarat gave Karachi nearly six inches on the 14th.

2. Burma.—There was nearly general rain in Lower Burma on the 14th and 18th.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Nearly general rain fell in Assam from the 15th to the end of the week, in north Bengal on the 13th, 16th, 17th, 18th and 19th, in Orissa on the 14th, in Chota Nagpur on the 15th and 16th, and in Bihar on the 14th, 16th and 18th.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Rainfall was nearly general on the 18th and 19th in the United Provinces, on the 14th, 16th, 18th and 19th in Central India East, and on the 13th, 16th and 18th in the Central Provinces.

Northwest India.—Rain fell at most stations in the east and north Punjab every day except the 16th, in Kashmir on the 14th, and in Rajputana and Gujarat on the 13th.

The Peninsula.—There was nearly general rain on the west coast on the 13th, 14th and 18th, in the Bombay Deccan and the Madras Deccan on the 13th, 16th and 18th, in Hyderabad on the 18th, in Mysore on the 16th, and on the north Madras coast on the 13th.

SIMLA;
Dated the 20th July 1916.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 15th July 1916.

Burma.—Moderate rain was general throughout the Province. Ploughing for and sowing of winter rice continue satisfactorily in the rice growing districts. Sowing of the miscellaneous dry crops is progressing. Standing crops are generally satisfactory. The health of cattle is generally good. The price of unhusked rice in Rangoon has fallen further to rupees 110 per hundred baskets which is below normal. The market for white rice is steady.

Assam.—The weather is seasonable and favourable to standing crops. Light to moderate rain has fallen in all districts but more rain is wanted in Sylhet, Sibsagar and the Naga Hills. Recent floods which are now subsiding have damaged the autumn rice crop to some extent in Nowgong and Lakhimpur. Flood is also reported from the Garo Hills. Preparation of lands for winter rice and sowing of paddy seedbeds are proceeding. Plucking and manufacture of tea, transplantation of winter rice seedlings, planting of sugarcane and harvesting of autumn rice are in progress. Cutting of jute continues in Goalpara and the Garo Hills. Prospects of tea are moderate to good and of sugarcane fair. The price of common rice is almost stationary. Cattle disease is reported in nine districts.

Bengal.—During the week heavy showers fell in places in Northern Bengal, the fall in the rest of the province was light to moderate. More rain is wanted in Nadia, Murshidabad and Burdwan for transplantation of winter paddy. Harvesting of jute and autumn paddy is going on in Eastern Bengal. The prospects of standing crops are reported to be fairly good. Cattle disease exists in eight districts. The average price of common rice for the province has fallen by about 0·4 per cent as compared with that of the previous week. Some distress still prevails among certain tribes of the Chittagong Hill Tracts.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows

Bankura District.—The state of affairs in the affected areas is generally unchanged. Transplantation of winter paddy is being retarded for want of rain. Relief measures are adequate. The condition of the people on relief works is generally good Private charitable funds are giving relief. Loans are being advanced to weavers. Artisans are being relieved in their own trade. Prices are rising. The price of rice is 7¼ seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief works was 8,980 and in receipt of gratuitous relief 22,150, total 31,130. The decrease in the numbers is due to the continuance of agricultural operations. The number of persons relieved on private works was 2,992.

Tippera District :—Rain fell during the week but more rain is wanted. Harvesting of the autumn rice crop and cutting of jute are progressing. There is no emaciation. The public health is good. The continuance of distress in the Sadar sub-division is due to the partial failure of the early autumn rice crop. The price of rice is 7¼ seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief works was 1,140 and in receipt of gratuitous relief 5,664, total 6,804. The decrease in the number on works is due to the gradual closing of works.

Bihar and Orissa.—The rainfall was general over the Province, the fall being heavy in parts of the Tirhut and Bhagalpur divisions and light to moderate elsewhere. Sowing of autumn crops continues. Weeding is in progress. Transplantation of winter paddy is going on but more rain is needed in parts of Chota Nagpur. The recent excessive rain has affected to some extent the jute crop in parts of the Bhagalpur division. Standing crops are otherwise doing well. The average price of common rice has risen as compared with that of the preceding week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from fourteen districts. The attendance of persons on test works in Manbhum was 795 and in Singhbhum 11,025. Gratuitous relief was given to 1,111 persons in Manbhum and 1,117 persons in Singhbhum. The condition of standing crops in the Feudatory States of Orissa is good.

United Provinces.—The rainfall has been general and well distributed. Sowing of autumn crops continues and is approaching completion in places. Transplantation of rice is in progress. Land is being prepared for spring crops in many districts. The condition of standing crops is good, though some damage to crops in lowlying tracts is reported from a few districts. Locusts passed through parts of Muttra and Jhansi but caused no damage. Agricultural stock is in good condition and very little cattle disease exists. Folder is generally ample. Prices are practically stationary.

Punjab.—Very heavy rains fell in the submontane and Central districts and flooded low lands in places, elsewhere the fall was good except in the south western districts where only light rain was received. More rain is still wanted. The rainfall proved very beneficial for sowings and for standing crops which are now in good condition on irrigiated and average on unirrigated areas. Sowings of autumn crops are in progress and are generally normal. Cattle are generally healthy but are weak in the south east owing to scarcity of fodder. Water for drinking and irrigation is sufficient. Prices are generally stationary but are rising in a few districts. In the case of wheat they are close to normal rates but in other cases they range between normal and scarcity rates. Price of wheat :—Rawalpindi 10½, Lyallpur 11, Lahore 11½ and Ambala and Ferozepore 12 seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—Rain fell throughout the Province and proved beneficial. The weather is moderate. The condition of standing crops on irrigated areas is average and on unirrigated areas fair in Bannu and in Dera Ismail Khan. The condition of cattle is generally good. Fodder and water are sufficient. The Paharpur canal is running. Harvesting of extra spring crops in Bannu is proceeding with outturn average. Sowings of autumn crops have commenced in Bannu. The public health is generally good. Prices are stationary but high. The price of wheat is rising in Peshawar.

Jammu.—Good rain fell during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 9 to 12 and maize from 11 to 18 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is average on the whole. Sowings of autumn crops are in progress. There is no cattle disease. Fodder is insufficient.

Kashmir.—The rainfall during the week was good. Standing crops are in fair condition. Cattle are generally healthy. Fodder and water are sufficient. Prices are normal.

Rajputana.—The weather is generally cloudy. Good rain fell during the week which has much improved the general situation, but the rainfall in Jaipur, parts of Jodhpur, Kishengarh and Ajmer-Merwara is still very deficient. The maximum fall in cents is as follows :—Kotah 869, Didwana and Marwar 414, Jaisalmer 287, Mewar 245, Hilly Tracts 181, Dungarpur 171, Banswara 285, Partabgarh 143, Jhalawar 321, Tonk 350, Alwar 333, Karauli 392, Dholpur 853, Kishengarh 51, Ajmer 96, Beawar 187. Standing crops have benefited by the rain and sowings have been restarted. Fodder is scarce and the condition of cattle is not satisfactory. Cattle disease is reported from Dungarpur and Kotah and cattle mortality continues in Karauli. Water is sufficient. Prices are high and stationary. Numbers on test works—Kishengarh 4,452, Karauli 665.

The weekly report on scarcity in Merwara is as follows :—Some rain has fallen but more is badly wanted and so far the extent of the distress is practically unchanged. There is no wandering or emaciation amongst applicants for relief. The condition of the people on relief is satisfactory and relief measures are adequate. Cash advances are being distributed. The fodder supply is sufficient at present The public health continues fair and no epidemic prevails. Prices are 10 seers per rupee. Numbers on relief are works—4,200, gratuitous 3,200, total 7,400.

Central India.—The rainfall during the week was general. The principal falls were over 12 inches in Jhabua, over 4 inches in Mehidpur, Kannod, Dhar, Barwani, Alirajpur and Manpur, over 3 inches in Indore City, Khargon and Jobat and sufficient everywhere except in northern districts of Gwalior. Autumn crops are being sown and weeded almost everywhere. Standing crops are in good condition in Gwalior, Indore, Bhopal and the Southern States. The probable outturn is good in Bhopal and the Southern States. Agricultural stock is generally in good condition. The fodder supply is sufficient everywhere except in Gwalior where there is insufficiency of rain. Prices are normal in Bhopal and Bagelkhand and steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been cloudy and rainy. Moderate to heavy rain was received throughout the Provinces, the heaviest fall being 7 inches in Bilaspur. Sowing of autumn crops is proceeding and germination is reported to be satisfactory. Weeding and transplantation of rice have begun in places. Fodder and water are adequate and cattle are in good condition. Variations in prices are unimportant.

Feudatory States.—All the states received rain. Sowing is in full swing and germination is good.

Bombay.—The rain fall during the week was general and beneficial. Sowing of autumn crops continues. Transplantation is progressing. Germinated seedlings are thriving except in two talukas of Larkana and Baroda each where they are suffering for want of moisture. More rain is generally needed. The fodder supply is deficient in parts of Sind, Kathiawar, Cutch, Palanpur and Baroda. Agricultural stock is generally sufficient. Cattle are in good condition except in parts of Sind, Ahmedabad and Kaira. Drinking water is inadequate in parts of Larkana and Baroda. Water for irrigation is deficient in parts of Nawabshah, Gujarat, Baroda and Kathiawar. Prices of food grains are generally steady.

The weekly report on the scarcity in Kathiawar is as follows.—The situation has been improved by the recent rain. The public health is good. There is no wandering or emaciation. Loans are being given for wells and fodder. Kitchens are being maintained in Babra, Songadh and Paliad by private charity. Gratuitous relief was given to 404 persons.

Hyderabad.—The rainfall during the week was copious in most parts and very heavy in some places. The highest falls were 8 inches 46 cents in Karimnagar and 8 inches 33 cents in Mominabad and Kandhar. Autumn crops are being sown and weeded and are in fair to good condition. Early rice lands are being prepared and sown and the crop is in good condition. Cattle disease prevails in fifteen talukas. Prices of food grains :—wheat 7½, coarse rice 7 and juar 15½ seer per rupee. Coarse rice is selling at 8½ and white juar at 14 seers per rupee in Hyderabad city. The highest price of juar in districts is 10 seers per rupee in Karimnagar and the lowest 24 seers per rupee in Bir and Adilabad.

Mysore.—The rainfall during the week was good in Kolar, Tumkur, Bangalore and Shimoga and fair to light elsewhere. The price of rice and ragi has risen in Hassan and that of rice has fallen in Chitaldrug. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are generally in good condition. Ploughing and sowing of ragi and paddy are in progress. The outturn of the harvested ragi and paddy is fair to good. Prospects of the season are good but more rain is required in Mysore. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 63 cents. Ploughing for and transplantation of rice continue. Prices of food grains are high. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was light in Madras ; fair in Sandur, Coimbatore, Tinnevelly and Travancore ; very heavy in South Canara and Banganapalli, heavy in Godavari, Kistna, Guntur, Kurnool, Cuddapah, Trichonopoly, Malabar and Cochin and good elsewhere. Standing crops are in fair to good condition generally but require more rain in parts of three districts. Harvesting of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops is proceeding in parts with outturn fair to normal generally. Sowings of paddy and dry crops are commencing, proceeding or nearing completion normally. The condition of cattle is generally good. The water-supply is sufficient in the Circars except Ganjam, in Cuddapah, Chingleput, Coimbatore, the west coast and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Pasture is insufficient in Bellary and in parts of eleven other districts and sufficient elsewhere but fodder is generally available. Prices are steady.

RESOLUTION.

Simla, the 20th July 1916.

Representations have been received by the Government of India to the effect that the fees prescribed under the Indian Companies Act (VII of 1913) for filing documents and for registration of Companies having share capital compare unfavourably with those levied under the English law, and the question of the reduction of these fees has accordingly been under consideration.

2. The registration fees chargeable in India are as follows :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
1. For registration of a company whose nominal share capital does not exceed Rs. 20,000, a fee of	40	0	0
2. For registration of a company whose nominal share capital exceeds Rs. 20,000, the above fee of forty rupees, with the following additional fees regulated according to the amount of nominal capital (that is to say).
For every 10,000 rupees of nominal share capital, or part of 10,000 rupees, after the first 20,000 rupees up to 50,000 rupees	20	0	0
For every 10,000 rupees of nominal share capital, or part of 10,000 rupees after the first 50,000 rupees up to 10,00,000 rupees	5	0	0
For every 10,000 rupees of nominal share capital, or part of 10,000 rupees, after the first 10,00,000 rupees ...	1	0	0

1. For registration of a company whose nominal share capital does not exceed £2,000	2	0	0
2. For registration of a company whose nominal share capital exceeds £2,000, the following fees, regulated according to the amount of nominal share capital (that is to say) :—
For every £1,000 of nominal share capital, or part of £1,000 up to £5,000	1	0	0
For every £1,000 of nominal share capital, or part of £1,000, after the first £5,000 up to £100,000 ...	0	5	0
For every £1,000 of nominal share capital, or part of £1,000, after the first £100,000	0	1	0

A maximum limit of Rs. 1,000 in India and of £50 in England has been fixed for such fees.

It will thus be seen that the Indian scale, if registration fees alone are taken into consideration, is approximately double the English scale except in respect of the maximum limit, where the proportion is somewhat less.

This fact has no doubt given rise to the impression that Indian Companies were more heavily taxed than in England. This, however, is very far from being the case. In England a stamp duty 5*s.* per cent. is levied on the nominal share capital of all companies having a share capital, while no corresponding duty is levied in India. It may be convenient to compare the amounts payable by an English Company with a capital of £5,000 with those payable by an Indian Company with a corresponding capital of Rs. 75,000.

The English Company pays :—

	£	s.	d.
An ad valorem registration fee	5	0	0
Stamp duty on share capital at 5 Sh. %	12	10	0
Stamp duty on Memo. and Articles of Association 10*s.* each ...	1	0	0
Total ...	18	10	0
or Rs.	277	8	0

The Indian Company pays :—

	Rs.
An ad valorem fee	115
Stamp duty on Memo. and Articles of Association ...	40
Total ...	155

For Companies with a larger share capital the proportional difference will be even greater. The Government of India accordingly consider that the registration fees do not call for any reduction.

The fee for filing documents at present charged in India is five rupees, and in England, five shillings. The Government of India consider that the Indian rate is high and they are pleased to reduce the rate to three rupees, in the case of all documents other than the memorandum or abstract required to be filed with the Registrar by a receiver, or the statement required to be filed by the liquidator in a winding up. In the case of returns of allotments prescribed under Section 104 of the Indian Companies Act 1913 (forms VI and VII published with Notification No. 1271-C., dated the 28th March 1914), the Government of India are also pleased further to reduce the rate to one per cent in cases in which the aggregate paid up value of the shares allotted does not exceed Rs. 100. These reductions have been separately notified.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the foregoing Resolution be forwarded to all Local Governments and Administrations, for information, and that it be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

C. E. LOW,
Secretary to the Government of India.

APPLICATION FOR AMENDMENT UNDER SECTION 17.

Notice is hereby given that all persons interested in opposing the following application to amend may at any time within three months of the date of this Gazette of India give notice at the Patent Office in the prescribed form No. 5 of such opposition.

2456 of 1916. H. G. Reaks, of Port Commissioner's Office, Calcutta, seeks leave to amend the specification of his application for a patent numbered as above. The proposed amendments as shown in the printed specification are as follows :—

Line 23, by inserting "in the case under illustration two in number," after "switches,"

Line 26, by inserting "which is insulated in suitable divisions under each travelling switch according to the signals required. In" after the reference letter "N,".

Line 27, by substituting "the commutator" for "which".

Line 28, by adding "If the scale of the instrument is small, the commutator, N, may be made to full size and placed adjacent to and parallel with the wire, connecting the float with the counter-weight. In this case the travelling switches, M and M^1, will be attached to the wire and not to the nut, A. They will thus move in accordance with the rise and fall of the float and being kept in contact with the commutator by springs and insulated from the wire will make the desired separate connections to each foot and fathom division, corresponding with the position of the float." after "fathom."

Line 2, by substituting "In the case under illustration all" for "All"

Line 6, by inserting "signal which may be either an illuminated sign or a" after "the"

Line 9, by substituting "supposing signals consisting of combinations of lamps being used :—" for "suppose"

Line 10, by striking out "to" after "lamp" and adding "s" to the word "represent."

Line 11, by omitting "to" after "vertical"

Line 12, by omitting "to" before "represent"

Line 13, by omitting "to" before "represent"

Line 14, by omitting "to" before "represent"

Line 15, by omitting "to" before "represent"

Line 16, by omitting "to" after "addition" and adding "s" to the word "represent"

Line 17, by omitting "to" after the word "addition"

Line 29, by adding, "or the switches may be fitted with magnetic 'blow outs'" after "divisions".

Line 14, by inserting "may be fitted to above or any tide recording instrument of suitable scale and which" after "which" and "a full or" after "on"

Line 16, by inserting "through the medium of a suitably designed commutator so as" after "lamps"

Line 17, by adding " , by means of illuminated signs or combinations of lamps" after "level"

These should be consulted before an application is made to the Controller.

3. Advice. The Patent Office cannot undertake (1) to give opinions on the interpretation of Patent Law, or on the advisability of protecting inventions and designs or on their infringement; (2) to make searches in respect of information available in the public room; (3) to recommend any particular agent; or (4) to assist in the disposal of inventions. Applicants are warned that the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, is in force in British India only, and patents granted under it do not extend to the United Kingdom or any of the British possessions. The International Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property does not include India. For information regarding patents in countries other than India applications should be made to the patent offices in the countries concerned.

4. Fees are payable in cash and must be received in the Patent Office within the time allowed by the Acts. When cheques are offered in payment of fees, it must be clearly understood that the office cannot hold itself responsible for any delay that may occur in the collection of cash on the cheques; any cheque not payable in Calcutta is subject to commission. In cases where it is not possible to have the fees handed in at the Patent Office, it is preferable to send them by money-order or postal order payable at Calcutta to the Controller of Patents and Designs, and to advise him that they have been so sent. Stamps will not be received in payment of fees.

5. Trade and property marks and names are not registered and medicines are not patented under the Indian Patents and Designs Act. There is no provision of Law in British India for their registration. Neither does this Act deal with pictures, photographs, etc., for which copyright is obtainable under the Indian Copyright Act, 1914.

6. Printed Specifications of applications, which have been accepted, are published within about three weeks after acceptance has been notified in the Gazette of India. These specifications can be purchased at the Patent Office at a uniform price of 8 annas per copy; and may be seen free of charge, together with other publications of the Patent Office, at the following places:—

FOREIGN SEA-BORNE TRADE DURING JUNE 1916.

REVIEW of the SEA-BORNE TRADE and NAVIGATION of BRITISH INDIA for the month of JUNE 1916, and for the three months ended JUNE 1916.

FOREIGN COMMERCE.

FOREIGN SEA-BORNE TRADE DURING JUNE 1916.

The trade returns of British India for June 1916, as compared with those of its immediate predecessor, show a decrease both in total imports and exports, but an increase in re-exports. The total imports of merchandise were valued at ₹11¼ crores, the exports at over ₹17 crores, and the re-exports at ₹60 lakhs. As compared with the preceding month (May 1916), the imports decreased by 10 per cent and the exports by 9 per cent, while the re-exports advanced by 9 per cent. As compared with June 1915, the imports showed an increase of 8 per cent, the exports a decrease of 3 per cent, and the re-exports an increase of 42 per cent.

The actual net excess of exports, including re-exports, over imports was ₹6,85 lakhs in May 1916, and ₹6,50 lakhs in June 1916. The statement below shows the figures of imports and exports, including re-exports, during May and June of the years 1914, 1915, and 1916, and the actual net excess of exports over imports during the same periods :—

	1914		1915		1916		Actual net excess of exports over imports

COMPARISON WITH THE IMPORTS AND EXPORTS OF THE PRECEDING MONTH (MAY 1916).

I.—Imports.

A DECREASE IN THE IMPORTS OF FOOD, DRINK, AND TOBACCO.

The imports of food, drink, and tobacco in June 1916 decreased by ₹13 lakhs as compared with May 1916. Imports of sugar, 16 D. S. and above, decreased again in June 1916 to 13,962 tons, valued at ₹45½ lakhs, from 16,128 tons, valued at ₹52⅓ lakhs, in the preceding month. Imports from Java increased to 11,786 tons from 9,343 tons in May 1916, while those from Mauritius decreased to 804 tons from 4,490 tons. In the three months ended June 1916, the imports amounted to 52,004 tons, valued at ₹1,65 lakhs, as against 62,449 tons, valued at ₹1,96 lakhs, in the corresponding period of the previous year. Imports of spices decreased in June 1916 to 7 million lbs, valued at ₹8⅔ lakhs, from nearly 16 million lbs, valued at ₹19 lakhs, in the preceding month, due mainly to reduced imports of betelnuts from the Straits Settlements and cloves from the East African Protectorate. Imports of cigarettes increased in June 1916 by nearly ₹5 lakhs, due to larger imports from the United Kingdom.

A DECREASE IN THE IMPORTS OF KEROSENE OIL, RAW SILK, AND WOOD TIMBER, AND AN INCREASE IN THE IMPORTS OF MINERAL OILS OTHER THAN KEROSENE.

The value of the imports of raw materials in June 1916, decreased by ₹3 lakhs. The imports of kerosene oil in June 1916 amounted to 2½ million gallons, valued at ₹12 lakhs, as against 3⅓ million gallons, valued at ₹19⅓ lakhs, in the preceding month ; only 960,000 gallons were imported in June 1916 from the United States of America as against nearly 2½ million gallons in May 1916. Imports from the Straits Settlements and Borneo increased. Mineral oils other than kerosene increased to 3⅓ million gallons from 1½ million gallons in the preceding month. Imports of raw silk decreased in June 1916 to 51,827 lbs, valued at nearly ₹2½ lakhs, from 125,312 lbs, valued at ₹7 lakhs, in May, due entirely to reduced imports from China. Imports of wood timber also decreased by ₹4½ lakhs in June 1916.

A DECREASE IN THE IMPORTS OF MANUFACTURED ARTICLES.

The value of the imports of manufactured articles decreased in June 1916 by ₹1,06½ lakhs. The imports of cotton piecegoods, including fents, in June 1916, decreased to nearly 179 million yards, valued at ₹3,82 lakhs, from 203 million yards, valued at ₹4,29½ lakhs, in the preceding month, due mainly to the reduced imports of grey goods, which decreased by 27 million yards. In the three months ended June 1916, the imports of cotton piecegoods amounted to 559 million yards, valued at ₹11⅔ crores, as against 567 million yards, valued at ₹9 crores, in the corresponding period of the previous year. Imports of iron or steel, sheets and plates in June 1916 increased by ₹12⅔ lakhs, due mainly to the increased imports of tinned sheets from the United States of America. Railway plant and rolling-stock decreased by ₹19 lakhs, due to there being practically no imports in June 1916 of rails, chairs, and fish plates of steel or iron, only ₹3,000 worth being imported against ₹15¾ lakhs worth in the preceding month.

II.—Exports.

AN INCREASE IN THE EXPORTS OF WHEAT AND A DECREASE IN THE EXPORTS OF RICE.

Exports of food, drink, and tobacco in June 1916 increased by ₹40 lakhs as compared with the preceding month.

Rice not in the husk.

Exports of rice, not in the husk, decreased in June 1916 to 101,056 tons, valued at ₹1,19 lakhs, from 132,823 tons, valued at ₹1,55 lakhs, in May 1916. The United Kingdom took 18,038 tons, in June 1916, as against 35,063 tons, in the preceding month ;

Ceylon 16,643 tons as against 29,863 tons; the Straits Settlements 21,569 tons as against 18,700 tons; and Mauritius and Dependencies 16,421 tons as against 6,732 tons. There were practically no shipments to the continent of Europe. In the three months ended June 1916, the exports amounted to 383,623 tons, valued at ₹4,40½ lakhs, as against 445,541 tons, valued at ₹4,46⅝ lakhs, in the corresponding period of the previous year. Exports of wheat on private account amounted in June 1916 to 41,909 tons, valued at ₹48 lakhs, as against 2,094 tons, valued at ₹2½ lakhs, in the preceding month. France and Italy together took nearly 25,500 tons. There were no exports on Government account in June 1916. In the three months ended June 1916, the exports of wheat on private and Government account amounted to 47,187 tons as against 407,495 tons in the corresponding period of the previous year.

AN INCREASE IN THE EXPORTS OF TEA TO THE UNITED KINGDOM.

Shipments of tea in June 1916 increased to nearly 13 million lbs, valued at ₹80⅝ lakhs, from 8⅓ million lbs, valued at ₹51 lakhs, in the preceding month, due to larger shipments to the United Kingdom, which took nearly 11½ million lbs in June 1916 as against 4½ million lbs in May.

Tea

AN INCREASE IN THE EXPORTS OF RAW COTTON AND WOOL AND A DECREASE IN THE EXPORTS OF RAW HIDES AND SKINS.

The value of the exports of raw materials decreased by ₹91 lakhs. The marginal table shows the exports of raw cotton during May and June 1916 to the principal importing countries. The increase in the exports in June 1916 was due entirely to larger shipments to Japan. In the three months ended June 1916, the exports amounted to 128,840 tons, valued at ₹9,10 lakhs, as against 149,696 tons, valued at ₹7,28 lakhs, in the corresponding period of the previous year. Shipments of raw jute in June 1916 decreased to 15,347 tons, valued at ₹39½ lakhs, as against 31,567 tons, valued at ₹96½ lakhs, in the preceding month, due to reduced shipments to the United Kingdom and the United States of America, the latter taking only 4,678 tons in June 1916 as against 15,683 tons in May 1916. In the three months ended June 1916, the exports amounted to 90,965 tons, valued at ₹2,72½ lakhs, as against 127,367 tons, valued at ₹2,75 lakhs, in the corresponding period of the previous year.

Raw wool

Shipments of raw wool increased in June 1916 to over 7 million lbs, valued at ₹52 lakhs, from 4⅔ million lbs, valued at ₹37 lakhs, in the preceding month, due to larger shipments to the United Kingdom.

Exports of raw hides decreased in June 1916 to 3,649 tons, valued at ₹59¼ lakhs, from 7,689 tons, valued at ₹1,19⅘ lakhs, in the preceding month. The

Raw hides

United States of America took 2,626 tons as against 6,377 tons in May 1916. Shipments of raw skins also decreased in June 1916 to 1,947 tons from 2,803 tons in the preceding month, due to smaller exports to the United States of America. The quantity of seeds exported increased in June 1916 to 89,714 tons from 88,503 tons in the preceding month, while the value decreased to

Seeds

₹1,42½ lakhs from ₹1,58 lakhs. There were increased shipments of groundnuts to France and linseed to the United Kingdom, while exports of castor seed and sesamum seed decreased heavily.

A DECREASE IN THE EXPORTS OF MANUFACTURED ARTICLES.

Exports of manufactured articles decreased by ₹1,18 lakhs. Exports of jute gunny bags decreased in June 1916 to 57 millions in number, valued at ₹1,94½ lakhs, from 60 millions, valued at ₹1,96 lakhs, in the preceding month.

Jute gunny bags

The marginal table shows the number of hessian and sacking bags exported to the United Kingdom, Russia, France, the United States of America, and Chile in May and June 1916. There were increased shipments to the United Kingdom and Russia, while the United States of America and Chile reduced their demands. The West Indies took nearly 5 millions of bags as against one million in the preceding month. The exports of gunny bags in the three months ended June 1916 amounted to over 170 millions in number, valued at ₹5,53 lakhs, as against 1,35¾ millions, valued at nearly ₹3,70 lakhs, in the corresponding period of the previous year.

Shipments of gunny cloth in June 1916, decreased to 95½ million yards, valued at nearly ₹1,46 lakhs, from 111¾ million yards, valued at ₹1,91⅔ lakhs, in the preceding month. The marginal table shows the shipments of gunny cloth to the United Kingdom, Russia, Canada, and the United States of America during May and June 1916. The United Kingdom increased her demands in June, while the exports to Russia and the United States of America decreased considerably. Canada also reduced her demands. In the three months ended June 1916, the exports amounted to 271 million yards, valued at ₹4,54½ lakhs, as against 293 million yards, valued at ₹3,60 lakhs, in the corresponding period of the previous year. The value of the exports of cotton manufactures increased in June 1916 to ₹86¼ lakhs from ₹81⅔ lakhs in the preceding month.

The customs duty figures are an index to the volume of the import trade alone, as under exports jute, rice, and tea only are now subject to duty. In the three months ended June 1916, the import duties increased to ₹2,17½ lakhs from ₹1,71⅗ lakhs in the three months ended June 1915 but the export duty on rice declined to ₹18¼ lakhs from ₹22¾ lakhs. The new export duty levied on raw jute amounted to ₹7,98,000, on jute manufactures to ₹6,77,000, and on tea to ₹4,78,000 in the three months April to June 1916. The total customs revenue, excluding salt but including excise duty on cotton goods and land customs, amounted to ₹2,67⅔ lakhs in the three months ended June 1916, as against over ₹2,04⅛ lakhs in the corresponding period of last year.

Shipping.

The following table shows the number and tonnage of vessels, which entered and cleared with cargoes at ports in British India during June 1916, as compared with May 1916, June 1915, and June 1914:—

* The Indian Tariff (Amendment) Act, IV of 1916, came into force with effect from 1st March 1916.
(a) Included with other articles.

In the month of June 1916, there were 194 arrivals * and 290 sailings † in and from India. As regards tonnage, if a comparison be made with the corresponding month of 1914, before the war broke out, it will be seen that there is a decrease in the tonnage of vessels cleared of 250,624 tons or 37 per cent. The clearances from Bengal in June 1916 showed a decrease of 16 per cent as compared with June 1914; Bombay of 37 per cent; Sind of 53 per cent; Madras of 38 per cent; and Burma of 40 per cent. The decrease in entries amounted to 203,771 tons or 41 per cent.

The shipping clearances with cargoes in foreign trade from the ports of British India in the three months, April to June 1916, as compared with the corresponding period of 1914, i.e., before the war broke out, show the present position of the freight market as follows :—

	Tonnage clearances in the three months, April to June.
	1914 Peace conditions.	1916 War conditions.
British ships	1,007,455	910,655
Foreign ships	963,759	506,949
Total .	1,971,214	1,417,604

Under war conditions, the total tonnage clearances have declined 28 per cent. Under peace conditions, the British tonnage was 51 per cent and foreign tonnage 49 per cent of the total, while under war conditions, the British tonnage is 64 per cent and foreign tonnage 36 per cent.

Railway Statistics.

Railway statistics, like the import and export statistics above, are a valuable indication of the general movement of trade throughout the country, and show that the earnings from 1st April to 1st July 1916 were ₹17,47 lakhs as against ₹16,58 lakhs in the corresponding period of 1915 or an increase of ₹89 lakhs.

* The details were as follows :—Bengal 23, Bombay 80, Sind 16, Madras 100, and Burma 25.

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN SELECTED ARTICLES IN MAY 1916.

The object of the tables below is to show the quantities of the principal staples of agricultural produce imported from the various provinces, etc., and from foreign countries into the ports of Calcutta, Bombay, Karachi, and the Madras ports during the month of May 1916, and for the two months April to May 1916, as compared with the corresponding periods of 1915. The statistics include foreign sea-borne and coasting trade as well as inland (rail and river-borne) trade. They have been furnished by Collectors of Customs, Steamer Companies, Railway Audit Officers, the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, etc.

The most noticeable feature of the Returns for May 1916 and for the two months ended May 1916 is the decrease in the imports into the ports of wheat, jute, cotton, rice, tea, gram and pulse and on the other hand the increase in the import of linseed.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN MAY 1915 AND 1916.

It will be seen from Table I, that the imports by rail, river and sea in May 1916, as against the corresponding month of 1915 show (in round numbers) a decrease of—

74 per cent in wheat (excluding wheat flour).
(86,900 tons as against 335,600 tons last year.)

72 per cent in jute.
(92,600 bales as against 335,900 bales last year.)

21 per cent in raw cotton.
(289,500 bales as against 368,400 bales last year.)

17 per cent in gram and pulse.
(40,100 tons as against 48,700 tons last year.)

12 per cent in rice (including paddy).
(106,700 tons as against 121,700 tons last year.)

11 per cent in tea.
(9,958,800 lbs. as against 11,156,300 lbs. last year.)

1 per cent in rape and mustard seed.
(15,400 tons as against 15,600 tons last year.)

The imports of linseed by rail, river and sea into ports show an increase of 21 per cent (59,300 tons as against 48,800 tons last year) due mainly to larger exports from Bihar and Orissa and the United Provinces.

NOTE.—400 lbs. are equivalent to 1 bale of cotton or jute
82⅔ lbs. are equivalent to 1 maund
1 maund of paddy is taken as equivalent to 25 seers of rice

It will be seen from Table IV (wheat, excluding wheat flour) that the principal sources of the imports in May 1915 were the Punjab, the United Provinces, the Central Provinces and Berar, Sind and British Baluchistan and Rajputana and Central India. Table XI shows the exports out of India of wheat (including wheat flour) month by month during the last five years.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN TWO MONTHS ENDING MAY 1915 AND 1916.

The two months' figures in table I show (in round numbers) a decrease of-

68 per cent in wheat (excluding wheat flour).
(139,000 tons as against 435,900 tons last year.)

63 per cent in jute.
(291,400 bales as against 788,300 bales last year.)

38 per cent in raw cotton.
(621,300 bales as against 997,800 bales last year.)

33 per cent in rice (including paddy.)
(226,300 tons as against 338,600 tons last year.)

7 per cent in tea.
(12,365,000 lbs. as against 13,263,400 lbs. last year.)

3 per cent in gram and pulse.
(92,100 tons as against 95,400 tons last year.)

Imports of linseed into ports show an increase of [illegible] per cent (106,500 tons as against 75,700 tons last year) mainly on account of larger exports from Bihar and Orissa and the United Provinces. The increase of 34 per cent (55,200 tons as against 41,200 tons last year) in rape and mustard seed is accounted for by larger exports from up country into the ports mainly from the United Provinces.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN MAY 1916 AS COMPARED WITH THE PREVIOUS MONTH.

As compared with April 1916, the imports in May 1916 into the ports referred to above show (in round numbers) an increase of—

314 per cent in tea.
(9,958,800 lbs. as against 2,406,200 lbs. previous month.)

67 per cent in wheat (excluding wheat flour).
(86,900 tons as against 52,000 tons previous month.)

26 per cent in linseed.
(59,300 tons as against 47,100 tons previous month.)

and a decrease of—

61 per cent in rape and mustard seed.
(15,400 tons as against 39,800 tons previous month.)

53 per cent in jute.
(92,600 bales as against 198,800 bales previous month.)

23 per cent in gram and pulse.
(40,000 tons as against 52,000 tons previous month.)

13 per cent in raw cotton.
(289,500 bales as against 331,900 bales previous month.)

11 per cent in rice (including paddy).
(106,700 tons as against 119,600 tons previous month.)

The Statistics for May 1915 and 1916, as also for the two months ending May 1915 and 1916, together with those for April and May 1916 are summarised below :—

NOTE.—400 lbs. are equivalent to 1 bale of jute

By "Calcutta" is meant the town of Calcutta with Howrah and the Kidderpore Docks. The imports exclude, therefore, imports into those jute mills which are outside this area. Such mills form the large majority of the total mills manufacturing jute.

FIELD OPERATIONS.

No. 839.—A despatch from General Sir J. E. Nixon, K.C.B., A.-D.-C.—General, Commanding Indian Expeditionary Force "D", on the operations at Bushire and Dilwar, July—September, 1915, is published for general information.

No. 168-9-O., dated 15th January 1916.

From—GENERAL SIR JOHN NIXON, K.C.B., A.-D.-C., General, Commanding Indian Expeditionary Force "D",

To—The Chief of the General Staff, Army Headquarters, India.

SIR,

I have the honour to furnish a report on operations conducted at Bushire and in its vicinity between July and September 1915.

2. On July 12th, 1915, a force of Tangistani tribesmen, at the instigation of enemy agents in Persia, made an unprovoked attack on the British detachment at Bushire.

3. The attack was repulsed, but two British Officers—(Major E. H. Oliphant, 96th Berar Infantry, and Captain J. G. L. Ranking, Assistant Political Officer)—and one sepoy were killed, and two sepoys wounded.

4. As the Persian Government failed to make reparation for the hostile action of the Tangistanis, His Majesty's Government ordered forcible measures to be taken.

5. It was decided that the port and town of Bushire should be seized and occupied by a naval and military force until the Persian Government complied with our demands.

6. Further, as a punishment to the tribesmen implicated in the incident of July 12th, orders were issued for a naval and military force to attack Dilwar, a fortified village which was the headquarters of the hostile Tangistanis.

7. On August 8th, Bushire was occupied by a British force without opposition.

8. A naval squadron under the command of Captain D. St. A. Wake, R.N., arrived off Dilwar on August 10th, but weather conditions were unfavourable for landing operations until August 13th. On that day, a mixed force composed of troops and a naval landing party, under the command of Major C. E. H. Wintle, successfully disembarked on the beach in the face of opposition by the Tangistanis.

The operation was assisted by the naval guns which made excellent practice and drove the enemy inland.

9. Several actions took place with the tribesmen on August 14th and 15th. Stiff opposition was encountered and the heat was great. As a result of the operations Dilwar fort and village were destroyed and heavy losses were inflicted on the Tangistanis by rifle and machine gun fire, also by shell fire from the ships. Our casualties were comparatively small.

10. The object of the expedition having been successfully accomplished, the force was re-embarked, without interference by the enemy, on the night of August 15th-16th.

11. The combined naval and military expedition against Dilwar is an excellent example of co-operation between the two Services, and it was very creditably carried out by all concerned.

12. On the eastern side of Bushire, a low lying sandy tract joins the "island" to the mainland. This is known as the "Mashileh". It is about 7 miles across to the mainland and the same distance divides the sea which flanks the Mashileh on the north and south. During high tides it is liable to inundation. Along the edge of Bushire Island, overlooking the Mashileh, extends a line of cliffs, much intersected by nullahs and broken ground.

13. During the period under report the British garrison at Bushire maintained an outpost line for the protection of the northern part of the island from attack from the mainland. The eastern section of the outposts lay along the line of cliffs; the southern section extended across the island to the sea on the west side of the island.

14. Tangistani raiding parties frequently crossed the Mashileh at night and attempted to break through the outpost line. Early in September it was reported that they intended to make an attack in force.

15. At daybreak on September 9th a patrol from the outposts located a party of enemy in the nullahs at the edge of the Mashileh, at a spot where the Tangistanis had collected a strong force on a previous occasion.

16. On receiving this report, Brigadier-General H. T. Brooking, C.B., commanding the British garrison, immediately made dispositions to attack the enemy in front and to turn their left flank, and for the cavalry to move out on the Mashileh on their line of retreat.

17. After several hours' fighting, the turning attack, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Lane, 96th Berar Infantry, charged with the bayonet. The enemy, some 600 strong, broke and fled across the Mashileh. The cavalry then charged them in the open, and our guns shelled them across the Mashileh until they were out of range.

18. Throughout the period of his command at Bushire, General Brooking dealt with an awkward situation in a most capable manner. On the occasion of the action of September 9th, thanks to his energetic and skilful command, the Tangistanis were defeated and lost heavily before they had time to deliver a serious attack.

19. In this action, the bravery and endurance of the troops in most trying heat which claimed several victims, was most commendable.

A landing party of the Royal Navy afforded valuable assistance.

The charge by a squadron of the 16th Cavalry, led by Major W. H. Pennington, 12th Cavalry, in which both British officers and half of the Indian officers lost their lives, was a most gallant affair.

20. I append a list of names of those specially brought to notice in connection with the operations at Bushire and Dilwar.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

JOHN NIXON, General,

Commanding Indian Expeditionary Force "D".

SCHEDULES.

CHAPTER 104.

AN ACT TO MAKE PROVISION WITH RESPECT TO MILITARY SERVICE IN CONNEXION WITH THE PRESENT WAR.

[27th January, 1916.]

BE it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :—

Obligation of unmarried men to serve.

1. (1) Every male British subject who—

(a) on the fifteenth day of August nineteen hundred and fifteen, was ordinarily resident in Great Britain, and had attained the age of eighteen years and had not attained the age of forty-one years ; and

(b) on the second day of November nineteen hundred and fifteen was unmarried or was a widower without any child dependent on him ;

shall, unless he either is within the exceptions set out in the First Schedule to this Act, or has attained the age of forty-one years before the appointed date, be deemed as from the appointed date to have been duly enlisted in His Majesty's regular forces for general service with the colours or in the reserve for the period of the war, and to have been forthwith transferred to the reserve.

(2) The Army Act (with the exception of section ninety-six thereof, which relates to the claim of masters to apprentices) and the Reserve Forces Acts, 1882 to 1907, and any orders and regulations made thereunder, shall apply accordingly to any man who is so deemed to have been enlisted and transferred to the reserve ; and if any question arises in any legal proceeding under any of those Acts, orders, or regulations whether any man is a man who is under this section deemed to have been enlisted and transferred to the reserve or not, the court may require the man to give evidence on the question, and if satisfactory evidence is not given to the contrary the man shall be deemed to have been so enlisted and transferred.:

Provided that—

(a) where the question, whether a man is a man who, under this section is deemed to have been enlisted and transferred to the reserve or not, is raised on proceedings in respect of an offence alleged to have been committed by the man as a member of the reserve whilst he was a member of the reserve in pursuance of the transfer under this Act, or in respect of any alleged failure to comply with any order calling him up from the reserve for permanent service, that question shall be decided only on proceedings before a civil court ; and

(b) no such proceedings shall be instituted except during the continuance of the present war and a period of six months thereafter ; and

(c) a man who is deemed to have been enlisted and transferred to the reserve under this section shall not be liable to suffer death in respect of failure to obey an order calling him up from the reserve for permanent service.

45 & 46 Vict. c. 48. (3) Provision shall be made under section twenty of the Reserve Forces Act, 1882, for information being obtained from men who are transferred to the reserve under this section as to preference for naval service, and the Admiralty shall have the first call on such men in case their services are needed for that purpose.

(4) This section shall apply to any male British subject who, since the fifteenth day of August nineteen hundred and fifteen, has become or hereafter becomes ordinarily resident in Great Britain in the same manner as it applies to a male British subject who was ordinarily resident in Great Britain on the fifteenth day of August nineteen hundred and fifteen, with the substitution in the case of a man becoming so resident after the appointed date of the thirtieth day after he has become so resident for the appointed date.

Certificates of exemption.

2. (1) An application may be made at any time before the appointed date to the Local Tribunal established under this Act by or in respect of any man for the issue to him of a certificate of exemption from the provisions of this Act—

(a) on the ground that it is expedient in the national interests that he should, instead of being employed in military service, be engaged in other work in which he is habitually engaged or in which he wishes to be engaged or, if he is being educated or trained for any work, that he should continue to be so educated or trained ; or

(b) on the ground that serious hardship would ensue, if the man were called up for Army Service, owing to his exceptional financial or business obligations or domestic position ; or

(c) on the ground of ill-health or infirmity ; or

(d) on the ground of a conscientious objection to the undertaking of combatant service ; and the Local Tribunal, if they consider the grounds of the application established, shall grant such a certificate.

The Local Tribunal may allow an application to be made after the appointed date in any case in which it is shown to their satisfaction that the failure to make the application within the required time has arisen owing to the absence of the applicant abroad, or owing to any other cause which appears to the Tribunal to afford a reasonable ground for allowing the application to be so made.

(2) Certificates of exemption from the provisions of this Act may also be granted by any Government Department, after consultation with the Army Council, to men, or classes or bodies of men, in the service or employment of that Department, or, in cases where it appears to the department that certificates can be more conveniently granted by the department than by the Local Tribunal, to men or classes or bodies of men who are employed or engaged or qualified for employment or engagement in any work which is certified by the Department to be work of national importance and whose exemption comes within the sphere of the Department.

If any question arises whether any person or body of persons is to be treated as a Government Department, or as a separate Government Department, for the purpose of this provision, or whether any exemption comes within the sphere of one Department or another, the question shall be referred to the Treasury, and the decision of the Treasury thereon shall be final for the purposes of this section.

Where a certificate is granted by a Government Department to a class or body of men, regulations made under this Act with respect to the constitution, functions and procedure of Local Tribunals may provide for the grant of individual certificates to men belonging to that body or class by Local Tribunals in such cases and subject to such provisions as may be prescribed by the regulations.

(3) Any certificate of exemption may be absolute, conditional, or temporary, as the authority by whom it was granted think best suited to the case, and also in the case of an application on conscientious grounds, may take the form of an exemption from combatant service only, or may be conditional on the applicant being engaged in some work which in the opinion of the Tribunal dealing with the case is of national importance :

Provided that a certificate granted on the ground of the continuance of education or training, or on the ground of exceptional financial or business obligations or domestic position, shall be a conditional or temporary certificate only.

No certificate of exemption shall be conditional upon a person to whom it is granted continuing in or entering into employment under any specified employer or in any specified place or establishment.

(4) Where a conditional certificate is granted the conditions upon which it is granted shall be stated on the certificate.

(5) Any Government Department may direct that any certificates granted by or on behalf of that Department before the appointed date as to employment on work for war purposes may be treated as certificates of exemption for the purposes of this Act.

(6) Where a certificate of exemption is destroyed, missing, or defaced, the authority by whom it was granted shall, upon the application of the man to whom it was granted and upon payment of a fee of a shilling, issue a duplicate of the certificate to him.

(7) The Local Tribunal, Appeal Tribunal, and Central Tribunal shall be constituted in accordance with the provisions of the Second Schedule to this Act, and any decision of the Local Tribunal or Appeal Tribunal shall be subject to appeal as provided in that Schedule.

Supplemental provisions as to certificates of exemption.

3. (1) A certificate of exemption may be reviewed or renewed at any time by the Local Tribunal or the Government Department, as may be directed by regulations made under this Act with respect to the constitution, functions and procedure of Local Tribunals, on the application either of the holder of the certificate or of any person generally or specially authorised for the purpose by the Army Council, and may be withdrawn or varied if the authority by whom the certificate is reviewed are of opinion that, in the circumstances of the case, the certificate should be withdrawn or varied.

(2) It shall be the duty of any man holding a conditional certificate, if the conditions on which the certificate was granted are no longer satisfied, to give notice to the authority mentioned in the certificate that the conditions are no longer satisfied; and if he fails without reasonable cause or excuse to do so, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds.

(3) Where a certificate of exemption ceases to be in force owing to the withdrawal of the certificate or the failure to comply with the conditions on which the certificate was granted or the expiration of the time for which the certificate was granted, the man to whom the certificate was granted shall, as from the expiration of two months after the date on which the certificate so ceases to be in force, be deemed to have been enlisted and transferred to the reserve in the same manner as if no such certificate had been granted unless in the meantime the man has obtained a renewal of his certificate.

(4) If for the purpose of obtaining exemption for himself or any other person, or for the purpose of obtaining the renewal, variation, or withdrawal of a certificate of exemption, any person makes any false statement or false representation, he shall be liable on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months with or without hard labour.

(5) Where an application has been made by or in respect of any man for a certificate of exemption or for a renewal of such a certificate, he shall not be called up for service with the colours until the application has been finally disposed of.

Short title and commencement.

4. This Act may be cited as the Military Service Act, 1916, and shall come into operation on such day as His Majesty may fix by proclamation, not being more than fourteen days after the passing thereof.

The appointed date for the purposes of this Act shall be the twenty-first day after the day on which this Act comes into operation.

SCHEDULES.

FIRST SCHEDULE.

EXCEPTIONS.

Section 1 (1).

1. Men ordinarily resident in His Majesty's Dominions abroad, or resident in Great Britain for the purpose only of their education or for some other special purpose.

2. Members of His Majesty's regular or reserve forces, or of the forces raised by the Governments of His Majesty's Dominions, and members of the Territorial Force who are liable for foreign service or who are, in the opinion of the Army Council, not suited for foreign service.

3. Men serving in the Navy, or the Royal Marines, or who, though not serving in the Navy or Royal Marines, are recommended for exception by the Admiralty.

4. Men in holy orders or regular ministers of any religious denomination.

5. Men who have left or been discharged from the naval or military service of the Crown in consequence of disablement or ill-health (including officers who have ceased to hold a commission in consequence of disablement or ill-health), and, subject to any provision which may hereafter be made by Parliament, men who have been discharged from the naval or military service of the Crown on the termination of their period of service.

6. Men who hold a certificate of exemption under this Act for the time being in force (other than a certificate of exemption from combatant service only), or who have offered themselves for enlistment and been rejected since the fourteenth day of August nineteen hundred and fifteen.

SECOND SCHEDULE.

CONSTITUTION OF TRIBUNALS.

s 2 (7) 1. There shall be a Local Tribunal for each local registration district under the National Registration Act, 1915, in Great Britain, or for any division of any such district which may be adopted for the purpose by the registration authority of the district, consisting of such persons, not less than five and not exceeding twenty-five in number, as may be appointed for the purpose by that authority.

2. There shall be Appeal Tribunals, acting within such areas as His Majesty may appoint, consisting of such persons as may be appointed for the purpose by His Majesty.

3. Tribunals may act through committees appointed by them, consisting of members of the tribunal.

4. There shall be a Central Tribunal for Great Britain consisting of such persons as may be appointed for the purpose by His Majesty.

5. His Majesty by Order in Council make regulations with respect to the constitution, functions and procedure of the local Tribunals, the Appeal Tribunals and the Central Tribunal; and, so far as provision is not made for procedure by those regulations, the procedure of the tribunal shall be such as may be determined by the tribunal.

Regulations made under this provision shall contain instructions to the Local and Appeal Tribunals given with a view to securing uniformity of decision and practice amongst the several tribunals.

Any Order in Council under this provision may be revoked or varied by any subsequent Order in Council and any regulations made under any such Order shall, as soon as may be, be presented to Parliament.

6. If any difficulty arises with respect to the constitution of Local Tribunals, or otherwise in relation to the operation of this Act with respect to Local Tribunals, the Local Government Board, or, as respects Scotland, the Secretary for Scotland, may make any appointment and do anything which appears to them necessary or expedient for the establishment of those tribunals or for securing the full operation of this Act with respect to those tribunals.

APPEAL.

1. Any person aggrieved by the decision of a Local Tribunal, and any person generally or specially authorised to appeal from the decision of that tribunal by the Army Council, may appeal against the decision of a Local Tribunal to the Appeal Tribunal of the area.

2. Any person aggrieved by the decision of an Appeal Tribunal, and any person generally or specially authorised to appeal from the decision of that tribunal by the Army Council, may, by leave of the Appeal Tribunal, appeal to the Central Tribunal.

2. NAVAL PRIZE (PROCEDURE) ACT, 1916.

(6 GEO. 5, CH. 2.)

AN ACT TO AMEND THE LAW AS TO THE JURISDICTION OF PRIZE COURTS IN THE CASE OF PROCEEDINGS AGAINST PERSONS IN HIS MAJESTY'S NAVAL SERVICE OR IN THE EMPLOYMENT OF THE ADMIRALTY, AND AS TO THE TRANSFER OF PROCEEDINGS IN PRIZE.

[2nd March 1916.]

BE it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :—

Proceedings in Prize Courts against naval officers, &c.

1. So much of section fifty-one of the Naval Prize Act, 1864, as provides that actions and proceedings against any person in His Majesty's Naval service or in the employment of the Admiralty shall not be brought or instituted elsewhere than in the United Kingdom shall, so far as not already repealed by the Public Authorities Protection Act, 1893, be repealed, and such repeal shall take effect as from the fourth day of August, nineteen hundred and fourteen. 27 & 28 Vict. c. 25. 56 & 57 Vict. c. 61.

Extension of powers to transfer proceedings in Prize Courts.

2. Section one of the Prize Courts Act, 1915 (which relates to the transfer of proceedings against a ship or cargo from one prize court to another), shall be extended so as to apply, with the necessary modifications, to all proceedings pending at any time in a prize court, whether or not the proceedings are against any ship or cargo : 5 & 6 Geo. 5. c. 57.

Provided that where the proceedings are against a person in the service of His Majesty, or of the Government of any part of His Majesty's Dominions, or of any Government department, the court shall (except in the case of proceedings in the High Court of Justice in England) on the application of the proper officer of the Crown, make an order transferring the proceedings to another prize court, and the said section one, as amended by this section, shall have effect accordingly.

Short title.

3. This Act may be cited as the Naval Prize (Procedure) Act, 1916, and the Naval Prize Acts, 1864 to 1915, and this Act may be cited together as the Naval Prize Acts, 1864 to 1916.

3. IMPERIAL INSTITUTE (MANAGEMENT) ACT, 1916.

(6 GEO. 5, CH. 8.)

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR TRANSFERRING THE MANAGEMENT OF THE IMPERIAL INSTITUTE FROM THE BOARD OF TRADE TO THE COLONIAL OFFICE, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES CONNECTED THEREWITH.

[19th April 1916.]

WHEREAS by the Imperial Institute (Transfer) Act, 1902 (herein-after referred to as the "principal Act"), the Imperial Institute was placed under the management of the Board of Trade, and it is expedient to transfer the management thereof to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and to make such other provisions in connection therewith as are contained in this Act : 2 Edw. 7. c. cxxix.

Be it therefore enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :

Transfer from Board of Trade to Colonial Office of management of Imperial Institute.

1. (1) All property, real or personal, and all rights or obligations, and all debts or liabilities, which were transferred to the Board of Trade under the principal Act or which have become the property, rights, obligations, debts or liabilities of the Board of Trade in pursuance of that Act, shall become the property, rights, obligations, debts, or liabilities of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and the Secretary of State for the Colonies for the time being shall have any powers necessary to enable him to hold any such property.

2. Sections three and seven of the principal Act (which relate to the application of property and to powers of management) shall have effect as if the Secretary of State for the Colonies were substituted for the Board of Trade, and as if property transferred to the Secretary of State for the Colonies under this Act were substituted for property transferred to the Board of Trade under that Act.

(3) The Secretary of State for the Colonies shall be substituted for the Board of Trade in sections four and five and in subsection (3) of section nine of the principal Act (which relate to the Imperial Institute Building and the Endowment Fund, and to the Imperial Institute Trustees).

(4) The Advisory Committee appointed under section eight of the principal Act shall be abolished, and there shall be established for the purpose of carrying on the management of the Imperial Institute under the Secretary of State for the Colonies an Executive Council constituted in accordance with the provisions of the schedule to this Act.

Subsections (1) and (2) of section eight of, and the Third Schedule to, the principal Act are hereby repealed, and the Executive Council shall be substituted for the Advisory Committee in section five, in subsection (3) of section eight, and in subsection (3) of section nine of the principal Act.

Short title.

2. This Act may be cited as the Imperial Institute (Management) Act, 1916.

SCHEDULE.

1. The Executive Council shall consist of twenty-five members, appointed as follows :—

By the Board of Trade	Two
By the Secretary of State for India	Two
By the President of the Board of Agriculture and Fisheries	One
By the Government of India	One
By the Government of the Dominion of Canada	One
By the Government of the Commonwealth of Australia	One
By the Government of the Union of South Africa	One
By the Government of the Dominion of New Zealand	One
By the Government of Newfoundland	One
By the Secretary of State for the Colonies	Fourteen.

2. The term of office of a member of the Executive Council shall be three years.

3. The members of the Executive Council shall retire on the expiration of their term of office, and their offices shall be filled by fresh appointments in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this Schedule.

4. A casual vacancy occurring in the office of any member of the Executive Council by death, resignation, or otherwise, shall be filled by appointment in manner directed by the foregoing provisions of this Schedule as respects the member whose office is vacant ; but the member so appointed shall hold office only so long as the member whose office is vacant would have held office.

5. A retiring member may be re-appointed.

6. The Executive Council may act notwithstanding any vacancy in their number.

NAVAL DISCIPLINE (DELEGATION OF POWERS) ACT, 1916.

[6 AND 7 GEO. 5, CH. 17.]

CHAPTER 17.

AN ACT TO AMEND THE NAVAL DISCIPLINE ACT WITH RESPECT TO THE POWERS AND DUTIES OF THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE GRAND FLEET DURING THE PRESENT WAR.

[1st June 1916.]

BE it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :—

Power of Commander-in-Chief to delegate his powers in relation to courts-martial, etc.

1.—(1) During the present war it shall be lawful for the Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Fleet, when so authorised by the Admiralty, to delegate to the several vice-admirals in command of squadrons forming part of that fleet the power to exercise, in relation to the officers and men of ships which for the time being may for the purposes of this section be placed under the orders of the vice-admiral, all or any of the powers and duties conferred or imposed on the Commander-in-Chief by or under the Naval Discipline Act in relation to courts-martial or disciplinary courts or the carrying out of sentences passed thereat, and where such powers and duties have been so delegated then notwithstanding anything in the Naval Discipline Act or in any General Orders issued under that Act—

(a) any such vice-admiral shall be able to exercise the powers so delegated notwithstanding that the Commander-in-Chief or any officer superior in rank to himself may be present ;

(b) the officers summoned to sit on a court-martial or disciplinary court ordered by any such vice-admiral shall (except in cases where the Commander-in-Chief otherwise directs) be officers of ships so placed under the command of the vice-admiral as aforesaid ;

(c) the report of the proceedings of a court-martial or disciplinary court ordered by such vice-admiral in pursuance of the powers delegated to him shall be sent to that vice-admiral for transmission to the Secretary of the Admiralty.

(2) The Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Fleet may from time to time place under the orders of a vice-admiral for the purposes of this section any ships whether belonging to the squadron under the command of that vice-admiral or not.

Short title.

2. This Act may be cited as the Naval Discipline (Delegation of Powers) Act, 1916.

CHAPTER 15.

AN ACT TO MAKE FURTHER PROVISION WITH RESPECT TO MILITARY SERVICE DURING THE PRESENT WAR. [25th May 1916.]

BE it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :—

Extension and continued operation of Military Service Act, 1916.

1.—(1) Every male British subject who has at any time since the fourteenth day of August nineteen hundred and fifteen been, or for the time being is, ordinarily resident in Great Britain, and who for the time being has attained the age of eighteen years and has not attained the age of forty-one years, shall, unless he either is for the time being within the exceptions set out in the First Schedule to the Military Service Act, 1916 (in this Act referred to as the principal Act), as amended by this Act or any subsequent enactment, or has attained the age of forty-one years before the appointed date, be deemed as from the appointed date to have been duly enlisted in His Majesty's regular forces for general service with the colours or in the reserve for the period of the war, and to have been forthwith transferred to the reserve : 5 & 6 G. 5. c. 10

Provided that steps shall be taken to prevent so far as possible the sending of men to serve abroad before they attain the age of nineteen.

The appointed date shall, as respects men who come within the operation of this section on the passing of this Act, be the thirtieth day after the date of the passing of this Act, and, as respects men who come within the operation of this section after the passing of this Act, be the thirtieth day after the date on which they so come within the operation of this section.

(2) All the provisions of the principal Act, as amended by this Act, with the exception of those defining the appointed date, shall, so far as applicable, extend to men to whom this section applies in the same manner as to men to whom section one of that Act applied.

(3) Subsection (4) of section one of the principal Act is hereby repealed.

44 & 45 Vict. c. 58. 7 Edw. 7. c. 9.

2. During the continuance of the present war, subsection (1) of section eighty-seven of the Army Act, and subsection (5) of section nine of the Territorial and Reserve Forces Act, 1907 (which relate to prolongation of service in certain cases), shall have effect as if after the words "not exceeding twelve months" where they occur in those subsections respectively there were inserted the words "or in the case of men whose time for discharge occurs before the end of the present war not exceeding the duration of the war":

Prolongation of expiring terms of service.

Provided that this section shall not apply in the case of men who when their time for discharge occurs have served a period of twelve years or more and have attained the age of forty-one years.

3. (1) Paragraph five of the First Schedule to the principal Act shall cease to have effect so far as it relates to men who have been discharged from the naval or military service of the Crown on the termination of their period of service:

Modification of exceptions from service.

Provided that where a man is transferred to the reserve in pursuance of the principal Act, or this Act, he shall, if he has been so discharged from the military service of the Crown as a warrant officer or non-commissioned officer, be restored to the military rank which he held immediately before the termination of his military service.

(2) Paragraph six of the First Schedule to the principal Act shall, on the first day of September nineteen hundred and sixteen, cease to apply to a man who has offered himself for enlistment and been rejected since the fourteenth day of August nineteen hundred and fifteen, if the Army Council are satisfied that he should again present himself for medical examination, and send him written notice to that effect before the first mentioned date.

(3) Subsection (5) of section two of the principal Act shall have effect as if the words "before the appointed date" were omitted therefrom.

4. (1) Where a decision of a local tribunal has been varied on appeal to the appeal tribunal, any certificate of exemption granted in pursuance thereof shall be reviewed or renewed only by the appeal tribunal by whom the decision has been varied, or by such other appeal tribunal as may be provided by regulations, on an application made direct to that tribunal, and the provisions of the principal Act as to the review or renewal of certificates of exemption shall apply accordingly.

Provisions as to certificates of exemption.

(2) A certificate of exemption may be granted under the principal Act subject to the condition that the certificate shall not be renewable or open to variation except on an application made with the leave of the tribunal on whose decision the certificate has been so granted, and, unless leave is so given, the provisions of the principal Act as to the renewal or variation of certificates shall not apply to a certificate granted subject to such a condition.

The decision of the tribunal granting or refusing leave under this provision shall be final.

(3) It is hereby declared that the power to grant special certificates of exemption in the case of an application on conscientious grounds under subsection (3) of section two of the principal Act is additional to and not in derogation of the general power conferred by that Act to grant an absolute, conditional, or temporary certificate in such cases.

(4) Paragraph six of the Second Schedule to the principal Act shall have effect as if for the expression "local tribunals" wherever that expression occurs there were substituted the word "tribunals."

(5) Regulations made under the Second Schedule to the principal Act may provide for permitting the rehearing of a case by a tribunal in cases specified in the regulations.

5. The provision in subsection (3) of section two of the principal Act that no certificate of exemption shall be conditional upon a person to whom it is granted continuing in or entering into employment under any specified employer or in any specified place or establishment, shall not apply to a certificate of exemption granted on the ground of a conscientious objection to the undertaking of combatant service.

Amendment of s. 2 (3) of principal Act.

Amendment of s. 3 (3) of principal Act.

6. Subsection (3) of section three of the principal Act shall, as respects certificates which cease to be in force after the date of the passing of this Act, apply only in the case of men who have been engaged in an occupation certified by a government department to be work of national importance, and who were engaged in such an occupation before the fifteenth day of August nineteen hundred and fifteen, and in the case of men whose conditions of employment have been subject to the provisions of section seven of the Munitions of War Act, 1915, as amended by any subsequent enactment, and who were in the same employment or engaged in the same or similar occupation before the fifteenth day of August nineteen hundred and fifteen, and in all other cases the subsection shall be construed as if "two weeks" were substituted for "two months," and as if the words "unless in the meantime the man has made an application for a renewal of his certificate" were substituted for the words "unless in the meantime the man has obtained a renewal of his certificate." 5 & 6 Geo. 5. c. 54.

Provisions as to exemption of medical practitioners.

7. Regulations made under the Second Schedule to the principal Act shall provide for the establishment of professional committees to deal with claims for exemption made by duly qualified medical practitioners; and any application made by such a medical practitioner on any ground, other than that of conscientious objection, for a certificate of exemption shall be referred by the tribunal to whom it is made to such a committee in accordance with those regulations; and the recommendation of the committee on the application shall be binding on any tribunal constituted under the principal Act.

Exception for prisoners of war, etc.

8. Nothing in this or the principal Act shall operate so as to render liable to military service any person who has at any time since the beginning of the war been a prisoner of war, captured or interned by the enemy, and has been released or exchanged.

Proof of offences in connexion with deserters and absentees.

9. During the continuance of the present war section one hundred and fifty-three of the Army Act and section seventeen of the Reserve Forces Act, 1882 (which relate to offences in connexion with deserters and absentees), shall have effect as though the following provision were inserted at the end of each of those sections:— 45 Vict. c.

> "For the purposes of this section a person shall be deemed to have knowledge unless he proves that he had not knowledge."

and it is hereby declared that, in the application of any provisions of either of those Acts to men who are deemed to have been enlisted and transferred to the reserve in pursuance of the principal Act or this Act, the expression "court of summary jurisdiction" as respects Scotland includes any magistrate or magistrates, by whatever name called, officiating under the provisions of any general or local Police Act.

Duty to produce certificate of exemption or to give particulars.

10. (1) Every man who holds a certificate of exemption granted under the principal Act shall, if required by a constable or by any person who has authority for the purpose from the Army Council, produce his certificate or give particulars as to the authority by which the certificate was granted and the grounds on which it was granted.

If any man fails to comply with this provision or gives particulars which are false in any material respect, he shall in respect of each offence be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months.

(2) If any person alters or tampers with a certificate of exemption granted under the principal Act, or personates or falsely represents himself to be a person to whom such a certificate has been granted, or improperly allows any other person to have possession of any such certificate issued for his use alone, he shall be liable on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months.

Provision as to notices, &c.

11. Notices served for the purposes of the principal Act or this Act shall not be deemed to be invalid on the ground only that they were served before the Act came into operation or before the man in respect of whom they are served became a member of the reserve.

Transfer to reserve under special circumstances.

12. The Army Council may make arrangements, to take effect during the continuance of the present war, for the transfer to the reserve of any member of the regular forces or for the temporary demobilization of any member of the territorial force, notwithstanding anything in any Act or in the terms of his enlistment, in cases where the transfer or demobilization appears expedient in the general interests of the country and the Army Council are satisfied that it can be effected under conditions which will render the man transferred or demobilized immediately available for service in the case of military necessity:

Provided that during such period of transfer or demobilization the man shall not be subject to military discipline.

5 & 6 Geo. 5. c. 43.

13. The first proviso to section one of the Army (Transfers) Act, 1915 (which provides for the maintenance of the rate of pay of a soldier transferred to a corps not of the same arm or branch of the service as the corps in which he was serving), shall not have effect in cases in which the Army Council direct that that proviso shall not apply.

Amendment of the Army (Transfers) Act, 1915.

14. (1) During the continuance of the present war, notwithstanding anything in section seven of the Territorial and Reserve Forces Act, 1907, the orders and regulations for the government and discipline of the territorial force made under that section—

Transfer of officers and men of the territorial force.

(a) may authorise a man of the territorial force when belonging to one corps to be transferred without his consent to another corps, and may authorise a man of the territorial force to be posted without his consent to a battalion or other body of the regular forces included in the corps to which he belongs or is transferred; and

(b) in the case of an officer or man in the territorial force who is liable to service outside the United Kingdom may, for the purposes of such service, and notwithstanding anything in any instrument defining the conditions of such service, authorise the drafting of any such officer or man to any unit of the territorial force within the corps to which he belongs or to which he may be transferred;

and those orders and regulations shall also provide for the maintenance of the rate of pay of a man who is transferred without his consent to a different arm or branch of the service except in cases in which it appears undesirable to the Army Council that the rate of pay should be so maintained.

(2) This section shall affect officers or men of the territorial force notwithstanding that they were commissioned, enlisted, or re-engaged before the date of any order or regulation under this section.

15. During the continuance of the present war section nine of the Territorial and Reserve Forces Act, 1907, shall be construed as authorising corps to be formed for more than one county.

Power to form corps for more than one county.

16. Where an officer or man of the territorial force has, before or after the passing of this Act, accepted liability to serve in any place out of the United Kingdom, that liability shall continue, notwithstanding anything in the conditions of service, during the continuance of the present war, unless the competent military authority, as defined for the purposes of Part II of the Army Act, otherwise direct.

Provision as to liability of territorials to serve outside the United Kingdom.

17. (1) This Act may be cited as the Military Service Act, 1916 (Session 2), and the principal Act and this Act shall be read together, and may be cited together as the Military Service Acts, 1916; and the Territorial and Reserve Forces Act, 1907, and this Act (so far as they relate to the territorial force) may be cited together as the Territorial Force Acts, 1907 and 1916.

Short title, citation, and repeal.

(2) The enactments specified in the Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column of that Schedule.

RESOLUTION.—By the Government of India, Finance Department.

In Chapter III of their Report the Royal Commission on Decentralisation made certain recommendations regarding (a) the general financial relations between the Government of India and the local Governments, and (b) the enhancement of the powers of sanction enjoyed by the latter. The orders of the Government of India on the Commission's recommendations in respect of the first of these questions have already been published in their Finance Department Resolution No. 27-F., dated the 18th May 1912. The Government of India have now examined, with reference to the Commission's recommendations, the question of enhancing the powers of sanction of local Governments in respect of Provincial and Imperial expenditure; and they are pleased, with the sanction of the Secretary of State, to issue revised rules defining the financial powers of sanction and control which will be exercised by local Governments with which regular Provincial Settlements have been concluded, and stating the terms and conditions under which the administration of Provincial revenue and expenditure will in future be regulated by them. These rules are contained in the annexure to this Resolution, and supersede those contained in the Finance and Commerce Department Resolution No. 3531-A., dated the 11th August 1897. Some of them have already been published in the Finance Department Resolution No. 249-E.A., dated the 15th July 1912, but are included in the annexure to the present Resolution so as to make it a complete and self-contained document. For the sake of convenience, the general terms and conditions of the Provincial Settlements, so far as they define the duties and obligations of Provincial Governments, have also been reproduced in the annexure.

NOTE.—The term "regular Provincial Settlements" as used in this Resolution includes settlements made on a provisional basis pending the subsequent introduction of a permanent settlement, as is at present the case in Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, and Assam. But it excludes the quasi-provincial settlements referred to in paragraph 2 of the Resolution.

2. Subject to the exception stated in note 4 to clause (18) of rule 10 of the annexed rules, the local Administrations of the North-West Frontier Province and Baluchistan, with which "quasi-provincial" settlements have been concluded, will exercise, in the case of all items of revenue and expenditure included in these settlements, the same powers of control and sanction as are given by those rules to the Provincial Governments mentioned above, in respect of revenue and expenditure classified under heads of account which are wholly Provincial or are divided in fixed proportions between Imperial and Provincial. Such powers shall be exercised subject to—

(a) The rules of finance and procedure given in rules 5 to 10 and 24 to 26 appended to this Resolution.

(b) The condition that all growth in the quasi-provincial expenditure must be restricted by the development of the assigned revenues, except in special cases where a contribution has been sanctioned by the Government of India outside the terms of the settlement.

These two Administrations will also exercise in respect of Imperial expenditure not included in their quasi-provincial settlements the powers of sanction which are given by the rules appended to this Resolution to Provincial Governments in respect of wholly Imperial expenditure. They will not, however, possess the powers in respect of loans and advances mentioned in the rules, except to the extent mentioned below :—

(i) They may sanction loans falling within class I mentioned in rule 27 out of allotments placed at their disposal by the Government of India, subject to the rules contained in Section VI of the annexure.

(ii) They may, under similar conditions, sanction loans to land-holders and notabilities up to a limit of Rs. 20,000 in any year and of Rs. 5,000 in any one case.

3. The Civil Service Regulations and other authorised codes will be eventually amended in accordance with the terms of this Resolution. Pending such revision, the provisions of these codes and regulations will remain in force except in so far as they are clearly superseded by any rule in this Resolution.

4. It is to be clearly understood that the rules now issued deal solely with the specific financial powers of sanction and control possessed by local Governments. The power of administrative control which is vested in the Government of India is not affected.

ORDERED that this Resolution be communicated to all local Governments and Administrations; to the several Departments of the Government of India (including the Financial Adviser, Military Finance); to the Heads of Departments subordinate to the Finance Department; to the Comptroller and Auditor General; to all Accountants General and Comptrollers; to all Examiners and Government Examiners of Railway Accounts; to the Examiner of Accounts, Military Works Services; to the Audit Officer, Delhi Province; and to the Examiner, Government Press Accounts.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

By order, etc.,

H. F. HOWARD,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

ANNEXURE TO RESOLUTION.

RULES DEFINING THE FINANCIAL POWERS OF PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENTS.

I.—Certain conditions common to all Provincial Settlements.

1. The revenue received and the expenditure incurred on the public service in each province is to be classified as Imperial or Provincial according to the lists in Schedules A and B attached to this Resolution. All revenue recorded on the books of the Account Officer of the province, which, according to the established system of public accounts is classified under the heads named in column 2 of Schedule A, will be Provincial to the extent stated in column 3 of the Schedule ; and all expenditure recorded on the books of the Account Officer of the province which is similarly classified under the heads named in column 2 of Schedule B, will be provincial to the extent stated in column 3. This definition gives the sole test prescribed in the settlement made with the local Government for deciding whether any item of revenue or expenditure is provincial.

NOTE.—The term " divided heads " refers to those major and minor heads the revenue or expenditure under which is divided in fixed proportions between Imperial and Provincial.

2. Inter-provincial adjustments are not ordinarily allowed. But such adjustments may be made through the exchange accounts by mutual agreement, and with the approval of the Comptroller General, in special cases where (a) the services of a joint establishment are utilised by two or more Provincial Governments ; or (b) a local Government desires for special reasons to contribute from its Provincial revenues towards an educational or other institution or to any other scheme of expenditure in another province ; or (c) if any charge of an exceptional nature which ought ordinarily to be borne by one province is paid in another province. All cases of dispute between Provincial Governments regarding such adjustments should be referred for the orders of the Government of India.

3. Expenditure under the head " 33—Famine Relief " will be wholly Provincial in Burma and Assam. In the other provinces its incidence will be determined according to the following rules :—

(a) The amount shown against each of the seven provinces in column 2 of the table below will, until the limit indicated in column 3 is reached, be added to its revenues annually by a special Imperial contribution which will be adjusted through the head " Transfers between Imperial and Provincial. "

Province.	Amount to be credited annually.	Limit of amount to be held at credit of Provincial Government.
	Rs.	Rs.
Madras	2,50,000	25,00,000
Bombay	13,70,000	80,00,000
Bengal	60,000	5,00,000
United Provinces	4,50,000	30,00,000
Punjab	1,40,000	10,00,000
Bihar and Orissa	2,00,000	20,00,000
Central Provinces	12,80,000	80,00,000

(b) The amount thus added to the revenues of a province will in each year be debited in the Provincial section of its accounts under the head "36—Reduction or Avoidance of Debt. "

(c) An administrative or pro-formâ account will be maintained by the Comptroller General for each province, showing on its credit side the amount charged each year in the Provincial section of its accounts under the head "Reduction or Avoidance of Debt" [vide clause (b)], and on the debit side the charges incurred for famine relief as in clause (d) below. The net amount at the credit of any province in any year will be carried forward to its pro-formâ account for next year, and the balance at credit of each province will be allowed to accumulate until the figure shown in column 3 of the table in clauses (a) has been reached. The procedure described in clauses (a) and (b) will then cease until the balance at credit of the province in its pro-formâ account is reduced by actual famine relief expenditure.

(d) When famine occurs in a province, all expenditure which, under the ordinary rules of account, is debitable to the head "33—Famine Relief" will be wholly Imperial up to the limit of the balance standing to the credit of the Provincial Government in the pro-formâ account prescribed in clause (c).

(e) If the expenditure under the head "33—Famine Relief" exceeds the amount of such credit the excess will be charged to Imperial and Provincial in equal shares.

4. Provincial Governments are expected to maintain all the provincial services in a state of administrative efficiency, providing any additional funds which may be necessary for this purpose either from the curtailment of other expenditure, or from the development of Provincial revenues.

II.—General limitations to the financial powers of Provincial Governments.

5. The delegation to Provincial Governments of the power of control over a portion of the public revenues is subject to the following general conditions.

Without the previous sanction of the Government of India*:—

(1) No additional taxation may be imposed, and no fundamental change may be made in any existing system of revenue management.

(2) No new general service or duty may be undertaken.

(3) The rates of duty on spirits and drugs may not be altered in any case in which the alteration is likely to affect the excise arrangement of neighbouring provinces, without the concurrence of the Provincial Government concerned.

(4) The rates of discount upon the retail of stamps and court-fees labels may not be altered.

(5) As a general rule, no item hitherto credited to general revenues, Imperial or Provincial, may be alienated to form an asset of any local or special fund.

But a Provincial Government may, without previous reference to the Government of India, assign to a local body or a special fund, constituted by law, petty items of wholly Provincial revenue of a recurring character, which are not derived from the proceeds of general taxation and the yield of which does not on an average exceed Rs. 25,000 a year.

NOTE.—For the definition of a local fund or local body as used in this clause, see Article 33, Civil Service Regulations.

(6) No public money may be removed from the public treasury for investment or deposit elsewhere. The Government of India, who are responsible for the provision of ways and means for the public service in all departments, retain in their own hands unconditional control over all money in the public treasury; and a Provincial Government may not withdraw such money except for expenditure upon the public service.

* In many of the cases mentioned in this rule, the sanction of the Secretary of State will also be required, but the responsibility for obtaining such sanction will rest with the Government of India who will first have been addressed.

(7) No alteration may be made in the form or procedure of the public accounts. In particular, Provincial Governments may not issue orders directing the division of a charge between two or more heads of account; the Comptroller General ordinarily decides the proper classification of an item in the accounts.

(8) No services previously rendered to other departments at the charge of departments made over to the control of the Provincial Governments may be diminished, and no services previously rendered to the latter departments at the charge of the former may be increased.

(9) No main artery of communication, such as a trunk road, may be abandoned, or allowed to fall out of repair.

(10) No delegation of financial powers may be made to an authority subordinate to the Provincial Government except in cases where such delegation is expressly provided for in any authorised code, or by any order of the Secretary of State in Council or by any existing order of the Government of India.

But when a Provincial Government is empowered to create an appointment (permanent or temporary), and on the creation of such an appointment certain powers can be vested in the incumbent, it may, as an alternative to the creation of such appointment, delegate the same powers to some existing authority of lower status. Such delegation shall remain in force only for such term as that for which the Provincial Government would have been competent to sanction the new appointment above referred to.

(11) No expenditure may be incurred (except in cases in which authority is granted to a Provincial Government under these rules) which is:

(a) Of an unusual nature; or—

(b) Devoted to objects outside the ordinary work of administration; or—

(c) Likely to involve at a later date expenditure beyond the powers of sanction of the Provincial Government.

(12) No pension or gratuity may be granted to an official that is not admissible under the provisions of the Civil Service Regulations or any other authorised general code, or under any general authority conferred on Provincial Governments by, or with the approval of, the Secretary of State in Council.

(13) A Provincial Government cannot raise for its own finances any loan in the open market. Its power to sanction the raising of loans in the open market by local bodies is subject to the provisions of Acts of the legislature and of rules framed thereunder by competent authority.

6. The financial powers of Provincial Governments are subject to the supervision and control of the Government of India; and a Provincial Government is bound to observe any general or specific instructions which the Supreme Government may issue from time to time in the exercise of its powers of supervision and control. The Governor-General in Council expressly reserves the right of issuing instructions to local Governments on general or particular matters affecting Provincial estimates, and revenues and services, when such action seems to him expedient.

7. Subject to the limitations and restrictions prescribed in these rules, Provincial Governments can exercise, in respect of Provincial and Divided heads of revenue and expenditure, all the financial powers of sanction and control which are exercised by the Government of India over the revenues of India or the expenditure therefrom under the Finance Department Resolution No. 368-Gl. (E.A.), dated the 15th March 1913, as amended from time to time. In addition they can also exercise, in respect of the same heads, the powers vested in Provincial Governments under the provisions of the Civil Service Regulations, the Civil Account Code, the Public Works Department Code, the Forest Code and any other authorised code issued with the approval of the Government of India. They are, however, bound to observe the rules in these codes, except where authority is granted by this Resolution to incur expenditure not admissible thereunder. As regards revenue and expenditure which is wholly Imperial, their powers are further limited by the rules contained in this Resolution. As regards wholly Imperial expenditure recorded under the head "33—Famine Relief", a Provincial Government exercises the same powers of sanction as it does in the case of expenditure which is wholly or partly Provincial.

8. Any payments which are in excess of those admissible under the codes referred to in rule 7 or under any general or specific orders of the Secretary of State in Council or the Government of India, as well as any expenditure which is beyond the power of a Provincial Government to sanction, will require the sanction of higher authority.

But a Provincial Government may in individual cases, and for special reasons which should be communicated to the audit officer :—

(1) Grant an officiating officer a higher salary than is authorised by the codes, subject to a maximum limit of Rs. 250 per month, and subject to the condition that his salary must not exceed the pay of the officer for whom he acts.

(2) Relax the conditions or limitations prescribed by any rule in any authorised code, without contravening its general spirit, so as to grant to an officer travelling allowance, not exceeding Rs. 1,000 in any case, in cases where no travelling allowance is admissible under a strict interpretation of the rule.

(3) In cases not coming under clauses (1) and (2) above, relax the conditions or limitations prescribed by any rule in an authorised code or by an order of the Government of India, without contravening its general spirit, subject to the condition that the total amount payable under the sanction does not exceed Rs. 5,000 in any case if charged wholly or partly to Provincial, and Rs. 1,000 if charged wholly to Imperial, funds.

NOTE.—All sanctions given under the above conditions must be subject to the further condition that the expenditure would in any case be within the power of the Government of India to sanction and would not require a reference to the Secretary of State. Each such sanction must moreover quote the appropriate provision of the present rule for the information of the Audit Officer concerned.

9. A Provincial Government has no authority to give effect to any part of a scheme of which any one item requires the sanction of higher authority, though in seeking the sanction of such authority to the scheme as a whole, it will be sufficient to indicate the total financial effect of the remaining items of the scheme without entering into the details comprising that total, save in so far as some exposition of these may be necessary to justify the item requiring higher sanction.

III.—Restrictions on powers of local Governments with regard to expenditure which is wholly Provincial or is charged to a divided head.

10. The sanction of the Government of India is required*:

(1) To the creation of any new permanent appointment which would ordinarily be held by a gazetted civil officer recruited in England or by an officer of an Imperial service as defined in Article 29-B., Civil Service Regulations; to the raising of the pay of such an appointment or officer; and, except as permitted by an authorised code, to any addition to the emoluments of such an appointment or officer by the grant of allowances of any kind (whether included or not in the definition of " remuneration ").

*In many of the cases mentioned in this rule, the sanction of the Secretary of State will also be required, but the responsibility for obtaining this will rest with the Government of India who will first have been addressed.

DEFINITION.—Remuneration includes, besides monthly substantive pay or salary, all payments to officers from general revenues (i.e., Imperial and Provincial revenues, as well as the revenues of local funds administered by Government) whether in the nature of fixed allowances, subject to the exceptions specified below, or of fees, rewards (except language rewards other than those which take the form of monthly allowances) or recurring honoraria. It does not include the pension of an officer who is re employed, or local allowances granted on account of the unhealthiness or expensiveness of particular localities, exchange compensation allowance, travelling, tentage or conveyance allowance, house-rent allowance or grant of free quarters, allowances to civil surgeons for charge of railway employés, office allowances, Simla or other hill allowances, and non-recurring honoraria. But without the previous sanction of the Secretary of State no exchange compensation allowance can be granted in cases in which it is not now admissible; nor may any modification be made of the broad principles on which the rules relating to the Calcutta, Bombay and Rangoon house allowance schemes are based, including the rates and the general conditions of eligibility laid down in them.

(2) To the creation of a permanent appointment not belonging to either of the classes specified in clause (1) of this rule, of which the remuneration exceeds Rs. 800 a month; to the raising of the remuneration of an officer, or of a sanctioned permanent appointment, not belonging to the classes specified in clause (1), to an amount in excess of Rs. 800 a month; or to the increase of a remuneration which is already in excess of that amount.

NOTE 1.—In the case of incremental pay the test for the application of this rule is the maximum pay attainable. But the grant of an increased remuneration to an officer on an incremental or time-scale pay the maximum of which rises to or exceeds Rs. 800 a month, on the condition that it shall be continued only so long as it does not cause his total remuneration to exceed that limit, does not require the sanction of the Government of India.

NOTE 2.—Where the remuneration of an officer of the class mentioned in this rule cannot equitably be fixed at a monthly rate because it would in consequence of its source be liable to fluctuation from month to month, the sanction of higher authority is required to the grant of a remuneration in excess of Rs. 9,600 a year, instead of Rs. 800 a month.

(3) To the abolition of an appointment of the classes mentioned in clause (1) above; and to any reduction in the remuneration of such an appointment.

(4) (a) To the creation of a temporary appointment, or to the deputation of any officer, when the remuneration exceeds Rs. 2,500 a month; or when the remuneration, though not exceeding Rs. 2,500 a month, exceeds Rs. 800 a month and the temporary appointment or deputation is expected to last, or does last, for more than two years.

(b) To the creation of a temporary appointment for an officer belonging to an Imperial service as defined in Article 29-B., Civil Service Regulations, or to the deputation of such an officer on special duty, for the discharge of work lying outside the ordinary course of the administration, when such appointment or deputation is expected to last or does last for more than six months.

NOTE 1.—The powers of Provincial Governments to sanction deputations are limited to deputations in India. They have no power to sanction deputations outside India except in the cases mentioned in Note 2 to Article 85 of the Civil Service Regulations.

NOTE 2.—In the case of temporary appointments required for Settlement work, Provincial Governments have full powers of sanction as to their number and duration, subject as regards remuneration, to the rules contained in Appendix 4-A., Civil Service Regulations.

NOTE 3.—In the case of temporary appointments in the Public Works Department, which are not filled by the deputation of pensionable officers in permanent employ, Provincial Governments have full powers of sanction, irrespective of the duration of such appointments, so long as the remuneration does not exceed Rs. 2,500 a month.

NOTE 4.—The period for which a temporary appointment or deputation has been sanctioned by higher authority may, if necessary, be extended without further reference to the authority which granted the original sanction, provided that such extension does not exceed one month.

NOTE 5.—When the remuneration of an officer appointed to a temporary appointment or placed on deputation in accordance with the limits prescribed in clause (4) of this rule is increased beyond those limits by reason only of an increase of the pay or acting allowance which the officer holding it would draw in normal circumstances, the specific sanction of the Government of India will not be required to the continuance of the temporary appointment or deputation on the increased remuneration until the expiry of the period originally sanctioned.

(5) To the grant to an officer in the service of Government, who is appointed to a temporary appointment or deputed on special duty in India, of a higher remuneration than is permitted by the following rules :—

(a) Article 78-A., Civil Service Regulations, in respect of a temporary appointment filled by an officer in the service of Government.

(b) Article 81, Civil Service Regulations, in respect of an officer deputed on special duty, provided that a Provincial Government may, in exceptional cases, grant to an officer not belonging to an Imperial service (as defined in Article 29-B., Civil Service Regulations), a deputation allowance exceeding that ordinarily admissible under Article 81, Civil Service Regulations.

NOTE.—This rule is to be understood as definitely precluding the grant of deputation allowances in all cases except those in which the special duty involves a decided increase of work or responsibility or a change of station. Moreover, a change of station is an ordinary incident of service in India and does not in itself constitute a reason for an addition to an officer's emoluments : accordingly the fact that the transfer to special duty involves a change of headquarters, affords a reason for the grant of a deputation allowance only if the officer is thereby placed at unusual expense, owing to the period of deputation being a short one or to some other exceptional cause. Audit Officers should question any cases in which the orders of the authority sanctioning a deputation allowance do not show that such authority definitely considered and decided that the grant of an allowance was fully justified under the terms of this rule.

(6) To revisions of permanent establishments which involve additional expenditure exceeding Rs. 50,000 a year. Further, orders involving either (a) the revision of the rates of substantive pay of any one branch of the public service at a cost to that branch of the service alone of more than Rs. 25,000 a year, or (b) the raising of the average pay of a service, of which the maximum pay exceeds Rs. 500 a month, above the average rate approved at the last revision of the service as sanctioned by the Secretary of State or the Government of India, or (c) the grant of local allowances as compensation for dearness of living, or for increase of rents in any locality in which a considerable number of officers paid from Imperial revenues is employed, must be submitted in draft to the Government of India. If no orders are received by the Provincial Government thereon within three months from the date of their receipt in the Government of India, the scheme may then be brought into effect forthwith.

NOTE 1.—For the purpose of determining the above limit of Rs. 50,000 a year, the cost of any temporary establishment which the new scheme will replace may not be taken as a set-off.

NOTE 2.—In the case of establishments, such as process-serving establishments, the scale and remuneration of which are determined by courts of law under rules having the force of law, the sanction of the Government of India is not required under this clause unless the net extra expenditure involved, after allowing for the receipt of fees, exceeds Rs. 50,000 a year.

NOTE 3.—For the purposes of this clause, the cost of any particular revision is to be determined with reference to the definition of "remuneration" in clause (1) of this rule.

NOTE 4.—For the purpose of cases falling within class (b) referred to in this clause, an incidental increase of average pay which does not amount, for any single sanction, to more than one per cent may be neglected.

(7) To the grant to non-officials, on political considerations, of (a) land either free of revenue or on favourable terms, or (b) of assignments of land revenue, if the value of the land or land revenue exceeds Rs. 1,000 a year.

Grants of either kind on other than political considerations are subject to : (i) the statutory rules which have been published by the Government of India, under the authority of the Secretary of State, in their Finance and Commerce Department Resolution No. 933, dated the 20th February 1894, and their Finance Department Resolution No. 5751-Ex., dated the 31st October 1910, and which have been reproduced in the Appendix to the Finance Department Resolution No. 465-Ex., dated the 26th January 1911 ; or (ii) the rules published by the Government of India in their Revenue and Agricultural Department Resolutions No. 1-141-151, dated the 6th February 1872 (as amended by Resolution No. 1-127-4, dated the 28th February 1912), No. 21-223-12, dated the 7th October 1895, and No. 12-73-17, dated the 7th September 1897 ; and (iii) such other general or special orders as the Government of India may have issued from time to time.

(8) To the grant to a non-official who is injured (or to the family of a non-official who is killed) during or in consequence of service rendered to Government, or who though not injured has rendered some exceptional service to Government, of a pension exceeding Rs. 1,000 a year or a gratuity exceeding Rs. 3,000 in any one case.

(9) To the grant to a civil officer, who is in Government employ or in receipt of a service pension, of :

(a) Land, except where the grant is made under the ordinary revenue rules of the province concerned, and involves no special concession in money or its equivalent beyond the fact that the grantee has received the grant in preference to others ; or—

(b) An assignment of land revenue when the total amount exceeds Rs. 600 a year, or the assignment, if within that amount, is not limited to three lives and reduced by one-half on each succession. All grants of assignments of land revenue made by a Provincial Government to civil officers should be confined to cases in which the services are of a very distinguished and exceptional character, i.e., to cases in which a special pension would be admissible with reference to the orders of the Secretary of State embodied in Appendix 9 of the Civil Service Regulations. An annual return should be submitted by each Provincial Government to the Government of India, showing any assignments of land revenue made by it to civil officers, and the grounds on which such assignments have been made.

(10) To any cash grant to a charitable or religious institution (not being a grant for a church under the Public Works Department Code) which exceeds Rs. 10,000 a year if recurring or Rs. 50,000 if non-recurring ; and to any grant to a charitable or religious institution outside India.

NOTE.—Institutions designed for medical relief are included in the category of charitable institutions.

(11) To expenditure on State ceremonies and assemblies, and on the entertainment, at the public charge, of distinguished visitors to India, when the outlay is estimated to exceed Rs. 1,00,000.

(12) (a) To recurring grants to local bodies from Provincial revenues exceeding Rs. 1 lakh a year in any one case.

(b) To non-recurring grants to local bodies from Provincial revenues exceeding Rs. 10 lakhs in any one case.

NOTE.—Where the grant takes the form of a contribution towards the construction of a building or other public works by Government agency, and the cost of establishment, tools and plant is thus included in the real value of the grant made, the limit on the total assistance given will be Rs. 12½ lakhs.

(13) To expenditure for the direct benefit of native states which is estimated to exceed Rs. 10,000 a year on any one project, or Rs. 50,000 if non-recurring.

(14) To any expenditure on railway carriages specially reserved for the use of high officials otherwise than in connection with the maintenance of the carriages already set apart, with the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council, for the exclusive use of the head of the province. The previous sanction of the Government of India should be obtained to all expenditure required to replace any such carriage.

(15) To the increase of the contract grant of the head of a province.

(16) To expenditure of public money (a) on the purchase of a motor car or motor-cycle for the use of an official ; or (b) on the maintenance of such a motor car, otherwise than from the contract grant of the head of the province, except as provided in the rules published by the Government of India in their Finance Department Resolution No. 250-E.A., dated the 15th July 1912.

NOTE.—Expenditure on the hire of motor cars for the use of the head of the province may be incurred from his contract grant without the sanction of a higher authority.

(17) To the construction or the purchase of a vessel required for inland navigation and for use at ports, the cost of which exceeds Rs. 1 lakh. Within this limit a Provincial Government may sanction the construction or purchase of such vessels subject to the following conditions :—

(a) The advice of the Director, Royal Indian Marine, as regards the type and cost of the vessel to be constructed or purchased shall invariably be obtained and shall be adopted on all material points.

(b) Without the previous sanction of the Government of India no boat or vessel shall be built otherwise than at a government dockyard.

Otherwise the Government of India must be referred to.

NOTE.—These conditions do not apply to the acquisition or construction of non-seagoing vessels of any kind other than those driven by engine-power.

(18) To expenditure on an irrigation or other public works project of which the estimate of cost chargeable to general revenues exceeds Rs. 16 lakhs when provision for establishments, tools and plant is not included, and Rs. 20 lakhs when such provision is included. When the estimate for the construction of a project has been sanctioned by the Secretary of State in Council or the Government of India, a Provincial Government can sanction outlay in excess of the original sanctioned estimate, up to an amount of 10 per cent in excess of the estimate, provided that such excess is not more than Rs. 12½ lakhs including establishment, tools and plant ; but any excess over a revised estimate sanctioned by the Secretary of State in Council or the Government of India can be sanctioned by these authorities only.

NOTE 1.—The rule in this clause does not apply to cases in which a work, though subsidised by a lump sum grant from Government, is undertaken by, and on the responsibility of, a local body.

NOTE 2.—The necessity for obtaining the sanction of higher authority to a project which consists of a group of works is not avoided by reason of the fact that the cost of each particular work in the project is within the powers of sanction of the Provincial Government ; but this restriction does not apply to the case of irrigation projects the construction estimates of which have been closed and further capital outlay on which is being incurred under the rules for open capital expenditure.

NOTE 3.—The following projects shall be submitted to the Government of India irrespective of their cost :—

(a) Projects which affect the interests of more than one local Government or Administration.

(b) Projects which are attended with more than ordinary engineering difficulties, e.g., docks and harbour improvements.

NOTE 4.—In the case of divisible expenditure in the North-West Frontier Province and Baluchistan of the classes mentioned in this clause, the limit of the Provincial Government's power of sanction, both in respect of original estimates and of outlay in excess of the original sanctioned estimate, is Rs. 4 lakhs exclusive of charges for establishment, tools and plant, and Rs. 5 lakhs inclusive of those charges.

IV.—Powers of Provincial Governments with regard to expenditure which is wholly Imperial.

11. (1) No expenditure which is wholly Imperial may be sanctioned by a Provincial Government except in cases where authority is given by the rules in this Section, or by :—

(a) The provisions of any Act of the legislature or of rules framed under such an Act.

(b) Any rule in the Civil Service Regulations, the Civil Account Code, or any other code issued by, or with the approval of, the Government of India.

(c) Any order of the Government of India, laying down a scale, or a maximum scale, of expenditure.

NOTE.—A Provincial Government may sanction expenditure on the construction and repair of public works executed by civil officers, subject to the rules which govern its powers of sanctioning similar expenditure incurred by officers of the Public Works Department.

(2) A Provincial Government may sanction non-recurring expenditure, not exceeding Rs. 1,000 in any individual case, on any object for which no scale or limit to its power of sanction is separately prescribed in these rules or in the Civil Service Regulations and other authorised codes, provided that the sanction does not involve express contravention of an existing rule of the Government of India, and that the expenditure would be within the power of the Government of India to sanction and would not require a reference to the Secretary of State.

12. A Provincial Government may (a) create a new permanent appointment which does not belong to the classes specified in clause (1) of rule 10 and the pay and allowances of which do not exceed Rs. 500 a month, or (b) make an addition to the pay and allowances of a sanctioned permanent appointment or of an officer, not belonging to these classes, if this does not have the effect of raising the total pay and allowances of the appointment or of the officer to an amount in excess of Rs. 500 a month; provided that (i) the additional cost involved can be met by permanent savings in the same department or some other department charged to the same major head of account, and (ii) no revision of permanent establishment, or any other scheme of expenditure, may be sanctioned which deals with any class or grade of officers as a whole.

NOTE.—All increases of establishment sanctioned under this rule should be reported to the Government of India in the Finance Department in annual statements. The sanctions may be held to have been confirmed unless exception is taken to any of them by the Government of India on a review of the statements.

13. When no savings can be effected to meet the additional cost involved but there is sufficient budget provision, a Provincial Government may, subject to proviso (ii) in rule 12 :

(1) Create a permanent non-gazetted appointment the pay and allowances of which do not exceed Rs. 250 a month, or make an addition to the pay and allowances of a permanent non-gazetted appointment or officer, if this does not have the effect of raising the total pay and allowances of the appointment or officer to an amount in excess of Rs. 250 a month.

(2) Sanction the revision of permanent non-gazetted establishments, provided that its powers of sanction in respect of individual appointments, as defined in clause (1) of this rule are not exceeded, and that the additional expenditure involved does not exceed Rs. 6,000 a year.

NOTE.—The note under rule 12 applies here also.

14. A Provincial Government may abolish, or reduce, the pay and allowances of any permanent appointment which does not belong to the classes specified in clause (1) of rule 10 and the pay and allowances of which do not exceed Rs. 500 a month.

15. A Provincial Government may sanction temporary appointments and deputations in India for any period, if the pay and allowances including deputation allowance do not exceed Rs. 250 a month. But the remuneration of an officer in the service of Government who is thus appointed to a temporary appointment or deputed on special duty must not exceed the amount which the Provincial Government is competent to sanction under clause (5) of rule 10.

16. (1) A Provincial Government may sanction recurring contingent expenditure up to a limit of Rs. 200 a year in each case; provided that it may exercise the full powers of the Government of India in respect of expenditure on the renting of ordinary office accommodation and the payment of municipal and other taxes.

NOTE.—Recurring expenditure means a charge which binds Government beyond a single payment.

(2) A Provincial Government may sanction an increase not exceeding Rs. 6,000 a year in a contract grant for contingent expenditure. It may also sanction the substitution of a contract grant for varying budget grants in respect of any heads of contingent expenditure for which countersignature has hitherto been required, provided that the former does not exceed the aggregate of the latter (calculated with reference to the budget figures of the year in which the change is made) by more than Rs. 6,000.

17. A Provincial Government may sanction :—

(1) Reduced political pensions to heirs or other representatives of existing pensioners in cases in which it is already authorised to do so, and in accordance with the practice explained in the Financial despatch from the Government of India to the Secretary of State, No. 222, dated the 9th September 1909.

(2) New political life pensions up to a limit of Rs. 200 a year in each case.

(3) Increases in existing political life pensions, provided that in no case is the total pension thereby raised beyond Rs. 200 a year.

(4) Political gratuities not exceeding Rs. 1,000 in any one case.

(5) Non-recurring expenditure on behalf of political pensioners—such as grants towards the funeral expenses of deceased pensioners, the provision of dowries for daughters, allowances to meet the expense of proceeding under orders of competent authority from one locality to another, and expenditure on other than ordinary repairs (as for example the installation of electric lights and fans) in connection with the residences with which pensioners are provided in certain cases at the cost of the State—if the amount does not exceed, in any case, Rs. 1,000.

Definition.—Political pensions and gratuities are pensions and gratuities granted to non-officials whose services, descent, or connections are such that it is on general grounds of policy very desirable that the Government should extend to them some measure of assistance or recognition.

NOTE 1.—It is not permissible to grant a pension and a gratuity to the same individual under clauses (1), (2), (3) and (4) of this rule.

NOTE 2.—A Provincial Government may sanction expenditure on the ordinary maintenance of residences provided for pensioners at the cost of the State, subject to the rules in the Public Works Department Code.

18. A Provincial Government may :—

(1) Sanction an original work, including additions and alterations, required for an existing church up to a limit of Rs. 1,500 at one time, provided that the total expenditure on the church does not exceed the total grant permissible under the rules in part V of the Ecclesiastical rules embodied in Appendix 10 of the Public Works Department Code.

(2) Sanction works in cemeteries attached to churches, and in cemeteries the expenditure on which is Imperial, up to a limit of Rs. 1,500 at one time, when the works are admissible under the Ecclesiastical rules embodied in Appendix 10 of the Public Works Department Code.

(3) Sanction additions and alterations to chaplains' quarters, provided that the expenditure does not exceed the limit laid down in paragraph 917-IV of the Public Works Department Code.

(4) Sanction proposals relating to the renewal and repair of furniture and articles of service in churches which are admissible under rule 27 in part V of the Ecclesiastical rules embodied in Appendix 10 of the Public Works Department Code.

(5) Sanction ecclesiastical expenditure in excess of that permissible under, or not covered by, the rules in part V of the Ecclesiastical rules embodied in Appendix 10 of the Public Works Department Code, on additions or alterations to a church which is the property of Government under rule 32 of those rules, or to a building subsidiary thereto, up to a maximum aggregate of Rs. 500 in the case of any one church.

V.—Budget rules restricting the spending powers of Provincial Governments:

19. The exercise by a Provincial Government of its financial powers is subject to the ordinary rules of the budget system. The most important of these rules affecting the exercise of such powers are given below.

20. Provincial Governments are required, in ordinary circumstances and apart from famine requirements, to maintain balances of the following minimum amounts:—

	Rs.
Madras	20 lakhs.
Bombay	20 „
Bengal	20 „
United Provinces of Agra and Oudh ...	20 „
Punjab	10 „
Burma	12 „
Bihar and Orissa	12 „
Central Provinces and Berar	10 „
Assam	10 „

21. A Provincial Government may not budget for a deficit unless it satisfies the Government of India that the cause is exceptional and non-recurring, and also, if the deficit involves a reduction of the provincial balance below the prescribed minimum, that suitable arrangements will be made for the restoration of the minimum. Accountants General are required to make a report to the local Government and to the Government of India when it appears to them that there is any likelihood of the balance being reduced below the minimum.

When a Provincial Government proposes to budget for a considerable deficit, the proposal should be forwarded to the Government of India for separate consideration in advance of the estimates.

22. If a Provincial Government exhausts its own balances and receives permission to overdraw upon the general balances, it will be required to take the necessary amount as a short loan from the Government of India. The loan will bear interest at such rates, and will be repayable in such instalments as the Government of India may prescribe.

23. In passing the provincial budgets for any year, the Government of India will fix a limit for ordinary plus fresh recurring expenditure. All extraordinary receipts, whether recorded in the accounts as such under "XXV.—Miscellaneous" or as ordinary revenue under any other head, will, subject to the approval of the Government of India to the necessary provision being made in the budget, be applied to such non-recurring outlay on public works or other objects as the local Governments (assisted by the advice of their Legislative Councils where these exist) may determine. The Government of India will not ordinarily allow such receipts to be used for the purpose of affording relief towards meeting the ordinary civil works expenditure of a province in such a manner as indirectly to set free funds for recurring expenditure under any head. Moreover, when a Provincial Government has taken a loan under rule 22, the Government of India will not, save in very exceptional circumstances, allow extraordinary receipts to be used for non-recurring expenditure on public works or other objects until the whole of such loan is repaid. In a year in which there is no object of sufficient urgency and importance to justify the expenditure thereon of such extraordinary receipts, they should be added to the provincial balances as a reserve against future emergencies. In submitting the budget estimates the local Government should draw the attention of the Government of India to the existence of these special items of revenue and to the manner in which it is proposed to dispose of them.

24. A Provincial Government cannot sanction any expenditure during a year which will involve an excess over the Budget grant for the year under any head of account, unless it can effect re-appropriation (i.e., reduce by the amount of the excess the sanctioned grant under some other Imperial or Provincial head of account under its control, as the case may be), subject to the provisions of rule 25.

NOTE.—In the case of Forest expenditure, a Provincial Government may sanction outlay for which no provision exists in the Budget and which it cannot meet by re-appropriation, provided that such expenditure is covered by additional revenue earned within the same financial year. All such cases should be reported to the Government of India in the Finance Department.

25. A Provincial Government may sanction re-appropriations :—

(1) Between the grants for Provincial expenditure included in its estimates, whether under a wholly Provincial or a Divided major or minor head, provided that—

(a) The aggregate grant for Provincial expenditure is not exceeded.

(b) Any portion of the aggregate grant which has been specially sanctioned by the Government of India to meet non-recurring expenditure from Provincial balances or from extraordinary receipts (i.e., any excess of the aggregate grant over the limit for ordinary plus fresh recurring expenditure referred to in rule 23) cannot be diverted to meet recurring expenditure.

NOTE.—To enable audit officers to see that this rule is properly observed, Provincial Governments should show in their published estimates under each major head of account the amount of the grant specially sanctioned by the Government of India to meet non-recurring expenditure.

(2) Between the grants for Imperial expenditure included in its estimates under Divided major or minor heads, the head "23—Ecclesiastical," and the wholly Imperial major or minor heads included in the groups "Direct Demands on the Revenue," "Interest" and "Miscellaneous Civil charges"; provided that the total of the Imperial grants for all these heads is not exceeded.

26. Any excess over the Budget grants for Imperial expenditure under any head not mentioned in clause (2) of rule 25, as well as any excess which causes the limits mentioned in clauses (1) and (2) of that rule to be exceeded, requires the sanction of the Government of India. A Provincial Government cannot sanction any expenditure which may lead to such an excess unless it has obtained the sanction of the Government of India to a supplementary grant.

VI.—Powers of Provincial Governments to grant loans.

27. Advances and loans may be granted by Provincial Governments, for any of the purposes enumerated below, out of allotments placed at their disposal by the Government of India :—

Class I.—Advances to cultivators under the Land Improvement Loans Act, the Agriculturists' Loans Act, or any other Acts; loans under the Co-operative Credit Societies Act; and loans under the Burma Fisheries Act.

Class II.—Advances under special laws not coming within class I such as the Bengal Drainage and Embankment Acts, and the Bundelkhand Encumbered Estates Act.

Class III.—Loans to native states; and loans to land-holders and notabilities apart from the provisions of any law.

Class IV.—Loans to municipalities (other than Presidency corporations), district or local boards and other local authorities, under the Local Authorities Loans Act or any other Act.

Class V.—Miscellaneous loans and advances which do not fall strictly under any of the above classes, and are not expressly provided for in the Civil Account Code or other authorised codes.

28. All loans and advances granted by the Provincial Governments under rule 27 are subject to the following limitations and restrictions :—

(1) The procedure described by the various Acts of the legislature, and by rules framed thereunder by competent authority, for making applications for loans should be observed, as well as any conditions laid down in such Acts and rules governing the grant of the loans.

(2) No loan can be granted, which is—

(a) Of an unusual nature.

(b) Devoted to objects outside the ordinary work of administration.

NOTE.—In any case where a cash grant would be within the powers of sanction of the Provincial Government, the grant of a loan of an amount not exceeding that of the cash grant, does not require the sanction of higher authority.

(3) No loan can be granted under class III in excess of Rs. 5 lakhs; nor can a series of separate loans under this class be granted at short intervals to the same recipient, so as to make the aggregate amount exceed Rs. 5 lakhs.

(4) Loans to private individuals under class III may only be made when they involve some purpose of a public or political character.

(5) No loan may be granted under class V without the sanction of the Government of India.

(6) No loan may be granted at a lower rate of interest than 4 per cent, except where otherwise provided in any rules framed by competent authority under an Act of the legislature.

(7) Borrowers should be required to adhere strictly to the terms settled for the loans made to them; and no modification of those terms in their favour should be made subsequently except for very special reasons.

Provincial Governments may remit, without reference to the Government of India, the payment of interest on loans and may also remit and write off as Provincial expenditure any irrecoverable balances of the loans. They may also permit the postponement of an instalment in repayment of principal, subject to the condition that such postponement does not involve a longer period for the repayment of the loan than could have been fixed by the local Government when the loan was given.

(8) A penal rate of compound interest not less than 6 per cent a year should be enforced, at the discretion of the Provincial Government and so far as the law allows, upon all overdue instalments of interest or principal and interest.

(9) The amount of loans granted in any year should not be such as to cause the total amount sanctioned by the Government of India for net payments on account of loans and advances of all classes coming under the Provincial Loan Account, to be exceeded. Subject to this condition, a Provincial Government may transfer funds sanctioned for one class to meet demands falling under another class, and may utilise any excess repayments during the currency of the year in making fresh loans and advances; but no re-appropriations to class III for loans to private individuals are permissible from undisbursed portions of allotment provided for the other classes.

(10) The rules of procedure and accounting in Articles 123 to 130-A of the Civil Account Code should be observed.

29 Provincial Governments may sanction housebuilding and other miscellaneous advances, subject to the rules in the Civil Account Code and other authorised codes.

VII.—General Instructions as to Audit.

30. In applying these rules, audit officers may assume that all the provisions of the Civil Service Regulations, the Civil Account Code, the Public Works Department Code, the Forest Code, and any other authorised code, have received the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council in all cases in which that sanction is necessary.

For the admission of any charges which do not, under the conditions stated in these rules, require the sanction of the Government of India or of the Secretary of State in Council, the authority of the Provincial Government is sufficient. But the head of an audit office is at liberty, in his discretion and when the matter is of importance, to draw the attention of the Comptroller General to special cases not referred to in these rules in order that the Comptroller General may consider whether the case should be brought to the notice of the Government of India.

31. In all cases in which there is reason to doubt whether the expenditure is within its competence to sanction, a Provincial Government should, before sanctioning the expenditure, invariably obtain a report from its audit officer showing whether the expenditure is within its powers of sanction. Any objection raised by the audit officer under these rules to any order issued by a Provincial Government should be submitted for the orders of the Government of India, together with a copy of the audit officer's objection statement: provided that a Provincial Government can in certain circumstances remit disallowances by audit officers under the rules in Article 279-A of the Civil Account Code. In submitting to the Government of India any proposal which involves expenditure beyond the powers of sanction of a Provincial Government, the latter should obtain and forward with it a report from the audit officer indicating whether the expenditure is within the powers of sanction of the Government of India or requires a reference to the Secretary of State.

No. 839.—A despatch from General Sir J. E. Nixon, K.C.B., A.-D.-C.,-General, Commanding Indian Expeditionary Force "D," on the operations at Bushire and Dilwar, July—September, 1915, is published for general information.

No. 168-9-O., dated 15th January 1916.

To—The Chief of the General Staff, Army Headquarters, India.

SIR,

I have the honour to furnish a report on operations conducted at Bushire and in its vicinity between July and September 1915.

2. On July 12th, 1915, a force of Tangistani tribesmen, at the instigation of enemy agents in Persia, made an unprovoked attack on the British detachment at Bushire.

3. The attack was repulsed, but two British Officers—(Major E. H. Oliphant, 96th Berar Infantry, and Captain J. G. L. Ranking, Assistant Political Officer)—and one sepoy were killed, and two sepoys wounded.

4. As the Persian Government failed to make reparation for the hostile action of the Tangistanis, His Majesty's Government ordered forcible measures to be taken.

5. It was decided that the port and town of Bushire should be seized and occupied by a naval and military force until the Persian Government complied with our demands.

6. Further, as a punishment to the tribesmen implicated in the incident of July 12th, orders were issued for a naval and military force to attack Dilwar, a fortified village which was the headquarters of the hostile Tangistanis.

7. On August 8th, Bushire was occupied by a British force without opposition.

8. A naval squadron under the command of Captain D. St. A. Wake, R.N., arrived off Dilwar on August 10th, but weather conditions were unfavourable for landing operations until August 13th. On that day, a mixed force composed of troops and a naval landing party, under the command of Major C. E. H. Wintle, successfully disembarked on the beach in the face of opposition by the Tangistanis.

The operation was assisted by the naval guns which made excellent practice and drove the enemy inland.

9. Several actions took place with the tribesmen on August 14th and 15th. Stiff opposition was encountered and the heat was great. As a result of the operations Dilwar fort and village were destroyed and heavy losses were inflicted on the Tangistanis by rifle and machine gun fire, also by shell fire from the ships. Our casualties were comparatively small.

10. The object of the expedition having been successfully accomplished, the force was re-embarked, without interference by the enemy, on the night of August 15th-16th.

11. The combined naval and military expedition against Dilwar is an excellent example of co-operation between the two Services, and it was very creditably carried out by all concerned.

12. On the eastern side of Bushire, a low lying sandy tract joins the "island" to the mainland. This is known as the "Mashileh." It is about 7 miles across to the mainland and the same distance divides the sea which flanks the Mashileh on the north and south. During high tides it is liable to inundation. Along the edge of Bushire Island, overlooking the Mashileh, extends a line of cliffs, much intersected by nullahs and broken ground.

13. During the period under report the British garrison at Bushire maintained an outpost line for the protection of the northern part of the island from attack from the mainland. The eastern section of the outposts lay along the line of cliffs; the southern section extended across the island to the sea on the west side of the island.

14. Tangistani raiding parties frequently crossed the Mashileh at night and attempted to break through the outpost line. Early in September it was reported that they intended to make an attack in force.

15. At daybreak on September 9th a patrol from the outposts located a party of enemy in the nullahs at the edge of the Mashileh, at a spot where the Tangistanis had collected a strong force on a previous occasion.

16. On receiving this report, Brigadier-General H. T. Brooking, C.B., commanding the British garrison, immediately made dispositions to attack the enemy in front and to turn their left flank, and for the cavalry to move out on the Mashileh on their line of retreat.

17. After several hours' fighting, the turning attack, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Lane, 96th Berar Infantry, charged with the bayonet. The enemy, some 600 strong, broke and fled across the Mashileh. The cavalry then charged them in the open, and our guns shelled them across the Mashileh until they were out of range.

18. Throughout the period of his command at Bushire, General Brooking dealt with an awkward situation in a most capable manner. On the occasion of the action of September 9th, thanks to his energetic and skilful command, the Tangistanis were defeated and lost heavily before they had time to deliver a serious attack.

19. In this action, the bravery and endurance of the troops in most trying heat, which claimed several victims, was most commendable.

A landing party of the Royal Navy afforded valuable assistance.

The charge by a squadron of the 16th Cavalry, led by Major W. H. Pennington, 12th Cavalry, in which both British officers and half of the Indian officers lost their lives, was a most gallant affair.

20. I append a list of names of those specially brought to notice in connection with the operations at Bushire and Dilwar.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

JOHN NIXON, General,

Commanding Indian Expeditionary Force "D."

DESPATCHES ON OPERATIONS OF THE TSINGTAU EXPEDITIONARY FORCE.

[Despatch No. 1.]

From Brigadier-General N. W. Barnardiston, M.V.O., to the War Office.

Investing Line before Tsingtau, 9th October, 1914.

SIR,—

I have the honour to report that the force under my command embarked at Tientsin on the 19th September in the hired transports "Kwang Ping," "Shao Shing" and "Shuntien," and, escorted from Taku Bar by H. M. S. "Triumph" and the torpedo-boat destroyer "Usk," arrived at Wei-hai-wei at 2-15 p.m. on 20th September.

The number of mules necessary to complete our requirements in transport, which had been purchased by Captain Knaggs, Indian Army, were there embarked, that officer offering valuable assistance both there and also on disembarkation at Lao Shan Bay.

The s.s. "Shenking," chartered by the Naval Authorities as a hospital carrier, for conveyance of sick and wounded to Wei-hai-wei, joined us, and the whole left at 4-0 p.m. on 21st September.

Before leaving, I inspected the arrangements made by Captain House, R.N., and Fleet-Surgeon Clarke, on the hospital carrier, and also on shore for the reception of the sick and wounded. Those two officers, especially the last named, deserve the greatest credit for the excellent arrangements made to meet all our requirements.

Lao Shan Bay was reached at 2 p.m. on 22nd September, and arrangements were made with H. M. S. "Triumph," the Japanese Navy and the Military Disembarkation Authorities for the disembarkation of the Force on the following day.

Accordingly, on 23rd September, the 2nd Bn, South Wales Borderers, disembarked at 8 a.m., followed by stores, ponies, mules and carts, &c. The men worked hard and cheerfully at landing and stacking stores, &c., and the entire disembarkation was accomplished by 6 a.m. on 24th September, with the exception of Base stores not immediately required, which were left on board the s.s. "Kwang Ping" in anticipation of a change of Base to Sha-tzu-kou Bay, within about 10 miles of the lines of investment.

The 24th September was spent in transferring stores from landing place to Base Supply Depot.

I sent Major H. G. Pringle, General Staff, to Chimo, to ascertain the wishes of the Japanese Commander-in-Chief, who, I was informed, had just arrived at that place.

I despatched Captain C. D. Hamilton Moore, D.A.A. and Q.M.G., to reconnoitre two roads over the Lao Shan Range, by which I thought I could move the force towards the left of the line of investment, which would be the most convenient position for purposes of supply, as my transport was only sufficient to carry 4 days' rations.

One of these roads was found to be quite unsuitable and the other only possible with a complete re-organisation of the transport, using pack mules or coolies over the worst parts of the Pass, and man-handling such carts as were necessary for use on the further side.

I was prepared to make this re-organisation if necessary.

On arrival, however, on the 25th, at Pu-li, about six miles from Lao Shan Bay, I learned that the Japanese Commander wished to use the Force under my command in the centre of the line, and he desired me, therefore, to march viâ Chimo and Liuting towards Litsun.

I also gathered that the Japanese plan of operations was to advance south from Chimo on 27th and 28th, and to attack on 29th and 30th the German advanced line, extending from Prince Henry Hill to Ku Shan, in order that siege material might be brought up to bombard the main position in front of Tsingtau.

To comply with the wishes of the Japanese Commander implied a very heavy strain on my transport, and probably very short rations, as it implied a line of communications nearly 40 miles in length, over a single, bad, narrow and congested road, or rather track.

It was essential, however, to make the effort, and I decided to do so, even if we had to exist on half rations.

On the 26th September the Force marched to Chimo, about 13 miles, where it arrived at 11-30 a.m., the transport arriving later in the afternoon, and a convoy of supplies from the Base about 11 p.m., after experiencing the greatest difficulties, owing to the blocked roads.

I consider that the officers and others concerned deserve the greatest credit for accomplishing what seemed an almost insuperable task, and I desire specially to bring to notice the excellent services rendered by Captain Don, Indian Supply and Transport Corps.

To the men, the marches, although not long, were very trying, owing to the constant halts and checks owing to the road being blocked by Japanese artillery and transport, but, with the exception of a few cases of fever, no men fell out.

On arrival at Chimo my supply difficulties were greatly lessened by the offer of the Japanese military authorities to use their transport for the purpose of establishing an advanced supply depot at Chimo, from which point our own transport would be able to work forward to the refilling point.

On the 27th the force moved on about 9 miles to Liuting and halted. I rode on to Divisional Headquarters, where I was received very cordially by Lieut.-General Kamio, the Japanese Commander-in-Chief, who gave me an outline of the following day's operations, in which we were to take part.

On the 28th, in accordance with his orders, the force proceeded towards Litsun with a view of participating in the attack on the German advanced position, which was then being reconnoitred by the Japanese troops.

The Germans holding the position retired, however, before the Japanese advanced troops, who occupied the position which it was General Kamio's intention to have assaulted on the following night and morning.

The force under my command was therefore not engaged, and marched on to a village about 2½ miles in rear of the Japanese line, where it bivouacked.

This position, however, proved to be unsuitable, as we were exposed to the enemy's artillery fire, luckily without suffering any casualties ; but on the 30th September I moved the force to the reverse slopes of a hill about 1 mile to the eastward of our former position, where the men were under cover, and were able to make splinter proof shelters.

Commanding Tsingtau Expeditionary Force.

[Despatch No. 2.]

Investing Lines before Tsingtau,
29th October, 1914.

SIR,—

In continuation of my despatch dated 9th instant, I have the honour to report that on the 10th instant I received orders from the Japanese Commander to the effect that the Force under my command was to take its place in the front line of the investing force, a front of about 600 yards being assigned to us.

Accordingly, on the 11th instant I directed the Officer Commanding 2nd Bn., South Wales Borderers, to take up, with 2 companies, a line running approximately north-west and south-west through a point a little north of Point 177 on Shuang Shan, furnishing two piquets with their supports and a local reserve. The remaining companies of the 2nd Bn., South Wales Borderers, were distributed in such nullahs, south of Huang-Chia-Ving, as afforded the best cover from shell fire.

2. The range of heights forming the position of the line of investment south of that village, with their underfeatures, is intersected by numerous deep ravines of clay, excellent for protection and accommodation in dry weather. In wet weather, however, such as we have been unfortunately experiencing, the loose soil is washed away, the sides of the nullahs fall in, carrying with them the shelters for the troops ; every valley becomes a torrent and every road or track a mass of deep mud. Cover for the men both from fire and weather becomes impossible. The men have been soaked through and through for as much as 48 hours, and equipment has been buried by falls of earth, and ammunition has rusted, but in spite of all hardships and privations the spirits and health of the troops have been excellent, and they have worked continuously at digging and at the heavy fatigue work of carrying rations and ammunition and heavy beams for head cover 1½ miles to the front where wheeled traffic has been impossible —often in liquid mud halfway up to the knees.

3. By degrees, and as I can obtain space, I am moving the rear companies up towards the front line preparatory to the attack on the fortress. Considerable delay has taken place in the preparations of the Japanese owing to heavy rains, but I learned yesterday that the bombardment will commence on the 31st instant.

4. The health of the troops, notwithstanding the hard work and trying weather, is most satisfactory.

5. The line of investment we now hold extends from Kiao-Chau Bay to the sea, running approximately through Kushan, 119 degrees 21 minutes, 36 degrees 8 minutes (Lat. 36° 8′ N., Long. 119° 21′ E.), the high ground south of Chia-Lien-Kow to Foushan (Prince Henry's Hill).

The following is a summary of the order for the attack on the fortress, so far as concerns the British Force:—

The whole of the enemy's main line of defence will constitute the front of attack. All arrangements are calculated for a deliberate advance, but any opportunity of attacking which presents itself will be seized upon.

The front of attack is divided into four sections, the right central section being assigned to the force under my command. One front of about 600 yards is roughly bounded by two parallel lines running north-east and south-west—the right flank line passing through Tashan, 119 degrees 22 minutes, 36 degrees 7 minutes (36° 7′ N., 119° 22′ E.), village and Point 375, 372 ? the left, the north-west corner of Ho-Hsi and the eastern corner of Tiu Tung-Chien (Tai Tung Chen ?).

To-morrow the line of investment will be advanced to a line running through Kushan, Shvang-Shan, 119 degrees, 6 minutes, 36 degrees 6 minutes (36° 6′ N., 119° 6′ E.), Tung-Wu-Chia-Tsun, Tien-Chia-Tsun, Hsin-Chia-Chuang in the construction of which working parties from each section are employed daily and nightly.

When the bombardment begins, the Infantry and Engineers of the front line will prepare for the subsequent advance, and during the night of the 1st November will occupy a line through the high ground west of Han-Chia-Chuang, and south of Tung-Wu-Chia-Tsun, and north of Fou-Shan-So—also that village.

The first position of attack will be prepared on this line, and during the first two or three nights will be strengthened, communicating trenches completed, and preparations made for the next advance.

The second position of attack will be strongly constructed, approximately on the line Pump Stratton, Hsi-Wu-Chia-Tsun, the high ground east of Kang-Chia-Chuang and the ridge west of Fou-Shan-So, and in this position preparations will be made for the destruction of obstacles and the subsequent approach.

The main portion of the siege artillery will first fix on the enemy's forts and the remainder against his war vessels. Subsequently, as the first line advances, this portion of the artillery will fire on the enemy's redoubts.

Co-operation with the Navy is arranged for.

6. I am collecting 12 days' supplies at a suitable place in rear of the advanced position to provide against the eventuality of its being found impossible, in this very difficult country, to bring them up during the bombardment. A suitable place for my Brigade Ammunition Reserve, about 2 miles in rear of the first position of attack, has been selected.

The Field Hospital has been established at Che-Chia-Hsia-Chuang, about half-way between Litsun-Erh-Shan and Prince Henry Hill, and dressing stations have been arranged for in nullahs in rear of the front line.

7. The half battalion of the 36th Sikhs under command of Lieutenant-Colonel E. L. Sullivan disembarked at Lao-Shan Bay on the 22nd instant and arrived yesterday at the front.

[Despatch No. 3.]

From Brigadier-General N. W. Barnardiston, M. V. O., to the War Office.

Tsingtau,
10th November, 1914.

SIR,—

I have the honour to report the successful conclusion of this Expedition in the surrender of Tsingtau on the 7th instant.

The operations in which the force under my command have taken part proceeded as outlined in my Despatch No. 2, dated 29th October.

The advanced position indicated in that despatch was occupied on the 30th October. The bombardment commenced on the 31st, the enemy not replying to any great extent. During the first day some oil tanks and coal stores near the dockyard were burnt, and the forts and redoubts suffered severely. Throughout the bombardment the practice of the Japanese artillery was surprisingly good, and the accuracy of their fire and their numerical superiority in guns no doubt proved the principal factor in compelling the enemy's surrender. It is stated that the Germans expended all their gun ammunition. The bombardment continued with slight intermission until the fall of the place.

On the 1st November the First Position of attack (see my Despatch No. 2) was occupied, and the preparation of the Second Position commenced. This position was ready for occupation on the 3rd instant, but, owing to its location in the immediate vicinity of the bed of the river, it was impossible to drain it or to occupy it permanently, and as it was everywhere under close infantry fire from the First Position, I merely held it during the night with piquets.

On the night of the 4th November somewhat heavy artillery fire was directed on our trenches, the 36th Sikhs losing 2 Sepoys killed and 2 officers wounded, while the 2nd Battalion, South Wales Borderers, had also several casualties.

On the 5th November I was ordered to prepare a Third Position of attack on the left bank of the river. This line was to a great extent enfiladed on both flanks by Nos. 1 and 2 Redoubts, especially the latter, from which annoying machine-gun fire was experienced.

The bed of the river (a small stream running over a broad bed of sand) had also to be crossed, and in doing so the working parties of the 2nd Battalion, South Wales Borderers, suffered somewhat severely, losing 8 non-commissioned officers and men killed and 24 wounded. The 36th Sikhs had only slight losses. Notwithstanding this a good deal of work was done, especially on the right flank.

I considered it my duty to represent to the Japanese Commander-in-Chief the untenable nature, for permanent occupation, of the portion of the Third Position in my front, but received a reply that it was necessary for it to be held in order to fit in with the general scheme of assault.

On the evening of the 6th, accordingly, I occupied it with piquets, and the working parties continued to improve it.

During the night, on hearing rumours of the evacuation of one or more of the redoubts, I sent out officer's patrols to ascertain if the enemy were still holding the trenches in front of us, and prepared to advance should the front be clear. They were met, however, with rifles and machine-gun fire, and reported that No. 2 Redoubt, on our left, was still held.

Between 5 and 6 a.m. on the morning of the 7th, the enemy started a further cannonade for field artillery and an occasional shot from their heavy guns, and I issued preparatory orders for an advance as soon as I knew the redoubts were captured. At 7 a.m. all firing ceased, and I was informed that the enemy had sent out a flag of truce. About 7-30 a.m. I received orders to advance, and, the enemy along the whole of our front having then retired, I marched into Tsingtau.

The troops under my command have behaved extremely well under trying conditions of weather and those inseparable from siege warfare, and all ranks have worked loyally and hard.

I propose in a subsequent despatch to bring to your notice those who have merited special mention.

The total casualties in the force up to the present date are given in the annexure to this despatch.

War Office,

31st May, 1916.

The following Despatch has been received by the Secretary of State for War from Major-General Sir Charles M. Dobell, K.C.B., Commanding the Allied Forces in the Cameroons :—

General Headquarters, Cameroons,

1st March 1916.

MY LORD,—

I have the honour to forward herewith a summary of the operations carried out by the Allied force under my command, covering the period between the capitulation of Duala, 27th September, 1914, and the termination of active operations.

I have, in this despatch, endeavoured to maintain a correct perspective, remembering that our operations in this theatre of war are incomparable in magnitude to those taking place elsewhere. For purposes of comparison I may, however, add that the number of troops of both nations at my immediate disposal at the commencement of the campaign amounted to 4,300 West African native soldiers; on the 21st November, 1915, this number had been increased to 9,700, including Indian troops. In these numbers the British and French forces were approximately equal.

As Your Lordship is aware, I have kept the proper authorities informed in some detail as to the proceedings and progress of the troops under my command. These despatches I have endeavoured to forward at intervals of about a fortnight; I do not, therefore, propose to enlarge on such questions as the organization and preparation of the force placed at my disposal, nor the naval measures that were taken in a campaign to which the adjective "amphibious" may be applied in its widest sense. It is perhaps sufficient to state I fully realized that the conquest of a country which is some 306,000 square miles in area, or roughly one and a half times the size of the German Empire, defended by a well-led and well-trained native force, plentifully supplied with machine guns, was no light task.

2. On my passage from the United Kingdom early in September, 1914, I learnt at various ports of call that the operations which had taken place on the Nigerian frontier had not been as successful as had been anticipated, thus confirming my opinion that Duala, the capital and chief port of the Cameroons, must be made my immediate objective. I entertained no doubts as to the ability of the Royal Navy to overcome the difficulties and make a landing at Duala feasible, and my best hopes were realised when I was informed that H.M.S. "Challenger" could force a passage through the sunken wrecks and other obstructions in the Cameroon River, and reach a point 7,000 yards from the town. This was made possible owing to the mine sweeping and other preparatory work which had been carried out by the Royal Navy and Nigeria Marine, under the direction of Captain Fuller, R.N., H.M.S. "Cumberland".

On my summons for the surrender of the Colony being refused, and after duly notifying the German Commandant of my intention, I ordered a bombardment of the town to commence early on 26th September; this in combination with a land demonstration, made by way of one of the neighbouring creeks, was sufficient to induce the Commandant on 27th September, to surrender the towns of Duala and Bonaberi, with a small strip of land in their environs. The surrender of Duala secured us a safe and convenient base for the future absorption of German territory; further, the capture of stores, supplies, field guns, and the removal of over 400 German Europeans was a great loss to the German Field Force, whilst the seizure of the large amount of shipping and numerous small craft in the harbour was an inestimable advantage to us.

3. My first object was to consolidate the position already won, and with this object in view an Allied force was allotted the task of clearing the country up to and including the Japoma Bridge, Midland Railway, whilst a British force commenced to make headway towards Maka on the Northern Railway line. Reconnaissances by land and water were carried out with uniformly successful results. I may remark incidentally that neither the climate nor the character of the country favoured the offensive, officers and men were exposed to the most trying conditions—incessant tropical rains, absence of roads or even paths, a country covered with the densest African forest—all contributed to the difficulties with which the troops were faced. Had it not been for the existing railways which formed a line of advance as well as supply, it is difficult to see how progress could have been made.

The country in the immediate vicinity of Duala is perhaps typical of the greater portion of the Cameroons in which my troops have operated, excepting beyond Northern railhead where the country becomes open and, on account of its greater altitude, healthier, but all the coast line, and for some 150 miles inland, one meets the same monotonous impenetrable African forest fringed, on the coast line, by an area of mangrove swamp in varying depth. The zone is well watered by numerous rivers of which the Wuri, Sanaga and Njong present serious military obstacles. Once outside this belt conditions change at once, supplies and live-stock are obtainable, and open grass lands are reached; the one unusual geographical feature is the Cameroon Mountain, some 13,000 feet high, which rises abruptly from the sea, its slopes clothed with valuable plantations, and on which the hill station of Buea, the former administrative capital of the Protectorate, is perched.

4. By the first week in October we had made good the country as far as Maka and the left bank of the Dibamba creek. The Japoma railway bridge, 900 yards in length, was broken in two places, but a fine feat was performed by the French tirailleurs in forcing this passage under a galling rifle and machine-gun fire. The Royal Navy and Royal Marine Light Infantry also materially contributed to this success.

I now judged that I could move a force by the Wuri River on Jabassi, so as to secure Duala from any attack from the north-east; a mixed Naval and Military force, supported by armed craft, was organized and an attack was delivered on 8th October. It is regrettable that this operation was not at first successful, difficult country, novel conditions, and the fact that our native troops encountered machine-gun fire for the first time are contributory causes to failure; nevertheless, it became necessary completely to reorganize the force and repeat the operation, with the result that Jabassi was taken on 14th October. From this place a force was pushed out to Njamtan and the country around Jabassi was cleared of the enemy.

My next objective was Edea, on which place I determined an advance should be made from three directions, two by land and one by river. Strong forces were moved from Japoma and by the Njong River to Dehane, thence by a track towards Edea. The third force proceeded by the Sanaga River; the navigation of this river is most difficult, dangerous bars hinder entrance into its mouth and sand banks obstruct the passage up to Edea. The feat performed by Commander L. W. Braithwaite, R.N., in navigating an armed flotilla on the Sanaga was a remarkable one. Thus the combined movement, outlined above, was entirely successful and Edea was occupied on the morning of 26th October. This result had not been achieved without hard fighting, particularly on the part of the force operating by the line of the railway. It was during the preliminary operations in this undertaking that Lieutenant Child, Director of Nigeria Marine, Commander Gray, and Captain Franqueville, of the French Army, lost their lives through the capsizing of their boat in the surf at the mouth of the Njong River—valuable lives whose losses it was difficult to replace.

5. During the latter half of October the small force under Lieutenant-Colonel Haywood was continuously engaged with the enemy on the line of the Northern Railway, but had made such good progress that I was in a position to arrange for an attack on Victoria, Soppo and Buea. As in previous operations I divided my force, part of which was moved by water to Tiko, part from Susa by Mpundu on the Mungo River, and the third portion supplied by the Royal Navy and Royal Marine Light Infantry moved by sea to Victoria. The opposition met with cannot be described as serious, but the country was very trying to troops; the energy with which our advantage was pushed appeared to demoralise the Germans, and by the 15th November we had secured Buea, with Soppo and Victoria. We inflicted considerable casualties on the enemy whilst escaping very lightly ourselves.

With the double object of striking an effective blow at the enemy and at the same time relieving the pressure on the southern frontier of Nigeria I decided to clear the whole of the Northern Railway of the enemy, and for this purpose concentrated a force at Mujuka, under command of Colonel Gorges, on 30th November. This force gradually fought its way to the North and reached Nkongsamba (railhead), which was surrendered to us on 10th December. It is worthy of remark that we took two airplanes at this place—the first machines that had ever arrived in West Africa. The advance was continued to Dschang, which was occupied on 3rd January, and the fort destroyed; most of the hostile resistance was met with at the Nkam River, but our columns rarely remained unmolested and experienced difficulties in operating in a class of country totally different to that to which they had by then become accustomed. I decided, as soon as the fort at Dschang had been destroyed, that the place should be evacuated and Nkongsamba, with its outpost at Bare, should be our most advanced position. It was unfortunate that we could not continue to hold Dschang, as our withdrawal gave a false impression to the natives and emboldened the enemy. However, with the troops at my disposal I did not feel strong enough to maintain and supply a post, 55 miles north of railhead, in a difficult and mountainous country.

6. Early in 1915 the situation was as follows:—

British troops holding Duala, the Northern Railway with Bare, Victoria and Dibombe (a defended post south-west of Jabassi).

French troops on the line of the Midland Railway up to and including Edea, which place was partially isolated as one span of the first of the two bridges had been destroyed. A detachment at Kribi was protecting that seaport from land attack.

Ships and armed craft of the Allied Navies had visited the whole of the Cameroons sea board and had established bases for small craft to patrol the rivers where navigable.

By this time approximately 1,000 male Europeans, only 32 of whom were incapable of bearing arms, had been deported for internment in Europe.

Towards the end of 1914 the French, under General Aymerich, and Belgian troops based on French Equatorial Africa, commenced to make their presence felt in the South and South-East, but my force was separated from them by a distance of approximately 400 miles.

In the North an Allied force was fully occupied in observing Mora and Garua.

At and near Ossidinge a small British Force from Nigeria and German forces were in contact.

Notwithstanding the number of troops, British, French and Belgian, in the country it was impossible at this period to co-ordinate their movements, owing to the vastness of the area over which they were scattered and the impossibility of establishing any means of intercommunication between the various Commanders. Furthermore, it was difficult for me to pursue a very active policy, as it was necessary to maintain comparatively strong garrisons in the places already occupied. Posts on our lines of communication were also absorbing troops from my somewhat depleted force, amongst which sickness was beginning to play its part.

7. It was on the 5th January that the German Commander endeavoured to deliver a serious blow to the French force commanded by Colonel Mayer. Two practically simultaneous attacks were made against his force; the first at Kopongo, on the railway, the second at Edea. I had obtained some knowledge of the German Commander's intention, and the post at Kopongo had been slightly augmented, with the happy result that the attack on this point was easily repulsed, but not until the railway and telegraph lines had both been cut and all communication with Edea severed. The troops at Edea had, however, to bear the brunt of a more serious movement. The locality of Edea is by no means easy to defend owing to the proximity of the forest, the scattered nature of the buildings, and inequality of the ground; but so skilfully were the defences devised, and so good was the French marksmanship, that at the termination of the combat the Germans left on the field 23 Europeans dead and 190 native soldiers killed and wounded. The French loss consisted of one European serjeant and 3 tirailleurs killed and 11 tirailleurs wounded. A machine gun, number of rifles, ammunition and equipment fell into the French hands. It is significant that this was the first and last occasion on which the Germans attempted an operation of this nature on a comparatively large scale.

Towards the end of January, Lieutenant-Colonel (now Brigadier-General) Cunliffe arrived at Duala on a mission from Lagos, and as a result of a conference it was agreed that a more active prosecution of the campaign in the Northern Cameroons should be undertaken. I detached Major (now Lieut.-Colonel) W. D. Wright, V.C., a most able officer, from the Staff of the British Contingent under my command and placed his services at the disposal of the Officer Commanding the Allied Forces at Garua. I also arranged with Captain Fuller, R. N., for the despatch of a naval field gun to Yola, via the Niger and Benue Rivers, for eventual use against the forts at Garua.

The early days of February were marked by great hostile activity in the neighbourhood of Northern railhead. Lieut.-Colonel Cockburn, commanding a battalion of the Nigeria Regiment, had a serious encounter with the enemy at Mbureku on the morning of the 3rd February resulting in the capture of the hostile camp, a large quantity of small-arms ammunition, and equipment. We were, however, unable to reap the full advantage of our success as Lieutenant-Colonel Cockburn was obliged to transfer his force to the neighbourhood of Harmann's Farm, where the Sierra Leone Battalion was engaged with the enemy. During these two incidents we lost nearly 120 native soldiers killed, wounded or missing; but, after we had consolidated our position at Bare, the enemy did not follow up the slight advantage he had gained.

Constant activity during February had failed to gain for us any material advantage to the north of the railway, and there were a series of small incidents which culminated in the second attack by our troops on the points known as Stoebel's and Harmann's Farms on 4th March. I regret that this attack was not successful and we lost some valuable lives, including Major (Lieutenant-Colonel) G. P. Newstead, commanding the Sierra Leone Battalion, and Captain C. H. Dinnen, Staff Captain, an officer of great promise. The enemy must, however, have suffered in a similar degree, as it was later found that he had evacuated his defensive position and retired further north.

During February I received valuable re-inforcements from French and British West African Colonies, and I was enabled to reconstitute my force and place a more homogeneous unit at the disposal of Lieut.-Colonel R. A. de B. Rose, commanding the Gold Coast Regiment.

8. On the 12th March a mission from French Equatorial Africa, at the head of which was Monsieur Fourneau, Lieutenant-Gouverneur du Moyen Congo, reached Duala. Its object was to invite my co-operation in an immediate advance, in conjunction with the troops under General Aymerich from south-east and east, against Jaunde. Since the occupation of Duala Jaunde had been transformed into the temporary seat of the Colonial Administration. I fully realised the political and strategic importance of Jaunde, but demurred embarking on such an operation at that moment. It was late in the season and the rains were already beginning, besides which the troops I was able to employ were insufficient to ensure success in the absence of effective co-operation, in the immediate vicinity of Jaunde, by the troops under General Aymerich. Owing to the difficulty of communication it was quite unsafe to count on this. However, in view of the great advantage which would follow an early occupation of Jaunde, I consented to co-operate with all my available strength, and the 20th April was fixed as the date on which an advance should be made from the line Ngwe—So Dibanga, on the Kele River. I consequently entrained a British force, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Haywood, on 7th April, which was to commence a methodical advance in co-operation with the French troops under Colonel Mayer. The forcing of the line of the Kele River and the position at Ngwe, both of which places were obstinately defended, occasioned my troops some losses. I further found it necessary to despatch a force to Sakbajeme to deny the crossing of the Sanaga River at that place to the enemy. It soon became evident that the enemy was withdrawing troops from other and more distant parts of the Colony to resist our further advance.

At midnight 23rd-24th April the blockade of the Cameroons was declared, and every artifice was used to deceive the enemy, and incessant and unremitting activity was maintained by the Royal Navy on the coast line, so as to induce the enemy to believe that disembarkation would be made at a point from which a force could be marched on Jaunde. Campo had been occupied by a Naval detachment, and boat patrol of the river as far as Dipikar was maintained.

The advance from the line already mentioned was subsequently postponed till 1st May on which date the French and British columns moved forward to make good Eseka and Wum Biagas, respectively.

The French advance on Eseka was conducted with some difficulty, as broken bridges denied them the use of the railway line for supply trains. Commandant Mechet, who conducted the advance, successfully overcame all difficulties and, after being seriously opposed at Sende, reached Eseka on 11th May.

Turning to the British advance, on 1st May Lieutenant-Colonel Haywood recommenced his march eastwards from Ngwe, and driving in the hostile outposts at Ndupe, on the 3rd May his force was facing the formidable position which the enemy had established on the left bank of the Mbila River at Wum Biagas. We captured the positio on 4th May, but not without serious losses in European officers. A warm tribute is due to the bravery and steadiness displayed by our Native troops, and to the pluck and endurance of the European ranks in face of such stubborn resistance.

As previously arranged, the French force at Eseka now moved north and joined the British at Wum Biagas, and Colonel Mayer left Edea to assume command of the Allied expedition. Stores and supplies were pushed forward by road, and a naval 12-pounder gun was despatched to reinforce our artillery.

Owing to the heavy casualties which had occurred in the ranks of the two battalions of the Nigeria Regiment and the inability of Nigeria, owing to the many calls made by General Cunliffe's troops, to supply me with trained soldiers, I decided towards the end of May to establish a training depôt at Duala. The recruits were enlisted in Nigeria, and transferred to Duala for training. This proved a great success, and by its means 536 soldiers were trained and passed into the ranks.

9. On 11th May I received a message from the Governor-General of French Equatorial Africa, which informed me that the progress of the troops under General Aymerich had not been as rapid as expected, and that as neither Dume or Lomie had been captured, no definite date could be given for the advance from those places. As I realised that the advance on Jaunde, if delayed for any length of time, would be seriously interfered with by the rains, and the sickness among both Europeans and natives, which was already causing me some anxiety would rapidly increase, I instructed Colonel Mayer to push on with all vigour, in consequence of which he left Wum Biagas on 25th May.

I regret that supply difficulties soon made themselves evident, the country was barren, and with all available carriers and the few motor vehicles at my disposal, at that time only three, I was unable to transport food for Europeans and natives with sufficient rapidity. Handicapped by the almost impenetrable bush and a terrain which afforded many defensive positions, the advance became exceedingly slow. At every turn of the road the advance was met by machine-gun fire, so that during the 25th and 26th May only 5 miles was made good. It took two days to force the enemy from Njok. The enemy evidently had received reinforcements and commenced to interfere with our line of communication, which was peculiarly susceptible to attack, while the long convoys of carriers were singularly prone to panic. I received an appeal from Colonel Mayer for reinforcements, as in addition to other disabilities dysentery had broken out in his force. I sent forward such troops as were available and took measures to obtain more carriers from the West African Colonies.

From 31st May till 4th June Colonel Mayer was held up at a position at Matem, which presented more than usual difficulties owing to the swamps, which rendered a turning movement impossible. By the 5th June only 12 miles from Wum Biagas had been made good. About this date Colonel Mayer informed me that owing to sickness, specially amongst Europeans, and to the stubborn resistance, of the enemy, he was of opinion that the further advance of his column on Jaunde was impracticable, and he proposed, pending further instructions, to establish himself on the Puge River, where he could await the approach of General Aymerich's troops. I immediately informed the Governor-General of Equatorial Africa of the situation, adding that unless he had recent news of General Aymerich's advance I should be obliged to withdraw Colonel Mayer's force to the line of the Kele River. On 7th June Governor-General Merlin informed me by telegraph that he had received no further news from the Southern Cameroons. I thereupon decided to withdraw our force to the Ndupe River preparatory to holding a line So Dibanga—Ngwe. A serious attack on one of our convoys of 500 carriers, and the consequent loss of food supplies, decided Colonel Mayer to retire without further delay. During the 16th and 17th June our rearguards were harassed, but never broken, and the enemy suffered considerably in his attacks. I deemed it advisable to send forward a reinforcement of the last troops at my disposal so that the pressure on our withdrawal could be relieved; these troops, after leaving Duala on the morning of the 15th June, bivouacked the following day at Ngui, 35 miles beyond Edea, having completed much of the distance in heavy tropical rains. On the following morning, after resuming their march, they reached Colonel Mayer's column at a most opportune moment during a heavy attack on the rearguard. Not till 28th June did the hostile activity cease, when our posts were firmly established at Ngwe and on the Kele River at So Dibanga. In comparison to the size of our force the casualties were serious, 25 per cent. being either killed or wounded. I regret that this operation was not more fruitful in results, and I fully recognise the fact that Colonel Mayer was not in a position to undertake, singlehanded, an advance on Jaunde, but I had hoped that the pressure that was being brought on the hostile forces in the Southern Cameroons would have had the effect of preventing a concentration against us.

During this period our troops near Northern Railhead were not in a position to undertake any serious offensive action.

10. There was now an unavoidable lull in the operations caused by the rains. I seized this opportunity to send as many British officers and non-commissioned officers as possible to the United Kingdom for a few weeks' rest, and I arranged that most of the native troops from Nigeria and the Gold Coast should, in turn, visit their own Colonies. I managed, however, to send detachments to operate near the Njong and Campo Rivers, respectively. A French detachment from Ngwe also carried out a successful reconnaissance in July.

It was on 25th and 26th August, 1915, at a conference which took place at Duala between Governor-General Merlin, General Aymerich and myself, that the plan was decided on by which the Cameroons was eventually conquered.

The fall of Garua, in the north, early in June enabled a British and French force to be set free which could move through the highlands of the Cameroons to the south.

General Aymerich, whose troops were now established at Bertua and Dume, promised definite co-operation, with Jaunde, as before, the objective, whilst a force under Lieut.-Colonel le Meillour moved parallel to the eastern frontier of Muni, and was to cross the Campo River and move in the direction of Ebolowa. It was also arranged that I should show such activity as was possible from Northern Railhead so as to assist the British force at Ossidinge in its attempt to link up with other troops from Nigeria, and further that a force should land at Campo and move parallel to the northern frontier of Spanish Guinea.

It was unfortunate that Brigadier-General Cunliffe was unable to attend this conference, but all details were communicated to him, and he was asked to exercise all possible pressure from the north. His rôle was most admirably carried out.

The arrival of the 5th Light Infantry of the Indian Army strengthened my command, and further reinforcements from French West Africa were promised. The General Officer Commanding at Freetown and the Governors of Nigeria and the Gold Coast agreed to send me the carriers I required and to maintain them by monthly drafts. It was thanks to these officers that, in spite of a rather heavy sick roll among carriers, an efficient transport service was maintained throughout. My requirements in motor transport were also met; this service proved invaluable and far exceeded my expectations. Thus by 22nd September preparations were sufficiently far advanced for a move to be made in an easterly direction. Many of the earlier operations were a repetition of those which had taken place in May and June, but the general plan differed in so much that I arranged for the British and French lines of supply to be kept distinct, whilst I also determined that Eseka should be made the French advanced base from which operations could be carried forward to the Jaunde—Kribi road, and that our general advance should be carried out by means of parallel columns by road and railway. Our communications needed much repair, including the total reconstruction of a heavy railway bridge and a deviation necessitating considerable labour on earthwork. Many other smaller bridges were broken or destroyed, those on the road were made fit for heavy traffic, those on the railway were practically rebuilt.

The British force, as previously, experienced stiff resistance at Wum Biagas, but on 9th October that place was captured after a lively action, in which the Nigerian and Gold Coast troops once more distinguished themselves. From here we were enabled to send out flanking columns and render some assistance to the French troops who were fighting their way to Eseka. The Kele River, in flood, proved a formidable obstacle, and its crossing somewhat delayed the British flanking columns sent out from Wum Biagas. Sende was occupied by the French on 25th October, and the enemy was driven from Eseka on 30th October. Considerable rolling stock, left behind after our previous advance, was retaken, and proved a valuable addition to our exiguous supply of engines and wagons. By 23rd November, both British and French forces were ready for the final advance, the bush track from Edea to Wum Biagas had been converted into a good motor road, and through railway communication, Duala—Eseka, was nearing completion. There were also over 7,000 carriers employed on such sections of the communications as were still unfit for motor or rail traffic. Dschang Mangas was selected as the primary objective of the British force, whilst the French were directed to make good the line of the Jaunde—Kribi road. Both forces slightly modified their tactics and the advance was generally carried out by a main body, with two wings moving on as wide a front as the nature of the country permitted. The method of our advance appears to have entirely disconcerted the enemy and, although he still continued strenuously to resist our advance, it became apparent that his strength was gradually becoming exhausted. Towards the end of November the fighting in and around Lesogs by the troops under Lieut.-Colonel Cockburn was of a very severe nature, but the troops from the Northern Provinces of Nigeria gallantly rose to the occasion and, despite all difficulties of the country, were not to be denied in their endeavour to dislodge the enemy. Much credit is due to these troops and their leaders for the admirable conduct of this operation. Ngung was reached on the 30th November, and, up to this place, every defensive position was disputed by the enemy. On 7th December the advance on Dschang Mangas was continued and both main and flank columns were subject to opposition. A well executed move by a small force of the Gold Coast Regiment, under Captain Butler, V.C., considerably disturbed the enemy, the capture of one of his machine guns and several thousand rounds of ammunition, in addition to important documents, produced considerable effect On 17th December the more open and cultivated country was reached and we took Dschang Mangas.

From 26th November onwards the French were fighting their way through very broken country to Mangeles; they had to face determined opposition and lost a considerable number of European and native soldiers, but their tenacity of purpose was rewarded by the capture of Mangeles on 21st December, after intermittent fighting covering a period of five days. The column halted at this place for rest and to establish a supply depôt.

11. I must now indicate the turn that events had taken beyond Northern Railhead. I was informed from Nigeria that the British force at Ossidinge, under Major Crookenden, would be prepared to move on Bamenda on 12th October. I therefore ordered a force consisting of portions of the West African Regiment, 5th Light Infantry, and some artillery, under Lieut.-Colonel Cotton, 5th Light Infantry, to move on Dschang from Bare, also starting on 12th October. Hostile opposition was experienced at Mwu and Nkam Rivers and from an entrenched position at Sanschu. On 6th November Dschang was occupied. On receipt of information that Major Crookenden's force had reached Bamenda on 22nd October I ordered Lieut.-Colonel Cotton to leave a garrison in Dschang and move a force to Bagam to co-operate with Major Crookenden in an attack on that place. The enemy had, however, forestalled us and withdrawn to Fumban, whither we pursued him after experiencing some difficulty in effecting the crossing of the Nun River. On 2nd December the important centre of Fumban was occupied and an abortive effort of the enemy to retake it was frustrated. Brigadier-General Cunliffe, foreseeing the possibility of obstinate resistance at Fumban, had directed two other small columns to co-operate in our movement on that place. These columns arrived almost simultaneously with that under Lieut.-Colonel Cotton. Major Crookenden's troops then continued their advance under Brigadier-General Cunliffe's direction, whilst I placed garrisons in Fumban, Bana and Bagam, and the bulk of Lieut.-Colonel Cotton's troops returned to Railhead. I was thus enabled to withdraw a small force to move from Nkongsamba to Jabassi and penetrate the Bafia country, where I still believed there were small hostile parties. I also was enabled to detach a force to assist the French column operating from Campo. I think I may consider our operations in the Northern area were entirely satisfactory, and the simultaneous advance of our columns took the heart out of the remnants of the enemy forces in that district. Furthermore, we had established touch with Brigadier General Cunliffe's columns, which were now converging on the Sanaga River, at a point known as the Nachtigal Rapids. Our losses were slight and the health of all ranks was considerably better than that of the troops fighting in the lower altitudes.

12. Reverting to the operations of the main forces. On receiving information that the British force had arrived at Dschang Mangas, I decided that it would be more advantageous to move on Jaunde direct, rather than await the French advance to the Jaunde—Kribi road. In arriving at this decision I was influenced by the fact that the mind of the native does not understand the meaning nor necessity of delay, and from a political point of view the early occupation of Jaunde appeared to be all important. From 22nd December, the hostile resistance gradually weakened, strongly entrenched positions were abandoned, and on the morning of the 1st January Colonel Gorges entered Jaunde with his force. The enemy appeared to have completely broken under the pressure which he was now experiencing from all sides. Allied troops from the north, troops from French Equatorial Africa and the Belgian Congo commenced to arrive in Jaunde during the first week in January. It is, I think, a remarkable feat that troops that had fought and marched for a period of seventeen months should have converged on their objective within a few days of one another.

The direct effect of the occupation of Jaunde was to relieve all pressure in front of the French force advancing from Mangeles, the Jaunde—Kribi road being reached early in January. British and French forces were moved during the first week in January to Widemenge and in the direction of Ebolowa viâ Olama and Onana Besa crossings of the Njong River. At Kol Maka, Lieut.-Colonel Haywood succeeded in securing the release of officers non-commissioned officers, civilian and native non-combatants who had been taken prisoners by the Germans at various times during the war; his force, supported by a strong French column, continued its advance on Ebolowa, on which place a second Allied column was also advancing. A French force under Lieut.-Colonel Faucon occupied Ebolowa on 19th January, after experiencing some slight resistance. The definite move of the remnants of the German forces towards Spanish territory now became apparent, and Lieut.-Colonel Haywood proceeded with all despatch to follow them up as far as Nkan, from which place I diverted him viâ Efulen on Kribi, in order to clear the western area of stragglers. A British force was also moved to Lolodorf.

Colonel Morrison took command of a strong French force, and, moving towards the Spanish frontier, succeeded in driving the German force in front of him across the Campo river into neutral territory. A similar operation was conducted by the French force which had operated from Campo, so that by the middle of February no Germans were left in the Cameroons, and the conquest of the country had been completed.

13. To that able soldier, Colonel Mayer, C.B., French Colonial Infantry, I desire to express my deep indebtedness, not alone for the skilled leading of his troops, but also for the clear and practical manner in which he handled the numerous perplexing problems with which he was confronted. I also desire to bring to Your Lordship's notice the name of Capitaine de Génie Chardy; without the assistance of this talented officer it is difficult to imagine how the repair and maintenance of the Chemin de Fer du Centre could have been carried out. To Capitaine Chardy and his subordinates I desire to tender my warmest thanks.

Capitaine André Charvet, of the French Colonial Infantry, served on my staff for the first year of the war; owing to the depletion in the European ranks of the French force I reluctantly surrendered his services to Colonel Mayer, an action which deprived me of the immediate services of an officer of whose military talent I had formed the highest opinion.

To the battalion and battery commanders and all the leaders in the ranks of our Allies I desire to express my grateful appreciation for the skill, energy and perseverance with which they led their troops. I desire also to pay a just tribute to the Senegalese soldiers, whose salient characteristics are extreme bravery in battle and great cheerfulness in all and every circumstance.

To the officers, petty and non-commissioned officers and men of the Allied Navies, the Royal Marine Light Infantry and Nigerian Marine, I desire to express my admiration of their unremitting and incessant toil. I am not overstating the fact when I say that without their assistance by sea, creek and land, the military forces of the Allies could not have accomplished the task which lay before them. Where so many have done such admirable work it is difficult for me to make an impartial selection, but I desire specially to bring to Your Lordship's notice the valuable services rendered by Capitaine de Vaisseau Carré, who has been Senior Naval Officer during the last eight and a half months of the operations. He has had no light task in handling the many questions connected with the naval side of the campaign; also the name of Captain Cyril T. M. Fuller, C.M.G., R.N., an officer who combines in one personality administrative ability and qualities of leadership of a high order.

The troops of the West African Frontier Force, with whom I happily was closely connected in peace, have realised my fullest expectations. To them no day appears to be too long, no task too difficult. With a natural aptitude for soldiering, they are endowed with a constitution which inures them to hardship; they share with their Senegalese brothers an inexhaustible fund of good humour.

I cannot overlook the good work that has been performed by the West African carrier; patient and amenable, he has borne his full share in our arduous task.

As regards my Staff, I am desirous of bringing to special notice the names of Major (temp. Lieut.-Colonel) J. Brough, C.M.G., M.V.O., Royal Marine Artillery, and Captain R. H. Rowe, Royal Artillery. Lieut.-Colonel Brough has rendered valuable service as a General Staff Officer during the whole of the operations, more especially so since November last, when he assumed duty, as Senior Staff Officer of the expedition, from temp. Lieut.-Colonel A. J. Turner, D.S.O., Royal Artillery, who was obliged to return to England on account of ill-health, after performing much useful work. During these latter months the duties connected with this appointment have been of a more responsible and exacting nature than previously, but they have invariably been performed by Lieut.-Colonel Brough with the greatest credit to himself and to my entire satisfaction. Captain Rowe, in his appointment as Deputy Assistant Adjutant and Quartermaster-General, has had a more onerous task than that which usually falls to a junior officer, even in war. His tact, ability and powers of organisation single him out as one of the most promising officers I have met in West Africa.

Of those officers whose names I bring to Your Lordship's notice for distinguished and meritorious service I am anxious to give particular prominence to Brevet Lieut.-Colonel J. B. Cockburn, Royal Welsh Fusiliers, and Major (temp. Lieut.-Colonel) A. H. W. Haywood, D.S.O., Royal Artillery. Both these officers, in their capacity as battalion or column commanders, have experienced the brunt of the hard fighting which has fallen to the British force. In no case has their judgment or discretion been at fault, and I am greatly indebted to them.

To the services controlled by the Royal Engineers have fallen a very large share in the successful prosecution of the campaign, and my thanks are due to Colonel C. Pery, Royal Engineers, and Major F. L. N. Giles, D.S.O., Royal Engineers: the latter officer, as senior officer, Royal Engineers, for the first nine months of the operations, laid the foundation of that sound organisation which has proved so valuable throughout. Colonel Pery joined the expedition in June, 1915, on appointment as Chief Engineer and Director of Works, and the work of the department has been subsequently carried out by him in a most efficient manner. It is, perhaps, the highest compliment I can pay these officers and their corps when I say that in the Cameroons, as elsewhere, the officers, non-commissioned officers, and men of the Royal Engineers have nobly upheld their best traditions.

The maintenance of a signal service, which has been in the hands of Major Giles in his capacity as Assistant Director of Army Signals, has, under the conditions in which we have been situated, been fraught with unusual difficulties—almost too numerous to mention—but the rapidity of communication has been kept up with great accuracy, and almost as quickly as under peace conditions. I do not think I exaggerate when I state that I could not have controlled numerous and widely separated columns without such satisfactory and ingenious means of communication as have been instituted here.

To Captain D. Wallbach, as Deputy Assistant Director of Supply and Transport, and to Lieutenant G. E. H. Migeod, who subsequently succeeded him, and to those who worked under them, I desire to give a special word of praise for the readiness with which they have overcome the many difficulties with which they have been confronted in organising, in a most efficient manner, the supply and transport services of the expedition.

In all operations in West Africa such as I have described the work of the Medical Service is of a peculiarly onerous nature. To Lieut.-Colonel J. C. B Statham, C.M.G., Royal Army Medical Corps, and those officers and non-commissioned officers of his corps, as well as to the officers of the West African Medical Staff, the Sisters of the Nursing Service, and all subordinate ranks down to the native stretcher-bearer, I express a deep tribute of gratefulness for their unremitting care of the sick and wounded. Their actions have been stamped with a contempt for life in their endeavour to save that of others.

I have received much valuable assistance in dealing with the problems of administering conquered territory from Mr. W. F. Gowers, of the Nigeria Civil Service, and those officers of the Civil Departments of the Allies who have been associated with him.

I cannot conclude this despatch without placing on record my great obligation to the Governor-General of Nigeria, the Governors of the Gold Coast, Sierra Leone and the Gambia, as well as to Major-General J. F. Daniell, commanding troops West Africa. My demands have been numerous, insistent and unusual, but all have been met without hesitation and in a hearty spirit of co-operation. The West African Colonies have been denuded both in personnel and material, and their resources have been considerably strained to fulfil my requirements.

I have the honour to be,
Your Lordship's most obedient Servant,

C. M. DOBELL,
Major-General,
Commanding the Allied Forces.

Colonial Office,

31st May, 1916.

The Secretary of State for the Colonies has received from the Governor-General of Nigeria the following report covering a despatch from Brigadier-General Cunliffe, C. M. G., on the military operations in the Northern Cameroons :—

Government House, Nigeria,

23rd March, 1916.

SIR,—In accordance with your instructions I have the honour to transmit a consecutive account by Brigadier-General Cunliffe, C. M. G., of the operations of the Nigerian and Allied Forces on the eastern frontiers of Nigeria and in the northern part of the Cameroons, from the outbreak of hostilities in August, 1914, to their completion, by the conquest of the Cameroons, in February, 1916.

2. Early in 1915 I learnt from Major-General Dobell that the heavy task in which he was engaged in the south precluded as (indeed was manifest) the possibility of controlling the operations on the Nigerian frontier and in the north, with which he had no means of communication. I accordingly directed Colonel Cunliffe, Commandant of the Nigeria Regiment, to take command of these operations.

3. I have already reported to you—but it is appropriate that I should repeat it here—my appreciation of the way in which this campaign has been conducted by Brigadier-General Cunliffe. He truly says in his report that the efficiency—and I may almost add the gallantry—of the rank and file of our native troops is measured by the personnel of their leaders. They are capable, as they have proved, of undergoing privations and of performing feats of gallantry which will compare with those of any of the troops of His Majesty's Oversea Dominions, if led by officers whom they know and in whom they have confidence.

In the operations here recorded there were many such officers, but there was none who evoked the highest enthusiasm and confidence alike of British officers and native troops in the same degree as General Cunliffe himself, and it is in my judgment due to his own personality—aided by the sound judgment of his Staff Officer, Colonel Wright, V. C.—that the unbroken success of these operations is alone to be attributed.

4. There would be no need for me to invite the attention of any expert reader of this report to the extraordinary precision with which in a series of operations a number of columns converged on their objective, and the strategical skill with which position after position was rendered untenable to the enemy without heavy sacrifice by our troops, were it not that the report hardly gives an adequate impression of the difficulties of the country traversed. General Cunliffe advanced over 900 miles of mountainous country, intersected by deep ravines and tropical rivers swollen by the hardly finished rainy season. At Banyo and elsewhere were positions of almost impregnable natural strength, reinforced by German military science—his line of communication finally extended over a distance of 400 miles.

5. In spite of my desire to be terse I cannot refrain from adding that, so far as I can ascertain, the high traditions of the Force were maintained in relation to the native populations. Among the large number of troops and carriers looting and ill-treatment of the people was unknown.

6. General Cunliffe has submitted a list of officers and men whose conduct merits special recognition and reward, and I trust that his recommendations will be liberally considered. I have at the same time to bring his own services under your consideration and that of the Army Council, and to point out that he personally led his troops in the field throughout this difficult campaign.

I have, etc.,

(Signed) F. D. LUGARD,

Governor-General.

The Right Honourable

A. Bonar Law, M.P., P.C.,

Secretary of State for the Colonies,

Etc. ; etc., etc.

Headquarters, Nigeria Regiment,

Lagos, 16th March, 1916.

YOUR EXCELLENCY,—With the occupation of Jaunde on the 1st January, 1916, by the troops under the command of Major-General C. M. Dobell, C.M.G., D.S.O., the task assigned to the Allied Forces in the Northern Cameroons, which it has been my privilege to command since the 5th February, 1915, was practically completed.

The task was, briefly, to clear the enemy from that portion of the German Cameroons, which lies between Lake Chad to the north and the Nachtigal Rapids on the Sanaga River to the south, while the Allied Force under Major-General Dobell and the French forces under General Aymerich were converging on Jaunde from the west and east respectively.

When Jaunde fell to General Dobell the only point north of the Sanaga River which still remained in German hands was the mountain of Mora, and the garrison of that place surrendered on the 18th February.

2. I have now the honour to report as follows upon the operations of the various forces under my command :—

As Your Excellency is aware, I was not on the outbreak of war in August, 1914, commanding the troops in Nigeria, but it will be necessary, in order to make this report clear, to commence with a short summary of the military events which had taken place on the Nigeria-Cameroons frontier between the date of the declaration of war and that on which I assumed control of the operations on or near the frontier.

3. On the outbreak of war, then, three columns drawn from the Nigeria Regiment were concentrated near the German frontier.

(i) The Maidugari Column at the place of that name, under the command of Captain (now Major) R. W. Fox, Royal Warwickshire Regiment.

(ii) The Yola Column at the place of that name, under the command of the late Lieutenant-Colonel P. Maclear, Royal Dublin Fusiliers.

(iii) The Cross River Column at Ikom, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel G. T. Mair, D.S.O., R.A.

4. Soon afterwards it became known that His Majesty's Government had, in conjunction with the French Government, decided to send an Allied Overseas expedition against Duala, and three battalions of Infantry (consisting of four companies each) and two batteries of Artillery (eight 2·95 inch guns), together with appropriate medical personnel drawn from the West African Medical Staff, and Marine, Engineer, Telegraph, Railway, Supply and Transport Sections drawn from the various civil departments in Nigeria, were held in readiness to embark at various Nigerian ports to take part in this expedition.

5. The role of the three frontier columns was henceforth to be confined to one of local activity, with the object of gaining information of the enemy's movements, and distracting his attention from our main objective—Duala.

6. The undertakings of these frontier columns were attended by misfortune at the outset. The Maidugari Column, having crossed the frontier on 25th August, encountered an enemy force in an almost impregnable position in the mountains near Mora, whence it was unable to dislodge them. After suffering some casualties, this column took up a position to the south of Mora with the object of preventing the enemy there from joining hands with the German garrison at Garua.

Here the British Column was joined on the 13th October 1914, by a French force, based on Fort Lamy and under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Brisset, who had succeeded at the second attempt in capturing Kusseri on 25th September 1914.

7. The Yola Column crossed the frontier on 25th August. The mounted infantry, after a sharp fight, drove a party of the enemy from the village of Tepe. Our losses were, however, heavy.

The column continued its march on Garua, which place was attacked on the night of 30th-31st August. The attack failed, and, after suffering heavy losses, the whole force was compelled to fall back on Yola.

8. The advance troops of the Cross River Column holding Nsanakang were, on the 6th September, suddenly attacked by a largely superior German force brought hurriedly from Duala, and, in spite of a most gallant resistance, were practically annihilated, only two officers and some ninety native rank and file escaped by forcing their way through the enemy at the point of the bayonet.

The German losses in personnel were even heavier than our own.

9. The immediate effect of the reverses suffered by the Yola and Cross River Columns was to reduce by one battalion of infantry and four guns the number of Nigerian troops to be put at the disposal of Major-General Dobell for the expedition against Duala

10. The Yola and Cross River Columns were reorganised, the defences of Yola were strengthened, and the troops there placed temporarily under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel W. I. Webb-Bowen, Middlesex Regiment, but the frontier columns had to confine themselves for the time being to the task of containing before them the largest possible force of Germans in order to facilitate the operations under Major-General Dobell (who had, on 28th September, 1914, established himself at Duala and Bonaberi), as well as the advance into the Cameroons of the French Columns under General Aymerich, based on the French Congo.

11. The last quarter of 1914, therefore, found the various frontier columns engaged in an active defence of our own territory. On several occasions enemy raids penetrated into the Muri Province, but none of these achieved any appreciable success.

One such attempt on the part of the enemy is worthy of mention here.

On the 17th September, 1914, two British officers (Lieutenant B. E. Waters, R.N., and Major A. E Churcher) with 57 Police were attacked at Takum by one German company with three Europeans and a machine gun. The fight continued from 11-30 a.m. till 5-30 p.m., when the enemy were finally repulsed and forced to beat a rapid retreat.

12. By 29th January, 1915, the general situation was as follows :—

The Allied force under Major-General Dobell was holding the whole of the Northern Railway as well as the Midland Railway as far as Eda

The French columns under General Aymerich had made some progress in their advance into the German Colony from the east and south-east.

In the north Mora still held out.

A French force under Lieutenant Colonel Brisset had joined Lieutenant-Colonel Webb-Bowen's column, and was watching Garua from the east.

The original Cross River Column, which had been reinforced after Nsanakang, was holding Ossidinge, to which place Lieutenant-Colonel Mair had been withdrawn after he had advanced, between 25th December, 1914, and 8th January, 1915, in the face of very considerable opposition as far as Tinto. A smaller column under Major G. D. Mann, R.A., based on Ibi, was watching the frontier from Takum to Karbabi in the Muri Province.

13. On this date I went to Duala to confer with Major-General Dobell. There it was decided that the time had arrived when it would be of assistance to the general Allied plan if energetic action was taken in the Northern Cameroons.

14 On the 5th February I returned to Lagos, and in accordance with your instructions I left for Yola on the 15th, attended by Major (now Lieutenant-Colonel) W. D. Wright, V.C., as my Chief of Staff, to take command of all the Allied Forces in the Northern Cameroons, and to direct the operations of the Cross River and Ibi columns.

15. My first objective was to take Garua and prevent the German forces uniting with those further south on the Ngaundere Plateau, after which I hoped to move southward and co operate with the forces under the command of Major-General Dobell and General Aymerich.

16. My information with regard to Garua was that the place was very strongly fortified, and that the German Artillery there could outrange any guns which either Lieutenant-Colonel Brisset or Lieutenant-Colonel Webb-Bowen possessed at the time. Before leaving Duala therefore, I had made arrangements by which one of H.M.S. "Challenger's" 12-pr. guns, with 500 rounds of ammunition, should be placed at my disposal, while the French authorities had similarly directed that a 95mm. gun should be sent to Lieutenant-Colonel Brisset.

17. The naval gun left Duala on the 2nd February under the command of Lieutenant-Commander L. H. K. Hamilton, R.N., and reached Yola on the 12th March As the last part of the journey up the River Benue, owing to the dry season, had to be made in canoes, its progress was necessarily somewhat slow.

18. I reached Yola on the 15th March, 1915, and there met and discussed the situation with Lieutenant-Colonel Webb-Bowen and Capitaine Ferrandi, Staff Officer to Lieutenant-Colonel Brisset.

19. It was abundantly clear that it would be necessary to concentrate the largest possible British force for the attack on Garua, and also to assemble the French forces, which were at this time somewhat scattered. I therefore withdrew three companies from the Cross River column and one company from the Ibi column, and ordered them to Yola.

This move left the forces on the Eastern frontier somewhat depleted, and I recognised that there was a certain amount of risk of enemy raids on British territory and on my line of communications, the Benue River ; that risk had, however, to be faced.

20. From the 12th April to 26th April telegraphic communication between Yola and Lagos was interrupted as the result of an enemy raid which penetrated as far as Mutum Biu, a town close to the Benue, where the Residency was destroyed.

21. On the 18th April I reached the British Camp at Bogole, near Garua, and commenced o extend the investing force to close in the enemy from the south and south-west. The strength of the British and French troops at that time was:—

BRITISH.

8 companies infantry,
1 company mounted infantry,
3 guns (including the naval gun),
9 machine guns.

FRENCH.

3 companies infantry,
1 squadron cavalry,
2 guns,
2 mitrailleuses.

22. On the night of the 21st-22nd April a German force, said to consist of about 9 Europeans and 100 mounted men and 170 infantry, under the command of Hauptmann von Crailsheim, broke out of Garua to the south, passing to the westward of our most westerly detachment. This force was joined about half way between Turua and Ngaundere by some four Europeans and 50 native soldiers from the latter place, and I had every reason to suppose that it was von Crailsheim's intention to escort this reinforcement back to Garua.

The next information received of the party was, however, that it was attacking our small post at Gurin. The attack failed, owing to a most gallant defence, during which the Officer Commanding Gurin was unfortunately killed, and the enemy, by avoiding all roads and making a wonderful march of 28 hours without a halt, succeeded in avoiding the troops I had sent to intercept him, and made his way safely back to Garua.

23. After several reconnaissances I had by this time decided that the line of attack which offered the greatest prospect of success was from the north, and by the 25th May I had concentrated the bulk of the British force secretly at Jamboutu Manga. This concentration took time, owing to the large amount of material and stores to be moved by man transport but it remained unknown to the enemy until 26th May.

24. From the 26th May onwards our outposts were for several days subjected to shell fire from the German guns, but soon after the arrival of the French heavy gun (95mm.) on 28th May the superiorty of our artillery begun to be apparent.

The heavy French gun was transported from Lagos to Yola by the Nigeria Marine, a performance of which that Department may well be proud, for the river had fallen considerably.

25. The night of the 30th-31st May found the bulk of the Allied force entrenched 3,000-3,500 yards, from the German Fort A.

26. From 31st May to 10th June we pushed forward our advance, entrenching under cover of darkness until on the 10th June we had established a line of trenches with a frontage of about 400 yards within 1,000 yards of Fort A, with an efficient service of communication trenches to the rear.

The question of water-supply was one of considerable difficulty, water having to be carried to the trenches in pots over a distance of two miles.

27. On the night of the 9-10th June the enemy made an attempt to break out to the south, but were met by the fire of a British infantry company at Bilonde, and driven back. A second attempt was made between the infantry company and the mounted infantry company, but the Benue was now in flood, and, although some 45 native rank and file succeeded, by discarding their arms and uniform, in making their escape, a far larger number were drowned—we recovered 70 bodies from the river—and the remainder returned to Garua.

28. At 3-30 p.m. on the 10th June, the enemy native troops having by this time got quite out of hand, the white flag was hoisted in all the forts, and Hauptmann von Crailsheim offered to surrender on terms. These were refused, and he was informed that, failing an unconditional surrender within two hours, hostilities would recommence automatically.

29. Garua surrendered unconditionally at 6 p.m. the same day. Garua and its surroundings—naturally strong—had by artificial means been turned into an entrenched camp, which would have done credit to the engineers of an European battlefield.

The Commander, Hauptmann von Crailsheim, acknowledged after the fall that he had employed 2,000 labourers for five months on the construction of the defences.

The amount of personnel and materiel consisted of:—

37 Europeans.

212 native ranks.

5 guns with 858 shell.

114,920 rounds small arm ammunition.

In addition also a large quantity of stores of all kinds—tools, medical equipment, etc.

30. Immediately after the fall of Garua it was considered imperative to follow up our success, keep all fugitives on the run, and, most important of all, to seize the northern edge of the Ngaundere plateau without delay, thus anticipating any enemy concentration there and securing a line from which I might later advance to the assistance of the Allied Forces in the Southern Cameroons. With this object in view I directed a force under Lieutenant-Colonel Webb-Bowen from Garua on Ngaundere, giving Lieutenant-Colonel Brisset, who remained at Garua, instructions to reinforce him with the bulk of the garrison of that place, should he appear to be in difficulties.

31. On the 15th June, in order that I might be in direct telegraphic communication with Your Excellency and also with Major-General Dobell at Duala, I moved my headquarters to Yola.

On reaching Yola I further despatched a small force under Captain C. E. Roberts, Northamptonshire Regiment, to Kontscha, Maio Kaleb, and Tschamba

32. On the 27th June Kontscha and Maio Kaleb were occupied, after slight opposition, the enemy retiring towards Banyo with our mounted infantry in pursuit. There were no casualties on our side.

33. On the 28th June the German outposts holding the steep paths leading up to the edge of the Ngaundere plateau were, in the midst of a terrific tornado, completely surprised and defeated by the advanced guard troops of Lieutenant-Colonel Webb-Bowen's column, under the command of Captain C. H. Fowle, Hampshire Regiment, and Ngaundere itself was occupied the same evening. During the night the enemy garrison returned and attacked the station This counter-attack—with a loss to us of one native non-commissioned officer and five native soldiers wounded—was driven off and the Germans retired on Tibati.

Soon afterwards Lieutenant-Colonel Brisset, with a force from Garua, arrived at Ngaundere. Lieutenant-Colonel Brisset then pushed reconnaissances towards Kunde and Tibati.

34. At this time I learnt that Major-General Dobell's operations in the south had temporarily been brought to a standstill owing to the rains.

I therefore considered that it would be unwise for the present to push on towards Banyo for, though I recognised the importance of this point, I doubted whether, in the face of a cessation of all active offensive operations in the south by Major-General Dobell, I should be in a position to maintain myself there with the force at my disposal.

35. I therefore decided to content myself for the time being with the occupation of the line Ngaundere—Kontscha—Gashaka.

I accordingly strengthened the Ibi column, placed the troops on the eastern front, except the Cross River column, under the command of Major (now Lieutenant-Colonel) G. D Mann, R.A., and directed him to occupy Gashaka and establish a strong line of communications to his rear with Ibi, on the Benue.

36. In the meantime, as the rains in the north do not hinder operations to the extent which they do in the south, I determined myself to attempt the reduction of Mora, since, if I could effect this, I should release the investing force to take part in the offensive movement southwards when the time arrived for it to commence.

I understood that I had from August to November in which to accomplish this task.

37. On the 9th August I left Yola and on the 23rd August I arrived at Sava, four miles from Mora mountain, which in the following days I proceeded to reconnoitre.

38. Mora mountain has a base perimeter of about thirty miles, it rises precipitously to a height of 1,700 feet, and its sides, which are so steep as to be accessible only in a few places to men using both hands and feet, are covered with huge boulders, affording excellent cover to the defenders.

39. I eventually decided that my best chance of success lay in launching an attack from a hill called Ouatchke already in our possession, the summit of which is nearly level with, but separated by a deep valley 600 yards wide, from the northern end of Mora mountain, which end goes by the name of Dabascoum.

40. From Ouatchke I made three separate attacks on Dabascoum. The third attack at length succeeded in gaining a footing on the summit, but found further progress barred by a redoubt. A portion of the 1st Nigeria Regiment attempted to carry this work with the bayonet, but was stopped by fire within 60 yards of the enemy defences. Our men held on to the position they had gained for forty-eight hours without food or water, and after every effort to supply them had failed I was compelled to order a withdrawal. Our casualties included Captain R. N. Pike, Nigeria Political Service, killed, a most gallant officer and fearless leader who had already distinguished himself on several occasions.

41. I now realised that to take Mora two things were indispensable—more artillery ammunition and more time.

Time was unfortunately not at my disposal. On 15th September I learnt by telegram that as a result of a conference which had been held in Duala, and attended by Major-General Dobell, General Aymerich, and M. Merlin (Governor-General of French Equatorial Africa), it had been decided to resume the offensive in the south early in October instead of in November, which I had hitherto believed to be the time appointed.

42. Thus it was I was forced to abandon the Mora enterprise and, leaving behind troops equal in numbers to the original investing force, I marched on 17th September with the remainder to Yola, arriving on 26th September.

43. In the meanwhile several minor events had occurred on the Ngaundere-Kontscha-Gashaka line. Captain C. H. Fowle with one company from Ngaundere had occupied Tingere on 23rd July, and had there been counter-attacked by an enemy force of some four Europeans and 150 natives from Tibati. The German attack broke down, and was turned to a rout by one of our native non-commissioned officers leading his section from their trenches in a bayonet charge.

44. Gashaka was occupied on 13th August as a result of the excellent handling of his company by Captain C. G. Bowyer-Smijth, Gloucestershire Regiment, who, after a turning movement lasting 12 hours through most difficult mountainous country intersected by many rivers, succeeded in occupying a hill two miles east of Gashaka.

The enemy fled in all directions, leaving all his property in our hands.

45. It was now my intention to advance to and occupy the line Tibati-Banyo-Bamenda, and with this end in view I issued orders to set the following forces in motion:—

(a) The French column (Lieutenant-Colonel Brisset), to move from Ngaundere on Tibati on 15th October.

(b) Lieutenant-Colonel Webb-Bowen's column, from Tingere on Galim on 15th October.

(c) One company from Takum on Kentu on 12th October.

(d) The Cross River column (Major Crookenden, East Kent Regiment), from Ossidinge (leaving a sufficient force to hold that place), viâ Widekum on Bamenda on 12th October.

I asked Major-General Dobell if he could assist this latter move by sending a force from Bare to Dschang on 12th October.

(e) My own advance from Kontscha was timed for 14th October, and Major Mann was ordered to move from Gashaka in time to be in position at Gandua when my main column was at Mba, from which two places the combined advance on Banyo was to take place. While, to protect my left flank and cut off any of the enemy who might be retiring from Galim towards Banyo, the mounted infantry were to move by a route east of the Gendern Pass.

46. On the night of the 22nd-23rd October Major Mann was at Gandua, and my main column at Mba, with the mounted infantry (Major H. A. Porter, D.S.O., Liverpool Regiment, Reserve of Officers) at Mbamti.

The latter were now ordered to move on and cut the Banyo-Tibati road, and, leaving a post on it, to get astride of the Banyo-Fumban road. This was done; on 23rd October the advance from Gandua and Mba on Banyo began. At 10 p.m. on the night of the 23rd October I got into signalling communication with Major Mann, and on the morning of the 24th October he occupied the European settlement of Banyo, one hour ahead of my advanced guard. The country was difficult, being mountainous, intersected by rivers, and covered with elephant grass. Both columns were opposed, but our converging advance continually threatened the enemy communications and prevented his making any prolonged stand.

47. The effect of the other moves referred to in para. 45 above was that Tibati, after slight opposition, was occupied by Lieutenant-Colonel Brisset, whose advance on that place had been facilitated by a movement of Lieutenant-Colonel Webb-Bowen's column from Galim to Tibati, both columns practically entering Tibati together on the 3rd November.

Kentu was occupied by a company from Takum on 17th October.

Bamenda was occupied by Major Crookenden after a brisk fight on 22nd October.

Dschang was occupied by Lieutenant-Colonel W. L. Cotton, 5th Light Infantry, Indian Army, from Bare on the 6th November.

48. My line then ran through Tibati—Banyo—Bamenda—Dschang, but the occupation of Banyo town had brought no decisive result since the enemy had prepared another defensive position, similar to that at Mora, in the mountains close by.

It was impossible to advance further until this position was in our hands.

49. Banyo mountain is a single feature rising 1 200 feet above the surrounding country, which is much broken by small hills. The slopes of the mountain are very steep and covered with large boulders which had been linked together by some 300 sangars. Every prominent commanding point had been strengthened by a small fort. On the summit cement reservoirs for water had been constructed, brick houses with glazed windows had been erected to accommodate the Europeans, and some 40 tons of grain, 226 head of cattle, hundreds of fowls and a vast quantity of agricultural implements and other material had been accumulated. In short Banyo mountain was the rallying point for the garrisons of Banyo, Dschang and Bamenda.

Every preparation had been made to enable the Germans to withstand a prolonged siege.

From captured correspondence, intercepted letters, statements of Europeans and native prisoners, an absolute confidence reigned throughout the German forces in the Cameroons that the garrison would hold out till the end of the war.

50. By the 2nd November I had established five companies of infantry on the underfeatures and disposed the mounted infantry on a wide circle below to give notice of any enemy attempt to break out. The attack was to be supported by three 2·95″ guns to the north, north-west and south respectively.

51. Our attack was timed to commence at daybreak on 4th November, and until 9 a.m. that morning the mountain was shrouded in thick fog, which enabled our troops to make considerable progress, though it prevented the different units from mutually assisting each other or benefiting during their advance by covering fire from the guns.

Under cover of the fog Captain Bowyer-Smijth succeeded in leading his company right up to the summit. Here, however, they came under a cross-fire from several directions, and Captain Bowyer-Smijth, one of our most able and dashing Company Commanders, having been killed, the company was forced back to the foot of the mountain

52. Noon on the 4th November found the remaining companies about halfway up the slope, holding on stubbornly within thirty yards of an entrenched position, and unable to progress further in daylight.

During the night of the 4-5th November the enemy expended a large number of dynamite bombs, a new, and to our native troops, trying weapon. During that night, however, and throughout the following day our men fought their way upwards, turning sangar after sangar, until by dusk on the 5th November they were within about 100 yards of the top.

The task of supplying the troops with food and water was one of no little difficulty and danger, and great credit is due to the transport carriers who performed this service.

At 7 p.m. on the 5th November a violent thunderstorm broke, and at daybreak on 6th November the summit was carried.

53 It was found that under cover of the storm the enemy had broken up into small parties and crept down the mountain, the majority only to be captured later by our posts on the road below.

54. This action may, I think, be justly described as one of the most arduous ever fought by native African troops.

55. My next objectives were—

(i) An advance to the line Yoko-Ngambe-Ditam.

(ii) thence to move on the Nachtigal Rapids, on the Sanaga River, a point which is only about forty miles north of Jaunde, on which Major-General Dobell and General Aymerich were converging from the west and east respectively.

55 With these ends in view the troops at Kentu were ordered to join Major Crookenden at Bamenda. Major Crookenden was ordered to move with as strong a force as possible on Fumban.

Another column (Major G. L. Uniacke, Royal Lancaster Regiment, Special Reserve, Reserve of Officers), was directed from Banyo on Fumban via Gorori, while Lieutenant-Colonel Cotton co-operated from Dschang on Fumban.

56. Lieutenant-Colonel Cotton and Major Crookenden joined hands at Bagam; they were opposed at the crossing of the Nun River, but a turning movement made by Major Crookenden, and the threat to the enemy's communications from Major Uniacke's column, drove the enemy from their position, and Fumban was occupied by Lieutenant-Colonel Cotton and Major Uniacke on the 2nd December.

The enemy retired to the south-east pursued by Major Crookenden, but through receiving false information he was led fifty miles astray and touch was lost.

57. The eastern column (Lieutenant-Colonel Brisset) entered Yoko on the 1st December with only slight opposition, while my centre column, after meeting with steady resistance all the way from Gorori, occupied Ngambe on the 4th December, the enemy crossing the Kim River, destroying the bridge and canoes, and entrenching himself on the far bank.

On the 11th December I arrived at Ngambe with the reserve column, and on the same day, fresh canoes having been procured, the German position on the south bank of the Kim was turned.

58. I then ordered the following moves :—

Lieutenant-Colonel Webb-Bowen's column on Linte, 13th December.

Major C. C. West, Royal Highlanders, with a detachment gun on Ditam.

As a result Linte and Ditam were occupied simultaneously after slight opposition on the 18th December.

59. From the line Yoko-Linte-Ditam I ordered an advance to the line Ngila-Ndenge, and by the 1st January I had concentrated the whole of my striking force on this latter line.

60. On the 4th January I ordered Lieutenant-Colonel Brisset to seize the crossing of the Sanaga at the Nachtigal rapids, and placed Lieutenant-Colonel Webb-Bowen's column at his disposal to assist him in the operation.

61. On the 8th January I learnt that Major-General Dobell's troops had, on the 1st January, occupied Jaunde. I had at this time been for several days in communication with General Aymerich through Lieutenant-Colonel Brisset. My advanced troops were on the Sanaga, about 40 miles from Jaunde, having marched and fought continuously over 600 miles since the 18th September.

62. My line of communications with Ibi was, however, 400 miles long, and strained to the utmost, and it was obvious that my force must either soon come to a standstill to await further supplies or that I must open a new line of supply through Jaunde and Duala.

The latter alternative I deemed to be impracticable owing to the congestion which must inevitably exist in the Jaunde district, into which General Aymerich's troops were pouring from the east.

I therefore decided on a partial withdrawal along my lines of communication, and removed my Headquarters to Fumban, there to await developments. My orders were, however, too late to prevent Lieutenant-Colonel Webb-Bowen and his command from entering Jaunde on the heels of General Aymerich and Lieutenant-Colonel Brisset.

Lieutenant-Colonel Webb-Bowen and the British troops under his command were then evacuated by Major-General Dobell viâ Duala and sent back to Nigeria by sea, while Lieutenant-Colonel Brisset and the French troops under his command came henceforth under the direct control of General Aymerich.

63. I returned to Fumban on 21st January, and while there learnt that Your Excellency desired to see me in Lagos, and as Major-General Dobell had also expressed a wish to meet me, I left Fumban for Lagos viâ Duala on 28th January.

I arrived at Duala on the 5th February and at Lagos on the 9th February, having left garrisons at Fumban, Bamenda, Banyo and Kontscha, and ordered certain units back to Nigeria overland.

64. There now remained only the one spot in the whole of the Cameroons still occupied by an enemy garrison, namely, Mora.

It was considered imperative to capture this place as soon as possible.

Before, however, proceeding to do this, it was deemed advisable to send something in the shape of an ultimatum to Hauptmann von Raben, the Commander, offering generous terms in case of surrender. These terms were :

(i) Officers to be allowed to retain their swords.

(ii) Native ranks to be released and given safe passages to their homes.

(iii) All Europeans to be sent to England as prisoners of war.

On the receipt of this message Hauptmann von Raben accepted the terms offered, and on the 18th February capitulated with his whole force.

65. The general health of the troops throughout the campaign in the Northern Cameroons has been excellent. This result is due to the untiring devotion, energy and skill of the medical officers attached to the different columns.

In this connection I would particularly wish to mention the services of my medical officers.

66. I have pleasure in here recording my appreciation of the services rendered by our French Allies, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Brisset, upon whom, to the great satisfaction of myself and my officers, His Majesty was pleased to confer the dignity of the Companionship of the Most Distinguished Order of St Michael and St. George. The Eastern Column was under his command until it reached Yoko, after which the French troops were absorbed in General Aymerich's command.

67. I wish to express my grateful appreciation of the services rendered by the civil officials and non-officials of Nigeria placed at my disposal by Your Excellency to take part in these operations.

Several of these have lost their lives, gallantly fighting in the field; others still have the satisfaction of remembering that in a time of emergency they cheerfully and loyally came forward and offered their services They have assisted in upholding the honour of their country in a theatre of war far removed from more striking events, a circumstance which redounds to their greater honour and credit.

I wish also to express my indebtedness to all Departments of the Nigeria Civil Service for their assistance, and to those residents of Provinces whose proximity to the frontier brought them more closely into contact with the troops in the field, and who always rendered me every assistance in their power, though their civil work was greatly increased thereby.

68. This report would be incomplete were I to conclude it without a word of praise to the native rank and file of the Nigeria Regiment, who have borne the brunt of the fighting, as well as to those natives, the transport carriers, who have toiled incessantly under heavy loads and at times also under heavy fire to keep the troops in the field supplied with food and munitions.

The Nigeria Regiment is composed of men of many different tribes—their characteristics, traditions, and even their languages differ as widely as does the food to which they are accustomed.

They have been called upon to take part in a great struggle, the rights and wrongs of which they can scarcely have been expected dimly to perceive.

They have been through the, to them, entirely novel experience of facing an enemy armed with modern weapons and led by highly-trained officers.

Their rations have been scanty, their bare-foot marches long and trying, and their fights at times extremely arduous, yet they have not been found wanting either in discipline, devotion to their officers, or personal courage, as the list of recommendations which I am proud to enclose, amply testifies.

69. In the various reports which I have from time to time made during the course of the operations summarised above, I have brought to Your Excellency's notice the names of Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and men who have distinguished themselves either by individual acts of gallantry or by the exceptional zeal and ability with which they have carried out their duties.

As this report is intended to cover the whole of the operations in the Northern Cameroons from start to finish, I take this opportunity of recapitulating all such names, and append a list (Appendix* A) containing the names of all those whose services I consider deserve recognition.

*Not printed.

70. I have found it difficult in a comparatively brief report of this nature, covering as it does a period of over eighteen months' hostilities, in which some 3,000 to 4,000 Allied French and British troops have been engaged, to give a very definite idea of the arduous nature of the work which has been done.

I have, etc.,

(Signed) F. J. CUNLIFFE,

Brigadier-General,

Commanding Allied Forces, Northern Cameroons.

No. 849.—The following extracts are published for general information :—

Second Supplement dated the 21st June 1916, to the "London Gazette" of the 20th June 1916, pages 6135, 6141 and 6148.

War Office,
21st June 1916.

With reference to the announcement of the award of the Distinguished Conduct Medals in the Honours Supplement to the London Gazette, dated 3rd June 1916, the following are the acts of gallantry for which the decorations have been awarded :—

* * * * * * * *

Staff Sjt. W. Dudding, 1st Ind. Mule Cart Corps.

For conspicuous and consistent gallantry and good work, frequently under shell fire, notably when, during a heavy bombardment, it was largely due to his pluck and example that the losses among the mules were reduced to a minimum.

* * * * * * * *

9944 Staff Sjt. F. G. Levings, Supply and Transport Corps, Ind. Army.
For consistent good work and devotion to duty. He has always set a fine example.

Fourth Supplement dated the 21st June 1916, to the "London Gazette" of the 20th June 1916, pages 6191 and 6193.

War Office,
21st June 1916.

His Majesty the KING has been graciously pleased to award the Victoria Cross to the undermentioned Officer and Man :—

Capt. John Alexander Sinton, M.B., Ind. Med. Ser.

For most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty. Although shot through both arms and through the side, he refused to go to the hospital, and remained, as long as day-light lasted, attending to his duties under very heavy fire.

In three previous actions Capt. Sinton displayed the utmost bravery.

No. 3398 Sepoy Chatta Singh, 9th Bhopal Infy., Ind. Army.

For most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty in leaving cover to assist his Commanding Officer who was lying wounded and helpless in the open. Sepoy Chatta Singh bound up the officer's wound and then dug cover for him with his entrenching tool, being exposed all the time to very heavy rifle fire.

For five hours until nightfall he remained beside the wounded Officer, shielding him with his own body on the exposed side. He then, under cover of darkness, went back for assistance, and brought the officer into safety.

His Majesty the KING has been graciously pleased to confer the Military Cross on the undermentioned Officers and Warrant Officers, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty in the field :—

4468 By. S.-M. Alfred Horsfield, Lahore Divl. Amm. Colm., R. F. A.

For conspicuous gallantry. When a hostile shell ignited the ammunition in a pit, and the fire spread rapidly, Lieutenant Carbery, Serjeant-Major Horsfield, Gunner Deakins, and Actg. Bombr. Walker, at great personal risk, fought the flames for over an hour under heavy shell fire. Finally they succeeded in getting out the ammunition and extinguishing the fire. They set a fine example of pluck and determination.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 22nd July 1916.

Burma.—The rainfall in Lower Burma was fair and in Upper Burma slight. Cultivation of winter rice crop is proceeding normally and progress with miscellaneous crops in Upper Burma is generally promising. Standing crops are generally satisfactory and cattle are healthy. The price of unhusked rice at Rangoon has risen to Rs. 114 per hundred baskets and is slightly above normal. The market for white rice is strong.

Assam.—The weather is seasonable and favourable to standing crops. Moderate to heavy rain has fallen in all districts but more is still wanted in Sylhet, Darrang and the Khasi and Jaintia and Lushai Hills. Preparation of lands for winter rice and sowings of paddy seedbeds are proceeding. Plucking and manufacture of tea, transplantation of winter rice seedlings, planting of sugarcane and harvesting of autumn rice are in progress. Cutting of jute continues in Goalpara and the Garo Hills and has commenced in Sylhet. Prospects of tea are fair to good and of jute and sugarcane fair. The price of common rice is practically stationary. Cattle disease is reported from all districts except Manipur and the Garo Hills.

Bengal.—During the week under report the rainfall was above normal in Northern Bengal and light to moderate in other parts of the Province. More rain is urgently needed for the transplantation of winter rice in the Western Districts and in places operations are being retarded for want of sufficient rain. Paddy seedlings are reported to be withering in parts of Burdwan. The heavy showers in Northern Bengal have caused damage to the standing crops especially on low lands. Damage by floods is also reported from Dacca and Faridpur. Harvesting of jute and autumn paddy is in progress in Eastern Bengal. Damage by insects is reported from the 24-Parganas, Nadia, Howrah and Chittagong Districts. Cattle disease prevails in two districts only. The average price of common rice for the Province has remained almost stationary as compared with that of the previous week.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows :—

Bankura District.—The state of affairs in the affected areas is generally unchanged. More rain is needed for transplantation and for sowing of seedlings. Relief measures are adequate. The condition of the people on relief works is generally good. Private charitable funds are giving relief. Advances are being made to weavers. Some people formerly relieved gratuitously are now being employed on light works. Prices have fallen. The price of rice is 8 seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief works was 8,780 and in receipt of gratuitous relief 21,944, total 30,724. The decrease in numbers is due to continuance of agricultural operations. The number of persons relieved on private works was 2,831.

Tippera District.—Rain fell during the week but more rain is wanted for the standing winter paddy and jute crops. Harvesting of the autumn rice crop and cutting of jute are progressing. Prospects of Boro al paddy crop in the low lands are not favourable owing to faulty selection by cultivators of imported seed. The public health is good. Continuance of distress in the Sadar Sub-division is due to partial failure of the early autumn rice crop for want of seasonable rain. The price of rice is 7½ seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief works was 791 and in receipt of gratuitous relief 5,770, total 6,561. The decrease in numbers on works is due to closing of works except in one thana.

Bihar and Orissa.—The rainfall was general over the Province, the fall being heavy in parts of the Bhagalpur Division and mostly light to moderate elsewhere. Weeding of autumn crops is in progress Transplantation of winter paddy is going on. More rain is, however, needed in parts of Orissa and Chota Nagpur. The recent heavy rain and floods have caused some damage to jute and paddy in parts of Purnea. Standing crops are otherwise doing well. The average price of common rice has risen slightly as compared with that of the preceding week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from fourteen districts. The attendance of persons on test works in Manbhum was 618 and in Singhbhum 10,058. Gratuitous relief was given to 942 persons in Manbhum and 1,468 persons in Singhbhum. The condition of standing crops in the Feudatory States of Orissa is good.

United Provinces.—Good rain has again fallen throughout the whole Provinces and a break would be welcomed in several districts. Sowing and weeding of autumn crops and transplantation of rice are in progress. Preparation of land for spring crops continues. Locusts again visited three districts and the Tehri State but no damage is reported. Standing crops are in good condition though slight damage by grasshoppers is reported from parts of Ballia and Etawah. Cattle disease is rare and the condition of the agricultural stock is good. Supplies and fodder are adequate. Prices are generally stationary.

Punjab.—During the week moderate to heavy rain was received in all the reporting districts except in parts of the south-east and south-west where the fall was light and insufficient and more rain is still required. Rainfall was very useful for sowings and standing crops which are good on irrigated and average on unirrigated areas. Sowings of autumn crops continue and are generally normal except in parts of the south-east where they are below normal. Cattle are generally healthy but are weak in parts of the south-east owing to the scarcity of fodder. Water for drinking and irrigation is sufficient. Prices are generally stationary. In the case of wheat they are close to normal rates but in other cases they range between normal and scarcity rates. Prices of wheat are:—Rawalpindi 10½, Lahore 11½, Amballa and Lyallpur 11¼ and Ferozepur 12 seers per rupee.
